Chapter 67, Laws of 1911, approved March 2d of the year, and operative by its express words immediately on approval, repealed section 4073, Revised Codes; and, inasmuch as taxes become due on the first Monday in March annually, which day fell in that year on the sixth of the month, a tax assessed under the older law was invalid. "It was within the power of the legislature to have made a reservation in the repealing act requiring the payment of the tax upon the excess of premiums collected for the year 1910, but it did not do so." Westchester Fire Ins. Co. v. Sullivan, 45 Mont. 19, 121 Pac. 472.

This section, providing for the taxation of insurance companies, applies only to business transacted within the state, and does not contravene the interstate commerce clause of the federal Constitution. New York Ins. Co. v. Deer Lodge County, 43 Mont. 243, 250, 115 Pac. 911; affirmed in 231 U. S. 495, 58 L. Ed. 332, 34 Sup. Ct. Rep. 167.

This section was repealed, without any reservation, by the act of March 2, 1911; and, as the first Monday of March of that year, the time for assessment, fell on the 6th of that month, the assessor was without authority, at that time, to demand a statement, and had no authority, under this section, to collect the excess of premiums received by an insurance company for 1910. Westchester Fire Ins. Co. v. Sullivan, 45 Mont. 18, 20, 121 Pac. 472.

Life insurance business, in which there arises an excess of premiums over losses and ordinary expenses, and upon which excess an assessor levies a tax, is not interstate business, nor is it made so by the use of the mails in consummating contracts relative to the business. New York Ins. Co. v. Deer Lodge County, 43 Mont. 243, 115 Pac. 911; affirmed in 231 U. S. 495, 58 L. Ed. 332, 34 Sup. Ct. Rep. 167.

If a statute, providing that insurance companies shall be taxed upon the excess of premiums received over losses and ordinary expenses incurred within the state during the year previous to the year of listing, is repealed a few days before the statutory time of listing, so that, at the time the list is furnished and the assessment and levy are made, there is no provision of law requiring the payment of any tax, a levy and assessment made at such statutory time are void. Westchester Fire Ins. Co. v. Sullivan, 45 Mont. 18, 121 Pac. 472.

And such trustees of the fund shall have power in the same manner to revoke any choice and appointment, and to appoint any other person to be such trustee in any case where one chosen and appointed shall fail to qualify as herein provided, within thirty days after appointment. All appointments to fill vacancies and all revocations must be made unanimously. [Amendment approved March 8, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 181.]

§ 4262. Powers of District Court.

In case of the failure of the trustees of such an association to appoint a board of trustees of such a fund or in case of the death, removal, resignation or disability of all the members of such board, the said rights, titles, interests, authorities, powers, franchises and trusts, until the organization of a new board of such trustees, shall vest in the district court, in which such cemetery, or the greater part thereof shall be situate. In such cases such board of trustees may be appointed by said district court, on application of any person interested, on notice to such other persons interested as the court may order. The trustees so appointed to and accepting such trust shall become vested with all the aforesaid titles, estates, interests, authorities, powers, franchises and trusts belonging thereunto, upon qualification as hereinbefore provided.

In case of any vacancy or vacancies continuing in the board of trustees of such fund for the period of six months, such vacancy or vacancies may be filled by the said district court in like manner. All trustees appointed by such court under the provisions of this section, shall have all the same rights, powers, authorities and franchises as trustees appointed under the other sections of this act. The district court shall have power to compel an accounting of such fund and its income from the cemetery association or the trustees of said fund, upon the application of any interested party. Any owner of an interest in any lot of the cemetery cared for by such trust, any trustee of the cemetery association and any trustee of the said trust fund shall have the right to make any application to the court, provided for in this title. [Amendment approved March 8, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 182.]

§ 4264. Transfer of Fund.

That from and after the passage and approval of this act, the trustees of such cemetery association as are mentioned in section 4256 shall provide by resolution, spread upon the minutes of such association, for the transfer to the trustees of such "Permanent Care and Improvement Fund," of not less than fifteen (15) nor more than forty (40) per cent of the moneys received from the sale of cemetery lots by said association, together with all moneys theretofore or thereafter received from the owners of lots for the care of such lots; and such transfer of any such funds then on hand shall then and there be made; such transfers shall be made thereafter quarterly, upon the first days of January, April, July and October of each year, to the trustees of such fund. If at any time there shall remain in the hands of such association unexpended money over and above the liabilities of the association, the board of trustees of such association may by a two-thirds vote, appropriate the whole or any portion of such unexpended moneys to such "Permanent Care and Improvement Fund," provided, that such fund, (exclusive of such portion thereof as may have been paid in by owners of lots for the care of such lots,) shall never in any case be allowed to exceed the sum of five thousand (5000) dollars per acre, of the cemetery to be cared for therewith; and when such fund shall reach such amount all appropriations and payments thereto shall cease. [Amendment approved March 8, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 182.]

§ 4266. Use of Income of Fund.

The income of that portion of such fund received from the sale of lots, shall be used, in the discretion of the trustees of such association, solely for the care, maintenance and improvement of such cemetery, its grounds, roads, walks and avenues leading thereto, except as herein provided. The income from such portion of such funds as shall have been paid in by lot owners for the care of specific lots, shall be segregated from the other portion, each lot being credited with its respective income, and shall be used solely for the care of such lots, respectively. In the event of any portion of the income so paid ever remaining unexpended for such purposes, for one year after its being so paid over to the treasurer of such association, it shall be returned to the trustees of such fund by said treasurer and become a part of the principal. Hereafter all cemetery corporations shall distinctly specify in all conveyances of lots therein, the percentage of the price received therefor to be transferred under the provisions of this Title to the "Permanent Care and Improvement Fund" of such corporation, and also, such further sum, if any there be, paid by the purchaser for the permanent care of the specific lot or lots thereby conveyed, so to be transferred as hereinbefore provided. [Amendment approved March 8, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 183.]

RAILROADS.

Validity of acts of quorum. See note ante, § 3836.

This section fixes five as the minimum number of directors of a railroad corporation. Great Falls etc. Ry. Co. v. Ganong, 48 Mont. 54, 56, 136 Pac. 390.

§ 4275.

Rule of necessity in eminent domain. See note post, § 7334.

The language of this section, "not exceeding in width one hundred feet on each side of its center line," is not a grant but a limitation; in the absence of any necessity for additional grounds for excavation or embankment, the strip two hundred feet wide simply marks the utmost limits of the extent of land which a railroad company having a superior equity may take in invitum for roadway or right of way purposes. Great Falls etc. Ry. Co. v. Ganong, 48 Mont. 43, 50, 136 Pac. 391.

The right of a railway company to condemn land for right of way purposes is confined to its reasonable necessities. Great Falls etc. Ry. Co. v. Ganong, 48 Mont. 43, 51, 136 Pac. 391.

No obligation is imposed upon any company to take the full amount permitted by the fourth subdivision of this section; and, in the absence of any necessity, it cannot do so, either as against the will of the owner or the necessities of a competing road. Great Falls etc. Ry. Co. v. Ganong, 48 Mont. 43, 51, 136 Pac. 391.

The privilege of taking a strip two hundred feet wide, for right of way purposes, may be accepted or it may be waived; and it is waived by taking a less amount. Great Falls etc. Ry. Co. v. Ganong, 48 Mont. 43, 51, 136 Pac. 391.

Evidence insufficient to sustain a finding that a strip of land had already been appropriated by another company "for a public use of equal necessity," namely, for right of way purposes, under the fourth subdivision of this section. Great Falls etc. Ry. Co. v. Ganong, 48 Mont. 43, 48, 54, 136 Pac. 391.

A railroad company's failure to obey the requirements of the statute does not excuse the citizen from the use of at least ordinary diligence and prudence. Sprague v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 40 Mont. 481, 489, 107 Pac. 412.

A railroad company, whose employees in charge of a train fail, upon approaching the crossing of a highway, to observe the precautions required by this section for the protection of the public, is chargeable with negligence; and there can be no distinction between the effect of a statute designed to protect the public generally at railroad crossings and one, such as section 8536, post, designed to secure safety to servants engaged in hazardous occupations. Monson v. La France Copper Co., 39 Mont. 50, 61, 133 Am. St. Rep. 549, 101 Pac. 243.

Evidence that shows a violation, by a railroad company, of the provisions of this section, in failing to give proper signals of the approach of its trains at crossings, makes out a prima facie case of negligence. De Atley v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 42 Mont. 224, 230, 112 Pac. 76.

Immaterial variance under this section. De Atley v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 42 Mont. 224, 230, 112 Pac. 76.

§ 4295.

Legislative intent to maintain distinction between "railroads" and "street railroads." See note ante, § 3259.

§ 4299.

If a foreign railroad company, engaged as a common carrier of passengers between different states, seeks to engage in interstate commerce in this state, buys or is about to buy out another railroad, and seeks to avail itself of the benefits of this section, which requires the filing of its charter or articles of incorporation with the Secretary of State, it is not obliged to pay a fee, under section 165, ante, for the filing of articles of incorporation, on the basis of a percentage of its entire capital stock; the exaction of such a fee would be an unauthorized burden upon interstate commerce, and any law authorizing it is, to that extent, unconstitutional. Chicago etc. Ry. Co. v. Swindlehurst, 47 Mont. 119, 126, 130 Pac. 966.

§ 4308.

The failure of a railroad company to maintain fences and cattle-guards does not make it answerable, on that ground, for the death of a child, who entered upon the unfenced track and was run over by a train and killed. Nixon v. Montana W. & S. Ry. Co., 50 Mont. 95, 145 Pac. 8.

§ 4323.

Considering the provisions of sections 970, 2876, and 2878 of the Civil Code together, it must be concluded that, in the absence of a special contract limiting a carrier's liability, the provisions of section 970 authorize the recovery by a passenger of the actual value of baggage lost. *Rose v. § 4330.

A railway company may sell an excursion ticket for a special or reduced fare; and, in such a ticket, the company may restrict its liability and curtail its obligations. Miley v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 41 Mont. 51, 55, 108 Pac. 5.

in this section. Miley v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 41 Mont. 51, 55, 108 Pac. 5.

If a penalty is attached to the violation of a statute it should be construed, with respect to that, as are other penal statutes; but that portion which seeks to prohibit, in general terms, unjust discrimination between individuals should be liberally construed. *John v. § 4362a. Persons or Property may be Transported Free or at Reduced Rates in Certain Cases.

(Section 1.) Nothing in provisions of Chapters 4 and 5, Title VIII, of the Political Code, Revised Statutes of Montana, 1907, or in any other provisions of the laws of the state of Montana, shall be construed to prevent, or shall prevent any person, association, company, or corporation engaged as a common carrier of persons, or property in the state of Montana from carrying, storing, or handling property free, or at reduced rates, for the United States, state or municipal governments, or for charitable institutions, or property which is being transported to, or from fairs and expositions for exhibit thereat, or cars used by the government of the United States or state of Montana for the transportation of fish, or for carrying free or at reduced rates agents and employees employed in such transportation and nothing therein contained shall prevent such person, association, company, or corporation from issuing free transportation, or selling tickets at reduced rates to the following classes of persons:

Employees of the issuing road and the members of their families.

Officers and employees of other railroads and the members of their families upon the exchange passes or tickets.

Doctors, nurses and helpers being carried to wrecks.

Soldiers or sailors going to or coming from institutions for their keeping.

Provided, however, that when free transportation, or a ticket at a reduced rate shall be issued to any such officer, state game warden, or deputy, or any member of the said board of horticulture, or any president or member of the faculty of any educational institution that the same shall only be issued upon the application of the Secretary of the State, and the said transportation, or ticket shall be delivered to the Secretary of State for delivery to the person, or persons, applying therefor, and the Secretary of State shall keep record of all transportation, and tickets at reduced rates so received and delivered by him, provided further that such state officer, state game warden, and deputies and members of the state board of horticulture, and the president and faculty of the state educational institutions when traveling upon any free transportation shall not be entitled to charge any mileage against the state, or if traveling upon a ticket sold at reduced fare they shall not be entitled to charge mileage in excess of the cost of said ticket.

(Section 2.) The carrying free, or at reduced rates, of property or persons in any of the classes above specified, shall be held to be a reasonable classification by railroad companies for such purposes and not to be unjust discrimination, and the carriage and transportation by any railroad company, at free or reduced rates, in any of the cases above specified, shall be held not to be a violation of any of the provisions of the laws of Montana, or subject said railroad company to any penalty therefor. [Approved March 4, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 53, p. 102.]

§ 4362b. Reduced or Free Transportation by Carriers.

(Section 1.) No common carrier of passengers shall directly or indirectly issue, furnish or give any free ticket, free pass or free transportation for the carriage or passage of any person within this state except as permitted in section 2 of this act. Nor shall any common carrier in the sale of tickets for transportation at reduced rates, discriminate between persons purchasing the same, except the person described in section 2 of this act. The words "free ticket," "free pass," "free transportation" as used in this act shall include any ticket, pass, contract, permit or transportation issued, furnished or given to any person by any common carrier of passengers for carriage or passage, for any other consideration than money paid in the usual way at the rate, fare or charge, open to all who desire to purchase.

(Section 2.) The persons to whom free tickets, free pass, free transportation and discriminating reduced rates may be issued, furnished or given are the following, to wit: (a) The officers, agents, employees, attorneys, physicians and surgeons, of such common carriers of passengers; (b) to the families of the persons included in subdivision "a" thereof; (c) the general officers of any such common carrier; (d) employees of sleeping-car and express-car companies, and linemen of telegraph and telephone companies, railway mail service, employees, postoffice inspectors, custom inspectors and immigration inspectors, newsboys on trains, baggage agents; (e) persons injured in wrecks and physicians and nurses attending such persons; (f) passengers traveling with the object of providing relief in cases of railroad accident, general epidemic, pestilence, or other calamitous visitation; (g) necessary caretakers of livestock, vegetables and fruit, including return transportation to forwarding station; (h) the officers, agents, or regularly accredited representatives of labor organizations, composed wholly of employees of railway companies; (i) inmates of homes for the reform or rescue of the vicious or unfortunate, including those about to enter and those returning home after discharge, and boards of managers, including officers and superintendents of such

The provisions of this act shall not be construed to prohibit the interchange of passes for the persons to whom free tickets, free passes or free transportation may be furnished or given under the provisions of this section. Nothing in this act shall be construed to invalidate any existing contract between a street railway company and a city where a condition of a franchise grant requires the furnishing of transportation to policemen, firemen, and officers while in the performance of official duties.

(Section 3.) Any common carrier, its officers or agents or representatives, violating any of the provisions of this act shall be fined in the sum of not less than ten dollars ($10) nor more than three hundred dollars ($300), for each offense and any person other than the persons excepted in section 2 of this act who accepts or uses any free ticket, free pass or free transportation for carriage or passage within this state, shall be subject to a like penalty. [Approved March 10, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 136, p. 385.]

See the preceding section enacted subsequently to this.

§ 4362c. Shipment of Livestock—Notice of Injury.

Any provision, stipulation or condition in any shipping contract, bill of lading or other agreement hereafter made or entered into by or between any common carrier and the owner or shipper of any shipment of livestock, providing that written or verbal notice of loss, injury or damage thereto or of claim therefor, shall be made or given to any common carrier or to any agent or officer of any common carrier or to any other person within any period less than four months from the date of the occurrence of any such loss, injury or damage, shall be void and of no effect. § 4362d. Reporting of Delayed Trains by Railway or Telegraph Employees.

(Section 1.) All railway corporations operating in the state of Montana upon the arrival of all passenger trains at the first open telegraph or telephone station within the state shall report by telegraph or telephone stations within the state of Montana, at least four hours in advance of said train, to all stations on the route thereof at which said train is scheduled to stop, and to all railway telegraph or telephone stations located on branch lines over which there is a regular train carrying passengers, and which is scheduled to connect with the train first above referred to, whether the train is on time or late, and if the latter, the number of hours and minutes the said train is behind its advertised schedule.

(Section 2.) No further report will be required relative to such train unless it shall gain time or shall become later than first reported, to the extent of thirty minutes, in which event every such additional thirty minutes delayed, or make up in time, must be reported to stations ahead at which such train is scheduled to stop either by telegraph or by telephone, at least five hours in advance of the arrival time of said train.

(Section 3.) Every operator, agent or person in charge of any telegraph or telephone station shall post a notice in a conspicuous place in the station or waiting-room showing such report on any such train, and when such station is connected by telephone with the central exchange in any town or city, he or she shall promptly notify such central exchange if the train is on time, or if late, the extent of loss of time.

(Section 4.) Any railway or railroad corporation, operator, agent or person in charge of the telegraph or telephone station who shall fail, neglect or refuse to post said notice correctly, or advise such central exchange shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined for each offense not less than twenty-five and not more than two hundred dollars. [Approved March 6, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 105, p. 145.]

Though the statute, requiring the hour of the arrival of passenger trains to be posted at all stations along the lines of railways within the state, was enacted for the protection of railway employees as well as for the convenience of the public, it has no application to cases arising under the federal employers' liability act. Nelson v. Northern Pacific Ry. Co., 50 Mont. 527, 148 Pac. 338.

§ 4362e. Headlights for Locomotives—Penalty for not Using.

(Section 1.) It shall be the duty of any person, corporation or company operating any railroad or railway in this state, within one year after the passage of this act, to equip all locomotives engines used in the transportation of trains over said railroad or railway with electric headlights of not less than fifteen hundred (1500) candle-power measured without the aid of a reflector, or other headlights of not less than fifteen hundred (1500) candle-power measured without the aid of a reflector. Provided, that this act shall not apply to locomotive engines regularly used in the switching of trains.

(Section 2.) Any person, corporation or company operating any railroad or railway in this state violating the provisions of section 1 of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not less than one hundred ($100) dollars nor more than one thousand ($1000) dollars for each offense. [Approved February 16, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 18, p. 21.]

§ 4362f. Railroads to Construct and Maintain Suitable Crossings.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Montana:

(Section 1.) That at every point in the state of Montana, outside of incorporated cities or towns, where a public road, lawfully established, now crosses or hereafter crosses any line of track owned by any railroad company of any kind, such railroad company shall maintain, in good condition, a crossing built of plank, cement, concrete, brick or other suitable material, which crossing must be so constructed as that the surface of the portion thereof between the rails of such track shall be flush with the top of the rails of such track, and shall maintain in good condition suitable approaches to such crossings so that such approaches and crossings shall present to the wheels of vehicles crossing the same an even and continuous surface without break, except such as may be necessary on the inner sides of the rails of such track to accommodate the flanges of the wheels of cars or locomotives passing over such track or tracks.

(Section 2.) All railroad companies owning a line or lines of track within the state of Montana shall have until sixty (60) days after the passage and approval of this act in which to place all approaches and crossings at the intersections of public roads with their respective lines of track in the condition required by this act, and in case of any railroads hereafter constructed and in case of public roads hereafter established across any line or lines of track, the owner or owners of such track or tracks shall have sixty (60) days from and after notice of the establishment of such crossings in which to comply with the provisions of section 1 hereof.

(Section 3.) Any railroad company failing to comply with the provisions of this act or failing to repair any crossings which shall have become defective after the same have been erected in compliance with the provisions of this act, within thirty (30) days after receipt of notice of such defective condition, shall pay to the state of Montana a fine of ten dollars ($10) per day for every day during which it shall fail to comply with the provisions hereof after the expiration of the time for compliance allowed by this act.

(Section 4.) The board of railroad commissioners of the state of Montana is hereby given authority to enforce the provisions of this act, but the county attorneys of the respective counties shall also have authority to institute and prosecute proceedings for the violation of this act as to any crossings within their respective counties. [Approved February 14, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 18, p. 18.]

§ 4362g. Construction and Maintenance of Crossings.

(Section 1.) It is hereby made the duty of all railroads owning, operating or using railway tracks within the state of Montana to make and maintain good and safe crossing at all places where their main lines, spurs and switches intersect or cross public highways, and also to make and maintain such crossings at more than one place in all cities, towns and villages of more than three hundred (300) inhabitants whether same are incorporated or not incorporated towns.

(Section 2.) Whenever a petition for a crossing is signed by at least one-half of the business men residing in any town, city, or village of more than three hundred inhabitants, shall be presented to such railroad, a copy thereof shall be sent to the board of railroad commissioners of the state of Montana and unless said railroad shall construct said crossing within a reasonable time, not exceeding sixty days from date of presentation of said petition it shall be the duty of said board to investigate the facts, and if said crossing is necessary it may enforce the provisions of this act by appropriate proceedings in a summary manner;

And in case crossings are ordered by the board of county commissioners at intersections on highways in the country districts as herein provided for, they, the board of county commissioners, may notify the state board of railroad commissioners of the state of Montana, by a notice containing a description of the public highway together with a description of the kind of crossing desired and it shall thereupon be the duty of the said state board of railroad commissioners to enforce the provisions of this act by appropriate proceedings in a summary manner.

(Section 3.) Any railroad that fails or neglects to comply with the provisions of this act, on conviction thereof in a court of competent jurisdiction, shall be fined in a sum not less than twenty-five dollars ($25) nor more than one hundred dollars ($100) for each offense and nothing herein provided shall exempt a railroad from being liable in damages to persons or property injured at such crossings, either before or after notice to construct same.

(Section 4.) All acts and parts of acts contrary to the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

(Section 5.) This act shall be in force and effect thirty days after its passage and approval. [Approved March 8, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 65, p. 128.]

§ 4362h. Maintenance of Loading Platform by Railroad.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Montana:

(Section 1.) Every railroad company doing business in this state shall within sixty days after notice from the board of railroad commissioners of the state of Montana erect one or more platforms for the transfer of livestock, grain and other commodities from wagons or otherwise to cars at each and every station or siding designated in such notice; such platforms to be erected so as not to endanger life and property. If any railroad company after receiving notice as provided for in this section shall fail, refuse or neglect to erect platforms as required by this and the following section within the required sixty days, the said board of railroad commissioners are authorized and empowered and it is made their duty to notify such railroad company to appear before them at a certain time and place and show cause, if any there is, why such board of railroad commissioners should not issue an order requiring such railroad company to comply with the requirements of this section. The said board of railroad commissioners shall have power, after such hearing, to issue an order upon such railroad company commanding it to erect such platforms, if the said board of railroad commissioners shall upon such examination and hearing deem such platform necessary. Any notice required to be served upon any railroad company to carry out any of the provisions of this section or similar provisions relating to the enlarging of such platforms may be served upon any agent of said company within the state of Montana.

(Section 2.) Each platform shall be not less than twelve feet wide and thirty-two feet long, extending four feet and six inches, or such height as shall be determined by the said board of railroad commissioners above the rails of the track with suitable approaches to and from such platform to admit of the driving of loaded teams thereon.

(Section 3.) The board of railroad commissioners shall have power to order an enlargement of such platforms whenever petitioned to that effect and whenever the capacity of such platforms is in their judgment clearly insufficient for the accommodation of the public.

(Section 4.) Every railroad company shall allow suitable scales to be erected either upon the platform or upon the grounds adjacent thereto, if upon their right of way, for weighing and shipping purposes.

(Section 5.) Every railroad company neglecting or refusing to comply with the requirements of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and be subject to a fine of not less than five hundred dollars for every thirty days such failure shall continue after notice as aforesaid. [Approved February 15, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 26, p. 25.]

(Section 2.) Any corporation or person owning and operating street railway cars, electric or trolley cars, failing to comply with the provisions of this act, shall be liable to a fine of ten ($10) dollars per car for each day operated without such equipment. [Approved March 13, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 80, p. 343.]

§ 4420a. Filing Fees to be Paid by Foreign Corporation.

(Section 1.) Every foreign corporation required by law to file in the office of the Secretary of State a certified copy of its charter or articles of incorporation shall pay to the Secretary of State for the filing thereof as follows:

Upon the proportion of its capital stock then or thereafter to be represented by its property and business in Montana at the rate of fifty (50) cents per thousand dollars for the first one hundred thousand dollars; at the rate of forty (40) cents per thousand dollars for any additional from one hundred thousand dollars to two hundred fifty thousand dollars; at the rate of thirty (30) cents per thousand dollars for any additional from two hundred fifty thousand dollars to five hundred thousand dollars; at the rate of twenty (20) cents per thousand dollars for any additional from five hundred thousand to one million dollars, and at the rate of ten (10) cents per thousand dollars for any additional over one million dollars, provided, however, that no fee for filing shall be less than twenty dollars. [Approved February 27, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 37, p. 53.]

§ 4420b. Annual Reports to be Filed by Foreign Companies.

(Section 2.) Every foreign corporation which shall hereafter file in the office of the Secretary of State a certified copy of its charter or articles of incorporation shall annually and between the first days of January and March of each year file in said office a report verified by the oath of its president, vice-president or secretary, stating the proportion of its capital stock represented in the state of Montana by its property located and business transacted therein during the preceding year. [Approved February 27, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 37, p. 54.]

§ 4420c. Determination of Proportion of Capital Stock Employed in State —Verified Statement.

(Section 3.) In determining the proportion of capital stock employed in this state the same shall be computed by taking the gross business in dollars of the corporation in the state for the preceding year and adding the same to the full value in dollars of the property of the corporation located in the state and by taking the total gross business in dollars of the corporation, both within and without the state for the preceding year, and adding thereto the full value in dollars of the entire property of the corporation both within and without the state and by then dividing the total value in dollars of the business and property in the state by the total value in dollars of all the business and property of the corporation, the quotient thus obtained to be taken as the percentage of the capital stock represented by the business and property within the state. The Secretary of

State may demand as a condition to the filing of such report a statement verified by the president, vice-president or secretary of such foreign corporation, showing in detail the information required for the making of the calculation aforesaid, which statement when so demanded shall be attached to and filed with such report. [Approved February 27, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 37, p. 54.]

(Section 4.) Whenever such report shall show a greater proportion of the capital stock of such foreign corporation represented by its property and business in Montana than that upon which the fee for filing was based, such foreign corporation, at the time of filing such report, shall pay such additional fee as it would have been required to pay for filing if such fee had been calculated on the basis of the proportion of the capital stock represented by its business and property in Montana as shown by such report. [Approved February 27, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 37, p. 55.]

§ 4420e. Penalty for Noncompliance With Law.

An instrument in writing, which neither shows an intention on the part of an alleged trustor to create a trust, nor that the alleged trustee was accepting or acknowledging the existence of a trust, nor indicates the purpose of its creation, nor shows what disposition the alleged trustee is to make of the property, is not sufficient to make the latter a trustee. Mantle v. White, 47 Mont. 234, 244, 132 Pac. 22.

Resulting and constructive trusts are created by operation of law; but the latter arises upon the breach of a fiduciary relation by the person sought to be held, and has its basis in fraud, actual or constructive. Eisenberg v. Goldsmith, 42 Mont. 563, 577, 113 Pac. 1127.

This section and section 4454, ante, are simply declaratory of the common law, under which such intangible rights or interests as those mentioned in these sections cannot be transferred; but it was not the intention of the legislature, in enacting these sections, to make any change in the rule by which courts of equity were theretofore governed in dealing with this class of cases. Winslow v. Dundom, 46 Mont. 71, 80, 125 Pac. 136.

If an option contract for the sale of realty is silent as to whether it can be assigned or not, and the intention of the parties is not shown to have been that the right created should be personal to the option holder, the right is assignable, and enforceable in equity, where the agreement involves simply the cash payment of the purchase price mentioned in it. Winslow v. Dundom, 46 Mont. 71, 82, 125 Pac. 136.

DEEDS.

§ 4749.

If an owner has given an option to purchase, and deposits a deed in escrow to be delivered upon condition of payment, but dies before the exercise of the option, the title is still in him and must necessarily descend to his heirs, subject to such right as the holder of the option contract has under which the deposit was made. Tyler v. Tyler, 50 Mont. 65, 144 Pac. 1090.

§ 4755.

Where a testator has omitted in his will to provide for any of his children, evidence dehors the will may be received under this section to ascertain whether the omission was intentional, however strictly the legislature may have limited the inquiry, in other cases, to the will itself as the exclusive source of information respecting the subjects treated, as in sections 4745, 4746, 4747, ante, and 4757, 4759, 4760, 4764, and 4786, post. A letter not intended to be a will is not an holographic will; and instrument, however, not of a testamentary character, may be construed with one having that character for the purpose of determining whether the writings, taken together, constitute a will; if the former, by appropriate reference, is clearly referred to and made a part of the latter, it is a part of the will; otherwise, it is not. The fourth and second subdivisions of this section do not conflict; collating the two subdivisions, there is a plain legisla-

§ 4835.

The last clause of this section is a statute of limitations, and not repugnant to that provision of the Constitution, article III, section 25, which places aliens and denizens on the same footing as citizens in granting the right to inherit. In re Colbert's Estate, 44 Mont. 259, 267, 119 Pac. 791.

In granting the right to inherit, the Constitution goes no further than to put aliens and denizens on the same footing as citizens. It does not place any limitation upon the power of the legislature to impose upon such right the condition as to time, prescribed in this section, or any other condition that it may deem necessary to prescribe in order that estates may be properly administered and distributed. In re Colbert's Estate, 44 Mont. 259, 267, 119 Pac. 791.

In enacting statutes of limitation, the legislature may lawfully discriminate, even between citizens of different states; hence, there is nothing unconstitutional in discriminating between foreigners, who have never been residents of any of the states, and citizens. WATERS.

Sections 4840-4891, now constitute the law of appropriation of water so far as controlled by legislation; as respects the method to be pursued by the intending appropriator proceeding under the statute, there has not been any substantial change made since the original act of 1885 went into effect. Bailey v. Tintinger, 45 Mont. 154, 167, 122 Pac. 575.

This section and the following ones of this title, regulating the acquisition of the use of water by appropriation, do not and cannot authorize a person to go upon the private property of another for the purpose of making an appropriation, except by condemnation proceedings. Prentice v. McKay, 38 Mont. 114, 117, 98 Pac. 1081.

This section and the following ones of this title, regulating the acquisition of the use of water by appropriation, apply only to appropriations made on the public lands of the United States, or of the state, and to such as are made by individuals, who have riparian rights, either as owners of riparian lands or through grants from such owners. Prentice v. McKay, 38 Mont. 114, 117, 98 Pac. 1081.

One who proceeds under the statute relative to the acquisition of water rights, instead of under the rules and customs of the early settlers, has a completed appropriation when the work on his ditch or canal is finished and before the water is actually applied to its intended use. Bailey v. Tintinger, 45 Mont. 154, 179, 122 Pac. 575.

A public service corporation, authorized to install an irrigation system and to sell or rent water to reclaim arid lands, has a completed appropriation when its distributing system is finished, and when the corporation is ready to deliver water to users upon demand, and offers to do so. Bailey v. Tintinger, 45 Mont. 154, 179, 122 Pac. 575.

The right of a public service corporation to furnish water to irrigate arid lands may be lost by abandonment or nonuser for an unreasonable time. Bailey v. Tintinger, 45 Mont. 154, 178, 122 Pac. 575.

§ 4841.

While the appropriation must be for some useful or beneficial purpose, the use to which the water is to be applied need not be immediate, but may be prospective or contemplated. Bailey v. Tintinger, 45 Mont. 154, 175, 122 Pac. 575.

An appropriator of water need not be either an owner or in possession of land, to make a valid appropriation for irrigation purposes. Bailey v. Tintinger, 45 Mont. 154, 175, 122 Pac. 575.

Respecting the use of water for purposes of irrigation, the ultimate question in every case is, how much will supply the actual needs of the prior claimant under existing conditions. Conrow v. Huffine, 48 Mont. 437, 445, 138 Pac. 1094.

Editorial Notes.

Right to appropriate water for irrigation purposes. 98 Am. Dec. 542.

What constitutes an appropriation of water. 60 Am. St. Rep. 799.

The first appropriator of water may change the point of diversion, or may use it for other purposes, provided the change does not injuriously affect the rights of subsequent appropriators. Featherman v. Hennessy, 43 Mont. 310, 316, 115 Pac. 983.

The successors of the appropriator of water appropriated for placer mining purposes cannot so change its use as to deprive lower appropriators of their rights, already acquired, in the use of it for irrigating purposes. Head v. Hale, 38 Mont. 302, 308, 100 Pac. 222.

One has no more right to change the point of diversion than he has to change the place of the use, or the character of the use, to the prejudice of other appropriators; but it does not follow that any such change is to be taken, in limine, as prejudicial; on the contrary, the burden is on the party claiming to be prejudiced by such change, to allege and prove the facts. Lokowich v. City of Helena, 46 Mont. 575, 577, 129 Pac. 1063.

The burden is upon the party who claims to have been adversely affected by a change of the place of diversion of water, or by a change in its use, to show that he has been injured thereby. Hansen v. Larsen, 44 Mont. 350, 353, 120 Pac. 229.

When the first appropriator of water has finished his use thereof, he must return the water to the stream, to be used by subsequent appropriators. Featherman v. Hennesy, 43 Mont. 310, 316, 115 Pac. 983.

§ 4846.

The United States, in making appropriations of water from the non-navigable streams of the state, must proceed as a corporation or individual. Bailey v. Tintinger, 45 Mont. 154, 177, 122 Pac. 575.

To secure a completed appropriation of water under the statute, notice must be posted and filed as herein required; and, under section 4848, post, work must be commenced within forty days after the notice is posted, and it must be prosecuted with reasonable diligence and be actually completed. Bailey v. Tintinger, 45 Mont. 154, 173, 122 Pac. 575.

Since 1885, two distinct methods of appropriating water are prescribed; one, by complying with the rules and customs of the early settlers; the other, by complying with the terms of the statute. Bailey v. Tintinger, 45 Mont. 154, 172, 122 Pac. 575.

An appropriator of water cannot invoke the doctrine of relation until there has been a completed appropriation. Bailey v. Tintinger, 45 Mont. 154, 171, 122 Pac. 575.

The provisions of this section are permissive, not mandatory. Sloan v. Byers, 37 Mont. 503, 510, 97 Pac. 855.

§ 4881. Appointment of Water Commissioner.

(Section 1.) Whenever the rights of persons to use the waters of any stream, watercourse, spring, lake, reservoir, or other source of supply, have been determined by a decree, or decrees, of a court of competent jurisdiction, it shall be the duty of the judge of the district court having jurisdiction of the subject matter, upon the application of the owners of at least ten per cent of the water rights affected by the decree, or decrees, in the exercise of his discretion to appoint one or more commissioners who shall

It was not the intention of the legislature in enacting this section to compel defendants to litigate their respective titles as between themselves, to the end that future litigation should be avoided. Sloan v. Byers, 37 Mont. 503, 513, 97 Pac. 855.

The provision of this section, that the court may, "in one judgment, settle the relative priorities and rights of all the parties to such action," is permissive only; hence, while the rights of all the parties, whether arising out of joint or independent appropriations, may be adjudicated in a single decree, yet, under the rule declared in section 7917, post, no presumption attaches that any such adjudication has been had, unless that fact appears upon the face of the decree itself, or, in any event, from the judgment-roll. Bennett v. Quinlan, 47 Mont. 247, 253, 131 Pac. 1067.

This section contemplates equitable actions only, in which relative priorities and conflicting rights of all parties may be settled, and where the damages claimed are a mere incident. Howell v. Bent, 48 Mont. 268, 273, 137 Pac. 49.

The right to the use of water may be acquired by prescription as against an individual, and the lapse of time necessary to require such right is the period limited by the statute of limitations for entry upon land. State v. Quantie, 37 Mont. 32, 51, 94 Pac. 491.

The district court may settle the relative priorities and rights of all the parties to a water right suit in one judgment only when pleadings have been framed so as to justify such settlement. Sloan v. Byers, 37 Mont. 503, 513, 97 Pac. 855.

When two or more parties act, each for himself, in producing a result injurious to the plaintiff, as where they divert water to the injury of his crops, they cannot be held jointly liable for the acts of each other; nor, in the absence of statutory authorization, can they be sued in one action for the entire damage, either with or without an apportionment to each of his share of the damage; this section does not authorize such a proceeding. Howell v. Bent, 48 Mont. 268, 272, 137 Pac. 49.

have authority to admeasure and distribute to the parties bound by the decree, or decrees, the waters to which they are entitled according to their rights as fixed by such decree, or decrees. At the time of the appointment of any water commissioner or water commissioners his or their fees and compensation must be fixed in the order. [Amendment approved February 23, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 72.]

§ 4882. Appointment of Commissioners to Admeasure and Distribute Waters.

(Section 2.) When the judge of the district court shall appoint two or more commissioners to admeasure and distribute the waters mentioned in section 1 of this act he may appoint one of them chief commissioner and empower him to exercise direction and control over the other or others in the discharge of their duties. The judge may depose the one appointed chief commissioner from that position and appoint another in his stead whenever it appears to the judge that better service may be given the water-users by making the change. [Amendment approved February 23, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 72.]

§ 4883. Oath of Commissioners.

(Section 3.) Each water commissioner so appointed by the court, shall subscribe and file with the clerk of the district court, an oath of office, before commencing the discharge of his duties as commissioner. [Amendment approved February 23, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 72.]

§ 4884. Term of Office of Commissioners.

(Section 4.) Every water commissioner, so appointed, shall hold his office for such time during the irrigating season of each year as may be designated by the judge in the order making such appointment; provided, that the judge may in his discretion, at any time, change the time for the closing of the commissioner's service. [Amendment approved February 23, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 73.]

§ 4885. Power of Commissioners in Admeasuring Water—Expenses.

(Section 5.) Every water commissioner appointed by the judge of the district court for that purpose shall have the authority to admeasure and distribute to the parties interested under such decree or decrees the water to which those who are parties to the decree or decrees, or privy thereto, are entitled according to their priority as established by the decree or decrees. The water commissioner, in case the parties fail or refuse to do so, may incur necessary expenses in the making of headgates or dams for the distribution of the waters, and such expense shall be assessed against and paid by the party or parties for whom such services in the repair of the ditch or ditches, and the making of any dams or headgates, were necessary. [Amendment approved February 23, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 73.]

§ 4886. Maintenance and Repair of Ditches or Systems.

(Section 6.) Upon written request of the owners of at least fifty-one per cent of the water rights in any adjudicated ditch or single water system the judge of the district court may empower the commissioner to maintain and keep in reasonable repair such water ditch or water system at the expense of the owners thereof, and for such purposes the commissioner shall have authority to enter and work upon any ditch, canal, aqueduct, or other source of conveying the waters affected by the decree and the right of way thereof, and to visit, inspect and adjust all headgates or other means of distribution of such waters. [Amendment approved February 23, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 73.]

§ 4887. Failure to Perform Duty a Contempt of Court.

(Section 7.) If any commissioner shall fail to perform any of the duties imposed upon him by the order of the judge of the district court he shall be deemed guilty of a contempt of said court. [Amendment approved February 23, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 73.]

§ 4888. Further Authority of Commissioners—Arrests.

(Section 8.) For the purposes of carrying out the provisions of this act each commissioner appointed by the court shall have authority to enter upon any ditch, canal, aqueduct, or other source for conveying the waters affected by the decree, and to visit, inspect, and adjust all headgates, or other means of distributing the waters, and shall have the same powers as a sheriff or constable to arrest any and all persons interfering with the distribution made by him, to be dealt with according to law. [Amendment approved February 23, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 73.]

§ 4889. Record of Daily Distribution of Water.

(Section 9.) Each water commissioner must keep a daily record of the amount of water distributed to each water-user, and must file a summary of such record with the clerk of the court monthly, during his term of service, showing in detail the total amount of water distributed to each water-user during such month daily, and the amount of cost therefor based upon the water commissioner's or commissioners' salary per day and the proportionate amount of water distributed. When two or more water commissioners serve under the same decree or decrees by order of the judge they may file a joint summary of their record with the clerk of the court, or the chief commissioner, if one has been appointed by the judge, may file a summary in behalf of all of them. [Amendment approved February 23, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 74.]

§ 4889a. Charges and Expenses.

(Section 10.) The judge may also allow as a charge any expenses necessarily incurred by the water commissioner in the discharge of his duties, in the employment of extra labor for the repair of dams, headgates, ditches, or flumes, when immediate action is necessary to preserve the rights of the parties entitled to the waters of such stream, or when the judge has, in the order appointing the commissioner, required the commissioner to repair ditches and keep in repair necessary headgates, ditches or flumes. The water commissioner shall report all such expenses and the cost thereof shall be taxed against the party or parties for whose benefit the same were incurred. [Amendment approved February 23, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 74.]

§ 4889b. Telephone Expenses.

(Section 11.) The judge may also allow as a charge reasonable expenses incurred by a water commissioner in telephoning to the judge for instructions in cases of emergency; and when there are two or more commissioners acting under the judge's order reasonable expenses incurred in communicating with each by telephone, or with the judge of the district court, in order to carry on the distribution of the waters harmoniously and in accordance with the decree shall be deemed a necessary expense; these expenses shall be reported by the water commissioner or commissioners at the close of the season and shall be taxed against all the water-users affected by the decree or decrees ratably in proportion to the whole amount of water distributed to them during the season. [Amendment approved February 23, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 74.]

§ 4889c. Apportionment of Fees and Expenses.

(Section 12.) Upon the filing of the monthly report by the water commissioner or water commissioners the judge of the court shall make an order apportioning the total amount of the fees and compensation allowed to such commissioner or commissioners for such month, as well as the expenses necessarily incurred by him or them, and charge the same proportionately to the persons using water during such month according to the number of inches of water used by such persons each day, except as herein otherwise provided. [Amendment approved February 23, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 75.]

§ 4889d. Objection to Expenses—Retaxation and Adjustment.

(Section 13.) As soon as the judge of the court shall file with the clerk of the court his order fixing the fees, compensation and expenses of the water commissioner or commissioners, the clerk of the court forthwith shall notify each person mentioned in such report by mail of the amount he is made liable for by the judge's order and that objections to such order may be made by any person interested therein within twenty days after the filing of the order, and unless objections thereto are filed the order will be deemed final. At any time during said twenty days any person objecting to such report may make a motion to retax and adjust the same, and the judge shall hear and determine the motion and make orders in reference thereto as in the retaxation of costs in other cases. The affidavit of the clerk that he has mailed a notice to each person mentioned in the report at such person's last known postoffice address in the usual manner shall be deemed prima facie evidence that the person received the notice provided for in this section. [Amendment approved February 23, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 75.]

§ 4889e. Effect of Order Fixing Fees and Compensation—Lessees—Issuance of Execution.

(Section 14.) After the order of the court fixing the fees and compensation and expenses of the water commissioner or commissioners is final it shall have all the force and effect of a judgment as against the person to whom the water was admeasured and for whose benefit it was used. When the water used has been admeasured to a lessee, or tenant in any degree, of the owner of the land upon which the water was used, the order shall have the effect of a judgment against the property of the lessee or tenant only. Execution may issue upon the order as upon a judgment by direction of the court or judge upon the application of any person interested therein. [Amendment approved February 23, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 75.]

§ 4889f. Complaint by Dissatisfied User—Procedure.

(Section 15.) Any person owning or using any of the waters of such stream, who is dissatisfied with the method of distribution of the waters of such stream by such water commissioner or water commissioners, and who claims to be entitled to more water than he is receiving, or is entitled to a right prior to that allowed him by such commissioner or water commissioners, may file his written complaint, duly verified, setting forth the facts of such claim. Thereupon the judge shall fix a time for the hearing of such petition and shall direct that notice be given to the parties interested in such hearing, the judge may deem necessary. At the time fixed for such hearing, the judge must hear and examine the complainant and such other parties as may appear to support or resist such claim, and also examine such water commissioner or water commissioners and witnesses as to the charges contained in said complaint. Upon the determination of the hearing, the judge shall make such findings and order as he may deem just and proper in the premises. If it shall appear to the judge that the water commissioner or water commissioners have not properly distributed the water according to the provisions of the decree, then the judge shall give the proper instructions for such distribution. The judge may remove such water commissioner or water commissioners and appoint some other person or persons in his or their stead, if he deems that the interests of the parties in the waters mentioned in such decree will be best subserved thereby, and if it shall appear to the judge that the said water commissioner or water commissioners have willfully failed to perform their duties, they may be proceeded against for contempt of court, as provided in contempt cases. The judge shall make such order as to the payment of costs of such hearing as may appear to him to be just and proper. [Amendment approved February 23, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 76.]

§ 4889g. Repealing Clause.

(Section 16.) Sections 4881, 4882, 4883, 4884, 4885, 4886, 4887, 4888, and 4889 of the Revised Codes of 1907 are hereby repealed. [Amendment approved February 23, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 77.]

CONTRACTS AND OBLIGATIONS.

§ 4892.

If a person receives money, which he, in equity and good conscience, ought to turn over to him from whom he received it, the law implies a promise on his part to refund the money; the "obligation" or legal duty, thus created or implied by law, is termed a "quasi contract," which is distinguishable from the contract defined in sections 4965 and 4966, post. Schaeffer v. Miller, 41 Mont. 417, 423, 137 Am. St. Rep. 746, 109 Pac. 970.

Where the relation of parties is merely that of joint or joint and several obligors, an action at law can be maintained by one of them against any one of the others, upon the theory that each of them, upon assuming the relation, impliedly agreed to contribute to every other such sum as the other should be compelled to pay in his behalf. Croft v. Bain, 49 Mont. 484, 488, 143 Pac. 960.

One who has agreed to convey land when he has acquired title to it cannot terminate the contract without tendering a conveyance, or at least accompanying the demand for payment with an offer to convey; the obligation to convey being concurrent with the obligation to pay, the right to terminate the contract does not arise until the vendor has acquired title, and tendered or offered a conveyance. Milwaukee Land Co. v. Ruesink, 50 Mont. 489, 148 Pac. 396.

Where a delivery and payment, in the case of a sale, are to be concurrent, at a place designated, the purchaser cannot recover for the seller's failure to deliver without showing an offer and ability to receive and to pay for the article purchased, at the place indicated. Jendresen v. Hansen, 50 Mont. 216, 146 Pac. 473.

§ 4907.

Where one offers to purchase land, part of the price specified to be paid in cash and the balance in two or three years, and the vendor agrees to these terms, the vendee has the option to elect whether to make the deferred payment in two or in three years. Long v. Needham, 37 Mont. 408, 96 Pac. 731.

§ 4926.

If one party to an agreement contracts to plow land, and to sow it in wheat, in a certain way, but fails in fully performing his agreement, the other party is not obliged to pay for the work done; he must accept such benefits as inure from the part performance whether he wills to do so or not. *Waite v. Where sheep sold are to be delivered on a day stated, but time is not of the essence of the contract, and the sheep are not delivered on that day, the buyer cannot rescind without giving the seller an opportunity to tender performance with compensation for delay; but the seller, to protect his rights, must, within a reasonable time, tender performance, coupled with an offer to compensate for delay. Curtis & Freeman v. Parham, 49 Mont. 140, 145, 140 Pac. 511.

Where a man buys an automobile, giving a chattel mortgage to secure unpaid purchase money, but afterward a new agreement is made, whereby the purchaser is to run the machine for hire, the seller paying expenses, and the buyer to turn over to the seller all moneys received until the balance due on the machine is paid, such new agreement does not effect a novation; it does not extinguish the debt. *Kinsman v. Applied, with section 4980, in an action to recover on a promissory note, given as part of the purchase price of an interest in a coal mining lease, the defendant claiming that he was induced by fraud, on the part of the plaintiff, to enter into the contract. Turk v. Rudman, 42 Mont. 1, 15, 111 Pac. 739.

In an action for damages for fraud, in the sale of land, whereby the plaintiff was deceived as to the area, the plaintiff makes out a case of fraud where the evidence shows that the defendant made a representation, intending that the plaintiff should act upon it; that it was false; that plaintiff believed and relied upon it; and that he acted upon it to his damage. Shoudy v. Reeser, 48 Mont. 579, 588, 142 Pac. 205.

If the owner, in making a sale of land, makes false statements as to its boundaries, the result is a fraud, whether they were made in good or bad faith, and the vendee may rescind or sue for damages. Post v. Liberty, 45 Mont. 1, 14, 121 Pac. 475.

An owner of land is supposed to know its boundaries, and his vendee has a right to rely upon his representations as to them; such representations are regarded as those of fact, and, if false, the effect of them is to deceive the intending purchaser. Post v. Liberty, 45 Mont. 1, 14, 121 Pac. 475.

Sections 5029 and 7873, post, are to be construed with this section, in determining the right to redress for mistakes in written instruments; under this section, 4983, freedom from negligence is the condition precedent to the right to such redress. Hennessy v. Holmes, 46 Mont. 89, 96, 125 Pac. 132.

If a person directs an attorney to draw a quitclaim deed, and signs the paper drawn, without having read it, he is not, where the instrument proves to be a warranty deed, entitled to relief in an action for damages for a breach of warranty contained in the instrument. Hennessy v. Holmes, 46 Mont. 89, 93, 125 Pac. 132.

Failing to read carefully a written instrument, before uttering it, is the neglect of a legal duty, from the consequences of which the person guilty of such negligence cannot have relief. Hennessy v. Holmes, 46 Mont. 89, 94, 125 Pac. 132.

To conclude an agreement, the acceptance of the offer must be unconditional and in every respect meet the terms of the offer. State v. Prison Commissioners, 37 Mont. 378, 390, 96 Pac. 736, applying this principle in case of a contract with the board of state prison commissioners for the care of inmates of the prison.

Under this and the next succeeding section, the plaintiff, in an action on a promissory note, is not required to show that there was a consideration given for the note; the law presumes a consideration, and the burden of showing a want of it is upon the defendant. Ford v. Drake, 46 Mont. 314, 317, 127 Pac. 1019.

If the court, in an action on a promissory note, erroneously admits evidence, in view of sections 5018, 7873, and 7877, post, as to a conversation or understanding had prior to the execution of the writing, concerning the extent of the maker's liability, such error may be indirectly cured by a refusal to instruct as to such conversation or understanding. Ford v. Drake, 46 Mont. 314, 319, 127 Pac. 1019.

Where the special administratrix had a deposit as such in a bank, and another, claiming to have been appointed special administrator, made demand for the payment to him of the deposit. Upon notice the depositor requested the bank to refuse the demand and retain the deposit in her name. The demandant sued the bank and after the removal of the depositor recovered judgment against the bank for the deposit and interest from the date of demand. The depositor was not liable to the bank for the interest, since there was no implied contract to indemnify the bank. Murphy v. Nett (Mont.), 149 Pac. 713.

Where the interest acquired by a party under a contract is a right to have a conveyance of land to himself, the transfer of that interest, by whatever name called, is a grant of interest in real property which must be in writing. Flinner v. McVay, 37 Mont. 306, 312, 15 Ann. Cas. 1175, 19 L. R. A. (N. S.) 879, 96 Pac. 340.

A contract to pay another's debt must be in writing. McGowan Com. Co. v. Midland Coal etc. Co., 41 Mont. 211, 219, 108 Pac. 655.

A parol agreement for the sale of land is not illegal or absolutely void, but it is voidable, that is, unenforceable; the statute requiring a writing is a weapon of defense, which a party may or may not use for his own protection. Perkins v. Allnut, 47 Mont. 13, 14, 130 Pac. 1.

In an action for commissions under a contract to sell realty, the burden of showing that at the time he procured a purchaser there was then an existing contract of employment between himself and defendants such as would be valid under the statute of frauds. *Newman v. § 5018.

This section applies to oral negotiations or stipulations concerning the matter of the agreement; if one of the parties was induced to sign the writing, by reason of the other's fraud or deceit with respect to some collateral matter, then he might be heard to complain. Kelly v. Ellis, 39 Mont. 597, 606, 104 Pac. 873.

A contract in writing supersedes all the prior or contemporaneous oral negotiations and stipulations relating to the subject matter of the agreement between the contracting parties; hence, one of them will not be heard to complain that there were other stipulations, unless they pertain to some collateral matter which operated as an inducement to his entering into the principal agreement. § 5025.

This section simply means that the intention of the parties shall be ascertained, in the first instance, by reference to the language employed by them; if the words used are clear, certain and unambiguous, interpretation cannot be resorted to. Quirk v. Rich, 40 Mont. 552, 558, 107 Pac. 821; Frank v. Butte etc. Lumber Co., 48 Mont. 83, 89, 135 Pac. 904.

If a contract is plain and unambiguous, it needs no construction; the court's duty is to enforce it as made by the parties. Frank v. Butte etc. Lumber Co., 48 Mont. 83, 89, 135 Pac. 904.

Where there is ambiguity in a contract, it is open, under this section and section 5036, post, to interpretation, by the aid of evidence aliunde, so as to give effect to the mutual intention of the parties to it at the time it was made. Butte Water Co. v. City of Butte, 48 Mont. 386, 397, 138 Pac. 195.

There can be no limitation of the liability of a carrier without the assent of the shipper, and there can be no stipulation for any exemption by a carrier which is not just and reasonable in the eye of the law. § 5031.

Where different writings have relation to the same subject matter, the last referring to the others, the intention of the parties must be ascertained by construing all of the writings together as one entire contract. Lyon v. Dailey Copper M. & S. Co., 46 Mont. 108, 120, 126 Pac. 931.

Where a person, in several writings, agrees with a mining corporation, among other things, to sell all of its treasury stock, in consideration of receiving a designated number of shares; where he agrees that he is not to be entitled to such shares until he has completed the sale of the treasury stock; and where he sells only a small part of such stock and abandons the enterprise, he loses his right to claim under the contract; the several writings constitute but one agreement. Lyon v. Dailey Copper M. & S. Co., 46 Mont. 108, 120, 126 Pac. 931.

Where a bond is given to secure rent, it is not nudum pactum, on the theory that a past consideration will not support an undertaking, though it is signed after the lease of the property has been executed, where both instruments are executed on the same day and where the lease is referred to in the bond and made a part thereof; they must be construed as having been executed contemporaneously and as amounting to one instrument. *Dodd v. A written contract that a loan to a corporation shall be repaid monthly "out of the first earnings of its business, after deducting running expenses" does not create a general liability on the part of the company, to be paid after a reasonable time, but makes the indebtedness payable out of a special fund, consisting of the net proceeds, as rapidly as they accumulate. *Frank v. When parties have deliberately made time of the essence of the contract, they must, in the absence of waiver or estoppel, expect that the provision will be given full force and effect. Fratt v. Daniels-Jones Co., 47 Mont. 487, 500, 133 Pac. 700.

When the provision that time is of the essence of the contract is included in the contract, it is the duty of courts to carry out the intention of the parties by giving effect to that provision. Fratt v. Daniels-Jones Co., 47 Mont. 487, 496, 133 Pac. 700.

Where a contract of purchase provides that a failure to make any deferred payment shall work an immediate forfeiture of the contract, the contract, in so far as it provides for liquidated damages, may be void and of no effect under this section; still, in any event, the defaulting purchaser, in the absence of a showing on his part, such as would appeal to the conscience of a court of equity, is not entitled to a return of any part payment of the purchase price made by him, though he asks for it. Fratt v. Daniels-Jones Co., 47 Mont. 487, 496, 133 Pac. 700.

Where the terms of a contract between a vendor and a purchaser have not been complied with by the latter, and the vendor seeks to have the contract canceled as a menace to his title, having asserted his right under the express stipulation therein to declare it no longer binding upon him because of a breach of it by the purchaser, the complaint need not contain any allegation on the subject of restoration; such an action, like one to rescind, is an action of equitable cognizance, but the two actions are wholly different in their scope and purpose, and the rules applicable to the one have no application to the other. Suburban Homes Co. v. North, 50 Mont. 108, 145 Pac. 2.

Rescission requires the party seeking to rescind to restore, or offer to restore, to the other party everything of value received by the former under the contract, upon condition that the latter will do likewise; if he seeks the aid of a court of equity, he must aver that he has done this, or set forth exculpatory facts. *Suburban Homes Co. v. Relief in case of forfeiture. See note ante, § 5054; post, § 6039.

The right to set aside a deed to mining property on the ground of fraud may be barred by laches in prosecuting a suit therefor, notwithstanding the plaintiffs reside in a foreign country and are ignorant of our language and institutions. Streicher v. Murray, 36 Mont. 59, 92 Pac. 36.

The prompt action required by this section is after discovery. Brundy v. Canby, 50 Mont. 454, 148 Pac. 315.

The whole doctrine of restoration under this section and section 6113, post, is equitable, and requires merely that the party against whom rescission is adjudged shall be no worse off than before the contract. Brundy v. Canby, 50 Mont. 454, 148 Pac. 315.

As to either a mistake of law or a mistake of fact, laches may arise from a culpable neglect, to discover, but a court is not required to impute laches from a delay in discovery for a period of less than nine months, merely because the mistake is one of law. Brundy v. Canby, 50 Mont. 454, 148 Pac. 315.

Mistakes of law and mistakes of fact are, as possible bases for rescission, in pari materia; there is not, either as to the duty of discovery or the time of commencing suit, any distinction between them. Brundy v. Canby, 50 Mont. 454, 148 Pac. 315.

Whether a case is or is not one of laches depends upon the circumstances affecting the party who seeks relief as well as the party against whom relief is sought; where the circumstances are such as to excuse a failure to discover, where also the situation of the parties has not changed, no occasion is offered to apply the doctrine of laches. Brundy v. Canby, 50 Mont. 454, 148 Pac. 315.

To authorize the rescission of a contract of purchase, the buyer must, upon the discovery of facts authorizing a rescission, act promptly; the question of promptness is one for the jury. Hillman v. Luzon Cafe Co., 49 Mont. 180, 188, 142 Pac. 641.

Where the plaintiff seeks to rescind a contract on the ground of fraud, the defendant is entitled to know when he discovered the facts constituting the fraud; a just ground for rescission may be lost by laches. Ott v. Pace, 43 Mont. 82, 89, 115 Pac. 37.

The rules prescribed by this section, touching rescission, are inapplicable to an action to enforce an immediate forfeiture of a contract of purchase for the vendee's failure to make any deferred payment, where the contract provides that such failure shall work an immediate forfeiture; hence, it is not necessary for the complaint, in such last-named action, to set out facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action for the rescission of a contract. Fratt v. Daniels-Jones Co., 47 Mont. 487, 495, 133 Pac. 700.

Where one party to a contract is seeking its rescission, he must act promptly upon discovering the facts that entitle him to rescind; hence, if he seeks to rescind on the ground of fraud, he must act with reasonable promptness after discovering the fraud, and his complaint should show when the discovery was made; otherwise, it is vulnerable to a special demurrer, on the ground of being ambiguous, unintelligible, and uncertain. Ott v. Pace, 43 Mont. 82, 115 Pac. 37.

Though the complaint, in a suit to rescind a contract for the sale of real and personal property, does not contain any specific allegation that the defendant has been placed in statu quo, it will be treated as amended in that respect, after the plaintiff has offered evidence tending to show that he has restored to the defendant everything received from him under the contract. Post v. Liberty, 45 Mont. 1, 17, 121 Pac. 475.

A note and chattel mortgage given to secure it are not affected by an unexecuted oral agreement in respect to the time and manner of payment. Kinsman v. Stanhope, 50 Mont. 41, 144 Pac. 1083.

§ 5069.

The party procuring the alteration of a written contract cannot maintain any action upon the contract in either its original or altered form, but the nonconsenting party loses no right, and is not required to rescind or repudiate the contract, and may hold the other party to the terms of the original contract. Smith v. Barnes (Mont.), 149 Pac. 963.

§ 5072.

If a person sells a sheep business owned by him, in view of being subsequently employed as a manager thereof, according to oral agreement, but the memorandum of sale does not contain any reference to his employment as manager, he cannot maintain an action for deceit; his consent to the writing completely superseded the prior oral negotiations, including the promise to employ him, and section 5018, ante, forbids him to say that there ever was any oral promise for his employment. Kelly v. Ellis, 39 Mont. 597, 608, 104 Pac. 873.

Where personalty is sold under a contract providing that title shall remain in the seller until the purchase price is paid, the transaction is a mere executory agreement of sale, accompanied by the delivery of possession to the intending purchaser, to be held by him pending payment of the purchase price, and the title remains in the vendor until payment has been made. State ex rel. Malin-Yates Co. v. Justice of Peace Court (Mont.), 149 Pac. 709.

§ 5091.

Where it appears from the plaintiff's evidence in a suit for specific performance of an oral contract to sell real property that he has fully performed all the terms of the agreement and that the defendant has put him into possession and that he has erected substantial improvements, the court has power to grant the relief asked for. Stevens v. Trafton, 36 Mont. 528, 93 Pac. 810.

Where it is sought to found a claim, as for a right of way, to a part of a ranch, based upon oral negotiations, and the owner is dead, this section furnishes to the heirs their only defense; if there was, in fact, an agreement to convey the right of way, the owner's death would not necessarily defeat a right to have specific performance

Where a contract has been made to sell real estate and personal property, and possession has been given to the former and delivery made of the latter, but the purchaser repudiates the contract, and the vendor rescinds, the purchaser is bound, without demand, to restore to the vendor the personalty received, and to compensate him for the use and occupation of the land. Hicks v. Rupp, 49 Mont. 40, 46, 140 Pac. 97.

Where an application is made for a loan, to be secured by a pledge of corporate stock, the transaction will be considered a pledge, unless it is made to appear that the parties have afterward contracted for an absolute sale. Murray v. Butte-Monitor T. M. Co., 41 Mont. 449, 457, 110 Pac. 497.

Where property is sold under a contract providing that title shall remain in the seller until the purchase price is paid, the transaction is not a sale. State ex rel. Malin-Yates Co. v. Justice of Peace Court (Mont.), 149 Pac. 709.

§ 5092. Conditional Sales—Filing Contracts.

All contracts, notes and instruments for the transfer or sale of personal property, where the title is stipulated to remain in the vendor until the payment of the purchase price or some part thereof, shall be in writing, and the original or true copy thereof, certified by the county clerk and recorder, shall be filed with the county clerk and the recorder of the county wherein the property is situated; otherwise, any such contract, note or instrument is void as to bona fide purchasers, mortgages or attaching creditors of such property prior to such filing. [Amendment approved February 25, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 88.]

In an action of claim and delivery, to recover cattle which the defendant claims to have purchased from a third person in possession of them, but which the plaintiff claims to have let to such third person, under an agreement amounting to a bailment, with an option to such third person to purchase, the trial court should, in submitting the case to the jury, where there is no evidence of any contract in writing and consequently no contract filed as required by this section, instruct them that, if they find that the transaction between the plaintiff and such third person amounted to such an agreement, and further find that the defendant purchased property from such third person while in his possession, then their verdict shall be for the defendant. *Cuerth v. In a cause of action counting upon a certificate of deposit, a demand, if necessary, must be alleged in the complaint. Cassidy v. Slemmons & Booth, 41 Mont. 426, 429, 109 Pac. 976.

Where money is to become due only after notice or demand, it is necessary for the plaintiff to allege and prove that the required notice or demand was given or made, except in a case where the defendant has denied all liability upon the contract pleaded by the plaintiff; in such a case, a demand would be a wholly useless thing. Cassidy v. Slemmons & Booth, 41 Mont. 426, 430, 109 Pac. 976.

Where a special administratrix had a deposit as such in a bank, and another claiming to have been appointed special administrator made demand on the bank for the payment of the deposit, and the bank notified the depositor of the demand and was requested to refuse the demand and retain the deposit in the depositor's name, and thereupon the demandant sued the bank, and, after the removal of the depositor, demandant recovered judgment against the bank for the deposit and interest from the date of the demand, the depositor was not liable to the bank for the interest. Murphy v. Nett (Mont.), 149 Pac. 713.

FINDING.

Assuming that sections 5178-5186, relating to lost property, include the finding of estray, domestic animals, such as a band of sheep, one who sues for compensation and reward for finding, taking care of, and feeding them, does not, in his complaint, state a cause of action under these sections, if it omits to allege that the animals were in fact lost. Kirk v. Smith, 48 Mont. 489, 492, 138 Pac. 1088.

The complainant in an action on a liability or obligation imposed by special statute must state facts that bring the plaintiff squarely within its terms. Kirk v. Smith, 48 Mont. 489, 492, 138 Pac. 1088.

In an action for compensation for finding, taking care of, and feeding a band of sheep, the plaintiff must recover on the basis of compensation alone; he is not entitled to recover a gratuity; but he can recover for his services, though the sheep have been mingled with other sheep, if he can show the value of the proportion of his time, labor, feed, etc., given to the estrays. *Kirk v. (Section 1.) Parties may agree, in writing, for the payment of any rate of interest not exceeding the rate of twelve (12%) per cent per annum, and it shall be allowed, according to the terms of the agreement, until the entry of judgment.

(Section 2.) The taking, receiving, reserving or charging a rate of interest greater than is allowed by the preceding section of this act, shall be deemed a forfeiture of a sum double the amount of interest which the note, bill, or other evidence of debt carries, or which has been agreed to be paid thereon.

When a greater rate of interest has been paid, the person by whom it has been paid, his heirs, assigns, executors or administrators, may recover from the person, firm or corporation taking, receiving, reserving or charging same, a sum double the amount of interest so paid; provided, that such action shall be brought within two years after the payment of said interest; and provided, that before any suit may be brought to recover such usurious interest, the party bringing suit must make written demand for return of said interest so paid. Fellow-servants, employees of railways, who are not. 53 Am. Rep. 621.

This section makes a mining company answerable for injuries to its employees, under the maxim respondeat superior; but, if an action for wrongful death is brought jointly against the company and a hoisting engineer, and the verdict is against the company but is silent as to the engineer, the jury's failure to find as to him is not a finding that he was not guilty of negligence on his part, but should be regarded as no finding as to him. Melzner v. Raven Copper Co., 47 Mont. 351, 359, 132 Pac. 552.

This section declares who are vice principals, and modifies the common-law rule that the master is not liable for injuries caused to an employee by the negligence of a fellow-servant; it creates a liability, where none existed before its enactment, by taking away a defense that was theretofore available to the master. Thurman v. Pittsburg & M. Copper Co., 41 Mont. 141, 150, 108 Pac. 588.

The term "shift-boss" means a master workman, who directs the operations of a set of men who work in turn with other sets. Johnson v. Butte etc. Copper Co., 41 Mont. 158, 170, 48 L. R. A. (N. S.) 938, 108 Pac. 1057.

An action under this section is not a "purely statutory action"; the purpose and effect of this section are to classify the employees in mines, mills and smelters by declaring who, among them, are vice-principals; to make the employer answerable, in certain cases, under the maxim respondent superior; and, in such cases, to take away a defense that had been available before the passage of the statute. Melzner v. Raven Copper Co., 47 Mont. 351, 357, 132 Pac. 552.

If the injury complained of is alleged to be that of a fellow-servant, the injured servant cannot recover in a common-law action, but must declare under the statute. Kinsel v. North Butte Min. Co., 44 Mont. 445, 446, 120 Pac. 797.

An action for personal injuries, founded upon actionable negligence, is not governed, as to its limitation, by section 6449, ante. Beeler v. Butte etc. Development Co., 41 Mont. 465, 473, 110 Pac. 528.

If the injury complained of is the result of the negligence of a fellow-servant, combined with the negligence of the master, the defense of a fellow-servant's negligence is not available. Stewart v. Stone & Webster Eng. Corporation, 44 Mont. 160, 173, 119 Pac. 568.

The complaint, in an action under this section, need not allege that the injury sustained was caused without contributory negligence on the plaintiff's part; such negligence is a matter of defense, to be asserted and shown by the defendant employer, unless it is made plain by the plaintiff's own pleading or proof. Melzner v. Raven Copper Co., 47 Mont. 351, 357, 132 Pac. 552.

A complaint, charging the defendant company and its foreman with primary negligence in failing to use ordinary care to furnish the plaintiff a safe place to work, but failing to allege any specific acts of negligence on the part of the foreman, imputable to the master, fails to state a cause of action within this section. Thurman v. Pittsburg & M. Copper Co., 41 Mont. 141, 151, 108 Pac. 588.

If a party relies for a recovery upon a special statute, creating a liability, where none existed before, he must set forth, in ordinary and concise language, a statement of facts showing his right to recover under that statute. Thurman v. Butte etc. Development Co., 41 Mont. 465, 472, 110 Pac. 528.

This section abolishes the fellow-servant rule. Moyse v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 41 Mont. 272, 282, 108 Pac. 1062.

This section enlarges the common-law liability of persons or corporations operating railroads. Cunningham v. Northwestern Imp. Co., 44 Mont. 180, 216, 119 Pac. 554.

Under this section, sections 5252 and 6494, the right of action accruing to an injured employee survives, in case of his death, and may be prosecuted to judgment by his representative, whether such employee commenced an action in his lifetime or not. Melzner v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 46 Mont. 277, 286, 127 Pac. 1002.

If a person is injured while employed by a railroad company engaged in interstate commerce, and subsequently dies of his injuries, a right of action survives to his personal representative, for the benefit of certain named beneficiaries, and the proper party plaintiff is the personal representative of the decedent; the right of recovery, however, is determinable by the provisions of the federal employer's liability act, which impliedly supersedes all state statutes on the subject. Melzner v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 46 Mont. 277, 288, 127 Pac. 1002.

The provisions of this section and of the next preceding one, constitute a survival statute, and do not create a new cause of action in favor of the heirs for damages sustained by them by reason of the death of the deceased. Dillon v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 38 Mont. 485, 496, 501, 100 Pac. 960.

Where death was instantaneous, there is no survival of an action in the heirs; the wrong and the death of the decedent having been coincident in point of time, no cause ever accrued in his favor, and therefore, none survives in the heirs. Dillon v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 38 Mont. 485, 503, 100 Pac. 960.

Applied to obligation of carrier to one riding on a railroad pass. John v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 42 Mont. 18, 31, 32 L. R. A. (N. S.) 85, 111 Pac. 632.

This section and section 5300, post, distinctly recognize the fact that a carrier owes a different and higher duty to a person who is carried for reward than that owing to one who is carried without reward. John v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 42 Mont. 18, 29, 32 L. R. A. (N. S.) 85, 111 Pac. 632.

One riding on a railway pass is not a passenger for reward, but a free passenger; the company is a carrier without reward, and is answerable to the passenger for ordinary negligence, without considering any exemption conditions of the pass. John v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 42 Mont. 18, 30, 32 L. R. A. (N. S.) 85, 111 Pac. 632.

Liability of carrier for injury to free passenger. Ann. Cas. 1914B, 1209.

As between the owner or manager of exhibitions and places of amusement and the carrier of a passenger for hire, the same measure of duty is not demanded; only ordinary care, as in the gratuitous carriage of persons, under section 5299, ante, is required of the former, while the utmost care is required of the latter. Phillips v. Butte Jockey Club etc. Assn., 46 Mont. 338, 347, 42 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1076, 127 Pac. 1011.

Ordinary care is the measure of duty which the law imposes upon the owners and managers of exhibitions and places of amusement, to prevent injury to patrons who have paid for the privileges accorded to them; thus, the owner of the grandstand at a racecourse is not answerable for an injury to a patron, caused by the latter's tripping on a nail and falling on a broken board, while he was descending the stairway, where the owner did not have notice, either actual or implied, of such defects. *Phillips v. This section is not meant for cases of actual, manual delivery; it applies simply to those cases where, by following custom, a delivery may be accomplished short of the actual, manual transfer of the goods. Gary B. & G. Co. v. Chicago etc. Co., 49 Mont. 524, 532, 143 Pac. 955.

This section does not define the acts that may constitute delivery, in the absence of custom. Gary B. & G. Co. v. Chicago etc. Co., 49 Mont. 524, 532, 143 Pac. 955.

§ 5311.

This section does not apply if a personal delivery is claimed; and, if a personal delivery is not claimed, and this section does apply, its effect is not to relieve the carrier from all liability, but to change the liability from that of carrier to that of warehouseman. Gary B. & G. Co. v. Chicago etc. Co., 49 Mont. 524, 532, 143 Pac. 955.

This section and section 5339, post, construed together, give to the carrier the right, by special contract, to provide against liability in all cases except when it arises from his gross negligence, fraud, or willful wrong. *John v. TRUSTS.§ 5375.

Guardian as a trustee. See note post, § 7777.

Fraud of broker upon principal. See note post, § 5380.

Guardian must account for interest, when. See note post, § 7771.

Good faith requires an agent employed to sell land to account to his principal for the entire selling price, less the agreed commission. Middlefork Cattle Co. v. Todd, 49 Mont. 259, 262, 141 Pac. 641.

It has been a recognized rule in equity, for a century or more, that a trustee shall not deal with the trust funds for any purpose not connected with the trust, and shall not profit by malversation of the trust fund. In re Allard Guardianship, 49 Mont. 219, 229, 141 Pac. 661.

A guardian is a trustee, and is accountable as such. Smith v. Smith, 210 Fed. 947, 951.

What loaning of a ward's trust funds, by a guardian to himself, is not illegal and fraudulent. Smith v. Smith, 45 Mont. 535, 579, 125 Pac. 987.

If a guardian applies to the court for authority to borrow his ward's money, at a low rate of interest, without disclosing the fact that he has already used the ward's money in payment of his own debts; any order procured by such fraud and imposition is voidable, and will afford no protection to the guardian; he is, therefore, answerable, under such circumstances, for legal interest, both before and after obtaining such authority. Smith v. Smith, 210 Fed. 947, 951.

Status of directors. See note ante, § 3889.

Status of directors. See note ante, § 3889.

Guardian as a trustee. See note post, § 7777.

Good faith requires an agent employed to sell land to account to his principal for the entire selling price, less the agreed commission. Middlefork Cattle Co. v. Todd, 49 Mont. 259, 262, 141 Pac. 641.

It is a fraud for a guardian to use the ward's funds, entrusted to him, for any purpose not connected with the trust. In re Allard Guardianship, 49 Mont. 219, 228, 141 Pac. 661.

If a broker is employed to sell land at a certain price, on commission, and he finds a purchaser at that price, but induces his principal to sell at a lower figure, upon the representation that he cannot get any more, and the broker pockets the difference, it is a clear case of fraud upon his principal, and an action lies to compel him to disgorge the amount of profit so wrongfully realized. Middlefork Cattle Co. v. Todd, 49 Mont. 259, 262, 141 Pac. 669.

If a trust is created to secure to the beneficiary an unpaid balance due him, he can take advantage of it at any time before its rescission. Willoburn Ranch Co. v. Yegen, 45 Mont. 254, 259, 122 Pac. 915.

AGENCY.

Authority of agent to sell land must be in writing. See note post, § 7969.

A person who deals with a special agent is bound at his peril to ascertain the scope of the agent's authority. Schaeffer v. Mutual Benefit Life Ins. Co., 38 Mont. 459, 465, 100 Pac. 225.

If a person, in negotiating for the purchase of land, deals with an agent whom he knows to be a special one, and makes a partial payment to him, which the agent has no right to receive, after which the deal falls through, the receipt of the agent for the money is not the receipt of the principal, and the payer cannot recover such payment from the principal. Schaeffer v. Mutual Benefit Life Ins. Co., 38 Mont. 459, 466, 100 Pac. 225.

When a corporation entrusts to its president the active management of its business, he may bind the corporation by contracts that are within the scope of the powers of the corporation, and that are necessary or proper or usually made in the conduct of its business; thus, where he makes a contract of employment and it is clear that his intention is to bind the corporation, it becomes bound as fully as if a formal contract were afterward executed in its name. Edwards v. Plains L. & W. Co., 49 Mont. 535, 544, 143 Pac. 962.

Where an agent had no interest in the subject matter of a contract of employment of indefinite duration, for the sale of real estate, and had not procured a purchaser ready, willing and able to buy, the agency was revocable at the will of the principal whether the agent consented or not. Newman v. Dunleavy (Mont.), 149 Pac. 970.

PARTNERSHIP.§ 5466.

Effect of taking property in names of two persons. See note post, § 5468.

To create the relation of copartners, it must be the intention of the parties to carry on some business and to share in the profits; community of interest alone is not enough. Croft v. Bain, 49 Mont. 484, 487, 143 Pac. 960.

The interchangeable relation of principal and agent is indispensably necessary to constitute a copartnership. Croft v. Bain, 49 Mont. 484, 488, 143 Pac. 960.

To constitute a partnership, there must be such a community of interest as empowers each party to make contracts, incur liabilities, and dispose of the property. Weiss v. Hamilton, 40 Mont. 99, 106, 105 Pac. 74.

It is essential to a partnership that there be a community of ownership in the profits. Weiss v. Hamilton, 40 Mont. 99, 106, 105 Pac. 74.

The sharing of profits is not a conclusive test of partnership. Weiss v. Hamilton, 40 Mont. 99, 106, 105 Pac. 74.

The fact that property is taken in the names of two persons is not of any particular significance, as to the existence of a partnership, where neither party assumes to have any authority to dispose of such property, and, upon a sale thereof, each party disposes of his interest in the proceeds of the sale as he sees fit. Weiss v. Hamilton, 40 Mont. 99, 107, 105 Pac. 74.

Where two physicians are partners and use a hospital for the purpose of treating patients, and one of them, anticipating the dissolution of the relation, though brought about through his own acts, solicits the patronage of firm patients after that event shall have taken place, a court of law will not undertake to adjust the niceties of the situation, and measure out compensation, under this section, supplemented by sections 6040 and 6047, post, to the one who claims to have been injured by a dissolution of the firm. *Freund v. If the duration of a general partnership is not fixed by agreement, a member of such partnership may dissolve it at any time. Freund v. Murray, 39 Mont. 539, 544, 25 L. R. A. (N. S.) 959, 104 Pac. 683.

If an agreement for the dissolution of a partnership contains two provisions, which are fundamentally inconsistent with each other, so that neither mode can be enforced, an adjustment between the partners should be reached in the ordinary way, without regard to the agreement. Lenahan v. Casey, 46 Mont. 367, 377, 128 Pac. 601.

While the death of one of two partners dissolves the partnership, it does not affect the partnership property, except to give the surviving partner exclusive control of the property, for the purpose of settling up the partnership business, as provided for in section 7607, post. *First Nat. Sufficiency of designation. See note ante, § 5504.

This section and section 5509, post, simply suspend the right of action until the statute is complied with. Reilly v. Hathe-way, 46 Mont. 1, 11, 125 Pac. 417.

It is not the right to begin an action, but the right to maintain it, that is withheld by the statute for a failure to comply with its terms; if, before the defense is interposed, the plaintiff complies with the statutory provision, the action may be maintained; and such defense, being an affirmative one, is waived unless it is pleaded in the answer. Reilly v. Hathe-way, 46 Mont. 1, 11, 125 Pac. 417.

The penalty imposed for a violation of this and the next preceding section is the incapacity to sue; but a suit involving a partnership claim may be properly instituted in the names of the persons composing the partnership; and if the fact that the plaintiffs are copartners does not appear from the face of the complaint, and the question of their legal incapacity to sue is not raised by answer, under section 6534, post, the objection must, under section 6539, post, be deemed to have been waived; assuming, then, that the plaintiffs were doing business under a fictitious name, it was not error for the court to exclude evidence showing that they had never made and filed the certificate required by this and the next preceding section. Wilson v. Yegen Bros., 38 Mont. 504, 506, 509, 100 Pac. 613.

The disability imposed by this section, for a failure to comply with section 5504, ante, cannot avail a defendant, sued by the copartners conducting a business under a fictitious name, except upon affirmative allegation and proof; it is in the nature of matter in abatement; the inhibition does not destroy the right of action upon which recovery is sought, but merely imposes a disability to maintain the action until there has been a compliance with section 5504, ante. Croft v. Bain, 49 Mont. 484, 489, 143 Pac. 960.

LIENS.

Suit to redeem. See note post, § 6504.

§ 5713a. Lien upon Crops for Purchase Price of Seed.

(Section 1.) Any person who shall furnish to another seed to be sown or planted or to be used in the production or cultivation of a crop or crops on the lands owned or contracted to be purchased, used, occupied, or rented by him, or held under government entry, shall upon filing the statement provided for in the next section, have a lien not exceeding the purchase price of seven hundred bushels upon the crop produced from the seed or grain so furnished, or any part thereof, and upon the seed or grain threshed from such crop, to secure the payment of the purchase price thereof.

(Section 2.) Any person entitled to a lien under this act shall, within thirty days after the seed or grain is furnished, file in the office of the county clerk and recorder of the county in which the seed or grain is to be sown or planted or used, a statement in writing, verified under oath, showing the kind and quantity of seed or grain, its value, the name of the person or persons to whom furnished, and a description of the land and of each tract of land upon which the same is to be, or has been planted or sown, or used in the production of a crop or crops. Unless the person entitled to the lien shall file such statement within the time aforesaid, he shall be deemed to have waived his right thereto.

(Section 3.) The lien given by this act shall, as to the crops covered thereby have priority over all other liens and encumbrances thereon.

(Section 4.) All acts and parts of acts in conflict herewith are hereby repealed. [Approved February 19, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 23, p. 32.]

§ 5713b. Lien of Threshermen upon Grain or Crops.

(Section 1.) All threshermen owning or operating threshing machines shall have a lien upon the grain and other crops threshed by them for and on account of the services rendered and labor performed by them on said grain and crops.

(Section 2.) Every person intending to avail himself of the benefits of this act must file with the county clerk of the county in which said grain or other crops were grown, and if grown in more than one county, then with the county clerk of each county in which they were grown, within ten (10) days after the last services were rendered or labor performed in the threshing of said grain or other crops, a just and true account of the amount due him or them for such services or labor, after allowing all just credits and offsets, and containing a correct description of the grain or other crop to be charged with such lien, the price agreed upon for such threshing, the name of the person, firm or corporation for whom such labor and services were performed, and a description of the land as nearly as possible upon which such grain or other crops were raised and a description of the legal subdivision of land upon which said grain is stored; and if said grain is stored in an elevator, the location of said elevator; which statement or account shall be verified by affidavit of the person claiming such lien or his duly authorized agent or attorney having knowledge of the facts; and any error or mistake in the account or description of the grain or other crops or of the property upon which it was raised shall not invalidate said lien. If the grain or other crops so threshed are being hauled from the machine direct to the elevator or to any other purchaser, then the threshermen desiring to claim such lien shall also serve written notice upon the elevator man or other private purchaser that he will claim or hold a lien upon said grain or other crops for his services or labor performed in threshing the same.

(Section 3.) The county clerk must indorse upon such lien the day of its filing, make an abstract thereof in a book kept by him for that purpose and properly indexed, containing the date of the filing, the name of the person claiming the lien, the amount thereof, the name of the person against whose property the lien is filed, and a description of the property to be charged with the same.

(Section 4.) The lien for work or labor done or services rendered as specified in section 1 of this act shall be prior to and have precedence over any mortgage, encumbrance or other lien upon said grain or other crops, except the lien for the seed furnished for the purpose of growing this particular crop.

(Section 5.) All actions for the foreclosure and enforcement of the lien herein provided for must be commenced within sixty (60) days from the filing of the lien.

(Section 6.) Except as otherwise provided, the provisions of Part II of the Revised Codes of 1907 are applicable to and constitute the rules of practice for the enforcement and foreclosure of the lien herein provided for.

(Section 7.) All persons interested in the matter in controversy or the property to be charged with the lien, or having liens thereon, may be made parties to an action for the foreclosure thereof.

(Section 8.) Every person, including guardians or minors, married women and any company, firm, association or corporation for whose use or benefit the grain or other crops mentioned herein are threshed or the services rendered or labor performed, is deemed the owner thereof for the purposes herein mentioned.

(Section 9.) Whenever the indebtedness which is a lien upon any such grain or other crops is paid and satisfied, it is the duty of the lienor to acknowledge satisfaction thereof as in case of a mortgage, and to discharge the said lien of record; and if any lienor fails to acknowledge satisfaction and discharge said lien as aforesaid, he is liable to any person injured thereby in the amount of such injury and the costs of action.

(Section 10.) All acts and parts of acts in conflict herewith are hereby repealed. [Approved February 20, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 25, p. 33.]

§ 5762. Renewal of Chattel Mortgage.

(Section 6.) Every mortgage of personal property, executed and filed as provided by the laws of this state, may be renewed at any time within sixty days after the expiration of two years from the date of filing the same, in case such debt or obligation, or any part thereof, be unpaid or unfulfilled, by the filing of an affidavit showing the date of such mortgage, the names of the mortgagor and mortgagee, the date of filing the same and the amount of the debt justly owing at the date of the making of such affidavit, or the condition of the obligation then unfulfilled, and that such mortgage was neither made nor renewed to hinder, delay or defraud creditors or subsequent mortgagees of the said mortgagor and mortgagee, the date of filing the same, and by the mortgagee or his assignee, or other successor in interest; or if more than one mortgagee, assignee or successor in interest such affidavit may be made by one of them in behalf of all. In case of the absence of the mortgagee or his assignee from the county where such mortgage is filed, the affidavit may be made by the agent or attorney or other representative of the mortgagee or his assignee, or of his successor in interest. The affidavit may be made in behalf of the corporation by the president, vice-president, secretary, assistant secretary, cashier or general manager, and in case no such officer is within the county where the mortgages filed then by the agent, attorney or other representative of such corporation; provided that nothing shall be so construed as to prevent the mortgagee or his assignee or successor in interest or one of them, where there is more than one, from making such affidavit wherever he may be, whether in or out of the county where the mortgage is filed so long as said affidavit is filed as hereinbefore specified. The affidavit must be filed in the office where the mortgage therein described is filed, and thereupon the county clerk of such county must attach such affidavit to the mortgage therein described, and note the date of filing thereof opposite the entry of the mortgage therein described in the book provided by law for the entry of chattel mortgages, and the original mortgage shall then continue in full force and effect for the period of three years from the date of filing said affidavit. [Amendment approved March 14, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 380.]

§ 5764. Rights of Subsequent Mortgagee—Subrogation.

(Section 8.) Any mortgagee of personal property upon which a prior mortgage exists, may, at any time during the existence of such mortgage, pay the amount of the debt and interest owing and secured thereby, or deposit the full amount thereof with the county clerk of the county within which affidavit and mortgage are filed, subject to the order of the mortgagee, his legal representative or assigns, and the receipt or duplicate receipt for such payment or deposit, shall be filed in said office and attached to such mortgage, and thereby such subsequent mortgagee shall be subrogated to all the rights of the prior mortgagee under such mortgage. § 5765. Attachment of Mortgaged Chattels.

(Section 9.) Personal property mortgaged may be taken on attachment or execution issued at the suit of a creditor of the mortgagor; but before the property is so taken, the officer must pay or tender to the mortgagee the amount of the mortgage debt and interest, or must deposit with the county treasurer of the county in which the mortgage is filed, payable to the order of the mortgagee; and when the property then taken is sold under process, the officer must apply the proceeds of the sale as follows:

1. To the repayment of the sum paid to the mortgagee, with interest from the date of such payment; and
2. The balance, if any, in like manner as the proceeds of sales under execution are applied in other cases. The holder of any chattel mortgage of record shall, upon fifteen (15) days' notice in writing served upon him in person by any creditor of the mortgagor seeking to satisfy a judgment or demand of such creditor against the mortgagor, be required to make and file in the office of the county clerk and recorder of the county in which the property is situated or in which the mortgage is filed, an affidavit showing the amount of the indebtedness then actually due and owing to the mortgagee, and such affidavit shall state the amount of the original obligation for which the chattel mortgage was given as security, and all additional advancements of money or property on the principal obligation since the date of the execution of the mortgage, and all payments of whatsoever kind, whether on principal or interest, made by the mortgagor to the date of the execution of such affidavit by the mortgagee, and showing the balance then remaining due and unpaid to the mortgagee. If within fifteen (15) days from the service of any such demand in writing on the mortgagee by any creditor of the mortgagor the mortgagee shall fail, refuse, or neglect to file the affidavit herein required, the mortgage shall be of no force or effect as against such creditor upon the seizure of any such personal property on attachment or execution. In the event the amount shown to be due is paid to the county treasurer, or to the mortgagee, in satisfaction of the mortgage by any attaching or execution creditor against the mortgagor, the mortgagee shall be required to surrender to the county treasurer the note or other evidence of indebtedness, secured by the chattel mortgage, and pay any amount of tax due the state or county thereon at such time which said note or other evidence of indebtedness shall be delivered by the mortgagee or county treasurer to the attaching or execution creditor. In the event the property is sold on execution, such attaching creditor shall be required to deliver to the mortgagor the note or other evidence of indebtedness by him obtained from the mortgagee when the property is sold for the amount of the mortgage indebtedness, or an amount in excess thereof. § 5766. Certified Copy of Mortgage.

(Section 10.) A copy of any mortgage of personal property made, acknowledged and filed as provided in this article, certified by the county clerk in whose office the same shall be filed, may be read in evidence in any court of this state, without further proof of the execution of the original, if said original be lost, or out of the power of the person wishing to use it. [Amendment approved March 14, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 381.]

§ 5767. Instruments to Which Law Applicable.

(Section 11.) The provisions of the foregoing sections of this article shall extend to all such bills of sale, deeds of trust, and other conveyances of goods, chattels, or personal property, as shall have the effect of a mortgage or lien upon such property. [Amendment approved March 14, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 381.]

§ 5768. Foreclosure.

(Section 12.) An action for the foreclosure of a mortgage of personal property, or the enforcement of any lien thereon, of whatever nature, may be commenced and conducted in the same manner as provided by law for the foreclosure of mortgages upon real property, and the same may be joined in an action for the recovery of the possession of the property mortgaged; but it is lawful for the mortgagor of personal property to insert in his mortgage a clause authorizing the sheriff of the county in which said property, or any part thereof, may be, to execute the power of sale therein granted to the mortgagee, his legal representatives and assigns, in which case the sheriff of such county, at the time of default, at the request of the mortgagee, must, and it is hereby made his duty to advertise and sell the whole or any part of the mortgaged property, wherever it may be, in the manner provided in such mortgage; and at such sale made as aforesaid, the mortgagee, or his representative or assigns, may, in good faith, purchase the property so sold, or any part thereof. The sheriff may require an indemnity bond from the mortgagee or his assigns before taking possession of, or selling the mortgaged property. Notice of sale shall be given by posting five notices in five public places in the county wherein the property is to be sold, one of which shall be posted at the designated place of sale. § 5770. Report of Sale.

(Section 14.) Within ten days after the sale of any mortgaged property, as herein provided, the person making the sale shall make out in writing a full report, under oath, of all the proceedings in such foreclosure, specifying particularly the property sold, the amount received therefor, the name of the person to whom sold, the amount of the costs and expenses itemized, a copy of the notice of sale, with the statement that the same was posted as herein provided, and the disposition made by him of the proceeds of the sale, and shall file the same in the office of the county clerk and recorder where the mortgage is filed; which report shall be received in all courts as prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated. The county clerk and recorder shall properly index said report and attach the report of sale to the original mortgage on file. [Amendment approved March 14, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 382.]

§ 5771. Satisfaction of Mortgage.

(Section 15.) Whenever the debt or obligation secured by any mortgage of personal property, which has been filed in the office of the county clerk, as provided in this article, shall be paid or discharged, an acknowledgment of satisfaction, signed by the mortgagee, his legal representative or assigns, must be indorsed upon the mortgage, or copy thereof, or attached thereto, filed as aforesaid, and the fact of such discharge or satisfaction noted by the county clerk in the book kept by him, as provided by this act, opposite the names of the parties to such mortgage. [Amendment approved March 14, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 382.]

This section was enacted to facilitate dealing in grain; the mortgagee is protected by the provision that the lien shall continue after severance; but the moment he allows the grain to be taken from the land where it was grown, he thereby removes the principal means of identification, and the property is prima facie free of encumbrance. Brande v. Babcock Hardware Co., 35 Mont. 256, 261, 119 Am. St. Rep. 858, 88 Pac. 949.

Where grain has been removed from the land of the mortgagor, the mere fact that the buyer has knowledge that it was once mortgaged is not alone sufficient to prevent his being a bona fide purchaser; he has a right to presume that the lien has been extinguished; and, unless he has in some way estopped himself, he may safely purchase. Brande v. Babcock Hardware Co., 35 Mont. 256, 262, 119 Am. St. Rep. 858, 88 Pac. 949.

§ 5772. Mortgage on Growing Crops.

(Section 16.) A mortgage may be given upon a growing crop, or a crop to be grown, and the lien thereon continues after severance whether remaining in its original state or threshed or otherwise prepared for market; provided, however, that the lien of such mortgage shall attach only to crops next maturing after the execution of such mortgage, except in case of mortgages to secure the purchase price of rental of land upon which such crops are to be grown. [Amendment approved March 14, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 382.]

§ 5773. Removal of Mortgaged Chattel from County—Penalty.

(Section 17.) Any person who has executed a mortgage upon personal property, except locomotives, engines, rolling stock of a railroad, steamboat machinery and vessels in actual use, who shall, during the existence of the lien or title created by such mortgage, remove the same from the county where said property was situated at the time of the execution of the mortgage, or in case of a mortgaged crop, from the land in which the same was grown, or sell or remove said property or crop, or any part thereof, without the consent in writing of the mortgagee first had and obtained, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, but if such sale be made or removal had with intent to deprive the mortgagee of his claim thereto and interest thereon, such person is guilty of larceny and shall be punished in the same manner and to the same extent as for larceny of the property so removed or disposed of. [Amendment approved March 8, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 94, p. 162. Prior amendment: See Laws 1913, p. 383.]

Section 17 was also amended to read as follows at the same session of the legislature:

"§ 17. Any person who has executed a mortgage upon personal property, except locomotives, engines, rolling stock of a railroad, steamboat machinery and vessels in actual use, who shall, during the existence of the lien or title created by such mortgage, remove the same from the county where said property was situated at the time of the execution of the mortgage, or in case of a mortgaged crop, from the land on which the same was grown, or sell or remove said property or crop, or any part thereof, without the consent in writing of the mortgagee, first had and obtained shall be guilty of misdemeanor, but if such sale be made, or removal had, with intent to deprive the mortgagee of his claim thereto, or interest therein, such person is guilty of larceny and shall be punished in the same manner and to the same extent as for larceny of the property so removed and disposed of. [Amendment approved March 8, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 125, p. 280.]"

§ 5773a. Repealing Clause.

(Section 18.) Sections 5757, 5758, 5759, 5760, 5761, 5762, 5763, 5764, 5765, 5766, 5767, 5768, 5769, 5770, 5771, 5772 and 5773 of the Revised Codes of Montana of 1907, and all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed; provided, however, that the provisions of this act shall not affect mortgages now executed and filed, and as to such mortgages, sections 5757 to 5773, both inclusive, shall remain in force.

This act shall take effect and be in force from and after the first day of April, 1913. [Amendment approved March 14, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 383.]

PLEDGE.

§ 5774.

The interest that one has in a contract to purchase land, for which part payment has been made, and of which he has taken possession, may be pledged as collateral security for the payment of a note. Ringling v. Smith River D. Co., 48 Mont. 467, 475, 138 Pac. 1098.

A lease of, or mortgage upon, real estate may be pledged; and there seems to be no difference in principle between the pledge of a lease and the pledge of a contract to purchase land. Ringling v. Smith River D. Co., 48 Mont. 467, 476, 138 Pac. 1098.

If a principal deposits money in a bank to indemnify the sureties on his bond against possible loss, such deposit is a pledge and title to it, as between the principal and the sureties, is in the former; hence, any interest thereon belongs to the principal and not to the sureties. Leggat v. Palmer, 39 Mont. 302, 308, 102 Pac. 327.

Where property is sold under a contract providing that title shall remain in the seller until the purchase price is paid, the seller does not have a mortgage or lien upon the property within the attachment statute (Rev. Codes, § 6656). State ex rel. Malin-Yates Co. v. Justice of Peace Court (Mont.), 149 Pac. 709.

§ 5815. Lien for Service of Stallion.

Whenever the owner or agent of any stallion shall have complied with the provisions of sections 5813 and 5814 of the Revised Codes of Montana, 1907, and have secured a license from the stallion registration board, the services of such stallion shall become a lien on each mare served, together with a foal of such mare served from such service in an amount agreed upon between the parties at the time of the service; or if no agreement was entered into by them, in such amount as specified as service fee of stallion or stallions in the statement of the owner or agent filed with the county clerk; provided, a notice of lien shall be filed within twelve months after such service; such lien shall terminate at the end of one year from the date of filing notice thereof, unless within that time an action shall be commenced for the enforcement thereof. The owner of any mare so served, or foal of any mare resulting from such service, upon which there exists a lien on file for stallion service, as herein provided, who shall sell, dispose of, mortgage or otherwise encumber, or conceal such mare or foal, without the written consent of the person or persons having such lien, with the intent to deprive or defraud the owner or holder of such lien of his security had thereby, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and is punishable by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars and not more than two hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than ten days and not more than ninety days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. [Amendment approved March 1, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 65.]

§ 5819. Liens on Logs, Ties and Other Timber.

Every person performing labor upon, or who shall assist in obtaining or securing sawlogs, piling, railroad ties, cordwood or other timber, has a lien upon the same and upon all other sawlogs, piling, railroad ties, cordwood or other timber which, at the time of the filing of the claim or lien hereinafter provided, belonged to the person or corporation for whom the labor was performed, for the work or labor done upon or in obtaining or securing the particular sawlogs, piling, railroad ties, cordwood or other timber in said claim or lien described, whether such work or labor was done at the instance of the owner of the same or his agent, or a contractor or subcontractor or any person in behalf of such owner or his agent, or a contractor or subcontractor. The cook in a logging camp shall be regarded as a person who assists in obtaining or securing any of the timber herein mentioned. [Amendment approved March 3, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 66.]

This act amends the law giving a lien upon logs and lumber to laborers engaged in logging, etc., broadening the definition of the agency of employment. Lane v. Lane Potter Lumber Co., 40 Mont. 541, 107 Pac. 898.

This section giving liens to persons performing labor in logging operations, creates a right where none existed before, and the steps necessary to secure them must be taken strictly in accordance with the requirements of the statute. Lane v. Lane Potter Lumber Co., 40 Mont. 541, 547, 107 Pac. 898.

The statute relative to mechanics' liens is materially different from that concerning loggers' liens, and cases upon the former are inapplicable to the latter. Lane v. Lane Potter Lumber Co., 40 Mont. 541, 550, 107 Pac. 898.

The loggers' lien legislation, sections 5819-5821, creates an equity in three classes of persons, namely: 1. Those who are employed to obtain or secure rough timber and transport it to the mill;

2. Those who are employed to assist in the manufacture of it into lumber in any form; and 3. Those who own the land from which the timber is taken. Lane v. Lane Potter Lumber Co., 40 Mont. 541, 550, 107 Pac. 898.

Under a statute requiring that the lien claimant must have been employed "by the owner or his agent," the claimant of a lien for labor performed in the cutting of logs, cannot establish his lien upon evidence that he was employed, not by the owner or his agent, but by an independent contractor. Lane v. Lane Potter Lumber Co., 40 Mont. 541, 551, 107 Pac. 898.

In an action to foreclose a logger's lien, the plaintiff may waive his lien and take a personal judgment for the amount claimed to be due under the contract. Logan v. Billings & N. R. R. Co., 40 Mont. 467, 470, 107 Pac. 415.

Though the complaint, in an action to foreclose a logger's lien, alleges a common or joint liability of several defendants, the plaintiff, after abandoning his claim of lien, may, under sections 6711 and 6712, post, have judgment against any number less than all of them, against whom a liability is shown, though the proof fails as to the others. Logan v. Billings & N. R. R. Co., 40 Mont. 467, 471, 107 Pac. 415.

BILLS AND NOTES.

The provisions of the negotiable instruments law, sections 5842-6037a, in so far as they are clear and unambiguous, must control in determining the rights of parties to negotiable instruments. Brophy Grocery Co. v. Wilson, 45 Mont. 489, 493, 124 Pac. 518.

The statute concerning the contract to be embodied in a negotiable instrument is clearly prohibitory in character, and applies to all sorts of conditions not certain of fulfillment, whether they attach before or after maturity, and to all sorts of contracts other than the principal promise and those stipulations which fall within the exceptions provided for in the statute. State v. Mitton, 37 Mont. 366, 374, 127 Am. St. Rep. 732, 96 Pac. 926.

If the payee of a demand note, upon which partial payments have been made, almost to the full amount of the note, indorses and transfers it, long after it must necessarily have been regarded, by both payee and maker, as due, to a company which has notice, through one of its employees, that there is a dispute between the maker and the payee as to whether any balance remains unpaid on the note, the company is not a holder in due course, but must be held to have taken the paper with notice of its dishonor. Brophy Grocery Co. v. Wilson, 45 Mont. 489, 493, 124 Pac. 518.

Where the terms of a contract between a vendor and a purchaser have not been complied with by the latter, and the vendor seeks to have the contract canceled as a menace to his title, the question as to whether the purchaser is entitled to recover payments made, or any part thereof, is left open and adjudicated. Suburban Homes Co. v. North, 50 Mont. 108, 145 Pac. 2.

Where a purchaser has failed to make payments, according to the terms of his contract, but has made some partial payments, before his breach of the contract, he cannot, ordinarily, recover the payments made before the breach, nor can he, under any circumstances, recover them without alleging and proving that the default was not the result of his "grossly negligent, willful, or fraudulent breach of duty." Suburban Homes Co. v. North, 50 Mont. 108, 145 Pac. 2.

The party who invokes the protection of this section must set forth facts that will appeal to the conscience of a court of equity. Fratt v. Daniels-Jones Co., 47 Mont. 487, 499, 133 Pac. 700.

Before a party can be protected under this section from loss in the nature of a forfeiture of payments made under a contract that he has failed to fully perform, he must show, by his pleading and proof, that his breach of duty was not, among other things, grossly negligent; if he has been negligent, and no adequate excuse is made for his failure to protect his interests under the contract, he is not entitled to relief. Donlan v. Arnold, 48 Mont. 416, 424, 138 Pac. 775.

Where a vendor retains the legal title to property sold to a purchaser, who defaults in meeting deferred payments, and an action is brought to enforce a forfeiture caused by such default, sections 5715 and 5800, ante, are not pertinent nor applicable; there is no lien; and, therefore, there is no basis for denying a forfeiture of the contract of sale. Cook-Reynolds Co. v. Chipman, 47 Mont. 289, 299, 133 Pac. 694.

Whether a stipulation in a contract for the sale of real estate, that the purchaser, in case of his default, shall forfeit all advance payments made by him, is or is not a stipulation for liquidated damages, and within the inhibition of section 5054, ante, a purchaser of property who makes default is not, in the absence of an equitable showing, entitled to a return of any advance payments made by him. Cook-Reynolds Co. v. Chipman, 47 Mont. 289, 297, 133 Pac. 694.

If a person buys personal property, making part payment, and agreeing to make an advance payment on a certain date, or forfeit the payment made, but refuses to complete the transaction, the seller being willing to fulfill its stipulations, the buyer cannot recover back the part payment made, without alleging and proving facts and circumstances upon which, inequity and good conscience, he should have relief from the forfeiture, and which excuse him from the imputation of gross negligence, or willful or fraudulent breach of duty. Clifton v. Willson, 47 Mont. 305, 311, 132 Pac. 424.

In an action against a corporation, to enforce the immediate forfeiture of a contract of purchase for the vendee's failure to make any deferred payment, the corporation is not entitled to any relief on the ground that its officers were so engrossed with other business that they forgot that a payment was due on the contract, especially where time has been made of the essence of the contract. Fratt v. Daniels-Jones Co., 47 Mont. 487, 500, 133 Pac. 700.

the loss of ewes and lambs that died, it is, in fact, an action for trespass to personal property; there can be no recovery for the lambs, but the measure of damages for the loss of the ewes is their market value at the time of the trespass, with interest from that time in the discretion of the jury. *Ball Ranch Co. v. This section applies to an agreement to convey an equitable as well as a legal estate. Ross v. Saylor, 39 Mont. 559, 565, 104 Pac. 864.

In an action to recover damages for the breach of an agreement to convey real property, situated in another state, expenses incurred by the plaintiff in removing his family to that state, preparatory to taking possession of the lands sold to him by the defendant, as well as counsel fees and court costs paid by the plaintiff in defending an action to quiet title, brought against him by the defendant's prior grantee, are recoverable under this section, as "expenses properly incurred in preparing to enter upon the land." Ross v. Saylor, 39 Mont. 559, 570, 104 Pac. 864.

Applied in Burles v. Oregon etc. R. Co., 49 Mont. 129, 133, 140 Pac. 513.

In case a city maintains a nuisance, the measure of damages is declared by this section to be the amount which will compensate the injured party for all the detriment approximately caused thereby. Murray v. Butte, 35 Mont. 169, 88 Pac. 789.

One who has abated a nuisance at his own expense, after a refusal by the municipality, which has created it, to remedy the evil, may recover the necessary expense incurred by him in so doing as part of the damages. Murray v. Butte, 35 Mont. 169, 88 Pac. 789.

In an action to recover damages for false imprisonment, the court may properly call the attention of the jury to the provisions of this section as to the measure of recovery. Kroeger v. Passmore, 36 Mont. 504, 510, 14 L. R. A. (N. S.) 988, 93 Pac. 805.

To enable the plaintiff in an action for personal injuries, to recover damages, he must show that the negligence charged was a proximate cause of the injury. Therriault v. England, 43 Mont. 376, 382, 116 Pac. 581.

If the engineer of a railway train sees a signal to stop, but fails to stop, for a sick passenger, the probable serious consequences to follow from missing the train may be considered as an element of damages. Burles v. Oregon Short Line R. R. Co., 49 Mont. 129, 133, 140 Pac. 513.

In an action for damages, it is not necessary to show that the wrongdoer ought to have anticipated the particular injury which resulted; it is sufficient to show that he ought to have anticipated that some injury was likely to result as the reasonable and natural consequence of his negligence. Mize v. Rocky Mountain Bell Tel. Co., 38 Mont. 521, 532, 129 Am. St. Rep. 659, 16 Ann. Cas. 1189, 100 Pac. 971.

It is not necessary to show that a wrongdoer ought to have anticipated the particular injury which did result from his negligence, but it is sufficient to show that he ought to have anticipated that some injury was likely to result as the reasonable and natural consequence thereof; but, if a minor employed by a gun club to load the automatic traps in the trap-house, used to propel clay pigeons, is injured by stray shot, while at a place in the trap-house, at which he has no right to be, and while not in the performance of his duties, it cannot be said that the members of the club ought to have anticipated that the minor would be doing anything other than that required by his duties; or that he would be at any place in the trap-house other than at the trap when the shooting was in progress; or that some injury was likely to result to him. Therriault v. England, 43 Mont. 376, 384, 116 Pac. 581.

An action to recover the value of ore, alleged to have been mined from a vein owned by the plaintiff, and to have been converted by the defendant, is the same in legal effect as an action for the conversion of personal property; and, in view of this section and section 6071, post, the plaintiff, where he prevails, is entitled, as a matter of law, to interest on the value of the ore converted. Montana Min. Co. v. St. Louis M. & M. Co., 183 Fed. 51, 70, 105 C. C. A. 343.

Where one was injured by falling into an open cellarway in the defendant's store, his earning capacity may be so small as to be a negligible element in making up an estimate of the damages that he may recover; nevertheless, he is entitled to compensation for the destruction of his capacity to pursue his established course of life, an element distinct from the loss of earning capacity. Montague v. Hanson, 38 Mont. 376, 386, 99 Pac. 1063.

Where a minor is employed by a gun club to load the automatic traps used to propel clay pigeons, and, while in the trap-house, but at a crack or opening, the existence of which the club does not know, and at which place the minor has no right to be, he is struck in the face by scattering shot from a gun prematurely discharged by one of the shooters, he cannot recover damages of the club, because he placed himself in a known situation of danger, and but for his own act would not have been injured. Therriault v. England, 43 Mont. 376, 386, 116 Pac. 581.

If a person fails to keep his agreement to purchase certain shares of stock of a broker, such agreement binding him to receive and pay for the same within a stipulated number of days, at which time title shall pass, and the broker, after such breach, sells the stock in open market at the best available price, the measure of damages is the difference between the price fixed in the contract and the value of the shares to the seller. Welch v. Nichols, 41 Mont. 435, 441, 110 Pac. 89.

SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE.

It is not necessary in an action for the specific performance of a contract for the sale of real property, for the plaintiff, asking for a preliminary injunction, to allege that he has no adequate remedy at law; when it appears that the defendant has refused to comply with his contract, the presumption attaches that the plaintiff has suffered detriment, which is irreparable in an action for damages; he is, therefore, prima facie entitled to invoke the aid of equity to obtain equitable relief, namely, the performance of the contract. Lowery v. Cole, 47 Mont. 64, 68, 130 Pac. 410.

INJUNCTIONS.

§ 6121. Injunctions not to be Granted in Certain Cases.

An injunction cannot be granted:

1. To stay a judicial proceeding pending at the commencement of an action in which the injunction is demanded unless such restraint is necessary to prevent a multiplicity of such proceedings.

2. To stay proceedings in a court of the United States.

3. To stay proceedings in another state upon a judgment of a court of that state.

4. To prevent the execution of a public statute, by officers of the law, for the public benefit.

5. To prevent the breach of a contract, the performance of which would not be specifically enforced.

6. To prevent the exercise of a public or private office, in a lawful manner, by the person in possession.

7. To prevent a legislative act by a municipal corporation.

8. In labor disputes under any other or different circumstances or conditions, than if the controversy were of another or different character, or between parties neither or none of whom were laborers or interested in labor questions. [Amendment approved February 21, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 28.]

Question of fraud, how determined. See post, § 6130.

This section does not apply to judicial sales. Kerr v. Blaine, 49 Mont. 602, 606, 144 Pac. 566.

By this section, the legislature did not intend to go further than to declare that, during the time the vendor of personal property remains in possession after a sale, his creditors may seize the property in satisfaction of their claims, notwithstanding such sale. Western Min. Supply Co. v. Quinn, 40 Mont. 156, 166, 135 Am. St. Rep. 612, 20 Ann. Cas. 173, 28 L. R. A. (N. S.) 214, 105 Pac. 732.

The description in a mortgage of a band of sheep as "1,000 head of sheep on the range on Medicine Lodge creek, in Freemont county, Idaho, together with the wool and increase," is insufficient to identify the subject of the encumbrance. Massachusetts Sheep Co. v. Humble, 36 Mont. 201, 92 Pac. 5271.

A sale by a sheriff, under a power contained in a chattel mortgage, falls within the scope of this section. Kerr v. Blaine, 49 Mont. 602, 607, 144 Pac. 566.

Though a bona fide sale of personal property is not accompanied by an immediate delivery, the sale is not void, as to an attaching creditor of the vendor, where the vendee, before the institution of the attachment suit, took and retained actual possession of the property. Western Min. Supply Co. v. Quinn, 40 Mont. 156, 166, 135 Am. St. Rep. 612, 20 Ann. Cas. 173, 28 L. R. A. (N. S.) 214, 105 Pac. 732.

If a sale is attacked solely on the ground of fraud in law, evidence reflecting simply upon the good faith of the parties to the sale is immaterial, though it would be material if the sale were attacked on the ground of fraud in fact, as well as fraud in law. Taylor v. Malta Mercantile Co., 47 Mont. 342, 346, 132 Pac. 549.

If a sale of livestock is followed by a change of possession, continued for over five months, the requirement of this section as to "continued change of possession," is satisfied. Chestnut v. Sales, 44 Mont. 534, 544, 121 Pac. 481.

Where the evidence shows that a warehouse, with its contents, is personal property, and that the entire property has been sold, the delivery of the key to the warehouse, if made before any creditor has moved to collect his debt, is such a constructive delivery as will prevent the presumption of fraud from attaching to the sale. Western Min. Supply Co. v. Quinn, 40 Mont. 156, 166, 135 Am. St. Rep. 612, 20 Ann. Cas. 173, 28 L. R. A. (N. S.) 214, 105 Pac. 732.

In a case where the evidence is conflicting, it is for the jury to say whether there was any such immediate delivery and actual and continued change of possession as to satisfy the statute of frauds. Western Min. etc. Co. v. Melzner, 48 Mont. 174, 177, 136 Pac. 44.

Evidence sufficient to show that a sale was followed by an immediate delivery and actual change of possession. Chestnut v. Sales, 44 Mont. 534, 544, 121 Pac. 481.

Evidence of delivery, and of change of possession, of sheep-shearing machinery, frame buildings, etc., insufficient to meet the requirements of this section. Taylor v. Malta Mercantile Co., 47 Mont. 342, 350, 132 Pac. 549.

The "Bulk Sales Law," sections 6131-6135, is within the state's police power and is constitutional; it does not deprive a merchant of his property without due process of law, nor of the equal protection of the laws. Wheeler etc. Mer. Co. v. Moon, 49 Mont. 307, 309, 141 Pac. 665.

If a merchant's stock is sold, without a compliance with the "Bulk Sales Law," the buyer is a trustee of the property purchased, to the extent of a creditor's claim, at least; and it is immaterial that he may have mingled the purchased goods with property of his own, so as to destroy their identity, or converted them into cash; equity will hold the trustee for the value. Wheeler etc. Mer. Co. v. Moon, 49 Mont. 307, 309, 141 Pac. 665.

Where a merchant has transferred his stock, without complying with the "Bulk Sales Law," and a judgment creditor of the merchant takes out an execution, the service of a copy of the execution upon the transferee, together with a notice that any personal property in his possession, or under his control belonging to the merchant, is attached in pursuance of such writ, operates to fasten upon such property a specific lien in favor of the plaintiff sufficient to enable him to prosecute a creditor's bill against such transferee or garnishee. Wheeler etc. Mer. Co. v. Moon, 49 Mont. 307, 309, 141 Pac. 665.

§ 6132. Sales in Bulk—Verified Statement.

Whenever any person shall bargain for, or purchase any stock of goods, wares or merchandise in bulk, for cash or on credit, and shall pay any part of the purchase price, or execute or deliver to the vendor thereof, or to his order, or to any person for his use, any promissory note, or other evidence of indebtedness for said purchase price, or any part thereof, without first having demanded and received from said vendor, or from his agent, the statement provided for in section 6131 of the Revised Codes of Montana of 1907, and verified as there provided, and without paying, or seeing to it that the purchase money of the said property is applied to the payment of the bona fide claim of the creditors of the vendor as shown upon such verified statement, pro rata, such sale or transfer shall be fraudulent and void. The conduct of members of a labor union, and their sympathizers, in congregating in large numbers in the immediate vicinity of the property of a person in a city, who is deemed "unfair" to organized labor, and in impeding travel on the sidewalk in front of such property, and in interfering with the business there carried on, and with the customers at such place, constitutes a nuisance. MAXIMS.

If a judge, other than the one who presided at the trial, passes upon a motion for a new trial, the same presumption does not attach, on appeal, to his ruling, as if he had heard the witnesses; section 6179, post, and this section apply. Gibson v. Morris State Bank, 49 Mont. 60, 72, 140 Pac. 76.

A party may waive the benefit of the statute of limitations, either before or after the expiration of the prescribed limit, not only by either of the acts mentioned in section 6472, post, but also by express agreement, based upon a consideration, though made contemporaneously with, and as a part of, the principal agreement or obligation out of which the action arose. Parchen v. Chessman, 49 Mont. 326, 335, 142 Pac. 631.

A stipulation in a contract, waiving the benefit of the statute of limitations, is binding for a reasonable time; at least until the expiration of an additional period equal to that prescribed by the statute for the particular cause of action. Parchen v. Chessman, 49 Mont. 326, 335, 142 Pac. 631.

It must be assumed that a party who desires to waive his right is free to do so in any way and at any time he chooses. Parchen v. Chessman, 49 Mont. 326, 335, 142 Pac. 631.

This section is not inconsistent with the rule that a man may use his own property as he pleases, for all purposes for which it is adaptable, without being answerable for the consequences, if he does not designedly cause injury or create a nuisance, and exercises due care and caution; the owner of an irrigating ditch is not an insurer against damages that may result from its operation. Fleming v. Lockwood, 36 Mont. 384, 388, 122 Am. St. Rep. 375, 13 Ann. Cas. 263, 14 L. R. A. (N. S.) 628, 92 Pac. 962.

Northern Pac. Ry. Co.*, 49 Mont. 573, 575, 144 Pac. 156.

Publication, on Sunday, of proposed constitutional amendment is valid. See note ante, § 3552.

This section does not embody a prohibition; it merely provides an extra day of grace; any of the enumerated acts may be done lawfully on a holiday, but are in time if not done until the next business day. State v. Alderson, 49 Mont. 387, 411, 142 Pac. 210.

There is no prohibition against the performance of any public act on Sunday, as such. State v. Alderson, 49 Mont. 387, 410, 142 Pac. 210.

Service of summons on Sunday is not a nullity, but a mere irregularity. Burke v. Interstate Sav. etc. Ass., 25 Mont. 315, 87 Am. St. Rep. 416, 64 Pac. 879.

Under this section and section 6223, post, a person who has obtained a judgment against a corporation, for personal injuries, is a creditor of the corporation, though his judgment has not been entered; the judgment simply serves to establish that pre-existing fact and to put such person into a position to assert his right. Pittsmtont Copper Co. v. O'Rourke, 49 Mont. 281, 292, 141 Pac. 849.

"Person" includes corporation. See ante, section 16, and post, sections 8071 and 8099; also note ante, section 4725.

Where a wife obtains a decree for separate maintenance but claims that there was a fraudulent conspiracy to defeat any decree she might obtain, by a disposition of her husband's property, she has an adequate remedy by execution, and, therefore, is not entitled to sue in equity by way of a creditor's bill. Raymond v. Blancgrass, 36 Mont. 449, 464, 15 L. R. A. (N. S.) 976, 93 Pac. 648.

A cause of action existing in favor of one of the parties is "property" which the other may reach by execution. Raymond v. Blancgrass, 36 Mont. 449, 464, 15 L. R. A. (N. S.) 976, 93 Pac. 648.

Examination and approval of claims against the state. See note ante, § 226.

When, by a general appropriation bill, provision has been made for the compensation of the stenographer of the supreme court, his claim for salary earned is not an unliquidated claim, requiring the approval of the board of examiners before the issuance of a warrant. State v. Cunningham, 39 Mont. 165, 172, 101 Pac. 962.

Where the state has failed to make provision for necessary assistants to the supreme court, that court may, both under its inherent authority and under the authority of this section, select and appoint them, and make the compensation due them for their services a charge against the state as a liquidated claim. State v. Cunningham, 39 Mont. 165, 172, 101 Pac. 962.

SUPREME COURT.

The supreme court has no original jurisdiction, in any case, except as authorized by the Constitution. State v. Helena Waterworks Co., 43 Mont. 169, 172, 115 Pac. 200.

§ 6252.

Appellate nature of supervisory power of supreme court. See note post, § 6253.

Setting aside findings, in an equity case, on motion for a new trial. See note post, § 6797.

The provision of this section, that the supreme court, in giving its decision, if a new trial be granted, "must pass upon and determine all the questions of law involved in the case, presented upon such appeal and necessary to the final determination of the case," is not binding upon that court. State v. District Court, 40 Mont. 206, 208, 105 Pac. 721.

The supreme court is authorized and required, in equity cases, to review all questions of fact arising from the evidence and determine the same as well as questions of law. Pew v. Johnson, 35 Mont. 173, 178, 119 Am. St. Rep. 852, 88 Pac. 770.

Where the supreme court, on appeal in an equity case, reverses the judgment, but no cause appears why a new trial or the taking of further testimony should be ordered, it will enter a judgment finally determining the cause. North Real Estate etc. Co. v. Billings Loan etc. Co., 36 Mont. 356, 367, 93 Pac. 40.

In equity cases, the supreme court may examine the evidence and determine a question of fact for itself, but it cannot overturn the findings of the trial court, unless there is a decided preponderance of the evidence against them. Copper Mountain Min. & S. Co. v. Butte & Corbin etc. Min. Co., 39 Mont. 487, 494, 133 Am. St. Rep. 595, 104 Pac. 540.

In an equity case, the findings of the trial court will not be disturbed on appeal unless there is a decided preponderance of evidence against them. Murray v. Butte-Monitor T. M. Co., 41 Mont. 449, 453, 110 Pac. 497.

The findings of a trial court will not be set aside in equity cases unless there is a decided preponderance in the evidence against them; and, when the evidence as it appears in the record, fully considered, furnishes reasonable grounds for different conclusions, the findings will not be disturbed. Gibson v. Morris State Bank, 49 Mont. 60, 72, 140 Pac. 76.

The supreme court will accept the findings of the trial court in equity proceedings, unless the appealing party can show that the evidence preponderates against such findings. Consolidated etc. Min. Co. v. Struthers, 41 Mont. 551, 555, 111 Pac. 150.

Where a decree of divorce must be reversed, it becomes the duty of the supreme court to determine the questions of law and fact presented by the record upon the whole case; it may make such disposition of the case as the circumstances may require; and, in doing this, it may consider written evidence that was erroneously excluded by the trial court, but incorporated in the record, as properly before it. Bordeaux v. Bordeaux, 43 Mont. 102, 109, 111, 115 Pac. 25.

The supreme court will, if deemed advisable, in a case where the title to a water right is sought to be quieted and the defendant enjoined from interference therewith, disregard questions presented upon alleged errors of the district court and dispose of the merits of the appeal upon a review of the evidence alone. Pew v. Johnson, 35 Mont. 173, 178, 119 Am. St. Rep. 852, 88 Pac. 770.

The review under this section may go no further than to determine whether there is a decided preponderance in the evidence against the findings in the trial court; the supreme court will not undertake to try a case de novo and determine it as does the district court. Pope v. Alexander, 36 Mont. 90, 92 Pac. 203.

In actions at law, where the plaintiff should have been nonsuited, or a directed verdict for the defendant should have been entered, and the proper motion was made and denied, the supreme court will generally direct a final disposition of the cause. Wertz v. Lamb, 43 Mont. 477, 484, 117 Pac. 89.

The supreme court may, in an action to determine relative rights to the use of water, where the evidence is all before it, and there is no substantial conflict, order such modifications of the decree as will finally determine the controversy. Bielenberg v. Eyre, 44 Mont. 397, 400, 120 Pac. 243.

The procedure for the foreclosure of a mechanic's lien is sui generis; it is neither strictly at law nor in equity, but is a blending of both; hence it does not fall within the provisions of this section, where certain issues of fact raised by the pleadings were never fully tried in the district court, and the supreme court on appeal will not, therefore, enter a judgment finally disposing of the cause. Wertz v. Lamb, 43 Mont. 477, 485, 117 Pac. 89.

Much confusion would be avoided, in actions to establish mechanics' liens, if the question of indebtedness was first tried as an ordinary action at law, and, if anything is found to be due to the lien claimant, then proceed as in equity. Wertz v. Lamb, 43 Mont. 477, 485, 117 Pac. 89.

The supervisory power of the supreme court, granted by the Constitution, and which is also appellate in its nature, was designed to control summarily the course of litigation in the inferior courts, and to prevent injustice being done through a mistake of law, or a willful disregard of it, where there is no appeal from the erroneous action, or where, there being an appeal, the relief obtained thereby would be inadequate. State v. Helena Waterworks Co., 43 Mont. 169, 173, 115 Pac. 200.

The purpose of supreme court rule 7, subdivision 3, requiring evidence to be incorporated in the bill of exceptions in the form of question and answer is to present to the court the evidence involving controverted questions of fact, in the exact words of the witnesses, to the end that the duty imposed upon the court by the statute may be properly discharged. Koopman v. Mansolf (Mont.), 149 Pac. 491.

To authorize the supreme court to issue the writ of injunction in the exercise of its original equity jurisdiction, as distinguished from its power to grant the writ to preserve the subject of the action pending appeal, the rights of the "public" must be involved; the term "public" applies to the affairs of the state or some subdivision thereof. State v. Helena Waterworks Co., 43 Mont. 169, 176, 115 Pac. 200.

No action can be commenced originally in the supreme court, for an injunction, in a case where a city is seeking to provide a water supply and to construct a system for itself; in such an enterprise the city acts in its private, corporate capacity, as distinguished from an exercise of its public powers. State v. Helena Waterworks Co., 43 Mont. 169, 176, 115 Pac. 200.

DISTRICT COURTS.

§ 6265. Number of Judges in Fourth District.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Montana:

(Section 1.) That from and after the passage and approval of this act there shall be three judges in the fourth judicial district in the state of Montana, one of whom may have his chambers at Thompson, county seat of Sanders county.

(Section 2.) That the Governor shall appoint some fit and qualified person as additional judge of the said fourth judicial district to hold his office until the first Monday of January, 1917, or until his successor is duly elected and qualified.

(Section 3.) The compensation, powers and duties of said additional judge by this act created shall be the same as provided by law for district judges. [Amendment approved February 11, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 14.]

Where the vacancy occurs through the creation of an additional judgeship for a county and a person is appointed to fill it, the appointment contemplates the choosing of a judge at the next following general election and that the appointee shall then give place to the judge so chosen. State v. Lentz, 50 Mont. 332, 146 Pac. 932.

Filling vacancies in office. See note ante, § 420.

Election will be upheld as valid, when. See note ante, § 452.

A judge appointed to fill a vacancy can serve no longer than until the next general election in point of time and until his successor is elected and qualified; neither the legislature nor the governor can extend the term beyond that thus definitely fixed by the Constitution. State v. Lentz, 50 Mont. 322, 146 Pac. 932; overruling State v.

Smith, 35 Mont. 523, 10 Ann. Cas. 1138, 90 Pac. 750.

Editorial Notes.

§ 6278. Additional Judges in District, Their Duties and Powers.

In each judicial district which has now or may hereafter have more than one judge, as many terms or sessions of court may be held at the same time as there are judges in the district, either elected or appointed to, called into or assigned to the performance of the duties of holding court therein. The judges elected or appointed to hold office in each judicial district, having more than one judge, may divide the court into departments, prescribe the order of business and make rules for the government of such court. They must apportion the business of the court among themselves as equally as may be, but in case of their failure to make such apportionment for any cause, the supreme court, upon application of any interested person, shall make an order apportioning such business and cause the same to be entered upon the minute book of the district court in each county in such district and such order shall remain in full force and effect until modified or repealed by the authority making it. The failure or refusal of any district judge to carry out the terms of such order, shall constitute a contempt of the supreme court. [Amendment approved February 3, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 11.]

This section treats of the division of court business and the enactment of court rules as entirely independent matters. State v. District Court, 49 Mont. 158, 162, 141 Pac. 151.

The distribution of business is personal to the judges, and is not a subject within the purview of court rules. State v. District Court, 49 Mont. 158, 163, 141 Pac. 151.

The judges "must" apportion the business as equally as may be; the obligation is an absolute one; and the duty imposed is a legal duty, from the discharge of which there is no escape, save by resignation from office. State v. District Court, 49 Mont. 158, 162, 141 Pac. 151.

If a court has taken cognizance of a cause, it is beyond the power of any other court of concurrent jurisdiction, or of any other department of the same court, to interfere; and, if it does so, its proceedings will be set aside. State v. District Court, 49 Mont. 158, 162, 141 Pac. 151.

The law clearly implies that, upon a change in the personnel of the judges, there shall be a redistribution of the business, if that is necessary to meet the convenience and choice of the judges. State v. District Court, 49 Mont. 158, 162, 141 Pac. 151.

Where a district court has two judges, and there exists no agreement as to the apportionment of the business of the court between them or their departments, either one, when in open court, possesses all the power and authority of the district court to hear and determine a case of which such court has jurisdiction. State v. District Court, 49 Mont. 158, 162, 141 Pac. 151.

§ 6278a. Fifth Judicial District—Judges.

§ 6278b. Teton County Added to Eighth Judicial District—Judges.

(Section 1.) Teton county is hereby detached from the eleventh judicial district and added to the eighth judicial district and from and after the date and passage of this act the eighth judicial district of the state of Montana shall be composed of the counties of Cascade and Teton.

(Section 2.) From and after the passage and approval of this act there shall be two judges in the eighth judicial district.

(Section 3.) That the Governor of this state shall duly appoint some fit and qualified person as additional judge of the eighth judicial district to hold his office until the first Monday of January in the year 1911, or until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified.

(Section 4.) That one of the judges of said eighth judicial district shall maintain chambers at Choteau, the county seat of Teton county and also at Great Falls, the county seat of Cascade county, in said district, it being expressly provided, however, that said judge shall be at and maintain chambers in each of said counties at least once in each calendar month of each year.

(Section 5.) The compensation, powers and duties of the said judge, in said eighth judicial district, in this act created, shall be the same as are provided by law and the Constitution of the state for the district judge, save and except as otherwise provided in this act. [Approved February 22, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 26, p. 31.]

§ 6278c. Boundaries and Judges of Ninth, Tenth and Fourteenth Judicial Districts.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Montana:

(Section 1.) That there is hereby created a new judicial district of the state of Montana, to be known as the fourteenth judicial district of the state of Montana, and that the same shall embrace and comprise the territory within the counties of Broadwater and Meagher, within the state of Montana, which, from and after the passage of this act, shall constitute the fourteenth judicial district of the state of Montana.

(Section 5.) That the powers, duties, compensation and term of office of the judge of the fourteenth judicial district shall be the same as those provided by law and the Constitution of the state of Montana, for district judges.

§ 6278d. Judges in Twelfth Judicial District.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Montana:

That from and after the passage and approval of this act there shall be two judges in the twelfth judicial district of the state of Montana.

That the Governor shall appoint some fit and qualified person as additional judge of said twelfth judicial district to hold his office until the first Monday of January, in the year 1913, or until his successor is elected and qualified.

That one of the judges of said twelfth judicial district shall hold a session of court at Glasgow, the county seat of Valley county in said district, and that said judge shall be at and maintain chambers in said Valley county at least once in each calendar month of each year.

The compensation, powers and duties of the said additional judge, by this act created, shall be the same as are provided by law for other district judges. [Approved March 2, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 74, p. 142.]

§ 6278e. Judges for Thirteenth Judicial District.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Montana:

(Section 1.) That from and after the passage and approval of this act there shall be two judges in the thirteenth judicial district of the state of Montana.

(Section 2.) That the Governor shall appoint some fit and qualified person as additional judge of the said thirteenth judicial district to hold his office until the first Monday of January, 1913, or until his successor is duly elected and qualified.

(Section 3.) The compensation, powers and duties of the said additional judge by this act created shall be the same as are provided by law for other district judges. [Approved January 31, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 3, p. 8.]

§ 6278f. Creation of Fifteenth Judicial District.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Montana:

(Section 1.) That there is hereby created a new judicial district of the state of Montana, to be known as the fifteenth judicial district, and that the same shall embrace and comprise the territory within the counties of Rosebud and Musselshell within the state of Montana, which, from and after the passage of this act, shall constitute the fifteenth judicial district of the state of Montana.

(Section 2.) That the thirteenth judicial district of the state of Montana shall hereafter embrace the territory within the counties of Carbon, Big Horn, and Yellowstone.

(Section 3.) That within thirty days after the passage of this act the Governor of this state shall appoint and designate Honorable Charles L. Crum as the judge of the fifteenth judicial district.

(Section 4.) That the powers, duties, compensation, and term of office of the judge of the fifteenth judicial district shall be the same as those provided by law and the Constitution of the state of Montana.

§ 6278g. Creation of Sixteenth Judicial District.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Montana:

(Section 6.) All acts and parts of acts in conflict herewith are hereby repealed. [Approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 144, p. 358.]

JUSTICES' COURTS.§ 6286.

Joinder of causes. See note post, § 7008.

The constitutional prohibition, that justices' courts shall have no equity jurisdiction, extends to those matters only of which a court of equity has exclusive cognizance; interpleader by substitution of parties is permitted in courts proceeding according to the cause of the common law, and this permission extends to justices' courts. Mettler v. Adamson, 38 Mont. 198, 203, 99 Pac. 441.

A justice of the peace is not deprived of jurisdiction because the plaintiff frames his case on the theory of equitable relief, if it appears from his pleading that he is entitled to other relief. Anderson v. Red Metal Min. Co., 36 Mont. 319, 93 Pac. 44.

The jurisdiction of a justice of the peace, in an action for a fine, penalty, or forfeiture, is not dependent upon the amount that the plaintiff might recover, but upon the amount that he demands; if he demands less than three hundred dollars, where the maximum penalty, if asked for, would be more than three hundred dollars, the justice has jurisdiction. Reynolds v. Smith, 48 Mont. 149, 151, 135 Pac. 1190.

If an action in a justice's court was, at its commencement, strictly a legal action, and different defendants have been properly substituted, they cannot deprive the justice's court of jurisdiction by interposing an equitable defense, such as fraud, which it cannot entertain. Mettler v. Adamson, 38 Mont. 198, 203, 99 Pac. 441.

In an action before a justice of the peace, on account, for labor performed, a proper substitution of parties defendant does not have the effect of converting the cause from a legal into an equitable action and of depriving the justice of jurisdiction to proceed. Mettler v. Adamson, 38 Mont. 198, 203, 99 Pac. 441.

COURTS AND JUDGES.

§ 6293. Courts of Record may Make Rules.

Every court of record may make rules not inconsistent with the laws of this state, for its own government and the government of its officers; but such rules must not impose any tax or charge upon any legal proceedings, or give any allowance to any officers for services. In case of the failure or refusal of any district court to adopt and promulgate rules of court, the supreme court may upon the application of any interested person, adopt and promulgate rules for the government of such court, and when adopted and promulgated such rules shall remain in full force and effect until modified or repealed by the authority adopting them. Any judge who shall fail or refuse to comply with and carry out in good faith the rules of court adopted by the supreme court, as herein provided for, shall be guilty of a contempt of the supreme court. [Amendment approved February 3, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 11.]

Distribution of business. See note ante, § 6278.

Court rules, while effective as the expression of the will of the judges in office at the time of their promulgation, and binding upon them are not binding upon their successors. State v. District Court, 49 Mont. 158, 161, 141 Pac. 151.

Rules of court, when duly promulgated, have the force and effect of statutes within the territorial limits of the district, and are binding upon the judges of the court, as well as upon all other persons. State v. District Court, 49 Mont. 158, 161, 141 Pac. 151.

A justice's court has no equity jurisdiction, and the district court on appeal has the same extent of jurisdiction as the justice's court has. Mettler v. Adamson, 38 Mont. 198, 203, 99 Pac. 203.

A rule of court, assigning all of the criminal cases to one of the judges of a district court, will not preclude another judge of the same court from assuming jurisdiction of a criminal case. State v. District Court, 49 Mont. 158, 161, 141 Pac. 151.

A rule of the district court that agreements between attorneys, relating to causes pending, will be disregarded by the court, unless made in open court and entered in the minutes or reduced to writing, subscribed by the party, or his attorney, against whom they are urged, has no application to an executed oral agreement or stipulation admittedly entered into by an attorney; such agreement binds the attorney, though he is inclined to repudiate it, where the client did not interfere nor dissent. Bush v. Baker, 46 Mont. 535, 546, 129 Pac. 550.

The rules of the supreme court adopted under the limitations prescribed by this section, have the force of statutes and are binding upon district courts and their officers in the matter of appellate procedure. State v. Foster, 36 Mont. 278, 281, 92 Pac. 761.

Though a district court rule provides that, if the appellant fails to file the transcript and papers in the district court within ten days after perfecting an appeal from a justice's court, such appeal shall be subject to dismissal, the provision indicated is not jurisdictional. *Bush v. § 6296.

The prohibition of this section extends only to strictly judicial acts, and some of them are excepted; it does not prohibit the doing of a ministerial act, such as the publishing of an amendment to the state Constitution. State v. Alderson, 49 Mont. 387, 410, 142 Pac. 210.

Every holiday, including Sunday, is qualifiedly a nonjudicial day; but the prohibition of the statute extends only to strictly judicial acts, and some of them are excepted. State v. Alderson, 49 Mont. 387, 410, 142 Pac. 210.

A district court has no more power to secure attendants than it has to secure rooms; it has no power to appoint an attendant, fix his compensation, and compel payment thereof out of the public funds, until after the sheriff has refused to perform the duties of court attendant, either in person or by deputy, as required by section 3026, ante, and until after the board of county commissioners has declined to furnish him with assistants sufficient for the transaction of business. State v. Sullivan, 48 Mont. 320, 331, 137 Pac. 392.

In determining whether a district judge has power to appoint attendants, sections 2894, 3010, 3026, ante, and this section, cannot be successfully assailed as invasions of the inherent power of the court, because the power of the court, as organized by the Constitution, did not include the right to appoint attendants, without prior recourse to the sheriff and to the county. State v. Sullivan, 48 Mont. 320, 329, 137 Pac. 392.

§ 6312. Judges Holding District Courts at the Request of Governor.

If for any cause a district court is not or cannot be held in any county by the judge or judges thereof, or by a district judge requested by such judge or judges to hold such court, or if the business of the court in any county is not or cannot be dispatched with reasonable promptness, the Governor, may upon application of any interested person, by an order in writing, require some district judge to hold court in said county for such time as may be specified in the order. [Amendment approved February 26, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 50.]

§ 6315. Cases in Which Judge may be Disqualified—Calling in Another Judge.

Any justice, judge or justice of the peace must not sit or act as such in any action or proceeding:

1. To which he is a party, or in which he is interested.
2. When he is related to either party by consanguinity or affinity within the sixth degree, computed according to rules of law.
3. When he has been attorney or counsel for either party in the action or proceeding, or when he rendered or made the judgment, order or decision appealed from.
4. When either party makes and files an affidavit as hereinafter provided, that he has reason to believe, and does believe, he cannot have a fair and impartial hearing or trial before a district judge by reason of the bias or prejudice of such judge. Such affidavit may be made by any party to an action, motion or proceeding, personally, or by his attorney or agent, and shall be filed with the clerk of the district court in which the same may be pending at any time before the day appointed or fixed for the hearing or trial of any such action, motion or proceeding. Upon the filing of the affidavit, the judge as to whom said disqualification is averred, shall be without authority to act further in the action, motion or proceeding, but the provisions of this section do not apply to the arrangement of the calendar, the regulation of the order of business, the power of transferring the action or proceeding to some other court, nor to the power of calling in another district judge to sit and act in such action or proceeding. No more than two judges can be disqualified for bias or prejudice, in said action or proceeding, at the instance of the plaintiff, and no more than two at the instance of the defendant in said action or proceeding, and this limitation shall apply however many parties or persons in interest may be plaintiffs or defendants in such action or proceeding. If there be more than one judge in any judicial district in which said affidavit is made and filed, upon the first disqualification of a judge in the cause, another judge, residing in the judicial district wherein the affidavit is made and filed, must be called in to preside in such action, motion or proceeding; and upon the second or any subsequent disqualification of a judge in the cause, a district judge of another judicial district of the state must be called in to preside in such action, motion or proceeding, or in the action, motion or proceeding transferred to a district judge of another judicial district of the state. [Amendment approved March 8, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 161.]

Construed with other sections. See note post, § 7244.

This section should be liberally construed with a view to effect its object and promote justice. Gehlert v. Quinn, 38 Mont. 1, 98 Pac. 369.

The amendment made to this section by the laws of 1909, chapter 114, did not affect the relationship of the two statutes. State v. District Court, 49 Mont. 247, 249, 141 Pac. 659.

This section applies to all civil actions and special proceedings of a civil nature, including probate proceedings; a judge who files an order of distribution may be disqualified by the statutory affidavit, even after such filing. State v. District Court, 46 Mont. 492, 496, 128 Pac. 913.

Under this section, as amended in 1909, it is not necessary for the plaintiff, when he files a disqualifying affidavit, to secure a change of venue, to give notice to his adversary. State v. District Court, 49 Mont. 247, 249, 141 Pac. 659.

Under this section, as amended in 1909, a disqualified judge may invite a judge of another district to act in his stead, without first calling upon the judge or judges of his own district, in cases where his disqualification has not been shown by affidavit. Curry v. McCaffery, 47 Mont. 191, 195, 131 Pac. 673.

Under this section, as amended in 1909, the affidavit of disqualification must be filed before the day originally fixed for the hearing; it cannot be filed during a continuance of the case. State v. District Court, 48 Mont. 410, 415, 138 Pac. 770.

Under this section, as amended in 1909, the filing of the affidavit mentioned therein, prior to the day set for the trial, or the hearing of the motion or proceeding, ipso facto works a disqualification of the judge against whom it is directed; and thereafter, he has no power to act further in such action or proceeding than to arrange his calendar, to regulate the order of business, to order a transfer to some other court, or to call another judge to preside in his stead. State v. District Court, 46 Mont. 492, 494, 128 Pac. 913.

When a right is conferred by statute, it is entitled to judicial recognition, which cannot be withheld, nor the right abridged because it is subject to abuse; the fourth subdivision of this section, as amended, is such a statute and confers such a right. State (ex rel. Carroll) v. District Court, 50 Mont. 506, 148 Pac. 312.

Under this section, as amended in 1909, a defendant who is in default is a "party," entitled to move to set aside the default; and, pending such a motion, he is entitled to file an affidavit disqualifying the judge; if such an affidavit is filed, the court is divested of all power to act with reference to the motion. State (ex rel. Working) v. District Court, 50 Mont. 435, 147 Pac. 614.

Under section 6698, post, an action must be pending before a receiver can be appointed; and the appointment of a receiver does not terminate the action in which he was appointed; the receiver in such action cannot file a disqualifying affidavit under this section, 6315, as amended in 1909, but the defendant may do so, and, if he does so, the judge's order, subsequently made, suspending the receiver, is unauthorized.

State (ex rel. First Trust & Sav. Bank) v. District Court, 50 Mont. 259, 146 Pac. 539.

Where a guardianship proceeding was transferred from one judge to another, and a petition for restoration to competency was then filed, the guardian was a party, under section 7767, post; and, under the fourth subdivision of this section, was entitled to file an affidavit disqualifying the second judge for bias; hence, it was an abuse of discretion for the court, in its order fixing a day for the hearing, to direct that service be made "at some time prior" to the date fixed, which service was made, but so late, and at such an hour of the night, as to deprive the guardian of his right; such orders will be annulled by the supreme court. State (ex rel. Carroll) v. District Court, 50 Mont. 510, 148 Pac. 312, 314.

Where a disqualifying affidavit is filed, after a motion to strike portions of the pleading has been taken under advisement, the jurisdiction of the court over the cause, for the time being at least, ceases after overruling the motion. State v. District Court, 37 Mont. 597, 97 Pac. 1032.

A disqualification of the presiding judge is wrought by the filing of an affidavit, imputing bias and prejudice to him, at any time before the day fixed for the hearing; the imputation may be made in the language of the statute, and proof of facts showing actual bias and prejudice is not required nor permitted. State v. District Court, 44 Mont. 72, 75, 119 Pac. 174.

The date of the disqualifying affidavit is of no consequence; it is the filing of it which, ipso facto, works the disqualification of the judge. State v. District Court, 49 Mont. 247, 251, 141 Pac. 659.

Actual disqualification on the part of a judge may be manifested at any time after, as well as before, the date fixed for a hearing, and it is therefore available in probate proceedings wherever it is made to appear; but the privilege to impute bias to a judge, where none may exist, may fairly be limited to a given time. State v. District Court, 48 Mont. 410, 415, 138 Pac. 770.

In a probate proceeding, the jurisdiction continues until the whole proceeding is disposed of by some final action by the judge, releasing the parties and their property from the control of the court; and, until such final action, the judge may be disqualified by the statutory affidavit. State v. District Court, 46 Mont. 492, 496, 128 Pac. 913.

Ordinarily, a decree of distribution is the final disposition of the administration, except the formal discharge of the administrator; but, when a proceeding for partition has been instituted, the decree of distribution, though final in form, performs only the office of ascertaining definitely who are entitled to the succession and the interest of each distributee, the vesting of title in the allottees, the assignee or purchaser, as the case may be, being left in abeyance until the confirmation of the report of the commissioners, appointed as provided in section 7679, post. State v. District Court, 46 Mont. 492, 496, 128 Pac. 913.

When a district court is divided into departments, a judge of one of them may, upon the disqualifying affidavit being filed, properly call in a judge from another district, without first calling upon one of the judges of his own court, to preside. Gassert v. Strong, 38 Mont. 18, 30, 98 Pac. 497.

A judge called in to sit in another's place has the same powers as the latter. Hill v. Nelson Coal Co., 40 Mont. 1, 5, 104 Pac. 876.

The disqualification of a trial judge, for imputed bias, is waived if no affidavit of disqualification is made within the time prescribed. State v. District Court, 48 Mont. 410, 415, 138 Pac. 770.

The filing of the affidavit mentioned in the fourth subdivision of this section ipso facto works a disqualification of the judge against whom it is directed, unless the party filing it has waived his statutory right to do so. Washoe Copper Co. v. Hickey, 46 Mont. 363, 364, 128 Pac. 584.

If a disqualifying affidavit is filed against the judge who is presiding in a cause, and, by agreement of the respective counsel, a designated judge is called in to try the case, the action of counsel constitutes a waiver of the right of either to afterward disqualify the judge so called in by stipulation. Washoe Copper Co. v. Hickey, 46 Mont. 363, 366, 128 Pac. 584.

A waiver of the right conferred upon the parties to an action or proceeding, by the fourth subdivision of this section, to disqualify a district judge, by the filing of an affidavit of the character mentioned therein, is not contrary to public policy. Washoe Copper Co. v. Hickey, 46 Mont. 363, 366, 128 Pac. 584.

In providing for the disqualification of a judge by the affidavit of a party to a cause coming before him the statute (Rev. Codes, sec. 6315, as here amended) was not intended to encourage perjury, or aid delays, or to secure undeserved postponements. The affidavit cannot be filed, so as to be efficacious, after the day for hearing has arrived. State ex rel. Jacobs v. District Court, 48 Mont. 410, 414 et seq., 138 Pac. 1091.

A right may be conferred by statute, and when so conferred is entitled to judicial recognition, and such recognition cannot be withheld and the right abridged on the ground that it is subject to abuse. State ex rel. Carroll v. District Court, 50 Mont. 508, 148 Pac. 312.

The disqualifying affidavit is self-acting; the judge against whom it is directed is not permitted to stop to consider its sufficiency, but must respond to its purpose immediately upon its being filed, if filed before the day set for trial. State v. District Court, 46 Mont. 492, 494, 128 Pac. 913.

The filing of the affidavit here provided for brings on the only situation in which a trial judge, disqualified to sit, must call in a fellow judge of his district rather than a judge from outside. Curry v. McCaffery, 47 Mont. 195, 131 Pac. 673.

Upon filing the affidavit, the judge as to whom the disqualification is averred shall be without authority to act further in the action, motion or proceeding, except to arrange the calendar, regulate the order of business, transfer the case to another court, or call in another judge to act. A corporation against which proceedings have been instituted for the appointment of a receiver may avail itself of the statute. State ex rel. First Trust & Savings Bank v. District Court, 50 Mont. 261, 146 Pac. 539.

For most purposes, a party by suffering a default ceases to be a "party," and has no standing in court except to move for relief from the default or to take and prosecute an appeal. For the purpose of a motion in this behalf, however, he is a party, and pro hac vice has all the rights of a party. Under the statute a party has the right to challenge the presiding judge by imputing to him bias and prejudice. State ex rel. Working v. District Court, 50 Mont. 439, 147 Pac. 614.

Where a petition for the restoration of an incompetent person to capacity has been denied by one department of the district court, this section forbids an application to another department of the same court for the release of the incompetent on habeas corpus proceedings; a due sense of propriety alone ought to be sufficient to stay interference by the other department. *State (ex rel. JURY.

§ 6356. Summon of Jurors by Sheriff.

The sheriff as soon as he receives the list or lists of jurors drawn, shall summon the persons named therein to attend the court at the time mentioned in the order by a written notice by registered mail to that effect addressed to him to the postoffice address named in the jury list and deposited in the postoffice with the postage thereon prepaid, except in cases where the district judge expressly directs that such service shall be made by giving personal notice, and shall return the list to the court at the opening of the regular session thereof, or at such session or time as the jurors may be ordered to attend, specifying the names of those who are summoned and the manner in which each person was notified. [Amendment approved February 6, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 12.]

STENOGRAPHERS.§ 6378. Court Stenographers—Salary and Mileage.

Every stenographer appointed under the provisions of this title receives an annual salary of twenty-four hundred dollars, and no other compensation except as provided in section 6376 of the Revised Codes of Montana of 1907, payable in monthly installments out of the contingent funds of the counties comprising the district for which he is appointed, according and in proportion to the number of suits entered and commenced in the district courts of such counties respectively in the preceding year; and it shall be the duty of the judge of such district, on the first day of January of each year, or as soon after as may be, to apportion the amount of such salary to be paid by each county in his district on the basis aforesaid. The stenographer is allowed in addition to the salary and fees above provided, in judicial districts comprising more than one county, a mileage of ten cents per mile for the distance traveled by him from one county seat to another in the performance of his official duties, said mileage to be apportioned and payable in the same way as the salary. [Amendment approved March 4, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 109.]

ATTORNEYS.§ 6382. Qualifications, Examination and Admission.

Every applicant for admission as an attorney and counselor must produce satisfactory testimonials of good moral character and a certificate of one or more reputable counselors at law that he has been engaged in the study of law for two successive years prior to the making of such application, and undergo a strict examination as to his qualifications by any one or more of the justices of the supreme court. The form and manner of the examination shall be as the justices may, from time to time, determine; provided, however, that a diploma from the department of law of the University of Montana at Missoula, or evidence of having completed the course in law of three years of said department, shall entitle the holder to a license to practice law in all the courts of this state, subject to the right of the chief justice of the supreme court of the state to order an examination as in ordinary cases of applicants without such diploma or evidence. [Amendment approved February 18, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 28.]

§ 6385. Admission of Attorneys from Other States.

Every citizen of the United States, or person resident of this state, who has bona fide declared his or her intention to become a citizen in the manner required by law, who has been admitted to practice law in the highest courts of another state, or of a foreign country, where the common law of England constitutes the basis of jurisprudence, may be admitted to practice in the courts of this state, upon the production of his or her license, and satisfactory evidence of good moral character; but the court may examine the applicant as to his or her qualifications. Provided, however, that any person who is a nonresident of the state of Montana and who has been admitted and is at the time authorized to practice law in the highest courts of another state, or of a foreign country may, upon motion of any attorney admitted to practice in the courts of this state, be permitted by the court to appear as attorney in any action or proceeding in such court and shall when so permitted be entitled to the same rights and privileges and be subject to the same duties and obligations with respect to such actions or proceedings as an attorney duly admitted to practice in the courts of this state. [Amendment approved February 9, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 17.]

Acts constituting contempt. See note post, § 7309.

A person who advises clients in legal matters pending or to be brought before a court of record, or in preparing pleadings or proceedings for use in a court of record, either directly or by a partner or proxy, is practicing law in a court of record; and, if he has no license to do so, he is guilty of contempt of court. In re Bailey, 50 Mont. 365, 146 Pac. 1101.

§ 6389. Authority of Attorney.

An attorney and counselor has authority:

1. To bind his client in any steps of an action or proceeding by his agreement filed with the clerk, or entered upon the minutes of the court, and not otherwise.

2. To receive money claimed by his client in an action or proceeding during the pendency thereof, or after judgment unless a revocation of his authority is filed; and upon the payment thereof, and not otherwise, to discharge the claim or acknowledge satisfaction of the judgment.

3. The death of a party to an action or proceeding does not revoke the authority of his attorney of record in said action or proceeding, but the authority of the attorney is continued in all respects the same and with like effect as it was prior to the death of such party, until such attorney shall withdraw his appearance in said action or proceeding, or some other attorney shall be substituted for him, or his authority shall be otherwise terminated and entry thereof made to appear in the record of such action or proceeding. [Amendment approved February 26, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 52.]

An attorney may bind his client to try a case before a particular judge. See note ante, § 6315.

When a certified copy of the record of the conviction of an attorney at law is lodged with the clerk of the supreme court, the duty of that court is to proceed, under this section, to disbar him; under section 6393, ante, such certified copy is made conclusive evidence, and the court has no discretion in the matter; the convicted attorney is not entitled to notice by citation or other process; it is his bounden duty to know that the legal consequence of his final conviction is his disbarment. In re Sutton, 50 Mont. 88, 145 Pac. 6.

The purpose of this section is to protect attorneys from secret settlements with their clients whereby the attorneys would be defrauded of their fees; thus, if an action involving property rights is compromised, and the attorney of one of the parties is to be paid a large amount of money in five installments, to be paid into a certain bank, all papers and documents pertaining to the transaction to be placed in escrow and delivered to the purchasers of the property involved, on payment of the last installment, the attorney has a lien on the papers and documents in the bank, which must be recognized, and he cannot be defrauded of his fees by a secret payment, without his knowledge or consent, of the last installment to his client, then living in another state. *Walsh v. ACTIONS.

forms for such actions. Donovan v. McDevitt, 36 Mont. 65, 92 Pac. 49.

STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS.

§ 6432.

A public highway may be established by prescription, without color of title, by proof of travel over it by the public, as a public highway, for the statutory period. Lockey v. City of Bozeman, 42 Mont. 387, 396, 113 Pac. 286.

§ 6435.

Proof of establishment of highway by prescription overcomes the presumption which would otherwise prevail; namely, that the use, by the public, has been in subordination to the legal title. Lockey v. City of Bozeman, 42 Mont. 387, 396, 113 Pac. 286.

"Color of title" and "claim of title" are not synonymous; in this section, "claim of title" is used for "color of title"; this section and section 6437, post, treat of adverse possession under "color of title," as that term should be used. Morrison v. Linn, 50 Mont. 396, 147 Pac. 166.

As used to characterize adverse possession, "claim of title" means nothing more than the claim asserted by the disseisor of his intention to appropriate and use the land in question as his own, to the exclusion of the rights of all persons, and that, too, irrespective of any semblance of color, or right, or title, as the foundation of his claim. Morrison v. Linn, 50 Mont. 396, 147 Pac. 166.

While the adverse claimant under "color of title" for the statutory period obtains title to the entire tract described in his muniment, if it has been subjected to proper use, the one who relies upon "claim of title" secures only so much as he actually possesses; there cannot be constructive possession under mere "claim of title." Morrison v. Linn, 50 Mont. 396, 147 Pac. 166.

One who holds land under a written instrument, a statute, or a judgment or decree of court, which appears to convey or confirm title but does not do so in fact, holds under "color of title." Morrison v. Linn, 50 Mont. 396, 147 Pac. 166.

Distinctions. See note ante, § 6436.

It is not necessary that an adverse occupant's entry into possession be made under pretense of right or title; a naked trespass may initiate the claim of an adverse occupant to title by adverse possession. Morrison v. Linn, 50 Mont. 396, 147 Pac. 166.

§ 6445.

Action on county treasurer's bond. See note post, § 6449.

This section is not applicable to an action against a city treasurer who fails to turn over interest on public moneys received by him. City of Butte v. Goodwin, 47 Mont. 155, 165, Ann. Cas. 1914C, 1012, 134 Pac. 670.

A party may waive the benefit of the statute of limitations, before or after the expiration of the prescribed limit, not only by either of the acts mentioned in section 6472, post, but also by express agreement based upon a consideration, though made contemporaneously with, and as a part of, the principal agreement or obligation out of which the action has arisen. Parchen v. Chessman, 49 Mont. 326, 335, 143 Pac. 631.

An action upon an "obligation" is not within this section; it falls within section 6447, post. Schaeffer v. Miller, 41 Mont. 417, 425, 137 Am. St. Rep. 746, 109 Pac. 970.

Action on county treasurer's bond. See note post, § 6449.

Bond, and liability of city treasurer for interest received. See note ante, § 3238.

An action against a party for money which he, ex aequo et bono, ought to refund, is one upon an "obligation," and is barred unless commenced within three years from the time the cause of action accrues. Schaeffer v. Miller, 41 Mont. 417, 425, 137 Am. St. Rep. 746, 109 Pac. 970.

A city treasurer who fails to turn over interest received by him on public funds is guilty of a breach of his implied promise, as trustee of such funds to do so; his duty does not depend upon his bond, but upon his implied promise to do that which, in equity and good conscience, he ought to do. City of Butte v. Goodwin, 47 Mont. 155, 166, Ann. Cas. 1914C, 1012, 134 Pac. 670.

Editorial Notes.

Liability of a public officer for interest received on public funds. Ann. Cas. 1914C, 1016.

§ 6449.

Bond, and liability of city treasurer for interest received. See note ante, § 3238.

The first subdivision of this section does not apply to an action against a city treasurer to recover interest received by him on deposits of city funds that he has failed to turn over to his principal. City of Butte v. Goodwin, 47 Mont. 155, 164, Ann. Cas. 1914C, 1012, 134 Pac. 670.

Under the first subdivision of this section, an action on the official bond of a county treasurer is barred, both as to him and his surety, in two years after the cause of action shall have accrued; the action is one on a "liability created by statute" and not one on a liability "founded on an instrument in writing," under section 6445, ante. Gallatin County v. United States F. & G. Co., 50 Mont. 55, 144 Pac. 1085.

A mere delay in commencing suit, short of the period of limitation, need not be excused in the complaint. Brundy v. Canby, 50 Mont. 454, 148 Pac. 315.

An action under section 5248, ante, for personal injuries, founded upon actionable negligence, is not an action on a "liability created by statute," in the sense in which those words are used in this section; hence, such an action is not barred in two years. Beeler v. Butte etc. Development Co., 41 Mont. 465, 473, 110 Pac. 528.

Laches, by discharged policeman, in applying for reinstatement. See note ante, § 3306.

This section does not apply to a suit to have the executors and heirs of the plaintiff's co-owner in a mining claim declared trustees for his benefit. Delmoe v. Long, 35 Mont. 156, 88 Pac. 778.

This is the only statute of limitations applicable to mandamus proceedings; but, notwithstanding this provision, the courts may, in their discretion, deny relief where there has been a long delay in applying for it, in the absence of excuse or explanation. State v. Duncan, 47 Mont. 447, 451, 133 Pac. 109.

Applied to an action to recover land claimed by the plaintiff to have been rightfully entered by him under the public land laws of the United States, but which he claimed had been wrongfully patented to a railway company under its land grant, where he did not commence suit until fifteen years after patent to the railway company. Kimes v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 49 Mont. 573, 575, 144 Pac. 156.

Notwithstanding this section and section 6476, post, a court may, in its discretion, deny an application for a writ of mandamus, where there has been a long delay in making it, in the absence of excuse or explanation; but the court may let the writ go, where the delay has not prejudiced the rights of the adverse party, and there is no impropriety in issuing it. State v. Edwards, 40 Mont. 287, 319, 20 Ann. Cas. 239, 106 Pac. 695.

Specific performance of an oral contract for the sale of real estate may be decreed where possession thereunder, taken by the vendee with the vendor's knowledge or consent, is followed by improvement of the property, even though no part of the purchase price has been paid; in such a case, where the payment and conveyance are to be concurrent acts, and the vendee has been ready to pay, the vendor stands in the same position as if payment had been made; he holds the legal title in trust for the vendee; and the statute of limitations does not run against the action for specific performance, until the vendor has, in some manner, disavowed his trust. Wright v. Brooks, 47 Mont. 99, 108, 130 Pac. 968.

A vendee in possession cannot be barred from specific performance by mere delay, however long, because his possession is a continued assertion of his claim; he may rest in security until his title or right of possession is attacked. Wright v. Brooks, 47 Mont. 99, 109, 130 Pac. 968.

An action is "commenced," within the meaning of this section, and the operation of the statute of limitations is thereby arrested, though a general demurrer is sustained to the complaint, if the pleading is sufficiently substantial to allow of its being properly amended, so as to fully state the same cause of action attempted to be stated in the first instance. Clark v. Oregon Short Line R. R. Co., 38 Mont. 177, 188, 99 Pac. 298.

An amendment, properly allowed, relates back to the date of the original pleading or process. Clark v. Oregon Short Line R. R. Co., 38 Mont. 177, 187, 99 Pac. 298.

This section is not to be strictly construed, so as to prevent the effective prosecution of a cause of action. Smith v. Smith, 210 Fed. 947, 954.

The legislative intent with respect to the statute of limitations is to suspend the statute, whenever the absence of a party defendant from the state prevents the effective prosecution of a cause of action; hence, absence from the state, of a debtor's personal representative, after the death of the debtor, suspends the running of limitations. Smith v. Smith, 210 Fed. 947, 953.

A plaintiff is entitled to the benefit of this section, where he dismisses his action without prejudice and commences a new one within one year after such dismissal. Peterson v. City of Butte, 44 Mont. 134, 136, 120 Pac. 231.

If an action is dismissed without prejudice, and, on the same day, a new action is brought, which results in a judgment of nonsuit, on motion of the defendant, and, within one year from such judgment of nonsuit, a third action is brought for the same cause, it is within time, and a denial of the defendant's motion to dismiss the action on the ground that it is barred by any statute of limitations is proper. Wilson v. Norris, 43 Mont. 454, 457, 117 Pac. 100.

An instruction to the jury, in replevin, to recover jewelry, to the effect that the action is barred if they believe that the defendant has been in the possession and claimed to be the owner of the property, as against the plaintiff, for over two years prior to the commencement of the action, is erroneous in omitting all reference to the plaintiff's knowledge or want of knowledge of the defendant's claim. *Woods v. One joint debtor cannot, by making part payments, suspend the running of the statute of limitations as to his joint obligors, who do not authorize or ratify his act; and the provision of the fifth subdivision of section 7887, post, that evidence may be given of the act or declaration of a "joint debtor, or other person jointly interested with the party," does not militate against this rule. *Monidah Trust v. himself of the protection of this section or to forbear it; but, if he fails to invoke a defense, open to him, at the proper time and in the proper way, it does not avail him under any circumstances, even though it appears incidentally that the cause of action alleged against him is completely barred; it is of no concern to the court or to the public that this is so, whether the omission is the result of oversight or of a prior agreement with the adversary party. *Parchen v. Vacation of decree of divorce against insane husband. See note post, § 6589.

Under this section, a minor child, by his guardian ad litem, may maintain an action for personal injuries; the provisions of section 6485, post, are not exclusive. Flaherty v. Butte Electric Ry. Co., 40 Mont. 454, 460, 135 Am. St. Rep. 630, 107 Pac. 416.

The court has no jurisdiction to appoint a guardian ad litem for an incompetent defendant until he has been brought into court by personal service of summons. State v. District Court, 38 Mont. 166, 170, 129 Am. St. Rep. 636, 35 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1098, 99 Pac. 291.

An incompetent, whether plaintiff or defendant, must appear either by his general guardian, or, in case he has none, or the guardian fails or refuses to appear, by a guardian ad litem appointed by the court. State v. District Court, 38 Mont. 166, 174, 129 Am. St. Rep. 636, 35 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1098, 99 Pac. 291.

Whether the appointment of a guardian ad litem for an insane person is requested, the court has a discretion in the selection of the person to represent him, but its discretion does not extend to a refusal in limine to make the appointment and to assume jurisdiction, when a prima facie right to prosecute the action is made to appear. State v. District Court, 38 Mont. 166, 175, 129 Am. St. Rep. 636, 35 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1098, 99 Pac. 291.

Where minors bring an action by their guardian, the action is not by the guardian, but by the minors, who are required to appear through or by a guardian; and any objection to the capacity of the minors to sue, if not taken as prescribed in section 6539, post, is deemed waived. O'Donnell v. City of Butte, 44 Mont. 97, 98, 119 Pac. 281.

Where the daughter of an insane father, as his next friend files a complaint and demands judgment that a decree of divorce granted to the wife of the incompetent be set aside, because personal service of summons was not had upon him, and asks that the court appoint a guardian ad litem to prosecute the action, his general guardian having refused to act, the court should make the appointment; and it is an arbitrary abuse of discretion to refuse to do so. State v. District Court, 38 Mont. 166, 175, 129 Am. St. Rep. 636, 35 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1098, 99 Pac. 291.

An infant, appearing in a suit by guardian appointed as provided in the next section, cannot complain of errors occurring at the trial, not affecting his substantial rights, where he was represented by able and experienced counsel, and no fraud or collusion appears. *Byrnes v. A guardian ad litem is appointed upon the application of a friend or relative, or of a party to the action; in all cases, where the incompetent is plaintiff, the application, it is apprehended, should be made by a relative or friends. State v. District Court, 38 Mont. 166, 174, 129 Am. St. Rep. 636, 35 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1098, 99 Pac. 291.

The provisions of this section are not exclusive; the minor may proceed under section 6481, ante, and sue by his guardian ad litem. Flaherty v. Butte Electric Ry. Co., 40 Mont. 454, 460, 135 Am. St. Rep. 630, 107 Pac. 416.

In so far as this section authorizes a guardian to prosecute an action for injury to his ward, it relates only to such an action as the minor has during his lifetime; in case of the death of the minor from such injury, his right of action survives, and is to be maintained, by his personal representative, under the authority of section 6494, post. Melzner v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 46 Mont. 162, 176, 127 Pac. 146.

If a parent, who is a poor person and unable to support himself by work, brings an action for the death of his minor child, under this section, he may, by virtue of section 6486, post, recover such damages as, under all the circumstances, may be just; and such damages may include pecuniary benefits reasonably to be expected to be received from the deceased after his majority, it being the duty of the child of such a person, under section 3751, ante, to support the parent. Gilman v. The G. W. Dart Hardware Co., 42 Mont. 96, 98, 111 Pac. 550.

In an action, under the federal employer's liability act, brought by the personal representative of one injured while employed by a common carrier in interstate commerce, the complaint must allege and the proof must show the existence of persons who answer the description of the beneficiaries named in the statute. *Melzner v. Wife and children have no vested right of action. See note ante, § 3692.

This section does not limit the right of recovery to minor children; hence, if there are children of a deceased father, of legal age, it is for the jury to say, under the evidence, whether they suffered damage through the death of their father, and what sum will compensate them. Hollingsworth v. Davis-Daly E. C. Co., 38 Mont. 143, 163, 99 Pac. 142.

This section does not create a cause of action in favor of the wife and children of one, not a minor, killed by the wrongful act or negligence of another, because of the wrong done to them; the words of the statute "wrongful act or neglect of another" imply actionable wrong or negligence toward the decedent and not toward his surviving wife and children. Melville v. Butte-Balaklava Copper Co., 47 Mont. 1, 8, 10, 130 Pac. 441.

While this section imposes responsibility upon all whose actual wrongdoing contributes to the death of another, whether they be employees or employers, indemnitees or indemnitors, responsibility for reputed wrongdoing is imposed upon but one class, namely, employers; and the rule expressio unius est exclusio alterius, therefore, operates to exclude all liability of indemnitors, except for actual, as distinguished from imputed, wrongdoing. Northam v. Casualty Co., 177 Fed. 981, 985.

The right of action given by this section is distinct from that which a person killed would have had in case he had only been injured, but it is the same in character and is dependent upon the same facts. Maronen v. Anaconda Copper Min. Co., 48 Mont. 249, 260, 136 Pac. 968.

History of actions for death, caused by the wrongful act or negligence of another. Melville v. Butte-Balaklava Copper Co., 47 Mont. 1, 18, 130 Pac. 441.

If a complaint for wrongful death, discloses a breach of statutory duty, such as in failing to close the cage doors before attempting to hoist or lower employees in a mining shaft, as required by section 8536, post, it sets forth facts constituting legal negligence on the part of the defendant, who may interpose any of the ordinary defenses applicable in negligence cases. Maronen v. Anaconda Copper Min. Co., 48 Mont. 249, 263, 136 Pac. 968.

In an action for wrongful death, where the charge of wrongdoing was in failing to close the cage doors before attempting to hoist or lower employees in a mining shaft, as required by section 8536, post, the fact that section 8536 makes an omission to do as directed punishable, does not limit defenses, in an action under this section, 6486, to those available in a criminal action, as provided in section 9209, post; on the contrary, the defendant, in the civil action for wrongful death, may plead any of the defenses ordinarily interposed in negligence cases. Maronen v. Anaconda Copper Min. Co., 48 Mont. 249, 261, 136 Pac. 968.

A master and his servant may properly be joined as defendants in an action for personal injuries, directly caused by the negligence of the servant, for which negligent act the master is answerable under the doctrine of respondeat superior. Knuckey v. Butte Elec. Ry. Co., 41 Mont. 314, 320, 109 Pac. 979.

Where a man not a minor, is killed by the wrongful act or neglect of another, and his widow and children sue for damages, they cannot recover if death was due to the decedent's own fault; and the defendant may, therefore, interpose the defense of contributory negligence, assumption of risk, etc. Melville v. Butte-Balaklava Copper Co., 47 Mont. 1, 8, 11, 130 Pac. 441.

If one is employed to work more than eight hours a day in a mine, in violation of sections 1739 and 1740, ante, and the miner is killed while so working in violation of these sections, the violation of the statute by the employer is legal negligence, but it is equally so on the part of the employee, and the latter cannot recover, because, in alleging the injury, he must, of necessity, allege his own fault. Melville v. Butte-Balaklava Copper Co., 47 Mont. 1, 7, 130 Pac. 441.

The heirs of a miner, not a minor, who caused his own death by violating a rule of the company that had employed him, in not closing the doors of a safety cage, while being hoisted to the surface of a shaft, cannot recover damages because of contributory negligence on the part of the deceased. Maronen v. Anaconda Copper Min. Co., 48 Mont. 249, 260, 136 Pac. 968.

Where a man, not a minor, has been killed by the wrongful act or neglect of another, the right of his widow and children to recover damages depends upon whether the decedent, had he survived his injuries, could have recovered; they claim under him. Melville v. Butte-Balaklava Copper Co., 47 Mont. 1, 10, 12, 130 Pac. 441.

In an action by a widow for the death of her husband, caused by the alleged negligence of the defendant, she may recover, as an element of damages, the pecuniary loss, if any, because of her being deprived of the comfort, protection, society and companionship of her husband. Mize v. Rocky Mountain Bell Tel. Co., 38 Mont. 521, 535, 129 Am. St. Rep. 659, 16 Ann. Cas. 1189, 100 Pac. 971.

Punitive damages may be recovered against a mining company for the wrongful death of a miner, when the defendant is charged primarily as the wrongdoer. Olsen v. Montana Ore Purchasing Co., 35 Mont. 412, 89 Pac. 731.

In an action for damages for death by wrongful act, brought by the mother of a boy, nineteen years of age, who was killed, while engaged in the discharge of his duties within the scope of his employment as fireman for a stationary engine, by coming in contact with a high-tension power wire, a verdict for eighteen thousand dollars was held not to be excessive, the mother being altogether dependent upon him for her support. *Hollenback v. § 6488.

Where, in an action on an account by the assignee, a justice of the peace permits the defendant to pay the amount into court and thereupon substitutes as defendants the assignor and another person, who claims to be entitled to the money, the substitution does not convert the purely legal cause of action into an equitable one so as to deprive the justice of jurisdiction. Anderson v. Red Metal Min. Co., 36 Mont. 312, 93 Pac. 44.

One who has an equitable interest in a claim sued is properly made a party defendant, to the end that a complete determination of the controversy may be had in one action. Reid v. Hennessy Co., 45 Mont. 462, 464, 124 Pac. 273.

Neither in actions ex contractu nor in actions ex delicto can the plea of an obligation to the plaintiff individually be sustained by proof of an obligation running to himself and others jointly; to maintain a joint action, all the obligees must be made parties. American L. & L. Co. v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 48 Mont. 495, 503, 138 Pac. 1102.

An obligation running to a combination of persons, jointly, cannot be changed into one upon which any single member of such combination may bring an action, by the fact that the defendant's agent knew, from previous transactions, that the plaintiff was a member of the combination, and that a failure to perform might result in some damage to the plaintiff. *American L. & L. Every survival statute presupposes the existence of a cause of action in favor of the injured party; such a statute does not create a new cause of action, but only carries forward the right which the injured party had before his death. Dillon v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 38 Mont. 485, 492, 100 Pac. 960.

If a minor receives personal injuries through the alleged negligence of another, and survives them for an appreciable length of time, but dies before any action is brought, the administrator of his estate may bring a suit to recover damages for such injuries; a contention that either the parent or guardian is the proper party plaintiff under section 6485, ante, has no merit. Melzner v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 46 Mont. 162, 176, 127 Pac. 146.

In an action brought by the administrator of the estate of a minor, for personal injury resulting in the death of such minor, the measure of recovery is the same as the deceased could have recovered had he survived the injury; namely, damages for physical and mental suffering; for loss of earning capacity; and for the expense of medical and surgical attention, nursing, etc., incident to the injury. Melzner v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 46 Mont. 162, 183, 127 Pac. 146.

This section, taken as a whole, is intended to cover the subject of interpleader, both in law and in equity, one purpose being to enable courts of law to grant relief in a summary way, in many cases, in which theretofore they could grant none. Anderson v. Red Metal Min. Co., 36 Mont. 312, 321, 93 Pac. 44.

This section provides for substitution and interpleader; it covers the subject of interpleader both at law and in equity; in an equity suit neither party is entitled to a jury trial, as a matter of right, though the trial court may call to its aid a jury to advise upon disputed questions of fact. Missoula T. & S. Bank v. Murphy, 50 Mont. 355, 146 Pac. 941.

Where an application for substitution is made on an amended answer, and the party substituted becomes defendant without objection, he waives irregularities in the mode of substitution. Anderson v. Red Metal Min. Co., 36 Mont. 312, 93 Pac. 44.

Where the answer shows that persons appear as defendants, who were not originally defendants, but were by the order of the court substituted as such, it may be inferred from such fact that the substitution was made in pursuance of the provisions of this section. Mettler v. Adamson, 38 Mont. 198, 201, 99 Pac. 441.

The "affidavit of merits," mentioned in this section, is not the same as that required for relief from a default judgment, under section 6589, post; the latter must set forth the merits of the defense. State v. District Court, 43 Mont. 571, 575, Ann. Cas. 1912C, 343, 118 Pac. 268.

The affidavit of merits need not set forth the facts relied upon by the defendant as a defense to the action, but is sufficient if it contains the statement "that defendant has fully and fairly stated the case to his counsel, and that he has a good and substantial defense upon the merits in the action, as he is advised by his counsel and verily believes." State v. District Court, 43 Mont. 571, 576, Ann. Cas. 1912C, 343, 118 Pac. 268.

In all cases where the venue is properly laid, the court may change the place of trial where there is reason to believe that an impartial trial cannot be had in the county first selected, or when the convenience of witnesses and the ends of justice would be promoted by the change, or when the judge is disqualified. State v. District Court, 43 Mont. 571, 578, Ann. Cas. 1912C, 343, 118 Pac. 268.

In the event that a judge is disqualified; that a motion is made for a change of venue; and that no qualified judge appears within thirty days to try the case, the motion is suspended for that length of time, at the expiration of which the transfer may be demanded, but the moving party is not bound to demand it; and if he does not, but thereafter has the cause set for hearing, he must be conclusively presumed to have waived the right to have it transferred. Bean v. Missoula Lumber Co., 40 Mont. 31, 36, 104 Pac. 869.

When a judge is disqualified, and that fact is made to appear by affidavit, and a motion is made to transfer the case, the moving party is entitled to have the transfer made, unless a qualified judge is called in to try it and appears within thirty days; in such case no transfer need be made. Bean v. Missoula Lumber Co., 40 Mont. 31, 35, 104 Pac. 869.

If a judge called to preside in a case, because of the disqualification of the presiding judge, fails to appear and to assume jurisdiction, within thirty days after the motion for a change of venue is filed, it becomes the duty of the presiding judge to change the place of trial. *State v. Under this section and the laws of 1909, chapter 114, where a change of venue, for disqualification of the presiding judge, is required, by the filing of a disqualifying affidavit, the cause must be transferred to the "nearest district court" of another judicial district, and that is the one that can be reached by the shortest route of travel in the usual mode of travel. *State v. § 6518.

This section provides that a copy of the original complaint need not be served upon every defendant where there are two or more residing in the same county, but the same rule does not apply in the case of an amended complaint; in commencing an action, a copy of the summons must be served upon every defendant, and this constitutes notice to him; but where an amended complaint is filed, summons is not served, and, unless the defendant receives a copy of the amended pleading, he is without notice. *Ben Kress Nursery Co. v. § 6519. Subdivision 3. Service on Corporations.

Any corporation organized under the laws of the state of Montana, or doing business therein, may be served with summons by delivering a copy of the same to the president, secretary, treasurer, or other officer of the corporation, or to the agent designated by such corporation as the person upon whom service shall be made as required by law, and if none of the persons above mentioned can be found in the county, then service may be made upon any clerk, superintendent, general agent, cashier, principal director, ticket agent, station-keeper, managing agent or other agent, having the management, direction, or control of any property of such corporations. If none of the persons in this section described can be found in the county in which such action is commenced, then service may be made, as provided in this section, upon any of the persons herein described in any county of this state. And if none of the persons above named can be found in the state of Montana, and an affidavit stating that fact shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the court in which such action is pending, then the clerk of the court shall make an order authorizing the service of summons to be made upon the Secretary of State, who shall be and is hereby constituted an agent and attorney in fact to accept service on behalf of such corporation, and service upon said Secretary of State shall be deemed personal service upon said corporation. [Amendment approved February 18, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 31.]

In an action against a corporation, a recital, in the sheriff's return on a summons, that he served the same on the president of the defendant company, naming him, is prima facie evidence that the person named was president of the corporation. Vadnais v. East Butte E. C. Min. Co., 42 Mont. 543, 545, 113 Pac. 747.

In a suit by a wife against her insane husband for a divorce, no effective decree can be rendered where the defendant was not served personally with summons. State v. District Court, 38 Mont. 166, 169, 129 Am. St. Rep. 636, 35 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1098, 99 Pac. 291.

Presumption of actual notice of pendency of action. See note post, § 7962.

Whenever the statute, either in express terms or by implication, requires a person to make a statement which, from the very nature of things, can only be made on information and belief, an affidavit in that form meets the demands of the statute. Smith v. Collis, 42 Mont. 350, 363, Ann. Cas. 1912A, 1158, 112 Pac. 1070.

An affidavit for the publication of summons, where the defendant resides out of the state, is sufficient though the statements that the defendant is a nonresident; that the plaintiff has a cause of action against him; and that he is a necessary or proper party to the action, are made upon information and belief; in fact, that is the only possible ground upon which they can be made. Smith v. Collis, 42 Mont. 350, 363, Ann. Cas. 1912A, 1158, 112 Pac. 1070.

Every state has jurisdiction over property situated within its limits, even though owned by a nonresident; and in proceeding against such property, jurisdiction to render a valid judgment in rem may be acquired by substituted service. Gassert v. Strong, 38 Mont. 18, 30, 98 Pac. 497.

If a person in this state has possession of corporate stock, but the legal title thereto is in a nonresident, an action against the latter to establish and enforce a trust in such stock is one quasi in rem, and service by publication is sufficient to enable the district court to determine the relative rights of the parties to the stock. Gassert v. Strong, 38 Mont. 18, 35, 98 Pac. 497.

Service by publication does not warrant a judgment in a proceeding strictly in personam. Gassert v. Strong, 38 Mont. 18, 30, 98 Pac. 497.

A nonresident, served by publication and mailing, or, by having a copy of the summons together with a copy of the complaint delivered to him, has, under this section, the full period of four weeks and twenty days within which to make his appearance. *McLean v. The common counts have been superseded by the code system of pleading. Truro v. Passmore, 38 Mont. 544, 549, 100 Pac. 966.

If the phraseology of any common count is adequate, in the particular case, to bring the pleader within the code rule, then his pleading is sufficient; otherwise, it is not. Truro v. Passmore, 38 Mont. 544, 549, 100 Pac. 966.

Under a common-law count for money had and received, the plaintiff cannot introduce evidence of fraud on the part of the defendants, the facts showing fraud not being set forth. Truro v. Passmore, 38 Mont. 544, 549, 100 Pac. 966.

In an action for personal injuries, the plaintiff must stand upon the cause of action stated in the complaint; he cannot, under an allegation that a brake on a hoisting engine was defective, introduce evidence that the brake was too light; or that the engine was defective; or that the exhaust from the engine was not properly connected; or that a different kind of brake should have been employed; neither can he introduce evidence of the effect of the back pressure of steam. Forsell v. Pittsburgh etc. Copper Co., 38 Mont. 403, 409, 100 Pac. 218.

A municipality is not required, under all circumstances, to keep its streets free from accumulations of ice and snow; it must do so only when they imperil life or limb. McEnaney v. City of Butte, 43 Mont. 526, 532, 117 Pac. 893.

If the complaint does not contain a statement of the facts constituting the cause of action, in ordinary and concise language, a special demurrer thereto is properly sustained. Hasty v. Moulton Water Co., 39 Mont. 310, 313, 102 Pac. 568.

The requirement that a complaint shall contain "a statement of the facts constituting the cause of action, in ordinary and concise language," applies to new matter alleged in the answer. Vaughan v. Kujath, 44 Mont. 484, 487, 120 Pac. 1121.

In a complaint against a corporation, an averment that the defendant is a corporation shows that it has the legal capacity to be sued, and is all that is required; an averment showing where or under what law its corporate capacity was established is unnecessary. Pearce v. Butte Electric Ry. Co., 41 Mont. 304, 307, 109 Pac. 275.

A complaint against a city for personal injuries received from falling on a sidewalk, obstructed with accumulations of ice and snow, does not contain a statement of facts in ordinary and concise language, and will not support a judgment, where it fails to allege facts showing that the city had notice of the obstruction for a sufficient length of time, before the injury, to have given it a reasonable opportunity to prevent accidents. McEnaney v. City of Butte, 43 Mont. 526, 533, 117 Pac. 893.

In an action against a city for damages alleged to have been sustained by reason of a defective sidewalk, the complaint fails to state a cause of action where it does not give the defendant any notice of the acts claimed to be negligent; an allegation that the city negligently placed the sidewalk in an unsafe, dangerous, and defective condition and permitted it to remain in such condition is but the statement of the bare legal conclusion of the pleader, and does not state facts sufficient to show negligence on the part of the city. Pullen v. City of Butte, 38 Mont. 194, 198, 21 L. R. A. (N. S.) 42, 99 Pac. 290.

A complaint to set aside a judgment, and to vacate a sheriff's sale had to satisfy it, on the theory of fraud and wrongdoing, is insufficient where bald conclusions only are stated; the employment of such extravagant terms as "fraud," "conspiracy," and other words of like malign import, unaccompanied by a statement of fact upon which the charges of wrongdoing rest, is a useless waste of words. Brandt v. McIntosh, 47 Mont. 70, 72, 130 Pac. 413.

If, upon the facts stated, from any point of view, the plaintiff is entitled to relief, the complaint will be sustained. Hicks v. Rupp, 49 Mont. 40, 43, 140 Pac. 97.

The prayer is made a part of the complaint, by this section, but it is made such independently of the statement of facts constituting the cause of action; and, if the facts stated in the body of the complaint entitle the plaintiff to any relief, a general demurrer will not lie, no matter what may be the form of the prayer, or whether there is any prayer at all. Donovan v. McDevitt, 36 Mont. 65, 92 Pac. 49.

There is nothing in the code to prohibit the plaintiff, acting in good faith, from stating a single cause of action in two counts in a suit to foreclose a mechanic's lien, when the averments of each are not so inconsistent as to be contradictory; when the allegations of either, or both, may be true, dependent upon the evidence to be produced; when the defendant is not misled; and when the exigencies of the case seem to demand such form of pleading. *Neuman v. The defects for which a demurrer will lie are those named in the statute; no others can be reached by it. Donovan v. McDevitt, 36 Mont. 66, 92 Pac. 49.

If it appears from the face of a complaint that another action is pending between the same parties for the same cause, the pleading is open to objection by demurrer, and it may be made in the words of the statute. Peterson v. City of Butte, 44 Mont. 129, 133, 120 Pac. 231.

If, after the plaintiffs have dismissed one cause of action, as to some of the defendants, the complaint discloses upon its face a misjoinder of parties defendant, and different causes of action improperly united, the remedy of the defendants is not a general objection to the introduction of evidence; they should ask leave to withdraw their answer and to file a special demurrer. Meredith v. Roman, 49 Mont. 204, 215, 141 Pac. 643.

A party's liability is not in any way affected, because another, who is not liable, is made a defendant with him; hence, a joint demurrer will be overruled, if a good cause of action is stated against either party. Cummings v. Reins Copper Co., 40 Mont. 599, 619, 107 Pac. 904.

A defect of misjoinder of parties defendant can be raised only by special demurrer by the party improperly joined. Cummings v. Reins Copper Co., 40 Mont. 599, 618, 107 Pac. 904.

Ambiguity in a complaint is a defect that can be reached only by special demurrer. Wahle v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 41 Mont. 326, 331, 109 Pac. 713; Wheeler etc. Mer. Co. v. Moon, 49 Mont. 307, 317, 141 Pac. 665.

An objection of want of capacity to sue, defect or misjoinder of parties, or misjoinder of causes of action must be made by a pleading which specifically points out the defect relied upon, whether the pleading be a demurrer or an answer. O'Donnell v. City of Butte, 44 Mont. 97, 99, 119 Pac. 281.

The objection that the plaintiff lacks legal capacity to sue cannot be raised by a general denial; if the fact of infancy appears from the face of the complaint, such objection may be taken by demurrer; if it does not so appear, the objection may be made by answer. O'Donnell v. City of Butte, 44 Mont. 97, 99, 119 Pac. 281.

A general denial does not raise an issue upon an allegation that a designated person is the duly appointed, qualified and acting guardian of minors, who are co-plaintiffs with such person. O'Donnell v. City of Butte, 44 Mont. 97, 98, 119 Pac. 281.

If a demurrer may follow the language of the statute, in certain cases, it would seem that the answer need not be more explicit. Peterson v. City of Butte, 44 Mont. 129, 134, 120 Pac. 231.

The purpose of a demurrer is to raise and have determined the question whether the pleading, or cause of action at which it is directed, taken as a whole, states a case calling for a defense; its aim is to uproot and cast out the whole pleading. Plymouth Gold Min. Co. v. United States Fidelity etc. Co., 35 Mont. 23, 10 Ann. Cas. 951, 88 Pac. 565.

A demurrer lies only to an entire complaint or to an entire cause of action, and it will not lie to the separate counts of a complaint for damages for death of a child which sets up but one cause of action in four separate counts. Martin v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co. (Mont.), 149 Pac. 89.

Judgment by default. See note post, § 6719.

When the demurrer to an amended complaint has been overruled, the defendant must file his answer within the time set by the court; service of it upon counsel for the plaintiff is not equivalent to filing it with the clerk. State (ex rel. Smother- man) v. District Court, 50 Mont. 119, 145 Pac. 724.

Question of legal capacity to sue is waived, when, unless taken by answer. See note ante, § 5505.

An objection to the complaint for indefiniteness must be made by special demurrer, or it is deemed waived. Billings Realty Co. v. Big Ditch Co., 43 Mont. 251, 256, 115 Pac. 828.

An apparently inadvertent substitution of the word, "defendant," for the word, "plaintiff," in a complaint, does not render the pleading insufficient; it is subject to special demurrer on the ground of uncertainty, but the defect is waived by answering to the merits. Ivanhoff v. Teale, 47 Mont. 115, 116, 130 Pac. 972.

Though a complaint is indefinite, that objection is waived, where a special demurrer was interposed, but did not point out this defect. Cohen v. Clark, 44 Mont. 151, 156, 119 Pac. 775.

If no objection to the capacity of minor plaintiffs to sue is taken by demurrer or answer, it is deemed to be waived. O'Donnell v. City of Butte, 44 Mont. 97, 100, 119 Pac. 281.

After issue joined, the complaint, though ambiguous in its allegations, should be construed most favorably to the plaintiff, as the defendant waived defects of this character by answering. Robinson v. Helena Light & Ry. Co., 38 Mont. 222, 241, 99 Pac. 837.

The objection of a misjoinder of causes of action is waived, unless it is taken by answer or demurrer. Forsell v. Pittsburgh etc. Copper Co., 38 Mont. 403, 407, 100 Pac. 218.

The objection that the complaint does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action is never waived. Clark v. Oregon Short Line R. R. Co., 38 Mont. 177, 186, 99 Pac. 298.

If a complaint states a cause of action, any question of ambiguity is waived, if no special demurrer on that ground is interposed. Keffler v. Wilds, 50 Mont. 381, 146 Pac. 1105.

The fact that the notice of appeal from a justice's court to the district court was served before filing, may be urged as a ground for dismissal of the appeal in the supreme court, although the point was not raised in the district court; as the question involves the jurisdiction of the district court to entertain the appeal, it may be raised at any time. McCauley v. Jones, 35 Mont. 32, 38, 88 Pac. 572.

An objection that the complaint is ambiguous and uncertain cannot be urged on appeal where no special demurrer, because of such defects, was interposed in the court below. Chenoweth v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 50 Mont. 481, 148 Pac. 331.

A complaint, in an action to determine an adverse claim in patent proceedings in the matter of mining property, defective in omitting to allege that an adverse claim has been filed in the land office within sixty days after application for patent, is not aided by allegations in the reply; and the sufficiency of the complaint to support judgment may be raised at any time during the progress of the case. Thornton v. Kaufman, 35 Mont. 181, 184, 88 Pac. 796.

Bar from asserting counterclaim. See note post, § 6547.

Issue raised by denial of knowledge, etc. See note post, § 6723.

Requirement as to language of new matter in answer. See note ante, § 6532.

Meaning of "any new matter" calling for a reply. See note post, § 6560.

This section and section 6541, post, were designed to enable parties litigant to adjust their differences in one action, so far as possible, and thereby to prevent a multiplicity of suits; this conclusion is re-enforced by the provisions of section 6547, post; and, for statutes so highly remedial, a broad and liberal construction is required in order that the purposes designed by them shall be most completely served. Scott v. Waggoner, 48 Mont. 536, 543, 139 Pac. 454.

The answer consists of two parts: 1. Admissions and denials; 2. New matter constituting a defense or counterclaim. Rand v. Butte Electric Ry. Co., 40 Mont. 398, 406, 107 Pac. 87.

A denial of knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of an allegation is authorized by this section. First Nat. Bank v. Silver, 45 Mont. 231, 235, 122 Pac. 584.

The provisions authorizing a denial on information and belief are applicable to any or every allegation in the complaint; hence, that form of denial will raise an issue as to the corporate existence of the plaintiff. Milwaukee Gold etc. Co. v. Gordon, 37 Mont. 209, 216, 95 Pac. 995.

Under this section, a defendant may deny generally or specifically certain allegations of the complaint; he may, as to some of the allegations, deny any knowledge or information thereof sufficient to form a belief; he may admit other allegations; and he may put still others, or all others, in issue by a general denial. Pengelly v. Peeler, 39 Mont. 26, 30, 101 Pac. 147.

An allegation by defendants that they "say defendants have not sufficient knowledge or information to form a belief as to matters and facts alleged" in a certain paragraph of the complaint, "and therefore deny the same," is in substantial compliance with this section. Milwaukee Gold etc. Co. v. Gordon, 37 Mont. 209, 95 Pac. 995.

A general denial is proper in cases where certain allegations have already been generally or specifically denied, and in cases where the pleader has already denied any knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of particular allegations, and has specifically admitted others. Pengelly v. Peeler, 39 Mont. 26, 30, 101 Pac. 147.

Where the complaint, in an action for waste, demands a money judgment only, and the defendant asks that his title be quieted as against the plaintiff, nothing in his answer partaking of the nature of an affirmative cause of action or counterclaim, and the reply demanding, among other things, that the plaintiff have her title quieted as against the defendant, it is error to render judgment in favor of the plaintiff for the possession of the land and quieting her title, the pleadings not justifying such a decree. Erbes v. Smith, 35 Mont. 38, 46, 88 Pac. 568.

In this state there is no such pleading as a cross-bill. Alywin v. Morley, 41 Mont. 191, 206, 108 Pac. 778.

The defendant may plead inconsistent defenses, if they are not so incompatible as necessarily to render one or the other absolutely false. O'Donnell v. City of Butte, 44 Mont. 97, 101, 119 Pac. 281.

Any defense that a garnishee could interpose, in an action brought against him by the defendant, may be interposed as garnishee in an action by the attaching creditor; but, if he relies upon a counterclaim, he must, in either case, plead it. Dolenty v. Rocky Mountain Bell Tel. Co., 41 Mont. 105, 115, 108 Pac. 921.

A defendant, whether as defendant or as garnishee, cannot avail himself of a counterclaim unless he pleads it; it cannot be asserted under a general denial of indebtedness; and the furnishing of a bill of particulars in which his claim is listed is not pleading a counterclaim. Dolenty v. Rocky Mountain Bell Tel. Co., 41 Mont. 105, 115, 108 Pac. 921.

A setoff, as such, is not recognized by the codes. Dolenty v. Rocky Mountain Bell Tel. Co., 41 Mont. 105, 114, 108 Pac. 921.

Construction of words and phrases. See post, § 8070.

The provisions of this section have no application to cases coming within the jurisdiction of justices' courts. Walter v. Cox, 36 Mont. 20, 24, 91 Pac. 1063.

"Transaction" is not synonymous with "contract"; it is broader than "contract," and broader than "tort," although it may include either or both; it is "that combination of acts and events, circumstances and defaults, which, viewed in one aspect, results in the plaintiff's right of action, and viewed in another aspect, results in the defendant's right of action"; and it "applies to any dealings of the parties resulting in wrong, without regard to whether the wrong be done by violence, neglect, or breach of contract." Scott v. Waggoner, 48 Mont. 536, 545, 139 Pac. 454.

The words, "subject of the action," ought to be understood, not as relating to the thing itself about which the controversy has arisen, but as referring rather to the origin and ground of the plaintiff's right to recover or obtain the relief asked. Pittsmtont Copper Co. v. O'Rourke, 49 Mont. 281, 293, 141 Pac. 849.

The provision of the second subdivision of this section, which, in an action on a contract, authorizes any other cause of action on contract, existing at the commencement of the action, to be set up as a counterclaim, applies to implied as well as express contracts. First Nat. Bank v. Silver, 45 Mont. 231, 237, 122 Pac. 584.

To constitute a counterclaim, the facts must disclose a cause of action in favor of the defendant and against the plaintiff, existing at the time of the commencement of the action. First Nat. Bank v. Silver, 45 Mont. 231, 236, 122 Pac. 584.

A counterclaim sounding in tort may be pleaded as a demand upon a contract, if it arises out of the transaction that gave rise to the plaintiff's cause of action. Scott v. Waggoner, 48 Mont. 536, 545, 139 Pac. 454.

Rules for determining when one cause of action may be asserted as a counterclaim in an action upon another cause of action. Kaufman v. Cooper, 39 Mont. 146, 156, 101 Pac. 969.

Matter, in an answer, is not a counterclaim, unless it states a cause of action, complete within itself, and tends in some way to diminish or defeat plaintiff's recovery. Hillman v. Luzon Cafe Co., 49 Mont. 180, 188, 142 Pac. 641.

Where a chattel mortgage has been given to secure the unpaid purchase money for an automobile, but on the same day a new arrangement is made between the seller and purchaser, whereby the latter is to run the machine for hire, and the buyer afterward sues the seller for seizing the machine and converting it to his own use, the defendant may counterclaim for the balance on the machine. Kinsman v. Stanhope, 50 Mont. 41, 144 Pac. 1083.

In this section, no mention is made of a claim against a codefendant; in an action for an accounting, it may be that a defendant can, upon pleadings adequate to support a judgment, obtain affirmative relief against a codefendant by filing a pleading in the nature of a counterclaim; but this cannot be done where the complaint does not set forth a cause of action and the defendant's pleading in his own behalf is insufficient to support a judgment. Alywin v. Morley, 41 Mont. 191, 209, 108 Pac. 778.

If the plaintiff has a cause of action against the defendant, at the time of filing his complaint, and no counterclaim is filed, he ought to recover. Isman v. Altenbrand, 42 Mont. 188, 195, 111 Pac. 849.

In an action by a landlord for rent due under a written lease and for damages for waste committed on the premises, it is proper for the defendant to interpose a counterclaim for the conversion of personal property placed by him on the premises. Scott v. Waggoner, 48 Mont. 536, 547, 139 Pac. 454.

Purpose of provisions as to counterclaim. See note ante, § 6541.

It is only such a counterclaim as is mentioned in subdivision one of section 6541, ante, that a party must assert in a pending action, or be forever barred from thereafter maintaining an action therefor; it must affirmatively appear from the pleadings that the cause of action asserted is one which falls within the class mentioned in the subdivision named. Kaufman v. Cooper, 39 Mont. 146, 155, 101 Pac. 969.

A defendant may plead inconsistent defenses, so long as the inconsistency is not so marked that, if the facts stated in one be true, the facts stated in the other must of necessity be false. Day v. Kelly, 50 Mont. 306, 146 Pac. 930.

A plea of contributory negligence does not admit the truth of particular allegations of negligence stated in the complaint, although the answer also contains a general or specific denial of those allegations. Day v. Kelly, 50 Mont. 306, 146 Pac. 930.

A demand made by the defendant, in his answer in an action for waste, that his title be quieted, which demand is not based upon a properly pleaded cause of action or counterclaim, should be disregarded. Erbes v. Smith, 35 Mont. 38, 47, 88 Pac. 568.

It is a contradiction in terms to say that a defendant may have affirmative relief without pleading a counterclaim or counteraction against the plaintiff, because there is nothing upon which to base the judgment or decree. Erbes v. Smith, 35 Mont. 38, 47, 88 Pac. 568.

Answer, what to contain. See ante, § 6540.

A denial, filed in September, 1902, in a suit to foreclose a materialman's lien, of any knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of certain allegations in a counterclaim, was ineffective, as the statute stood at that time, to put such allegations in issue. McEwen v. Union Bank etc. Co., 35 Mont. 470, 90 Pac. 359.

The "new matter" in an answer which calls for a reply is such only as calls for a defense or a counterclaim; anything else is not new matter. Stephens v. Conley, 48 Mont. 352, 368, 138 Pac. 189.

A reply is required only when the answer contains new matter which constitutes a defense or counterclaim, stated as such. Rand v. Butte Electric Ry. Co., 40 Mont. 398, 406, 107 Pac. 87.

§ 6562.

In an action by the state to restrain interference with water, wherein the defendant pleaded a counterclaim and set up a prescriptive right as a defense, it was held that the words "such statement" mean the statement of the new matter relied on as constituting a defense, without any reference to the matter set up in the complaint. State v. Quantic, 37 Mont. 57, 94 Pac. 491.

If the facts stated in the answer can be proved under a general denial, they do not constitute "new matter," and a failure to reply does not admit the truth of the matters stated. Stephens v. Conley, 48 Mont. 352, 369, 138 Pac. 189.

Where the allegations of the defendant's "further and separate answer and defense" are such as to require a reply, and none is filed, he is entitled to have judgment entered without other proof than the pleadings. Anaconda Copper Min. Co. v. Thomas, 48 Mont. 222, 224, 137 Pac. 380.

Verification of affidavit of merits. See note post, § 6589.

Pleadings in general must be verified, but, in permitting a defendant to set forth in his answer as many defenses as he has, it was never intended to sanction or encourage perjury. Johnson v. Butte etc. Copper Co., 41 Mont. 158, 165, 48 L. R. A. (N. S.) 938, 108 Pac. 1057.

Editorial Notes.

Manner and sufficiency of verification of pleading by corporation. Ann. Cas. 1913A, 212.

This section does not permit the reading into the pleading of a statement of a necessary, substantial fact which has been omitted, so as to make it state a cause of action where none is stated; but it does require that whatever is necessarily implied by a statement directly made, or is reasonably to be inferred therefrom, is to be taken as directly averred. Allen v. Bear Creek Coal Co., 43 Mont. 269, 278, 115 Pac. 673.

Whatever is necessarily implied in, or is reasonably to be inferred from, an allegation is to be taken as directly averred. County of Silver Bow v. Davies, 40 Mont. 418, 424, 107 Pac. 81.

An allegation that the chief deputy of a clerk of the district court issued jurors' and witnesses' certificates as chief deputy implies that he issued them in the form and under the requirements prescribed by the statute. County of Silver Bow v. Davies, 40 Mont. 418, 425, 107 Pac. 81.

Where the subject of denial, on information and belief, is certain specified allegations of the complaint, the omission of the word "thereof," in denying that the defendant has any knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief, is immaterial; the pleading is to be liberally construed. Pengelly v. Peeler, 39 Mont. 26, 31, 101 Pac. 147.

As against an attack for lack of substance, the allegations of a pleading are to be liberally construed, with a view to substantial justice between the parties; and whatever is necessarily implied in, or is reasonably to be inferred from, an allegation is to be taken as directly averred. Gauss v. Trump, 48 Mont. 92, 98, 135 Pac. 910.

For the purpose of purging a pleading of irrelevant and redundant matter, a motion to strike must be resorted to; this may be, in effect, a demurrer to that portion of the pleading to which objection is made; nevertheless, its office cannot be performed by a demurrer; a demurrer and a motion each has its own separate and distinct office. Plymouth Gold Min. Co. v. United States Fidelity etc. Co., 35 Mont. 23, 27, 10 Ann. Cas. 951, 88 Pac. 565.

§ 6569.

The term "account," in this section, is not used in the same sense as it is in section 7007, post. Moran v. Ebey, 39 Mont. 517, 519, 104 Pac. 522.

Proof of jurisdictional facts in a justice's court. See note post, § 7071.

In a suit on a judgment, an allegation in a complaint that the judgment was "made, filed, and entered," is not in the language of the statute, but is cured by the averments of a proposed answer, in statutory language, that it "was duly given" and "made." Storer v. Graham, 43 Mont. 344, 349, 116 Pac. 1011.

One whose asserted claim depends upon the validity of a justice's judgment, may plead simply that such judgment was "duly given or made"; but, if such allegation is controverted, he must show affirmatively that the court which rendered the judgment had jurisdiction. Miller v. Miller, 47 Mont. 150, 153, 131 Pac. 23.

Defects in complaint waived, unless met by special demurrer. See note ante, § 6539.

An allegation that the plaintiff actually completed all of the work and labor to be by him performed under his contract, and did all of the things to be by him performed under said contract, and did all of the things in said contract of him required to be done, is a sufficient allegation of performance of the contract, and meets the requirements of this section. Ivanhoff v. Teale, 47 Mont. 115, 116, 130 Pac. 972.

The recording of a deed, containing a mistake, is to be considered with other facts and circumstances in determining whether the party affected by such mistake is to be charged with notice, either actual or constructive; the fact of recording alone will not so charge him; and an action brought by such party, under the code of 1895, for the reformation of such an instrument was held not to be barred by the statute of limitations because of the mere fact that more than five years had elapsed between the date of the recording and the date of the commencement of such action. American Min. Co. v. Basin & Bay State Min. Co., 39 Mont. 476, 482, 24 L. R. A. (N. S.) 305, 104 Pac. 525.

If, in an action on the defendant's guaranty for the payment of rent, the plaintiff makes out a prima facie case of non-payment of the rent, by means of his deposition read in evidence, but a new trial is had, the burden is upon the defendant, on the second trial, in which the same deposition is put in evidence, to overcome such prima facie case, though the plaintiff has filed no supplemental pleading. Isman v. Altenbrand, 42 Mont. 188, 191, 196, 111 Pac. 849.

Unsubstantial variance is no ground for reversal. See note post, § 7118.

An immaterial variance will not work a reversal. Stewart v. Stone & Webster Eng. Corp., 44 Mont. 160, 173, 119 Pac. 568, 2 N. C. C. A. 279.

Immaterial variances will not be considered on appeal, where they do not affect the substantial rights of the parties. Willoburn Ranch Co. v. Yegen, 49 Mont. 101, 112, 140 Pac. 231.

A judgment in favor of the plaintiff, in a water right suit, will not be reversed on the ground of variance between the evidence introduced to establish his right and an allegation in his replication, as indicated by a finding of the court, where the record does not disclose that the appellants have been misled to their prejudice. Vreeland v. Edens, 35 Mont. 423, 89 Pac. 735.

Immaterial variance. Cassidy v. Slemons & Booth, 41 Mont. 426, 432, 109 Pac. 976.

Instance of slight, technical variance, in mechanic's lien case, held not to be material. Wertz v. Lamb, 43 Mont. 477, 481, 117 Pac. 89.

Mere divergencies of proof, in its details, are not of vital consequence. American L. & L. Co. v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 48 Mont. 495, 502, 138 Pac. 1102.

A party will not be heard to complain that he was misled to his prejudice, by a variance, unless he was surprised at the trial by having to meet issues not pleaded. Frederick v. Hale, 42 Mont. 153, 161, 112 Pac. 70.

In an action for personal injuries, caused by a street-car suddenly moving "forward," as alleged in the complaint, evidence that the injury was caused by a "backward" movement of the car is not material where the defendant was not misled. Robinson v. Helena Light & Ry. Co., 38 Mont. 222, 247, 99 Pac. 837.

If, in the opinion of the court, the evidence presents a material variance, it may direct an amendment, upon proper terms, but it cannot submit the case to the jury upon evidence tending to establish a cause of action wholly outside the issues, without according to the defendant full opportunity to controvert it with his proof. McCrimmon v. Murray, 43 Mont. 457, 470, 117 Pac. 73.

Where one contract is pleaded and another is proved, or where the complaint alleges one breach of duty, and the evidence establishes a different one, the variance amounts to a failure of proof, upon the occurrence of which a nonsuit is proper. American L. & L. Co. v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 48 Mont. 495, 502, 138 Pac. 1102.

When the cause of action pleaded is unproved, it is not a mere variance, but a failure of proof. Knuckey v. Butte Elec. Ry. Co., 41 Mont. 314, 325, 109 Pac. 979.

Reversal of judgment for technical violation of rule that allegations and proof must agree. Ann. Cas. 1913D, 68.

§ 6588.

Amendments in discretion of court. See note post, § 6589.

Amended complaint must be served. See note post, § 7149.

Effect of amendment. See note ante, § 6457.

Copy of complaint to be served with summons. See note ante, § 6518.

Judgment by default. See post, § 6719.

After a cause is set for trial and has been continued by stipulation, the defendant cannot file an amended answer as a matter of right; he must first obtain leave of court, under section 6589, post. Meredith v. Roman, 49 Mont. 204, 211, 141 Pac. 643.

It is necessary that a judgment be based upon a sufficient pleading; it cannot be based upon the original complaint where an amended complaint has been filed; the amended complaint supersedes the original complaint, which becomes functus officio. Ben Kress Nursery Co. v. Oregon Nursery Co., 45 Mont. 494, 497, 124 Pac. 475.

An amended complaint must be served on all the adverse parties who are to be bound by the judgment, whether it materially affects them or not; if the amended complaint is not served upon a defendant, there is no pleading upon which a judgment against him can be sustained. Ben Kress Nursery Co. v. Oregon Nursery Co., 45 Mont. 494, 497, 124 Pac. 475.

Until an amended pleading is served and the statutory time for appearance has expired, the adverse party cannot be adjudged in default. Ben Kress Nursery Co. v. Oregon Nursery Co., 45 Mont. 494, 497, 124 Pac. 475.

If each of two defendants has been served, but, before the time for appearance has expired and before any appearance has been made by either, an amended complaint is filed and served upon one of them only, a default judgment cannot properly be entered against the one not served. Ben Kress Nursery Co. v. Oregon Nursery Co., 45 Mont. 494, 497, 124 Pac. 475.

A defendant who demands relief against a codefendant, must do so before the issues between him and the plaintiff have been made up; section 6579, ante, does not authorize him to do it afterward, by amended answer, without first obtaining leave of court. Meredith v. Bitter Valley Irr. Co., 49 Mont. 204, 211, 141 Pac. 643.

This section authorizing the vacation of judgments fair on their face, within a reasonable time not exceeding six months, applies to both judgments at law and decrees in equity, subject to the rule that a court of equity will not interfere so long as there is another subsisting adequate remedy. State v. District Court, 38 Mont. 166, 172, 129 Am. St. Rep. 636, 35 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1098, 99 Pac. 291.

The power to allow or disallow amendments at any stage of the trial is within the discretion of the court; and, if no abuse is shown, the court's action will be approved on appeal. De Celles v. Casey, 48 Mont. 568, 573, 139 Pac. 586.

In proper cases, the court may, even on its own motion, direct an amendment if, in its opinion, a nonsuit or mistrial may be avoided. De Celles v. Casey, 48 Mont. 568, 573, 139 Pac. 586.

The court may, and should, allow an amended memorandum of costs to be filed, where the purpose is to furnish the objecting party with information relative to alleged expenditures, the absence of which from the original was claimed to be prejudicial; and it is not necessary to make a preliminary showing that such information was omitted by inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect. Neary v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 41 Mont. 480, 508, 110 Pac. 226.

A pleading may be amended so as to correspond with the proof; the application to amend is addressed to the sound discretion of the trial court, and, in the absence of any abuse of such discretion, the action of the trial court will be approved on appeal. Sandeen v. Russell Lumber Co., 45 Mont. 273, 279, 122 Pac. 913.

After issue joined, the matter of permitting amendments to pleadings is addressed to the discretion of the court, and its ruling thereon will not be disturbed on appeal, where no abuse of discretion is shown. Cullen v. Western M. & W. Title Co., 47 Mont. 513, 528, 134 Pac. 302.

The court may permit an amendment of a complaint, which amounts to nothing more than the correction of a mistake made in the pleading as originally drawn. Downs v. Cassidy, 47 Mont. 471, 474, Ann. Cas. 1915B, 1155, 133 Pac. 106.

In a divorce suit, where the plaintiff inadvertently alleges that the "defendant," instead of the plaintiff, has been a resident, as prescribed in section 3674, ante, a mistake apparently affecting the question of jurisdiction, he will be allowed, after a default judgment has entered, and after the expiration of the six months' limitation, to amend his complaint by substituting the word "plaintiff" for the word "defendant." Eadie v. Eadie, 44 Mont. 391, 396, Ann. Cas. 1913B, 479, 120 Pac. 239.

Delay in filing an amended answer, though entirely excusable, does not justify a change of the issues without permission of the court. Meredith v. Bitter Valley Irr. Co., 49 Mont. 204, 213, 141 Pac. 643.

A mistake as to the law is not the mistake contemplated by this section; and ignorance of the law is not an excuse for a default. Canning v. Fried, 48 Mont. 560, 563, 139 Pac. 448.

Mere forgetfulness is not a sufficient excuse for setting aside a judgment by default. Lowell v. Willis, 46 Mont. 581, 583, Ann. Cas. 1914B, 587, 43 L. R. A. (N. S.) 930, 129 Pac. 1052.

Assuming this section to be applicable to the default of a party in failing to present his bill of exceptions in time for settlement, ignorance of the law governing such time, as prescribed in sections 6788 and 7190, post, is no excuse for a default. Canning v. Fried, 48 Mont. 560, 562, 139 Pac. 448.

Where a defendant applies to have his default set aside, he must, in addition to excusing his default, support his application by an affidavit of merits setting forth the facts constituting his defense, or tender with his motion an affidavit and copy of his proposed answer. Schaeffer v. Gold Cord Min. Co., 36 Mont. 410, 412, 93 Pac. 344. (Citing Code Civ. Proc., § 774, and holding the affidavit of merits filed to be insufficient.)

The defaulted party must show that he has a defense; otherwise the court cannot determine whether justice will be promoted or retarded by setting aside the default. Vadnais v. East Butte E. C. Min. Co., 42 Mont. 543, 546, 113 Pac. 747.

On motion to set aside a default judgment, an affidavit of merits may be made by the attorney of an absent party, and the verification may be upon information and belief. State v. District Court, 38 Mont. 415, 418, 100 Pac. 415.

A defaulting nonresident defendant, not personally served, and who seeks to set aside a default judgment rendered against him, must show that he did not have actual notice of the pendency of the action in time to make a defense; that he proceeded promptly to have the default set aside; that he has a prima facie defense upon the merits; and that the judgment, if permitted to stand, will injuriously affect him; if he fails, in any of these particulars, it cannot be held that the trial court abused its discretion in refusing to set aside the judgment. Smith v. Collis, 42 Mont. 350, 370, Ann. Cas. 1912A, 1158, 112 Pac. 1070.

Where a defendant makes default and suffers judgment upon a mere ex parte showing, his remedy in seeking relief from the judgment is under this section, and not by a motion for a new trial, under section 6794, post. State (ex rel. Culbertson Ferry Co.) v. District Court, 49 Mont. 595, 601, 144 Pac. 159.

Relief under this section, after the required showing is made, cannot be demanded as a matter of right; it is granted as a matter of grace; in other words, the statute refers the subject to the sound, legal discretion of the trial court. Kersten v. Coleman, 50 Mont. 82, 144 Pac. 1092.

Where a defendant's demurrer to an amended complaint has been overruled, and he has failed to file his answer within the time set by the court, and a judgment by default has been entered, the court, may, in its discretion and upon a proper showing, set the judgment aside and permit the defendant to file an answer. State (ex rel. Smotherman) v. District Court, 50 Mont. 119, 145 Pac. 724.

Assuming that an answer may supply the place of an affidavit of merits, in aid of a motion to vacate a default judgment, it does not warrant the granting of the motion where the nature of the defense does not appear, and where it fails to show that the granting of the relief would be in furtherance of justice. Pearce v. Butte Electric Ry. Co., 40 Mont. 321, 325, 106 Pac. 563.

Where a default has been entered in proceedings to escheat an estate, it should be set aside, at the instance of foreign heirs who afterward appear and show, prima facie, that they are heirs at law of the decedent; that they have exercised the utmost diligence in getting their claims before the court; and that their interests will be lost, if the default is permitted to stand; and such heirs should then be allowed to appear in proceedings to establish heirship. State v. District Court, 38 Mont. 415, 419, 100 Pac. 207.

A decree of divorce, secured without personal service of summons on the defendant, an insane person, may be vacated, the same as any other judgment, for want of jurisdiction in the court to render it. State v. District Court, 38 Mont. 166, 173, 129 Am. St. Rep. 636, 35 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1098, 99 Pac. 291.

It is no abuse of discretion to set aside a default judgment, entered through a mistake of counsel as to the date when an amended pleading was to have been filed. Voelker v. Golden Curry Con. Min. Co., 40 Mont. 466, 467, 107 Pac. 414.

An order vacating a default judgment will not be set aside merely because the court failed to impose terms. Nash v. Treat, 45 Mont. 250, 254, Ann. Cas. 1913E, 751, 122 Pac. 745.

Any pleading or proceeding may, upon notice to the adverse party be amended "at any time" under this section, but as to formal defects only; the six months' limitation of this section applies only to the court's power to relieve a party from a default judgment taken against him through his mistake, inadvertence, etc. Eadie v. Eadie, 44 Mont. 391, 395, Ann. Cas. 1913B, 479, 120 Pac. 239.

A judgment void on its face may be set aside on motion at any time; but this rule does not apply to a judgment fair on its face, the infirmity of which must be shown by extrinsic evidence. State v. District Court, 38 Mont. 166, 171, 129 Am. St. Rep. 636, 35 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1098, 99 Pac. 291.

After the expiration of the time limit fixed in this section, the power of the court over the judgment absolutely ceases, and it is without jurisdiction to vacate or modify it. State v. District Court, 38 Mont. 166, 171, 129 Am. St. Rep. 636, 35 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1098, 99 Pac. 291.

Where a decree of divorce against an insane husband was procured without personal service of summons, and is therefore void for want of jurisdiction, there can be no relief, after the expiration of the time limit fixed in this section, except by an action in equity to set aside the decree, as it is fair upon its face and the defect of jurisdiction must be made to appear by evidence dehors the record; and the defendant is not to be denied relief in equity because he did not proceed under this section within the six months, where no lack or want of diligence is imputed to him. State v. District Court, 38 Mont. 166, 172, 129 Am. St. Rep. 636, 35 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1098, 99 Pac. 291.

An order refusing a motion to vacate a judgment on the ground of mistake, surprise, or excusable neglect, will not be reversed on appeal, if no complaint is made that the lower court abused its discretion. Ferguson v. Parrott, 36 Mont. 354, 92 Pac. 965.

Unsubstantial variance is no ground for reversal. See note post, § 7118.

Power of supreme court. See ante, § 6253; post, § 7119.

This section is intended to put a speedy end to litigation, when that object can be attained without injustice; its design is to prevent reversals of causes wherein substantial justice has already been done; and the supreme court is commanded by it to give judgment on appeal without regard to errors which do not affect the substantial rights of the parties. Copenhaver v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 42 Mont. 453, 467, 113 Pac. 467.

A variance between the evidence introduced by a plaintiff to establish his contention in a water right suit and an allegation in his replication is deemed immaterial on appeal, where the record contains nothing to show that the appellants were misled by it to their prejudice. Vreeland v. Edens, 35 Mont. 423, 89 Pac. 735.

Justification of sureties on plaintiff's undertaking. See note ante, § 6626.

This section omits any requirement that written notice, or any notice, be given to the defendant that the sureties upon his redelivery bond are not deemed sufficient. State v. Collins, 41 Mont. 526, 530, 110 Pac. 526.

Where the defendant desires the redelivery of the property to himself, he must not only tender to the officer a redelivery bond, but give notice to the plaintiff, as required, that his sureties will justify. State v. Collins, 41 Mont. 526, 530, 110 Pac. 526.

If the defendant, at the time the papers are served, tenders to the officer a cash bond to retain the property, but which bond is insufficient to meet the requirements of the statute, he thereby waives his right to thereafter tender a redelivery bond. State v. Collins, 41 Mont. 526, 531, 110 Pac. 526.

It is the duty of the sheriff, where the sureties on a return bond of the defendant have failed to justify, to deliver the property to the plaintiff. State v. Collins, 41 Mont. 526, 530, 110 Pac. 526.

INJUNCTIONS.

Temporary injunction, pendente lite, to abate public nuisance. See note post, § 6865.

The purpose and office of a restraining order is merely to prevent such injury as may occur before the hearing for an injunction can be had and inquiry be made as to the truth of the preliminary showing made by the plaintiff; this is its only office; and, when such hearing has been had, the order is of no further efficiency. Rea Bros. Sheep Co. v. Rudi, 46 Mont. 149, 159, 127 Pac. 85.

Where a plaintiff mining company will probably recover a large judgment against a defendant company for the value of ore extracted from veins owned by the plaintiff, the defendant may be restrained from extracting and selling ore from ground, the title to which is in dispute, upon affidavit that, if the work of extracting and selling ore is continued, the defendant will not have enough property to satisfy the judgment that may be recovered against it. Montana Min. Co. v. St. Louis M. & M. Co., 168 Fed. 514, 518, 93 C. C. A. 536.

If, upon the hearing for a preliminary injunction, a prima facie case as to the truth of the charges of wrongful conduct by the defendant is not shown, the restraining order should be set aside and the injunction refused. Rea Bros. Sheep Co. v. Rudi, 46 Mont. 149, 159, 127 Pac. 85.

After the judge has exercised his discretionary power in issuing a restraining order, upon the complaint alone, he may thereafter hear evidence as to the propriety of issuing a preliminary injunction without hearing the whole case upon its merits. Rea Bros. Sheep Co. v. Rudi, 46 Mont. 149, 159, 127 Pac. 85.

If the plaintiff for a preliminary injunction makes out a prima facie case; or if, upon the showing made, it is left doubtful whether or not he will suffer irreparable injury before his rights can be fully investigated and determined, the court ought to incline to issue the injunction and preserve the status quo. Rea Bros. Sheep Co. v. Rudi, 46 Mont. 149, 160, 127 Pac. 85.

An injunction order may be made upon the complaint alone, or upon the complaint with affidavits; in either case, it must satisfactorily appear that sufficient grounds exist for granting it. Rea Bros. Sheep Co. v. Rudi, 46 Mont. 149, 159, 127 Pac. 85.

A complaint, verified upon knowledge, is a good basis for an injunction, when issued upon the complaint. Lowery v. Cole, 47 Mont. 64, 67, 130 Pac. 410.

In exigent cases, a preliminary injunction may be granted, without notice, either upon the verified complaint alone or upon affidavits, if, in the opinion of the court, irreparable injury will result from the delay required by giving notice. Lowery v. Cole, 47 Mont. 64, 67, 130 Pac. 410.

If a city treasurer fails to turn over interest received by him on public funds, an action brought, more than three years after the cause of action accrues, to recover such interest, is barred, under the third subdivision of this section. City of Butte v. Goodwin, 47 Mont. 155, 166, Ann. Cas. 1914C, 1012, 134 Pac. 670.

Attachment is properly discharged, when. See note post, § 6683.

As classified by our codes, attachment is a provisional remedy. It is a summary proceeding ancillary to the action in which it is issued. The writ as we know it was unknown to the common law. It is of statutory origin and depends for its validity entirely upon a compliance with the statutory requirements. Duluth Brewing etc. Co. v. Allen (Mont.), 149 Pac. 494.

A writ of attachment is issued prior to the issuance of a valid summons is void. So where the original summons was void because entitled in the wrong county, a so-called "alias summons" was not such in fact, but was the first valid summons issued in the action, and could not give legal effect to a writ of attachment issued and served before it was issued. Duluth Brewing etc. Co. v. Allen (Mont.), 149 Pac. 494.

Where property is sold under a contract providing that title shall remain in the seller until the purchase price is paid, the seller does not have a mortgage or lien upon the property, and an attachment lies. State ex rel. Malin-Yates Co. v. Justices of Peace Court (Mont.), 149 Pac. 709.

§ 6658. Attachment Prior to Maturity of Debt.

Actions may be commenced and writs of attachment issued upon any debt for the payment of money or specific property before the same shall have become due when it shall appear by the affidavit in addition to what is required in section 6657, Chapter 4, Title VIII, Part II of the Code of Civil Procedure:

First: That the defendant is leaving, or is about to leave this state, taking with him property, moneys or other effects, which might be subjected to the payment of the debt, for the purpose of defrauding his creditors; or,

Second: That the defendant is disposing of his property, or is about to dispose of his property, subject to execution, for the purpose of defrauding his creditors.

Provided, however, that on the trial of any cause brought under the provisions of this section judgment may be rendered on any such debt not due upon satisfactory proof to the court of the facts alleged in the affidavit for attachment, as provided in this section. Any such judgment shall be with a rebatement of the interest from the time said judgment is rendered until the time at which said debt shall have become due.

Provided, also, that the defendant may by plea put in issue the matter alleged in the affidavit herein required, and if the plaintiff fails to substantiate some one of the causes required to be alleged in said affidavit, the suit for debt or debts not due shall abate. The sheriff to whom the writ is directed and delivered must execute the same without delay and if the undertaking mentioned in section 6660 (893) be not given as follows:

1. Real property standing upon the records of the county in the name of the defendant must be attached by filing with the county clerk a copy of the writ, together with the description of the property attached, and a notice that it is attached.

2. Real property or an interest therein belonging to the defendant, and held by any other person, or standing on the records of the county in the name of any other person, must be attached by filing with the county clerk a copy of the writ, together with a description of the property, and a notice that such real property and any interest of the defendant therein held by or standing in the name of such other person, (naming him) are attached. The county clerk must index such attachment when filed, in the names of both of the defendant and of the person by whom the property is held, or in whose name it stands on the record.

3. Personal property, capable of manual delivery, must be attached by taking it into custody, except in cases in which personal property capable of manual delivery is in the possession of a third person, and such personal property, so in the possession of a third person, may be attached in the same manner as debts or credits and other personal property not capable of manual delivery as hereinafter provided.

4. Stocks or shares, or interest in stocks or shares, of any corporation or company must be attached by leaving with the president or other head of the same, or the secretary, cashier, or other managing agent thereof, a copy of the writ, and a notice stating that the stock or interest of the defendant is attached in pursuance of such writ.

5. Debts or credits and personal property not capable of manual delivery, and personal property in the possession of a third person, must be attached by leaving with the person owing such debt, or having in his possession or under his control such credits and personal property, or with his agent, a copy of the writ and a notice that the debts owing by him to the defendant, or the credits and other personal property in his possession or under his control belonging to the defendant, are attached in pursuance of such writ.

6. Judgments standing in favor of and in the name of the defendant upon the records of the clerk of the district court must be attached by leaving with the said clerk of the district court a copy of the writ and a notice stating that the said judgment is attached in pursuance of such writ. The clerk of the district court must index and keep a record of all attachments of judgments hereunder and such attachment is binding on the judgment creditor. Where a merchant has transferred his stock in violation of the "Bulk Sales Law," and the buyer, at the time of the levy of an execution upon him, accompanied by a notice of garnishment, has the identical property in his possession, he is liable, under this section, to the plaintiff creditor who sues him as garnishee. *Wheeler etc. Mer. § 6692a. Foreign Corporations—Jurisdiction—Attachment.

All foreign corporations or joint stock companies, except foreign insurance companies and corporations otherwise provided for, organized under the laws of any other state or territory of the United States, or, of the United States, or of any foreign government, and doing business in this state, or which may hereafter engage in business in this state, shall be deemed and taken to be corporations of this state for purposes of jurisdiction and, shall be subject to the jurisdiction of the courts of this state, and may sue and be sued therein in the mode and manner that is or may be by law directed in the case of corporations created or organized under the laws of this state.

The stocks or shares of such foreign corporations and joint stock companies, doing business in this state shall be subject to attachment in the same manner as now provided by law in the case of domestic corporations. [Approved March 8, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 109, p. 158.]

RECEIVERS.

Necessity that action be pending. See note ante, § 6315.

This section does not authorize the appointment of a receiver when a money judgment is recovered in an action at law; that is not necessary to carry the judgment into effect; the creditor himself can take the necessary steps to enforce it. Forsell v. Pittsburg & M. C. Co., 42 Mont. 412, 422, 113 Pac. 479.

Neither subdivision 1 nor 6 of this section authorizes the appointment of a receiver in an attachment suit. Berryman v. Billings etc. Heating Co., 44 Mont. 517, 522, 121 Pac. 280.

The appointment of a receiver is permissible only in an action pending for some other purpose; the chief reason for its allowance is to husband the property in litigation for the benefit of the person who may be found entitled thereto. Lyon v. United States Fidelity etc. Co., 48 Mont. 591, 600, 140 Pac. 86.

To justify the appointment of a receiver, it must appear that the property is in danger of being lost, removed, or materially injured. Brown v. Erb-Harper-Rigney Co., 48 Mont. 17, 26, 133 Pac. 691.

A receiver cannot be appointed, under this section, in aid of execution, where no proceedings in aid of execution have been had, and no property has been found. Forsell v. Pittsburg & M. C. Co., 42 Mont. 412, 423, 113 Pac. 479.

This section is to be read in connection with the recognized principle that receivership is an extraordinary remedy, never to be allowed except upon a showing that it is necessary; no such showing is made by mere insolvency; nor, by a parity of reasoning, because the conduct of the corporation has been such that its corporate rights are subject to forfeiture. Prudential S. Co. v. Three Forks etc. R. Co., 49 Mont. 567, 571, 144 Pac. 158.

What deemed adjudged in a judgment. See post, § 7917.

This section was designed to provide indemnity against wrongful receiverships and has special application to those cases in which the appointment was wrongful, because the applicant has no right thereto upon the merits; but this fact is not finally determinable anywhere short of trial; hence, an adjudication, on a motion to vacate the receivership, that the appointment was procured wrongfully, maliciously and without sufficient cause, is not an essential prerequisite to an action on the undertaking, conditioned as provided in this section. Lyon v. United States F. & G. Co., 48 Mont. 591, 599, 140 Pac. 86.

In an action on an undertaking given pursuant to the provisions of this section, it is not necessary for the plaintiff to allege and prove a specific adjudication, in the primary suit, that the appointment of the receiver was procured wrongfully, maliciously, or without sufficient cause; or, that the receivership has been vacated in response to a motion for that purpose. Lyon v. United States Fidelity etc. Co., 48 Mont. 591, 599, 140 Pac. 86.

In an action on the undertaking, conditioned as prescribed in this section, the value of property delivered to the receiver but not returned by him may be recovered, though it is not shown that the loss was due to his fault, or that it could not have occurred without his fault. Lyon v. United States F. & G. Co., 48 Mont. 591, 599, 140 Pac. 86.

In an action on an undertaking given pursuant to the provisions of this section, an adjudication that the appointment of the receivership was procured wrongfully, maliciously, and without sufficient cause, may be implied from the final decree in the primary suit, adjudging the ownership of the property to be in the defendant, the plaintiff in the action on the undertaking. Lyon v. United States Fidelity etc. Co., 48 Mont. 591, 599, 140 Pac. 86.

The appointment of a receiver for a corporation invests the receiver with the right to the possession and control of the corporation's assets, and to the same extent suspends the functions of the corporation; suits with reference to the trust estate must thereafter be prosecuted by the receiver, and to the same extent that this power is lodged in the receiver, it is withdrawn from the corporation. State (ex rel. First Trust & Sav. Bank) v. District Court, 50 Mont. 259, 146 Pac. 539.

The appointment of a receiver for a corporation does not operate to dissolve it, nor to transfer the ownership of the property involved in the receivership; it still belongs to the corporation, though it is in the hands of the receiver to be administered under the law. State (ex rel. First Trust & Sav. Bank) v. District Court, 50 Mont. 259, 146 Pac. 539.

JUDGMENT.

Order to disclose assets of a decedent's estate is not a "final judgment." See note post, § 7098.

Pending of action after judgment. See note post, § 7188.

Decrees in equity are judgments within the meaning of this section, and are, so far as they award a recovery of money, in nowise different from judgments at law. Raymond v. Blancgrass, 36 Mont. 449, 15 L. R. A. (N. S.) 976, 93 Pac. 648.

An order is not a judgment. Pentz v. Corscadden, 49 Mont. 581, 144 Pac. 157.

Judgment against one of several parties. See note ante, § 5829.

Judgment against one of several parties. See note ante, § 5829.

In case several defendants are jointly and severally liable, the district court may enter judgment against one or more of them, leaving the action to proceed against the others. State v. District Court, 37 Mont. 302, 96 Pac. 337.

The plaintiff, in an action against a railway company and one of its employees, for injuries caused to him in being ejected from a freight train by one of the company's brakemen, has the option to proceed against either or both of the defendants by whose concurrent negligence the wrong was done. Golden v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 39 Mont. 435, 444, 18 Ann. Cas. 886, 34 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1154, 104 Pac. 549.

Informality of a prayer in a complaint, or the absence of a prayer, is not ground for a demurrer. Donovan v. McDevitt, 36 Mont. 66, 92 Pac. 49.

Where, in a foreclosure suit, the principal defendants enter into a stipulation that the judgment may be entered against them in accordance with the prayer of the complaint, it is error for the court to direct, in its decree, not only the sale of the property and the application of the proceeds to the satisfaction of the mortgages, but also the application of the surplus to the satisfaction of judgments set up in the plaintiff's replication to the answer of another defendant, holding liens on the property. Manuel v. Turner, 36 Mont. 512, 93 Pac. 808.

Though a complaint has no formal prayer for judgment, it is sufficient if it contains an allegation showing the limits of the plaintiff's claim; such an allegation serves the same practical purpose as a formal prayer for judgment. Pearce v. Butte Electric Ry. Co., 41 Mont. 304, 307, 109 Pac. 275.

Directory statute as to entry of default. See note post, § 6719.

Subdivision 6 of this section is mandatory, notwithstanding the use of the word "may" in the first sentence of the section. State v. District Court, 37 Mont. 298, 304, 96 Pac. 337. But see Rule v. Butori, 49 Mont. 342, 141 Pac. 672.

Subdivision 6 of this section was enacted for the benefit of the defeated or defaulting party, and to prevent the suspension over his head of an action which should be ended; the policy of the law is to put an end to litigation at the earliest practical moment. State v. District Court, 37 Mont. 298, 304, 96 Pac. 337.

This section applies to both plaintiffs and defendants, and the action of the court is in the nature of a penalty. Pullen v. City of Butte, 45 Mont. 46, 57, 121 Pac. 878.

This section is not mandatory; and, to justify a dismissal, the party entitled to judgment must have been "negligent" in having it entered; his "failure" to have it entered does not necessarily justify a dismissal, because he may have been in ignorance of the fact that a judgment was rendered; and he is not answerable for the clerk's failure to perform his duty. Rule v. Butori, 49 Mont. 342, 343, 141 Pac. 672. (Commenting upon State v. District Court, 37 Mont. 298, 96 Pac. 337.)

The regularity of the proceedings in a case anterior to judgment cannot be reviewed except on appeal from the judgment or an order denying a new trial.

Ferguson v. Parrott, 36 Mont. 354, 92 Pac. 965.

Under the rule of noscitur a sociis, the words "final submission" mean a submission which is the equivalent of the return of a verdict; or, in other words, they refer to that state of the case when a judgment may rightly be demanded as of course. State v. District Court, 37 Mont. 300, 96 Pac. 337.

Independently of the provisions of this section, a court has power to dismiss an action whenever it appears that the plaintiff has, without sufficient excuse, failed to prosecute it to final judgment. State Sav. Bank v. Albertson, 39 Mont. 414, 421, 102 Pac. 692.

When the plaintiff's evidence does not tend to establish the cause of action stated in the complaint, the court may direct a verdict, or take the case from the jury and enter a judgment of nonsuit; in either case, the result is the same. Consolidated etc. Min. Co. v. Struthers, 41 Mont. 565, 572, 111 Pac. 152.

A motion for a nonsuit will be sustained where, upon the facts proved, the plaintiff is not entitled to any relief. Hoskins v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 39 Mont. 394, 403, 102 Pac. 988.

In the case of a default, final submission has not been reached until formal entry of the default; hence, where no such formal entry has been made, there has been no final submission, and the court cannot be compelled to dismiss the cause. State v. District Court, 46 Mont. 348, 355, 128 Pac. 582.

It is only after verdict, or final submission equivalent thereto, that a cause may be dismissed for failure to have judgment entered for more than six months. State v. District Court, 46 Mont. 348, 354, 128 Pac. 582.

Where no judgment is entered, within six months, on a verdict rendered for the defendant, in an action against a city, a judgment dismissing the action, though nothing is said about dismissal without prejudice, is not a judgment on the merits, and is no bar to another action for the same cause; the court cannot enlarge the plaintiff's rights by inserting in the judgment a notation that the cause is dismissed "without prejudice." Pullen v. City of Butte, 45 Mont. 46, 57, 121 Pac. 878.

Where none of the parties caused judgment to be entered upon the findings for eight years and no showing was made absolving them from such duty, and all of the parties were entitled to affirmative relief and equally negligent as to the entry of judgment, the suit will not be dismissed. Joyce v. McDonald (Mont.), 149 Pac. 953.

For a judgment on the pleadings to constitute a judgment on the "merits" it must determine the merits of the controversy as distinguished from the merits of the pleadings attacked; and the mere fact that section 6714, ante, makes no mention of a judgment on the pleadings does not necessarily, by virtue of section 6715, constitute such a judgment one on the merits. Glass v. Basin etc. Min. Co., 35 Mont. 567, 90 Pac. 753.

Judgment on directed verdict as judgment on the merits. See note post, § 6761.

A judgment of dismissal is not a bar to another action, unless rendered on the merits, which fact must appear either by express declaration upon the face of the judgment, or elsewhere, from the judgment-roll. Glass v. Basin etc. Min. Co., 35 Mont. 567, 90 Pac. 753.

A decision on a former appeal, that a judgment on the pleadings is the same as a judgment on demurrer, and that a judgment, relied on as res judicata, showed upon its face that it belonged to the class referred to in this section, when it declares that a final judgment dismissing a complaint is not a bar to a new action "unless it expressly declares, or it appears by the judgment-roll, that it is rendered upon its merits," constitutes the law of the case on a subsequent appeal. Glass v.

If the defendant, where his demurrer to an amended complaint has been overruled, fails to file his answer within the time set by the court, the plaintiff is entitled to have default entered although the answer has been served upon his counsel, before the expiration of that time. State (ex rel. Smotherman) v. District Court, 50 Mont. 119, 145 Pac. 724.

The mere appearance of a defendant does not prevent his default from being entered; judgment by default may be had when there has been a failure to do the things indicated by this section. Donlan v. Thompson Falls C. & M. Co., 42 Mont. 257, 264, 112 Pac. 445.

How an issue of fact arises. See note post, 6793.

In an action to enforce payment of a promissory note, a denial of knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of an allegation that the note has not been paid raises an issue; the allegation of nonpayment is a material and essential allegation in an action of this character. *First Nat. § 6724.

Province of the court. See note post, § 6761.

A postponement, because of the absence of witnesses, ought to be granted, on motion, whenever the facts shown upon the application would authorize the court, under section 6589, ante, to relieve a party from a judgment. Meredith v. Roman, 49 Mont. 204, 215, 141 Pac. 643.

The power to grant or refuse a postponement on any ground is vested in the discretion of the court, and its exercise is not reviewable where no prejudice to the complaining party is shown. Downs

JURY TRIAL.§ 6740.

"Each party" means each side or each party litigant, and not each person of whom the respective sides or parties litigant are made up; each side is entitled to only four challenges. Mullery v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 50 Mont. 408, 148 Pac. 323.

Nominal defendants, who are in fact hostile to each other, are "parties litigant," and are entitled to challenge as such within the meaning of this section; but, if no conflict of interest is shown they constitute but one party defendant, and are limited to four peremptory challenges. Mullery v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 50 Mont. 408, 148 Pac. 323.

If the plaintiff has used two of his four peremptory challenges, and has waived his third and fourth, he cannot subsequently challenge the juror placed in the box to fill the vacancy caused by the exercise of the defendant's fourth challenge, especially in an equity case. O'Malley v. O'Malley, 46 Mont. 549, 555, Ann. Cas. 1914B, 662, 129 Pac. 501.

Butte Elec. Ry. Co.*, 37 Mont. 599, 602, 97 Pac. 958.

A juror cannot be said to be fair and impartial, who has formed an opinion which will take evidence to remove and who entertains a prejudice against the class to which the defendant belongs, although he states that his opinion is based on newspaper report or common rumor and he can fairly try the case according to the evidence. *Shane v. § 6746.

The provisions of this section apply only to instructions given; if instructions requested are refused, an exception should be taken and settled in a bill of exceptions or statement of the case. Billings Realty Co. v. Big Ditch Co., 43 Mont. 251, 261, 115 Pac. 828.

This section declares that all instructions, both those given and those refused, shall be indorsed by the judge and filed as a part of the record in the case; and was enacted, seemingly, without attention to, or notice of, the provisions of sections 6784 and 6806, post. Robinson v. Helena Light & Ry. Co., 38 Mont. 222, 246, 99 Pac. 837.

The supreme court cannot, under subdivision 5 of this section, reverse a judgment and direct a new trial for error in any instruction, unless specific objection was made to it, pointing out the error alleged, at the time of settlement in the trial court, and an exception preserved to the action of the court in overruling the objection. Poor v. Madison River Power Co., 41 Mont. 236, 240, 108 Pac. 645.

A party who desires a more specific instruction than the one given must offer one to conform with his view of the law; this section has not obviated the necessity of doing so. Heitman v. Chicago etc. Ry. Co., 45 Mont. 406, 414, 123 Pac. 401.

Where, at the close of the plaintiff's case, it is stipulated that if he is entitled to judgment in an action on a contract for the lease of sheep, it is to be for a certain amount, the defendant, relying on counterclaims for damages, has the burden of proof and the right to open and close the argument. Power v. Turner, 37 Mont. 521, 542, 97 Pac. 950.

In civil cases, instructions cannot be reviewed on appeal, without a bill of exceptions, specifically pointing out the particular objection made at the time of the settlement of the instructions. State v. Cook, 42 Mont. 329, 331, 112 Pac. 537.

Errors in instructions, not called to the attention of the trial court, will not be noticed on appeal. Allen v. Bear Creek Coal Co., 43 Mont. 269, 286, 115 Pac. 673.

In reviewing instructions, the supreme court is limited to objections made at the time the instructions were settled. Frederick v. Hale, 42 Mont. 153, 166, 112 Pac. 70.

To insure review on appeal, the whole charge, or such parts of it as will illustrate the point upon which the objecting party relies as error in the charge, as well as the instructions requested and refused, should, since the adoption of this section, be incorporated in a bill of exceptions. Robinson v. Helena Light & Ry. Co., 38 Mont. 222, 247, 99 Pac. 837.

The supreme court will not consider an assignment of error based upon the giving or refusing of instruction, unless there was a timely and proper objection made, and an exception saved to the ruling of the court. Yergy v. Helena L. & Ry. Co., 39 Mont. 213, 240, 18 Ann. Cas. 1201, 102 Pac. 310.

To obtain a review of instructions given, or of instructions requested and refused, there must, in view of this section and of section 6785, post, be a bill of exceptions, specifically pointing out the particular objection made at the time of the settlement. Robinson v. Helena Light & Ry. Co., 38 Mont. 222, 247, 99 Pac. 837.

Counsel must state his objection to any particular instruction, and, if the objection is overruled, reserve his exception; orderly procedure requires this to be done concerning all other rulings regarded as objectionable. Robinson v. Helena Light & Ry. Co., 38 Mont. 222, 246, 99 Pac. 837.

In an action for personal injuries, the court acts within its jurisdiction in refusing the defendant's request that the jury be taken to a mine, a considerable distance away, for the purpose of inspecting the machinery by which the plaintiff was injured; drawings of the machinery being presented to the jury and the jurors stating they understand the situation. Stephens v. Elliott, 36 Mont. 92, 104, 92 Pac. 45.

The purpose of the view provided for herein is to enable the jury to apply the testimony of the witnesses to the observed conditions about which they have spoken, and also to determine the truth of statements made by them with reference to these conditions. Ferris v. McNally, 45 Mont. 20, 31, 121 Pac. 889.

The jury may be permitted to take the pleadings with them, to study the issues for themselves; but the practice of setting forth, in the instructions, a clear and concise statement of the nature of the case and the issues to be determined is to be commended. Frederick v. Hale, 42 Mont. 153, 167, 112 Pac. 70.

Editorial Notes.

Right of jury to take to jury-room affidavit admitted as testimony of absent witness. Ann. Cas. 1913C, 498.

Right of jury to take with them on retirement paper containing calculation or estimate by party as to amount due him. Ann. Cas. 1913C, 937.

§ 6756.

The plain purpose of this section is to prevent the receipt of informal or insufficient verdicts; it does not extend to matters going to the substance, that do not appear upon their face; if a verdict covers the issue and is complete on its face, the court must receive it. Harrington v. Butte etc. Ry. Co., 36 Mont. 483, 93 Pac. 640.

Where, upon the polling of the jury in a personal injury case, the court inquires whether the verdict for the plaintiff has been reached by chance, and, several of the jurors answering in the affirmative, the court then directs them to retire and find a verdict by "deliberation and reasoning," and to exclude the element of chance, the action of the court is unauthorized; the verdict returned should have been received, subject to be set aside only upon application under section 6794, post. Harrington v. Butte etc. Ry. Co., 36 Mont. 483, 93 Pac. 640.

A special verdict should find all the facts necessary to enable the court to determine, by the consideration of the pleadings and the verdict alone, which party is by law entitled to a judgment, without reference to the evidence. Coburn Cattle Co. v. Small, 35 Mont. 288, 293, 88 Pac. 953.

In an action against a county treasurer to recover taxes paid on certain cattle a special verdict is insufficient to warrant judgment for the plaintiff, where such verdict fails to find all the facts necessary to enable the court to determine, by a consideration of the pleadings and the verdict alone, which party is by law entitled to a judgment, without reference to the evidence. Coburn Cattle Co. v. Small, 35 Mont. 288, 293, 88 Pac. 953.

In claim and delivery, a verdict that does not find upon the material issue as to whether the defendant ever took the property from the plaintiff, or detained the same, is insufficient to support a judgment. Hickey v. Breen, 40 Mont. 368, 374, 20 Ann. Cas. 429, 106 Pac. 881.

Special findings in a personal injury case control the general verdict. Mitchell v. Boston etc. Min. Co., 37 Mont. 575, 590, 97 Pac. 1033.

The court may, in its discretion, submit to the jury a particular question of fact, and require them to find upon it; but it is not bound to do so. Poor v. Madison River Power Co., 41 Mont. 236, 242, 108 Pac. 645.

The practice of submitting special interrogatories to the jury is to be commended, as tending to promote justice. Rairden v. Hedrick, 46 Mont. 510, 517, 129 Pac. 498.

The practice of more frequently instructing juries to find upon particular questions of fact is recommended; thereby, the necessity for granting new trials would be greatly diminished and much unnecessary expense and delay be avoided. O'Meara v. McDermott, 40 Mont. 38, 58, 104 Pac. 1049.

Where in an action for injuries from a premature explosion of dynamite alleged to be due to using stronger explosives than proper or customary, without warning plaintiff, the jury returned a general verdict for plaintiff, and found specially that plaintiff had been warned, that he knew the stronger powder was used, and that the use of such powder was proper, the special findings were inconsistent with the general verdict, and the defendant was entitled to judgment upon such findings. Johnson v. Butte Alex Scott Copper Co. (Mont.), 149 Pac. 717.

In replevin the verdict should, in terms, dispose of all the issues submitted to the jury. Woods v. Latta, 35 Mont. 9, 22, 88 Pac. 402.

Power of jury, in claim and delivery, to award damages. Chesnut v. Sales, 49 Mont. 318, 323, 52 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1199, 141 Pac. 986.

In an action of claim and delivery, a judgment that the party entitled to the possession of the property in controversy shall have it, or, in case the property itself cannot be recovered, then such party to have its value, is proper under this section. Chesnut v. Sales, 44 Mont. 534, 547, 121 Pac. 481, 49 Mont. 318, 52 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1199, 141 Pac. 986.

The verdict, in an action of claim and delivery, conforms substantially with the requirements of this section, where it contains a general finding in favor of the plaintiff together with a finding of value. Sullivan v. Girson, 39 Mont. 274, 276, 102 Pac. 320.

Nonsuit. See note ante, § 6714.

This section permits a directed verdict when the case presents only questions of law, but it does not, in any way, enlarge the powers of the court as applied to the facts. Dunseth v. Butte Electric Ry. Co., 41 Mont. 14, 25, 21 Ann. Cas. 1258, 108 Pac. 567.

Where the evidence, in a case being tried before a jury, is such that reasonable men can come to but one conclusion thereon, the court may as the case requires, direct a verdict for the party entitled to it, or withdraw the case from the jury and render judgment. Milwaukee Land Co. v. Ruesink, 50 Mont. 489, 148 Pac. 396.

When one side of a case is without proof, the case is stripped of questions of fact, and presents only a question of law for decision by the court. Consolidated etc. Min. Co. v. Struthers, 41 Mont. 565, 573, 111 Pac. 152.

A judgment on a directed verdict may or may not be a judgment on the merits; whether it is or not depends upon the question decided by the court and the scope of the ruling. Dunseth v. Butte Electric Ry. Co., 41 Mont. 14, 21, 21 Ann. Cas. 1258, 108 Pac. 567.

Whether there is any substantial evidence in the case, made by the party upon whom the burden rests, is always a question of law; if there is not, the court ought to withdraw the case from the jury and direct judgment. Escallier v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 46 Mont. 238, 252, Ann. Cas. 1914B, 468, 127 Pac. 458.

If the plaintiff has established his claim by clear and satisfactory evidence, and the evidence for the defendant consists merely of an affidavit, which is hearsay, the court is authorized to direct a verdict for the plaintiff. Bean v. Missoula Lumber Co., 40 Mont. 31, 37, 104 Pac. 869.

It is not important in cases of failure of proof, whether the court directs the jury to render a verdict for either party, or discharges the jury and renders judgment; in either case the result is the decision of the court. Consolidated etc. Min. Co. v. Struthers, 41 Mont. 565, 573, 111 Pac. 152.

It cannot prejudice the rights of the parties, though the formal procedure prescribed by this section is not pursued; the decision is, in any event, that of the court. Consolidated etc. Min. Co. v. Struthers, 41 Mont. 565, 573, 111 Pac. 152.

See note post, § 6764.

Failure to find. See note post, § 6766.

This section is merely directory; the court's failure to render a decision; within the time limited, does not deprive it of jurisdiction to decide at a later date. Toole v. Weirick, 39 Mont. 359, 365, 133 Am. St. Rep. 576, 102 Pac. 590.

This section requires findings of fact to be made by the court, when it tries a question of fact, whether such findings are requested or not; while it is true that, under section 6766, post, error cannot be predicated upon the trial court's refusal to make findings, unless requested, the failure of counsel to make the request does not relieve the court of its duty. Billings Realty Co. v. Big Ditch Co., 43 Mont. 251, 262, 115 Pac. 828.

While it is, under this section and section 6765, post, incumbent upon the trial court, in every case tried without a jury, to make findings unless they are waived by the parties, yet the party who fails to pursue the course pointed out in sections 6767 and 6768 cannot complain either that the duty enjoined by section 6764 has been omitted, or that the result of an effort to perform it is defective. Featherman v. Hennessy, 43 Mont. 310, 314, 115 Pac. 983.

Section 6766, post, does not excuse the judge from making findings. Bordeaux v. Bordeaux, 43 Mont. 102, 106, 115 Pac. 25.

Whether requested or not, it is the duty of the judge to make written findings upon all material issues of fact made by the pleadings in a suit for divorce, though the case was tried by a jury; this duty becomes imperative, where timely request is made, and a refusal is reversible error. Bordeaux v. Bordeaux, 43 Mont. 102, 107, 115 Pac. 25.

Failure to find. See note post, § 6766.

See note ante, § 6763.

In every case specific findings should be made upon all material issues of fact raised by the pleadings, followed by the appropriate conclusions of law, indicating the judgment to be entered thereon. Bordeaux v. Bordeaux, 43 Mont. 102, 108, 115 Pac. 25.

§ 6766.

Duty of court to make findings. See note ante, § 6763.

When no requests in writing have been made for special finding in water right contest, the failure of the court to make them is not cause for a reversal of the judgment. Gans & Klein Inv. Co. v. Sanford, 35 Mont. 300, 88 Pac. 955.

It is not the imperative duty of the trial court to make special findings, when not requested to do so upon the submission of the cause; to obtain special findings a party must make a request in writing for them, and have his request entered in the minutes of the court; if this is not done, a judgment will not be reversed for want of findings. State v. Edwards, 40 Mont. 287, 299, 20 Ann. Cas. 239, 106 Pac. 695.

It is the duty of the district court to make findings upon a proper request therefor; if, however, they are so lacking in substance, when given, as to amount to no findings at all, the case is one not of defective findings, but one demanding a reversal of the decree for want of findings to justify it. City of Helena v. Hale, 38 Mont. 481, 484, 100 Pac. 611.

A complaint that the trial court failed to make special findings, as required by section 6763, ante, is unavailing, if the appellant did not request them. Farwell v. Farwell, 47 Mont. 574, 578, Ann. Cas. 1915C, 78, 133 Pac. 958.

Notwithstanding this section, the duty of the judge, under section 6763, ante, to make findings, becomes imperative, when timely request is made therefor. Bordeaux v. Bordeaux, 43 Mont. 102, 108, 115 Pac. 25.

Though a finding is defective, the decree will not, for that reason, be reversed, where no exception was made in the trial court because of such defect, and the exception reserved in a bill, if, by any reasonable construction, the finding supports the decree. Featherman v. Hennessy, 43 Mont. 310, 314, 115 Pac. 983.

Though findings are not specific, but in general terms, every finding upon any issue necessary to support the judgment is to be implied. Esselstyn v. Holmes, 42 Mont. 507, 515, 114 Pac. 118.

If the existence of a particular fact is necessary to support the decree, it will be deemed to have been found, by implication, if the issues warrant such a finding, where the record does not disclose that there was any request for an express finding as to such fact. Hansen v. Larsen, 44 Mont. 350, 352, 120 Pac. 229.

If a case is submitted to the court without a jury, and the evidence justifies but one conclusion, formal findings are unnecessary, though a request be made for them in conformity with this section. Milwaukee Land Co. v. Ruesink, 50 Mont. 489, 148 Pac. 396.

If a case is submitted to the court without a jury, and the evidence justifies but one conclusion, judgment will not be reversed where a request for findings was disregarded. Milwaukee Land Co. v. Ruesink, 50 Mont. 489, 148 Pac. 396.

Where suit to fix rights of the parties to the waters of a stream was tried to the court, the trial court cannot be put in error for failure to make findings in absence of request. Joyce v. McDonald (Mont.), 149 Pac. 953.

Exceptions not required, when. See note post, § 6784.

See note ante, § 6763.

Judgment will not be reversed by the supreme court, because of defects in findings made, or in any of them, though exceptions were reserved because of such defects; that court will simply ignore the formal findings, and, upon examination of the whole of the evidence, determine whether the conclusion reached thereon by the trial court was correct. Milwaukee Land Co. v. Ruesink, 50 Mont. 489, 148 Pac. 396.

Where suit to fix rights of the parties to the waters of a stream was tried to the court, the trial court cannot be put in error because of defective findings not specifically excepted to. Joyce v. McDonald (Mont.), 149 Pac. 953.

Exceptions not required, when. See note post, § 6784.

This section does not declare that a decree cannot be entered until at least five days, or any other period, after the filing of findings of fact and conclusions of law; no interval of time is required to elapse between the making of the finding and conclusion and the entering of the decree. Gans & Klein Inv. Co. v. Sanford, 35 Mont. 295, 88 Pac. 955.

When no requests in writing have been made for special findings in a water right contest, the failure of the court to make them is not cause for a reversal of the judgment. Gans & Klein Inv. Co. v. Sanford, 35 Mont. 295, 300, 88 Pac. 955.

The purpose of a stipulation that a certain thing is a fact, is to relieve the parties from the necessity of introducing evidence as to the ultimate fact covered by it; if the fact is material, the court is, as to it, bound by the stipulation; it amounts to a special finding. *Spaulding v. EXCEPTIONS.

Direction of verdict for fraud. See note ante, § 4980.

§ 6784. What Deemed Excepted to.

Every order, ruling and decision of every kind or nature and every verdict, finding, decree or judgment is to be deemed excepted to, and it shall not be necessary to ask for or note an exception, and no bill of exceptions need be settled or filed except where and when hereafter expressly required by law or by a rule of the supreme court.

Provided, however, that nothing herein shall be deemed to dispense with the filing of exceptions required in the case of defective findings by sections 6767 and 6768 of said Revised Codes, but in such case no subsequent bill of exceptions need be settled; and Provided, further that nothing herein shall be deemed to apply to the proceedings for the settlements of instructions, nor to affect or modify the provisions of section 6746 of said codes relating to instructions and the settlement thereof nor to dispense with the objections thereby required, or the making of a record of such objections and proceedings in a bill of exceptions or statement of the case or in some other manner now or hereafter provided by law or rule of court, except to the following extent, to wit: It shall not be necessary to take or note an exception to the ruling or action of the court in deciding to give or in refusing an instruction, or part of an instruction, or in modifying an instruction, or in sustaining or overruling objections to proposed instructions; and it shall not be necessary to incorporate in any such bill or statement any evidence or other matter, if such evidence or other matter may, under the law or rules of court, be brought before the supreme court, in some other manner, for consideration in connection with alleged errors in instructions or the settlement thereof.

Nothing herein shall be deemed to prohibit the settlement of a bill of exception or a statement of the case, and, if desired, the same may be done as in such cases provided; nor shall anything be deemed to dispense with the making of objections where objections are not required. [Amendment approved March 9, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 298.]

This section has, since the adoption of section 6746, ante, become obsolete, so far as it includes the instructions as a part of the record for review, without a bill of exceptions, embodying the objections of the party to the action of the court thereon; this implies, also, to instructions requested and refused. Robinson v. Helena Light & Ry. Co., 38 Mont. 222, 247, 99 Pac. 837.

The findings as made constitute a part of the judgment-roll; and the sufficiency of the evidence to justify the findings in a water right suit may be raised on motion for a new trial and reviewed on appeal without formal exceptions; the law reserves an exception for that purpose; hence, a formal bill of exceptions is not required. Conrow v. Huffine, 48 Mont. 437, 447, 138 Pac. 1094.

An order sustaining a motion to strike out a portion of an answer is deemed excepted to. Bordeaux v. Bordeaux, 43 Mont. 102, 106, 115 Pac. 25.

An order of the district court, sustaining a motion to dismiss an action, on appeal to it from a justice's court, is a "final decision"; as such, it is deemed to have been excepted to, and, to preserve the exception, no formal bill is required. Mettler v. Adamson, 38 Mont. 198, 200, 99 Pac. 441.

§ 6785.

Application of section to review of instructions. See note post, § 7112.

It is not necessary for a party to specify in his notice of intention to move for a new trial, the particulars in which the evidence is claimed to be insufficient to justify the verdict. Ettien v. Drum, 35 Mont. 81, 89, 88 Pac. 659.

A bill of exceptions is not required to contain any specification of error. Milwaukee Gold etc. Co. v. Gordon, 37 Mont. 223, 95 Pac. 995.

Procedure in preparation of bill of exceptions. See also, post, § 6788.

This section regulates the settlement of bills of exceptions presented at the time the decision was made; it dispenses with notice to the adversary party; but in all other cases, the procedure prescribed by section 6788, post, controls, and notice is essential. State (ex rel. Pilot Butte Min. Co.) v. District Court, 50 Mont. 585, 148 Pac. 383.

Extension of time. See note post, § 7190.

This section may be complied with in three ways; but when the moving party has lost his standing by failing to pursue one of these methods selected by him, he cannot restore it by claiming that he has substantially pursued either of the other prescribed methods. Freeman v. Weare, 42 Mont. 472, 474, 113 Pac. 466.

This section has been substantially complied with, where the plaintiff company served and delivered to the clerk its proposed bill of exceptions; where the clerk handed the proposed bill to the trial judge; where the defendant's counsel afterward delivered his proposed amendments to the judge; and where the judge then set a date for the settlement of the bill. Best Mfg. Co. v. Hutton, 49 Mont. 78, 88, 141 Pac. 653.

A party complies with the law if, within ten days after the amendments to a bill of exceptions are served, he either presents the proposed bill and amendments to the judge, upon five days' notice to the adverse party, or delivers them to the clerk, or delivers them to the judge. Girard v. McClernan, 39 Mont. 523, 528, 105 Pac. 224.

Since the code amendment of 1907, there is no such thing as a statement on motion for a new trial. Milwaukee Gold etc. Co. v. Gordon, 37 Mont. 209, 223, 95 Pac. 995.

Circumstances under which the certificate of a judge, attached to a bill of exceptions, though informal and indefinite in failing to specifically state that the bill "is allowed," may be assumed, in all respects, to be in substantial compliance with the statute. Ferguson v. Parrott, 36 Mont. 354, 92 Pac. 965.

It is clearly implied, under this section, when a bill of exceptions and amendments thereto have been delivered to the judge, that he shall settle the same immediately, or fix a subsequent date for settlement, and, when delivered to him within the time limited by statute, it becomes his duty to settle and sign the bill at that time or at such future time as he may designate. Girard v. McClernan, 39 Mont. 523, 529, 105 Pac. 224.

If the party who seeks the settlement of a bill of exceptions, fails to present the bill, with amendments, which are objected to, to the judge, but not within ten days after service of the amendments, nor upon five days' notice to the adverse party, the bill must be disregarded. Freeman v. Weare, 42 Mont. 472, 474, 113 Pac. 466.

If a party who seeks the settlement of a bill of exceptions, fails to present the bill, with amendments, which are objected to, to the judge, within ten days after service of the amendments and upon five days' notice to the adverse party, the defect is not cured by the withdrawal of his objections to the amendments, after the lapse of the ten days and on the day designated in the notice of settlement. Freeman v. Weare, 42 Mont. 472, 474, 113 Pac. 466.

The moving party has the duty of presenting the proposed statement on motion for new trial and amendments to the judge within ten days from the date upon which the amendments were served. State ex rel. Coleman v. District Court (Mont.), 149 Pac. 973.

The court may grant extensions of time for the preparation of the documents to be made the basis of the motion. Evans v. Oregon Short Line R. Co. (Mont.), 149 Pac. 715.

By virtue of this section and of section 7118, post, the exceptions of both parties may be incorporated in the record, and the prevailing party is always in a position to inform the supreme court that he has not been permitted to introduce all of his evidence. State v. District Court, 40 Mont. 206, 211, 105 Pac. 721.

NEW TRIAL.

§ 6793.

New trials and appeals in probate proceedings. See post, § 7712.

Issue of fact, how raised. See ante, § 6723.

An "issue of fact" is an issue arising upon formal pleadings only. In re Antonoli's Estate, 42 Mont. 219, 223, 111 Pac. 1033.

The expression "issue of fact" refers to an issue arising upon formal pleadings only; and, unless such an issue has been raised in the manner prescribed by section 6723, ante, and tried, there is nothing which can be reviewed on a new trial. State (ex rel. Culbertson Ferry Co.) v. District Court, 49 Mont. 595, 600, 144 Pac. 159.

Controversies which do not arise upon written pleadings authorized or required by statute do not fall within the purview of this section. State (ex rel. Culbertson Ferry Co.) v. District Court, 49 Mont. 595, 598, 144 Pac. 159.

A new trial lies for the re-examination of an issue of fact created in the manner prescribed by section 6723, ante, but not under any other circumstances. State (ex rel. Culbertson Ferry Co.) v. District Court, 49 Mont. 595, 599, 144 Pac. 159.

There can be no new trial where there is no issue of fact presented by the pleadings to be re-examined. State (ex rel. Culbertson Ferry Co.) v. District Court, 49 Mont. 595, 601, 144 Pac. 159.

The court's action in ordering the damages to be assessed by a jury, in actions ex delicto, where the defendant has failed to answer or the plaintiff to reply, is not the trial of an issue of fact raised by the pleadings. State (ex rel. Culbertson Ferry Co.) v. District Court, 49 Mont. 595, 599, 144 Pac. 159.

An instruction is the law of the case and is binding upon the jury; hence, a verdict contrary thereto is a verdict contrary to law, which, under the sixth subdivision of this section, justifies a new trial. Lynes v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 43 Mont. 317, 325, Ann. Cas. 1912C, 183, 117 Pac. 81.

In all cases, except libel, the jury are bound by the instructions of the court, and a verdict contrary to them will be set aside as against law. Harrington v. Butte Miner Co., 48 Mont. 550, 553, 51 L. R. A. (N. S.) 369, 139 Pac. 451.

The court's instructions, in an action for libel, to the extent of determining whether the publication complained of is or is not libelous, are advisory only and, under a constitutional provision empowering the jury, under the direction of the court, to determine the law and the facts, may be disregarded by the jury; hence, a general verdict in favor of the defendant, contrary to the directions of the trial court, is not a ground for granting a new trial. Harrington v. Butte Miner Co., 48 Mont. 550, 555, 51 L. R. A. (N. S.) 369, 139 Pac. 451.

The statute prescribes the grounds upon which a motion for new trial may be made, and its provisions are exclusive. Evans v. Oregon Short Line R. Co. (Mont.), 149 Pac. 715.

A verdict arrived at by taking the aggregate of the amounts representing the views of the jurors and dividing that sum by the number of jurors as a means of ascertaining the average or as a basis for further consideration is valid, unless the jurors agree in advance that the quotient thus obtained shall constitute the amount of their verdict, and such agreement is carried into effect. Great Northern Ry. Co. v. Benjamin (Mont.), 149 Pac. 968.

In cases where the damages are clearly excessive, the plaintiff may be required, either in the district court or in the supreme court, to remit a part of the amount awarded by the jury or submit to a new trial. Yergy v. Helena L. & Ry. Co., 39 Mont. 213, 242, 18 Ann. Cas. 1201, 102 Pac. 310.

When an award of damages has been measured by the passion and prejudice of the jury, rather than by an estimate made in the exercise of their discretion, it becomes the duty of the court to set it aside; and the conclusion is irresistible that the award was so measured when it is so large that it cannot be accounted for on any other theory, and is wholly out of proportion to the wrong done and the cause of it. De Celles v. Casey, 48 Mont. 568, 576, 139 Pac. 586.

If the jury returns a verdict for the plaintiff, for an amount less than the evidence shows that he is entitled to receive, he may, under the sixth subdivision of this section, have a new trial upon the ground that the evidence is insufficient to sustain the verdict. Flaherty v. Butte Elec. Ry. Co., 42 Mont. 89, 92, 111 Pac. 348.

Where, in a personal injury case, excessive damages have been awarded, the defeated party has the right to insist that the amount of the verdict be reduced by the court. Chenoweth v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 50 Mont. 481, 148 Pac. 331.

In an action for personal injuries, the court has power to grant a new trial where excessive damages have been awarded, if they appear to have been given under the influence of passion or prejudice. Chenoweth v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 50 Mont. 481, 148 Pac. 331.

A new trial cannot be granted upon any other ground than those named in this section. Canning v. Fried, 48 Mont. 560, 564, 139 Pac. 448.

Remarks made by the court during a trial, if errors at all, fall within subdivision 1 of this section; they do not constitute errors of law within the meaning of subdivision 7. Hopkins v. Kitts, 37 Mont. 28, 94 Pac. 201.

Where the sufficiency of the complaint was not challenged during the trial, and there was no ruling in reference to it, there is nothing, as to that matter, which can be regarded as an "error of law occurring during the trial," upon which a motion for a new trial might be made; in such a case, the sufficiency of the complaint can be examined only on appeal from the judgment. O'Rourke v. Grand Opera House Co., 47 Mont. 459, 464, 133 Pac. 965.

Where the verdict in a personal injury case may have been the result of a miscalculation, or based upon a wrong standard, the award cannot be said to have been the result of passion or prejudice, so as to entitle the defendant to a new trial. Lewis v. Northern Pac. Ry., 36 Mont. 207, 224, 92 Pac. 469.

Where, upon the polling of the jury in a personal injury case, the court inquires whether the verdict for the plaintiff has been reached by chance, and, several of the jurors answering in the affirmative, the court then directs them to retire and find a verdict by "deliberation and reasoning," and to exclude the element of chance, the action of the court is unauthorized; the verdict returned should have been received subject to be set aside only upon an application under this section. Harrington v. Butte etc. Ry. Co., 36 Mont. 478, 483, 93 Pac. 640.

Jurors should not be heard to impeach their own verdict, and the single exception, found in subdivision 2 of this section, that they may do so where the verdict has been reached by a resort to chance, is the only one in which it will be permitted; this express exception, under the rule, "expressio unius est exclusio alterius," seems to exclude all other exceptions. Sutton v. Lowry, 39 Mont. 462, 471, 104 Pac. 545.

Though the judge, in his certificate, states that "the evidence fails to support the judgment," yet, where counsel for the appellants make the statutory assignment in their brief, as shown in the sixth subdivision of this section, that the evidence is insufficient to justify the court's decision, and counsel for the respondents have argued this assignment on the merits, the supreme court will assume that the judge intended to state in his certificate that the question of the insufficiency of the evidence to support the decision was properly submitted to and decided by him. Foster v. Winstanley, 39 Mont. 314, 324, 102 Pac. 574.

Since the act of 1907, there is no provision authorizing a statement of the case to be used as the basis of a motion for a new trial. Robinson v. Helena Light & Ry. Co., 38 Mont. 222, 234, 99 Pac. 837.

A motion for a new trial on the ground of irregularity in the proceedings of the court, jury, or adverse party may be made either upon affidavit, or bill of exceptions, or both. Bliss v. Wolcott, 40 Mont. 491, 497, 135 Am. St. Rep. 636, 107 Pac. 423.

A motion for a new trial, upon any ground other than those mentioned in the first four subdivisions of section 6794, ante, may be made under this section, 6795, either upon the minutes of the court or a bill of exceptions; and, if the movant has more than one ground, he may select one of these methods for one ground of his motion, and another for the remaining ground or grounds. Moore v. Butte Electric Ry. Co., 47 Mont. 214, 216, 131 Pac. 635.

When an application for a new trial is made on the minutes of the court, the trial court is presumed, in the absence of a bill of exceptions, to have considered all of the pleadings, records, minute entries, and the evidence offered at the trial, and to have determined the motion on the case thus presented. *Sanden v. Record on appeal from new trial order. See post, § 7114.

Right to notice of entry of judgment. See note post, § 7149.

Settlement of bill of exceptions. See ante, § 6788.

Notice of motion for a new trial, given ten days before entry of judgment, is premature and therefore ineffective as a basis for the motion. Power v. Turner, 37 Mont. 521, 543, 97 Pac. 950.

It is not necessary for a party to specify, in his notice of intention to move for a new trial, the particulars in which the evidence is claimed to be insufficient to justify the verdict. Ettien v. Drum, 35 Mont. 81, 89, 88 Pac. 659.

While the moving party is required to state, in his notice, whether the motion will be made upon affidavits or a bill of exceptions or the minutes of the court, he is not required to pursue all of these methods and rely upon all the grounds indicated by the notice, though his notice states them all. Doornbos v. Thomas, 50 Mont. 370, 147 Pac. 277.

He who moves for a new trial may not notify his adversary that he will pursue one method, and thereafter change to another; nor may he state two or more methods in the alternative; but he may state all the methods conjunctively, and the abandonment of all except one is no reason why the motion should not be heard. Doornbos v. Thomas, 50 Mont. 370, 147 Pac. 277.

The grounds of a motion for a new trial can be disclosed only by the notice of intention, required by this section to be filed within ten days after the receipt of notice of the entry of judgment. Canning v. Fried, 48 Mont. 560, 564, 139 Pac. 448.

The point that notice of intention to move for a new trial was premature may be waived. Kenyon-Noble L. Co. v. School District, 40 Mont. 123, 126, 105 Pac. 551.

The presumption is, that the notice of intention was served and filed in time, unless the contrary affirmatively appears from the record. Best Mfg. Co. v. Hutten, 49 Mont. 78, 86, 141 Pac. 653.

Where both the notice of intention and the notice of appeal were served upon the only party who appears upon the record to have any interest in vacating the judgment, the service is good as against an objection that all the adverse parties were not served. McIntyre v. MacGinniss, 41 Mont. 87, 92, 93, 137 Am. St. Rep. 701, 108 Pac. 353.

The notice of the entry of judgment contemplated by this section is a legal notice; that is, such a one as is described in section 7145, post, and served in the manner described in section 7146, post. State v. District Court, 38 Mont. 119, 124, 99 Pac. 139.

A letter to the plaintiff's counsel, written by the clerk of the court, informing him that a judgment for the defendant has been signed, is not a sufficient notice of the entry of judgment. Best Mfg. Co. v. Hutton, 49 Mont. 78, 87, 141 Pac. 653.

A notice of appeal, though given by two defendants, against whom separate verdicts have been rendered, is sufficient, though both notices are embodied in one paper, if they give the plaintiff all the information which the statute requires. Cummings v. Reins Copper Co., 40 Mont. 599, 609, 107 Pac. 904.

If the litigant, who moves for a new trial, pursues one of the authorized methods, and the record made in pursuance thereof is so formulated as to present properly one or more of the statutory grounds, he is entitled to be heard upon the record as made. Doornbos v. Thomas, 50 Mont. 370, 147 Pac. 277.

A party intending to move for a new trial may do so by serving his notice within ten days after notice of the entry of judgment, but not before. McIntyre v. MacGinniss, 41 Mont. 87, 92, 137 Am. St. Rep. 701, 108 Pac. 353.

The mere asking for time in which to file a bill of exceptions, or stay of execution, does not necessarily imply the presence of counsel at the entry of judgment, or actual knowledge of such entry. Best Mfg. Co. v. Hutton, 49 Mont. 78, 86, 141 Pac. 653.

While the movant for a new trial may waive formal notice of the entry of judgment by instituting his proceedings in support of his motion without it, such waiver cannot be imputed to him where he inadvertently proceeds before he may properly do so. McIntyre v. MacGinniss, 41 Mont. 87, 92, 137 Am. St. Rep. 701, 108 Pac. 353.

Upon a motion for a new trial made "upon the minutes of the court," the trial court may take into consideration all the pleadings, records, minute entries, and the evidence offered at the trial, and, from the entire case thus presented, determine the motion; it is not even necessary that the stenographer's notes of the trial be transcribed, if the presiding judge can remember the evidence and the proceedings sufficiently to enable him to pass upon the motion. State v. District Court, 38 Mont. 119, 125, 99 Pac. 139.

Effect of stipulations, as to extension of time in which notice of motion for a new trial must be given. Hill v. McKay, 36 Mont. 440, 93 Pac. 345.

The moving party has the duty of presenting the purposed statement or motion for a new trial and amendments to the judge within ten days from the date upon which the amendments were served. State ex rel. Coleman v. District Court (Mont.), 149 Pac. 973.

To give the court jurisdiction over a motion for new trial, the notice of intention must be given within the time prescribed by the statute, but the court may give extensions of time for the preparation of the documents to be made the basis of the motion. Evans v. Oregon Short Line R. Co. (Mont.), 149 Pac. 715.

"Minutes of the court." See note ante, § 6796.

Review of questions of fact, on appeal, in equity cases. See ante, § 6253.

If a motion for a new trial, in an equity case, is passed upon by a different judge than the one who presided at the trial, he should be governed by the same rules followed by the supreme court, since the adoption of section 6253, ante, in reviewing questions of fact on appeals in equity cases, and not set aside the findings, unless they are clearly against the preponderance of the evidence. Gibson v. Morris State Bank, 49 Mont. 60, 72, 140 Pac. 76.

Stay of entry of judgment. See note post, § 6800.

The fact that a district court has for years pursued the erroneous practice of granting a stay upon ex parte applications, without exacting security, does not endow the practice with the force of law. State v. Clements, 37 Mont. 100, 102, 127 Am. St. Rep. 705, 95 Pac. 845.

Assuming that the supreme court should, in a proper case, where a stay of proceedings has been ordered by the trial court, use the writ of mandamus to compel the requirement of security pending the motion for a new trial; the presumption must be indulged that the defendant regularly pursued his duty and that the order complained of was the result of the exercise of a wise discretion. State v. Clements, 37 Mont. 96, 100, 127 Am. St. Rep. 701, 94 Pac. 837.

Since a stay of execution results in delay and may defeat justice, the power to grant it should be exercised with caution and upon the exaction of some sort of security. State v. Clements, 37 Mont. 98, 127 Am. St. Rep. 701, 94 Pac. 837.

See § 7120a, post.

"Minutes of the court." See note ante, § 6796.

Record on appeal from new trial order. See post, § 7114.

On appeal from a new trial order, made upon the minutes of the court, the record will be held to contain all the minutes, if it contains all the papers enumerated in this section and in section 7114, post, and the trial court's certificate of the statement of the case is that "it is true and correct"; as the only purpose of a statement of the case is to bring before the appellate court the minutes of the trial court, it follows that a true and correct statement contains all the minutes. Sutton v. Lowry, 39 Mont. 462, 469, 104 Pac. 545.

The statement herein referred to as a part of the record on appeal is to be made up after a motion for a new trial has been disposed of. Robinson v. Helena Light & Ry. Co., 38 Mont. 222, 234, 99 Pac. 837.

A document prepared as a statement of the case does not lose its character as such because it bears a double designation, namely, "a bill of exceptions or statement of the case," Doornbos v. Thomas, 50 Mont. 370, 147 Pac. 277.

The judgment-roll is sufficiently authenticated where each copy of the several papers composing the record is authenticated, though the judgment-roll is not authenticated by the clerk technically as such. Doornbus v. Thomas, 50 Mont. 370, 147 Pac. 277.

JUDGMENT.

Modification of judgment to conform to verdict. See note post, § 7119.

Neither the reservation nor the stay mentioned in this section can be allowed ex gratia or without adequate reason. State (ex rel. Jones) v. District Court, 50 Mont. 1, 144 Pac. 564.

The law does not intend that a judgment shall follow so far behind the verdict as to be the cause of substantial damages. Chesnut v. Sales, 49 Mont. 318, 324, 52 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1199, 141 Pac. 986.

Under this section, there cannot be a stay in aid of a new trial; such a stay is properly granted only after notice of intention has been given, as provided in section 6798, ante, and notice of intention cannot be given, as shown by section 6796, ante, until judgment has been entered. State (ex rel. Jones) v. District Court, 50 Mont. 1, 144 Pac. 564.

A case tried by a jury may be reserved for argument, under this section, only when the judgment does not necessarily follow the verdict; as, for instance, in equity suits; or where, after discharge of the jury, the verdict is claimed to be unresponsive to the issues, or so ambiguous or informal that no judgment, proper under the issues, could be entered in conformity with it. *State (ex rel. § 6806.

Bill of exceptions not necessary, when. See note post, § 6784.

This section has, since the adoption of section 6746, ante, become obsolete, so far as it includes the instructions as a part of the record for review, without a bill of exceptions, embodying the objections of the party to the action of the court thereon; and this applies, also, to instructions requested and refused. Robinson v. Helena Light & Ry. Co., 38 Mont. 222, 246, 99 Pac. 837.

The record on appeal from an order of the district court, sustaining a motion to dismiss an action, on appeal to it from a justice's court, must be made up as provided in this section, or there can be no record on appeal in such a case; this section makes no distinction between records in cases originating in the district court and those in cases brought into that court by appeal. Mettler v. Adamson, 38 Mont. 198, 201, 99 Pac. 441.

A statement on motion for a new trial is not a part of the judgment-roll. Harrington v. Butte etc. Min. Co., 35 Mont. 531, 90 Pac. 748.

An order sustaining a motion to strike out a portion of an answer, is deemed excepted to, and is a part of the judgment-roll. Bordeaux v. Bordeaux, 43 Mont. 102, 106, 115 Pac. 25.

In a divorce suit, where an insane husband was not personally served with summons, but a guardian ad litem was appointed, upon whom summons was served, and he appeared for the defendant by filing a demurrer, the summons with the return thereon is no part of the judgment-roll; the decree is on its face valid; and there is nothing upon the face of the record to reveal any infirmity. State v. District Court, 38 Mont. 166, 170, 129 Am. St. Rep. 636, 35 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1098, 99 Pac. 291.

An order of the district court, sustaining a motion to dismiss an action, on appeal to it from a justice's court, is properly a part of the judgment-roll; it is deemed to have been excepted to. Mettler v. Adamson, 38 Mont. 198, 200, 99 Pac. 441.

A secret interest is not subject to the lien of a docketed judgment. See note post, § 6821.

This section, by force of the federal statute, applies to the judgments of federal courts within the state. Great Falls Nat. Bank v. McClure, 176 Fed. 208, 211, 99 C. C. A. 562.

An execution sale transfers the legal title to the purchaser, leaving in the judgment debtor simply the right to redeem. McQueeney v. Toomey, 36 Mont. 282, 295, 122 Am. St. Rep. 358, 13 Ann. Cas. 316, 92 Pac. 561.

The presumption is that the clerk performed his official duty, as prescribed in this section. Britannia Min. Co. v. United States F. & G. Co., 43 Mont. 93, 100, 115 Pac. 46.

A judgment becomes a lien upon the real property of the judgment debtor only when it is docketed. McMillan v. Davenport, 44 Mont. 23, 30, Ann. Cas. 1912D, 984, 118 Pac. 756.

The lien of an attachment is merged in that of the judgment recovered in the main action; and the judgment continues and may be enforced by execution and levy against any of the real property of the defendant, whether covered by the attachment or not, at any time within six years, but not afterward. Great Falls Nat. Bank v. McClure, 176 Fed. 208, 211, 99 C. C. A. 562.

Before an officer is authorized to sell, under an ordinary judgment, he must have specific directions so to do; but, in a decree of foreclosure, the property to be subjected to the payment of the debt is already indicated by, and described in, the decree, coupled with a mandate that it be sold by the sheriff to satisfy the demands of the plaintiff. Thomas v. Thomas, 44 Mont. 102, 110, Ann. Cas. 1913B, 616, 119 Pac. 283.

This section does not apply to a foreclosure sale. Thomas v. Thomas, 44

Mont. 102, 111, Ann. Cas. 1913B, 616, 119 Pac. 283.

The word "process," employed in the Constitution, does not include the order of sale found in the decree of a court of equity in foreclosure proceedings. Thomas v. Thomas, 44 Mont. 102, 110, Ann. Cas. 1913B, 616, 119 Pac. 283.

The process, a writ of execution, is called an "order of sale." Thomas v. Thomas, 44 Mont. 102, 109 Ann. Cas. 1913B, 616, 119 Pac. 283.

§ 6837. Redemption of Real Property Sold.

Property sold subject to redemption, as provided by the last section, or any part sold separately, may be redeemed in the manner hereinafter provided, by the following persons or their successors in interest:

1. The judgment debtor or his successor in interest in the whole or any part of the property, and if the judgment debtor or successor be a corporation, then by a stockholder thereof.

2. A creditor having a lien by judgment, mortgage or attachment on the property sold or on some share or part thereof, subsequent to that on which the property is sold. If a corporation be such creditor then any stockholder thereof may redeem. The persons mentioned in the second division of this section are in this chapter termed "Redemptioners." [Amendment approved March 15, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 447.]

Where real estate is bid in by the judgment creditor for less than the amount of the judgment, the judgment debtor may transfer the interest remaining in him, during the period of redemption, to a third person, who, upon redemption within the statutory time, acquires the legal title, free from the lien of a deficiency judgment theretofore rendered. McQueeney v. Toomey, 36 Mont. 282, 293, 122 Am. St. Rep. 358, 13 Ann. Cas. 316, 92 Pac. 561.

Editorial Notes.

Right to redeem from judicial sale after expiration of statutory period. Ann. Cas. 1913E, 1187.

§ 6839. When Judgment Debtor or Redemptioner may Redeem—Corporation and Stockholders.

If property be so redeemed by a redemptioner, another redemptioner may, within sixty days after the last redemption, again redeem it from the last redemptioner on paying the sum paid on such last redemption with interest thereon at the rate of one per cent per month in addition and the amount of any assessment or taxes which the last redemptioner may have paid thereon after the redemption by him, with like interest on such amount, and in addition the amount of any liens held by the said last redemptioner prior to his own with interest; but the judgment under which the property was so sold need not be so paid as a lien. The property may be again, and as often as any redemptioner is so disposed, redeemed from any previous redemptioner, within sixty days after the last redemption, on paying the sum paid on the last previous redemption with interest thereon at the rate of one per cent per month and the amount of any assessment or taxes which the last previous redemptioner paid after the redemption by him, with like interest thereon and the amount of any liens, other than the judgment under which the property was sold, held by the last redemptioner previous to his own, with like interest. Written notice of redemption must be given to the sheriff, and a duplicate filed with the county clerk, and if any taxes or assessments are paid by the redemptioner, or if he has or acquired any liens other than that upon which the redemption was made, notice thereof must in like manner be given to the sheriff and filed with the county clerk, and if such notice be not filed the property may be redeemed without paying such tax, assessments or lien, if not redemption be made within one year after the sale, the purchaser or his assignee, is entitled to a conveyance, or, if so redeemed, whenever sixty days have elapsed and no other redemption has been made, and notice thereof given, and the time for redemption has expired, the last redemptioner or his assignee is entitled to a sheriff's deed; but in all cases the judgment debtor shall have the entire period of one year from the date of the sale to redeem the property. If the judgment debtor redeem, he must make the same payments as are required to effect a redemption by a redemptioner. If the debtor redeem, the effect of the sale is terminated, and he is restored to his estate. Upon a redemption by a debtor, the person to whom the payment was made must execute and deliver to him a certificate of redemption, acknowledged or proved before an officer authorized to take acknowledgments or conveyances of real property. Such certificate must be filed and recorded in the office of the county clerk of the county in which the property is situated, and the county clerk must note the record thereof in the margin of the record of the certificate of sale.

If a stockholder of a corporation redeems, the corporation, within one year after the date of sale, may redeem by paying to the redemptioner, or the sheriff for his benefit, the amount paid to effect the redemption with interest thereon at the rate of one per cent per month from the date of redemption until the date of such payment, together with any taxes or assessments that may have been paid by the redemptioner with like interest thereon. When a stockholder redeems, any other stockholder or stockholders may, at any time after such redemption, and within sixty days after the expiration of one year from the date of sale, contribute to the redemption by paying to the redeeming stockholder or depositing with the sheriff for his benefit, a sum which bears the same proportion to the amount necessary to redeem which the number of shares owned by such contributing stockholder or stockholders bears to the number of shares of such corporation outstanding, with interest on such sum from the date of redemption until the date of contribution at the rate of one per cent per month, together with a like proportion of the taxes or assessments paid by such redeeming stockholder, with like interest thereon, and if the corporation does not redeem the property within the time and in the manner and form as aforesaid, the said redeeming and contributing stockholders shall be entitled to receive a sheriff's deed for such property so redeemed, and shall succeed to the said property as tenants in common in such proportions respectively as they shall respectively pay or contribute to such redemption as aforesaid. The redeeming or contributing stockholder shall, in all cases when applying to redeem or contribute as aforesaid, present an affidavit, setting forth the number of shares of stock owned by him, and to the best of his knowledge, the number of shares of stock of the corporation outstanding.

(Section 3.) All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed. [Amendment approved March 15, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 447.]

If the debtor redeems, the effect of this section is to terminate the sale and restore the estate to him, whereupon any deficiency judgment would attach as a lien. McQueeney v. Toomey, 36 Mont. 282, 296, 122 Am. St. Rep. 358, 13 Ann. Cas. 316, 92 Pac. 561.

§ 6847. Validating Prior Judicial Sales.

All judicial sales of real property which, previous to January 1, 1914, (provided no action is now pending to set such sale aside), were made in this state on proceedings to satisfy valid judgments or decrees of any court and the moneys bidden thereon paid to the officer making such sale shall be valid and sufficient in law to sustain a sheriff's deed based on such sale, and when no such deed has been executed, shall entitle such purchaser to such deed; and such deed if now or when executed shall be sufficient to convey all the title of judgment debtor at the time of such sale in the premises so sold to the purchaser at said sale, and all defects or irregularities in the issuance of execution, or the manner of making or conducting the sale, or in the recitals or references in such deed, shall be disregarded and such sale shall not be invalidated by reason of any such defect or irregularity. [Amendment approved February 2, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 10.]

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE.§ 6861.

Authority to proceed under ordinary judgment, or decree of foreclosure. See note ante, § 6814.

Execution is necessary to sale, when. See ante, § 6817.

The obvious purpose of this section is to compel one who has taken a special lien to secure his debt to exhaust his security before having recourse to the general assets of the debtor. State Sav. Bank v. Albertson, 39 Mont. 414, 422, 102 Pac. 692.

This section is a limitation upon the rights which usually pertain to property, and its restriction will not be construed to include personal or collateral security, or any other form of security not falling within the meaning of the term "mortgage." State Sav. Bank v. Albertson, 39 Mont. 414, 423, 102 Pac. 692.

A court of equity has inherent power to order a sale of mortgaged property, without issuing a formal writ of execution. Thomas v. Thomas, 44 Mont. 102, 111, Ann. Cas. 1913B, 616, 119 Pac. 283.

An officer's authority to sell land on foreclosure arises from the decree of sale, and not from any so-called "order of sale"; if an "order of sale," containing a copy of the decree, is issued to the sheriff, any errors in such order, either as to the style of process, or otherwise, are immaterial and should be disregarded. Thomas v. Thomas, 44 Mont. 102, 111, Ann. Cas. 1913B, 616, 119 Pac. 283.

A decree of foreclosure operates directly upon the mortgaged property, and is itself sufficient authority for the officer to proceed; it is unnecessary that any order aside from the decree should issue. Thomas v. Thomas, 44 Mont. 102, 111, Ann. Cas. 1913B, 616, 119 Pac. 283.

Where a contract is made for the sale and purchase of real and personal property, and which provides that time shall be of its essence; that the vendor may, at his option, terminate it, for failure on the part of the vendee to comply strictly with its terms; that, upon such termination, the property involved and all payments made by the vendee shall be the property of the vendor; and that the vendee shall not have any action to recover; the transaction, though the purchaser has been given possession, and has executed notes for deferred payments, is not a mortgage, and the vendor's remedy for the purchaser's default is a suit to cancel the contract. Arnold v. Fraser, 43 Mont. 540, 547, 117 Pac. 1064.

If suit is brought on a note, the defendant's answer that the plaintiff has taken "security" for the payment of the note, does not bar the action and give a right of dismissal, where it does not appear from the answer that the security is in the form of a mortgage or the equivalent of a mortgage; the fact that the obligation sued upon is secured by a mortgage or its equivalent is a matter of defense, and the burden rests upon the defendant to make that appear by his pleading. State Sav. Bank v. Albertson, 39 Mont. 414, 423, 102 Pac. 692.

QUIETING TITLE.

§ 6870. Parties to Action Quiet Title—Venue.

An action may be brought and prosecuted to final decree, judgment or order, by any person or persons, whether in actual possession or not, claiming title or real estate, against any person or persons, both known and unknown, who claim or may claim any right, title, estate or interest therein, or lien or encumbrance thereon, adverse to plaintiff's ownership, or any cloud upon plaintiff's title thereto, whether such claim or possible claim be present or contingent, including any claim or possible claim of dower, inchoate or accrued, for the purpose of determining such claim or possible claim, and quieting the title to said real estate. All actions brought under this section must be brought in the county in which the real estate, or a portion thereof, as to which the title is sought to be quieted, is situated. [Amendment approved March 8, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 250.]

Immateriality of possession. See note post, § 6882.

This section confers powers upon courts of equity to entertain actions in which the defendant is asserting an adverse claim while the plaintiff is in possession, and actions in which neither the plaintiff nor the defendant is in possession, and the latter is asserting the adverse claim. O'Hanlon v. Ruby Gulch Min. Co., 48 Mont. 65, 82, 135 Pac. 913.

Courts of equity have jurisdiction of an action to determine adverse claims to real property and may give complete relief. Cottonwood Ditch Co. v. Thom, 39 Mont. 115, 119, 101 Pac. 825.

An action to quiet title to premises sold for delinquent taxes is one in equity. Larson v. Peppard, 38 Mont. 128, 132, 129 Am. St. Rep. 630, 16 Ann. Cas. 800, 99 Pac. 136.

Where the trial of a cause proceeded as one to quiet title to a mining claim, under this section, without objection on the part of the defendant, he will not be heard on appeal to insist that the case should have been tried as an adverse suit, under section 6882, post, in pursuance of the provisions of the federal statute. O'Hanlon v. Ruby Gulch Min. Co., 48 Mont. 65, 82, 135 Pac. 913.

The plaintiff out of possession must, as against the defendant in possession asserting an adverse claim, resort to an action in ejectment; in such a case, he has an adequate remedy at law, and cannot resort to a suit in equity to quiet title, under this section. O'Hanlon v. Ruby Gulch Min. Co., 48 Mont. 65, 82, 135 Pac. 913.

If an action can be considered as one to quiet title, the complaint does not state a cause of action, where it fails to allege that the defendant asserts a claim to any portion of the premises in controversy.

§ 6870a. Parties Defendant—Unknown Claimants.

In any action brought under section 6870a the plaintiff may join as defendants any or all persons, known or unknown, claiming, or who might claim, any right, title, estate or interest in, or lien or encumbrance upon the real property described in the complaint, or any thereof, adverse to plaintiff's ownership, or any cloud upon plaintiff's title thereto, whether such claim or possible claim be present or contingent, including any claim or possible claim or dower, inchoate or accrued, and including the person or persons in possession if the plaintiff is not in possession. If the plaintiff shall desire to obtain a complete adjudication of the title to the real estate described in the complaint, he may name as defendants all known persons who assert or who might assert any claim as in this section above specified, and may join as defendants all persons unknown who might make any such claim, by adding in the caption of the complaint in such action the words, "and all other persons, unknown, claiming or who might claim any right, title, estate or interest in, or lien or encumbrance upon the real property described in the complaint, or any thereof, adverse to plaintiff's ownership, or any cloud upon plaintiff's title thereto, whether such claim or possible claim be present or contingent, including any claim or possible claim of dower, inchoate or accrued. [New section approved March 8, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 251.]

§ 6870b. Notice of Pendency of Action.

Before any order for the publication of summons is granted as herein-after provided, the plaintiff shall file, in the office of the clerk and recorder of each county in which any of the property involved in such action is situated, a notice of the pendency of such action, signed by the plaintiff or his attorney, which notice shall contain the title of the court in which such action is filed, the full caption of the cause, a complete description of all the property involved in such action, and a statement of the relief sought by plaintiff. [New section approved March 8, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 251.]

be found within the state, or conceals himself to avoid the service of summons, or when any defendant is a foreign corporation, having no agent for the service of process, nor managing or business agent, cashier, secretary, or other officer within the state or when any defendant is a domestic corporation and none of the officers or agents of such corporation, upon whom valid service of said corporation can be made, can, after due diligence be found within the state, the plaintiff, upon the return of the summons showing due personal service within the state upon all defendants specifically named in the complaint, other than such as come within the meaning of the foregoing provisions of this section, and upon filing with the clerk of said court an affidavit setting forth the facts with reference to any of such defendants upon whom personal service of summons within the state cannot be made, within the meaning of the foregoing provisions of this section, may obtain an order for the service of summons upon such defendants last mentioned, to be made by publication. [New section approved March 8, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 251.]

§ 6870d. Order for Publication of Summons—Affidavit.

The plaintiff may obtain an order for the service of summons upon all unknown claimants or possible claimants by publication, upon filing with the clerk of the court an affidavit showing that he has made diligent search and inquiry for all persons who claim, or might claim, any right, title, estate or interest in, or lien, or encumbrance upon such real property, or any thereof, adverse to plaintiff's ownership, or any cloud upon plaintiff's title thereto, whether such claim or possible claim be present or contingent, including any right of dower, inchoate or accrued, and has specifically named as defendants in such action all such persons whose names can be ascertained. One affidavit and order for service by publication may be made to include all defendants, known and unknown, upon whom such service is sought, and in such event but one summons shall be published, and the same shall be directed to all defendants upon whom such summons shall be served by publication; but no order for service by publication shall be made until proof of the filing of the notice of the pendency of such action in accordance with the provisions of section 6870b has been made to the court. [New section approved March 8, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 252.]

§ 6870e. Showing Necessary to be Made Before Order of Publication.

The affidavit provided for in sections 6870c and 6870d shall be sufficient if the necessary facts are therein alleged substantially in the language employed in said sections; but before any order of publication is granted the plaintiff shall produce testimony, oral or by deposition, as in contested cases, showing clearly that the necessary facts exist, and that he has used due diligence in all respects as to which due diligence is required in such case by the preceding sections, and the testimony of each witness examined orally upon the hearing shall be reduced to writing and be subscribed and sworn to by such witness, and all such testimony, together with all depositions used upon such hearing, shall be filed in said action. [New section approved March 8, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 252.]

§ 6870f. Form of Summons.

The summons to be published under the preceding sections shall be in substantially the following form:

"(Title of Court and Cause.)"

"To [naming known defendants upon whom service by publication is sought], and to all other persons, unknown, claiming, or who might claim, any right, title, estate, or interest in, or lien or encumbrance upon the real property described in the complaint, or any thereof, adverse to plaintiff's ownership, or any cloud upon plaintiff's title thereto, whether such claim or possible claim be present or contingent, including any claim or possible claim of dower, inchoate or accrued, Greeting:

"You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint in this action which is filed in the office of the clerk of this court, a copy of which is herewith served upon you, and to file your answer and serve a copy thereof upon the plaintiff's attorney within twenty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service; and in case of your failure to appear or answer, judgment will be taken against you by default, for the relief demanded in the complaint.

"This action involves the title to the following described lands, to wit: [Here insert description of land.]

"The nature of the relief sought by the plaintiff is as follows: [Here set forth in concise form character of relief sought.]

"Witness my hand and the seal of said court, this day of

.....

"Clerk of the Above-entitled Court."

Such summons shall be published at least once in each week for a period of six weeks in some newspaper, of general circulation, printed and regularly published at least once a week in the county in which the action is brought, or if there is no such newspaper printed in such county, then such summons shall be published in like manner, for a like period, in the nearest county in which such a newspaper is printed, preference to be given, first, to an adjoining county in which any portion of the property is situated, if situated in more than one county; and second, to any adjoining county. Service shall be deemed complete on the forty-second day after the day of first publication. [New section approved March 8, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 252.]

§ 6870g. Code Sections Applicable.

The provisions of section 6513 to 6527, inclusive, so far as the same are not in conflict with these sections, are hereby made applicable to the action herein provided for. [New section approved March 8, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 253.]

§ 6870h. Jurisdiction of Court—Judgment.

Upon the service of summons on all the defendants, known and unknown, in the manner provided in the preceding sections, the court, in which such action is tried, shall have jurisdiction to make a complete adjudication of the title to the lands named in the complaint and the title to which is sought to be quieted, including jurisdiction to direct the cancellation of instruments constituting clouds upon such title, the execution of conveyances, where it appears that any party to such action should execute such conveyance or conveyances, the execution of satisfactions of mortgages and other apparent liens upon such land, or any part thereof, or the doing of any other act of a personal nature necessary to give effect to the rights of the respective parties to such action as the same may be adjudicated by the court. When any judgment or decree shall be rendered in such action, for a conveyance, release or acquittance, as above mentioned, and the party or parties against whom the judgment or decree shall be rendered do not comply therewith, within the time specified in said judgment or decree for such compliance, such judgment or decree shall have the same operation and effect, and be as available, as if the conveyance, release, or acquittance had been executed conformably to such judgment or decree. Before plaintiff shall be entitled to a decree in such action against any defendant who shall not appear therein, he must produce evidence sufficient to prima facie entitle him to relief, and relief shall be granted only to the extent to which such evidence shall prima facie prove him to be entitled to the same; but this provision shall not affect the procedure in or manner of trial of such actions as between the plaintiff and any defendant who shall appear in such action; and the oral testimony of each witness testifying in support of the complaint in such action, as against such defendant who shall not appear therein shall be reduced to writing, subscribed and sworn to by such witness, and the same, together with all depositions and documentary evidence produced in support of such complaint, shall be filed in such action. [New section approved March 8, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 253.]

§ 6870i. Persons Bound by Judgment.

Every person made a defendant to such action, by name, and every unknown claimant or possible claimant, upon whom service has been made by publication, in accordance with the preceding sections, and who has not appeared in such action, shall be bound by the judgment or decree entered in such action, subject to the right of any such defendants to apply for relief in any manner provided by the statutes applicable to the case of a defaulting defendant served only by publication. [New section approved March 8, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 254.]

This section applies especially to adverse claims in patent proceedings, and seems to contemplate a special action, equitable in its nature; but the section has not changed the rule of pleading referred to in Hopkins v. Butte Copper Co., 29 Mont. 390, 74 Pac. 1081; and the fact of the filing of the claim in the land office within the prescribed time and the bringing of the action within the prescribed limitation must be alleged, or the complaint will not support the judgment. § 6882.

Possession in suits to quiet title. See note ante, § 6870.

By the adoption of this section, the legislature recognized the distinction between ordinary actions to determine adverse claims, authorized by section 1310, § 6882a. Action to Establish Title to Property Granted to Heirs of Entryman.

(Section 1.) Whenever the government of the United States has heretofore, or shall hereafter grant lands in the state of Montana to the heirs of a deceased entryman, any person who claims an estate of inheritance or interest in such lands may bring and maintain an action in rem against all the world, in the district court for the county in which such real property is situated to establish his title to such property and to determine all adverse claims thereto. Any number of separate parcels of land claimed by the plaintiff may be included in the same action. [New section approved February 18, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 15, p. 22.]

§ 6882b. Complaint in Such Action—Parties Defendant.

(Section 2.) The action shall be commenced by the filing of a verified complaint, in which the parties so commencing the same shall be named as plaintiff, and the defendants shall be described as "All persons claiming any interest in or lien upon the real property herein described, or any part thereof," and shall contain a statement of the facts enumerated in section 1 of this act; a particular description of such real property, and shall specify the estate, title or interest of the plaintiff therein. [New section approved February 18, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 15, p. 22.]

§ 6882c. Affidavits to be Filed by Plaintiff.

(Section 3.) At the time of filing the complaint, the plaintiff shall file with the same, his affidavit fully and explicitly setting forth and showing:

1st. The character of his estate, right, title, interest or claim in the property.

2d. Whether or not he has ever made any conveyance of his interest in said property or any part thereof, and if so, when, and to whom. Also statement of any and all existing mortgages, deeds of trust, judgments or other liens thereon. [New section approved February 18, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 15, p. 22.]

3d. When and where the deceased entryman of said property died, and what kin or relationship the claimant bore to the said entryman at the time of his death, and the names and residences of any other person who is next of kin or entitled to succeed to any portion of the lands, the subject of said action, and the names of, and residences of all persons who have liens upon the property, or any part thereof adversely to the plaintiff if he knows, or has been informed, or has been able to discover any such person. If the plaintiff is unable to state any one or more of the matters herein required, he shall set forth and show fully and explicitly the reasons for such inability. Such affidavit shall constitute a part of the judgment-roll. If the plaintiff be a person under guardianship, the affidavit shall be made by his guardian.

§ 6882d. Summons—Issuance and Form.

(Section 4.) Upon the filing of the complaint and affidavit, a summons must be issued under the seal of the court which shall contain the name of the court and county in which the action is brought, the name of the plaintiff and the particular description of the real property involved, and shall be directed to "All persons claiming any interest in or lien upon the real property herein described, or any part thereof," as defendants, and shall be substantially in the following form:

In the District Court of the Judicial District of the State of Montana, in and for the County of Plaintiff vs. All persons claiming any interest in, or lien upon, the real property herein described or any part thereof, Defendants.

The state of Montana to all persons claiming any interest in or lien upon the real property herein described, or any part thereof, defendants, Greeting:

..... Clerk.

[New section approved February 18, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 15, p. 23.]

§ 6882e. Publication of Summons—Posting.

(Section 5.) The summons shall be published in a newspaper of general circulation, published in the county in which the action is brought. The newspaper in which such publication is to be made, shall be designated by an order of the court or judge thereof, to be signed and filed with the clerk. No other order for the publication of the summons shall be necessary, nor shall any affidavit therefor be required, nor need any copy of the complaint be served, except as hereinafter required. The summons shall be published at least once a week for a period of five weeks, and to each publication thereof shall be appended a memorandum, signed by the plaintiff's attorney, in substance as follows: "The following persons are said to claim an interest in, or lien upon said property, adverse to plaintiff." (Give names and addresses as above provided.) A copy of the summons, together with a copy of the foregoing memoranda, shall be posted in a conspicuous place on each separate parcel of the property described in the complaint within ten days after the first publication of the summons. [New section approved February 18, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 15, p. 24.]

§ 6882f. Personal Service of Summons—Service by Mail on Nonresidents.

(Section 6.) If the said affidavit discloses the name of any person next of kin or relationship to the deceased entryman, or entitled to succeed to any part of said property, or the name of a person who claims, or may claim an interest by mortgage, trust deed, judgment or other lien, the said summons shall also be personally served upon such person if he can be found within the state, together with a copy of the complaint and a copy of said affidavit, during the period of the publication of the summons and to the copy of the summons delivered to any such person, there shall be appended a copy of the memoranda provided for in section 5 hereof. If such person resides out of the state, a copy of the summons, memoranda, complaint and affidavit shall be, within ten days after the first publication of the summons, deposited in the United States postoffice, inclosed in a sealed envelope, postage prepaid, addressed to such person at the address given in the affidavit, or if no address be given therein, then at the county seat of the county in which the action was brought. If such person resides within the state, and could not, with due diligence be found within the state within the period of the publication of the summons, then said notice aforesaid shall be mailed to him as above provided forthwith upon the expiration of said period of said publication. [New section approved February 18, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 15, p. 24.]

§ 6882g. Jurisdiction of Court.

(Section 7.) Upon the completion of the publication and posting of the summons and its service upon, and mailing to the persons, if any, upon whom it is hereby directed to be so specially served, the court shall have full and complete jurisdiction over the plaintiff and the said property, and of the person of everyone having or claiming any estate, right, title or interest in or to, or lien upon such property or any part thereof, and shall be deemed to have obtained the possession and control of said property for the purposes of the action, and shall have full and complete jurisdiction to render the judgment therein, which is provided for in this act. [New section approved February 18, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 15, p. 25.]

§ 6882h. Time for Appearance by Defendant—Answer.

(Section 8.) At any time within the first sixty days from the first publication of the summons, or within such further time not exceeding thirty days, as the court may for good cause, grant any person having or claiming any estate, right, title or interest, in or to, or lien upon said property or any part thereof, may appear and make himself a party to the action by pleading to the complaint. All answers must be verified and set forth specifically the kin or relationship of the deceased entryman, and the estate, right, title, interest, or lien so claimed. [New section approved February 18, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 15, p. 25.]

§ 6882i. Lis Pendens.

(Section 9.) The plaintiff must, at the time of filing the complaint, and every defendant to claim, or claiming any affirmative relief, must at the time of filing his answer, record in the office of the county clerk and recorder of the county in which the property is situated, a notice of the pendency of the action, containing the object of the action, or the defense and a particular description of the property [affected] effected thereby; and the recorder shall record the same in a book of the miscellaneous records of his office, and make a reference as to the date and time of the filing of such notice, and when recorded, to the book and page record thereof. [New section approved February 18, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 15, p. 25.]

§ 6882j. Default Judgment—Inquiry for and Bringing in Parties.

(Section 10.) No judgment in any such action shall be given by default, but the court must require proof of the facts alleged in the complaint and other pleadings, and the court must further make diligent inquiry of the plaintiff and all defendants appearing concerning the next kin of said deceased entryman, and upon such examination should any heir be discovered who has not been served, or who has not appeared, the court may order such heir brought in if necessary for the determination herein provided for. [New section approved February 18, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 15, p. 25.]

§ 6882k. Judgment—Conclusiveness—Recording Copy.

(Section 11.) The judgment shall ascertain and determine the heirship of said deceased entryman and all estates, rights, titles, interests and claims in and to said property and every part thereof, whether the same be legal or equitable, present or future, vested or contingent, or whether the same consists of mortgages or liens of any description and shall be binding and conclusive upon every person who at the time of the commencement of the action, had or claimed to have any estate, right, title or interest in or to said property or any part thereof, and upon every person claiming under him by title subsequent to the commencement of the action. A certified copy of the judgment in such action shall be recorded in the office of the recorder of the county in which said action was commenced, and any party or the successor in interest of any party to said action, may at his option file for record in the office of the recorder of such county, the entire judgment-roll in said action. [New section approved February 18, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 15, p. 26.]

§ 6882l. Rules of Evidence—Depositions.

(Section 12.) Except as herein otherwise provided, all the provisions and rulings of law relating to evidence, pleading, practice, new trials, and appeals, applicable to other civil actions shall apply to the actions hereby authorized.

At any time after the issuance of the summons, any party to the action may take depositions therein in conformity to law, upon notice to the adverse party sought to be bound by such depositions and who have appeared in the action, if any, and upon notice filed with the clerk. The depositions may be used by any party against any other party giving or receiving the notice (except the clerk) subject to all just exceptions. [New section approved February 18, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 15, p. 26.]

§ 6882m. Subsequent Action—Time for Bringing.

(Section 13.) Whenever judgment in an action hereby authorized shall have been entered, as to any real property, no other action relative to the same property or any part thereof maintained under this act shall be tried until proof shall first have been made to the court that all persons who appeared in the first action, or their successors in interest have been personally served with the papers mentioned in section 6 of this act, either within or without this state, more than one month before the time to plead expired. [New section approved February 18, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 15, p. 26.]

§ 6882n. Action by Executors, Administrators or Guardians.

(Section 14.) An executor, administrator or guardian, or other person claiming an interest by deed of conveyance or otherwise, may maintain as plaintiff, and may appear and defend in the action herein provided for. [New section approved February 18, 1915, Laws 1915, c. 15, p. 26.]

§ 6882o. Cumulative Remedies.

§ 6882p. Repeal of Conflicting Acts.

The term "account," in this section, is not used in the same sense as it is in section 6569, ante. Moran v. Ebey, 39 Mont. 517, 519, 104 Pac. 522.

"A copy of the account" does not mean a list of the items constituting it; such list may be obtained under section 7016, post; the complaint is sufficient where it shows the balance due on account. Moran v. Ebey, 39 Mont. 517, 519, 104 Pac. 522.

There is no reason for requiring the plaintiff to furnish the items of the account in his complaint, so long as the defendant may obtain them under the provisions of section 7016, post. Moran v. Ebey, 39 Mont. 517, 519, 104 Pac. 522.

Jurisdiction of justice. See note ante, § 6286.

In a justice's court, all causes of action which a plaintiff has against his adversary may be joined in one complaint, if they are of such a character that the justice has jurisdiction of each of them, and the aggregate of the demands does not exceed three hundred dollars. *Reynolds v. § 7009.

Cox*, 36 Mont. 20, 24, 91 Pac. 1063.

This and the preceding section demonstrate that it was the purpose of the legislature in enacting them, that all petty claims existing between the parties and falling within the limited jurisdiction of justice's courts should be adjudicated in one action. Walter v. Cox, 36 Mont. 20, 24, 91 Pac. 1063.

§ 7016.

"Copy of the account," what is sufficient as. See note ante, § 7007.

§ 7027. Attachments in Justices' Courts—Undertaking.

Before issuing the writ the justice must require a written undertaking in due form on the part of the plaintiff with two or more sureties, in a sum of not less than fifty dollars ($50), nor more than three hundred dollars ($300), to the effect that if defendant recover judgment the plaintiff will pay all costs that may be awarded to defendant and all damages which he may sustain by reason of the attachment, not exceeding the sum specified in the undertaking. Within two days after, or at any time before the service of the writ of attachment upon defendant, he may except to the sufficiency of the sureties, and if he fails to do so, he is deemed to have waived all objections to them. When excepted to, the sureties must within three days after notice by the defendant of not less than one day, justify before the justice, and upon failure to justify, or if others in their place fail to justify, at the time and place appointed, the justice shall make an order vacating the writ of attachment. [Amendment approved March 4, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 155.]

This section refers specifically to a postponement of the trial; that is, the trial on the merits, after issue has been reached and a definite time has been fixed for it as provided in section 7004, ante; but the justice, of necessity, has the power to postpone a case when he is hearing another one at the time set for hearing. State v. Smith, 42 Mont. 492, 495, 113 Pac. 294.

It seems that a justice of the peace may take a case under advisement if the parties consent, rather than enter judgment at the close of the trial. State v. Houston, 36 Mont. 178, 181, 12 Ann. Cas. 1027, 92 Pac. 476.

The continuance of a case, by a justice of the peace, upon the application of the plaintiff, and without any showing, such as is required by this section, is unauthorized; and the effect of such action, coupled with his refusal to dispose of the case on the day first set for trial, at which time the defendant is present, is to lose jurisdiction; and, if he afterward renders judgment on the day last set for trial, when the plaintiff is present but the defendant is absent, the judgment will be annulled on certiorari. State v. Williams, 50 Mont. 582, 148 Pac. 333.

The postponement of a case necessarily postpones the beginning of the hour during which the defendant must await the appearance of the plaintiff before he can demand a dismissal of the action. State v. Smith, 42 Mont. 492, 495, 113 Pac. 294.

§ 7049.

Where a justice takes a case under advisement, without the consent of the parties, appointing neither time nor place for the rendition of judgment, he loses jurisdiction, and a judgment rendered a month thereafter, without notice to the parties, is void. State v. Houston, 36 Mont. 178, 180, 12 Ann. Cas. 1027, 92 Pac. 476.

§ 7056.

The entries in a justice's docket, or a transcript thereof, certified by the justice, is of sufficient evidentiary value to make out a prima facie case of the facts there recorded; but this is so only by virtue of section 7071, post; in the absence of that section, no such rule of evidence could be invoked; and, as the transcript mentioned in this section is not a transcript of the justice's docket, it cannot be given the same force and effect as the transcript last named. Miller v. Miller, 47 Mont. 150, 152, 131 Pac. 23.

Abstract of judgment is no proof of jurisdictional facts. See note post, § 7071.

The code provisions, which authorize the filing and docketing of an abstract of a judgment of a justice of the peace with the clerk of the district court, do not convert such judgment into a final judgment of the district court; they were intended merely to devise a method by which the judgment of the justice, as such, may be made a lien upon the real estate of the defendant and be enforceable by execution in any county of the state. Pierson v. Daly, 49 Mont. 478, 481, 143 Pac. 957.

Where the abstract of a justice's judgment has been filed with, and docketed by, a clerk of the district court, an order of the district court quashing an execution issued by the clerk thereon and striking such abstract from the files, is not a special order after final judgment made appealable by section 7098, post. Pierson v. Daly, 49 Mont. 478, 483, 143 Pac. 957.

Though the clerk of the district court may issue the execution, he issues it upon the judgment of the justice, as such, and not upon it as a judgment of the district court, made such by transformation of the justice's judgment; the justice has exclusive control of the execution, whether issued by himself or by the clerk of the district court. Pierson v. Daly, 49 Mont. 478, 482, 143 Pac. 957.

§ 7059.

It is clear from the provisions of this section and of section 7060, post, that the lien of the judgment continues for the period of six years from the date of the judgment; not from the date of the filing and docketing. Pierson v. Daly, 49 Mont. 478, 481, 143 Pac. 957.

It seems that a justice of the peace may take a case under advisement if the parties consent, rather than enter judgment at the close of the trial. State v. Houston, 36 Mont. 178, 181, 12 Ann. Cas. 1027, 92 Pac. 476.

§ 7071.

Entries in justice's docket as evidence. See note ante, § 7056.

Judgment, how pleaded. See note ante, § 6571.

Justices' courts are courts of limited jurisdiction. No presumption in favor of their jurisdiction is to be indulged, and the abstract of a justice's judgment is not made evidence of any fact by the statute; hence, where the docket of the justice has been lost, the jurisdictional facts must be made to appear affirmatively. This cannot be done by invoking the aid of presumptions, such as are found in the fifteenth and sixteenth subdivisions of section 7962, post, or by introducing an abstract of the judgment filed with the clerk pursuant to section 7057, ante; and, unless such affirmative proof is made, there is a failure to prove the validity of the judgment. Miller v. Miller, 47 Mont. 150, 155, 131 Pac. 23.

able under this section. See note ante, § 7057.

Remedy for order made in excess of jurisdiction. See post, § 7203.

Under subdivision 3 of this section, an appeal may be taken from a part of an order or judgment decreeing certain persons entitled to share in the distribution of an estate under a will; such an order not being a "final" judgment, but simply a "judgment or order" in probate proceedings. Estate of Klein, 35 Mont. 185, 201, 88 Pac. 798.

The expression, "final judgment," as used in the first subdivision of this section, refers only to those judgments, known at common law as final judgments, as defined in section 6710, ante; it does not include statutory determinations termed "orders" or "judgments" in probate proceedings. In re Roberts' Estate, 48 Mont. 40, 42, 135 Pac. 909.

Order to disclose assets of a decedent's estate is not a "final judgment," within the meaning of the first subdivision of this section, from which an appeal lies. In re Roberts' Estate, 48 Mont. 40, 42, 135 Pac. 909.

The third subdivision of this section provides for appeals from orders and judgments in probate proceedings, and enumerates all those from which appeals lie. In re Roberts' Estate, 48 Mont. 40, 42, 135 Pac. 909.

A party aggrieved may appeal from an order granting or refusing a new trial. Cummings v. Reins Copper Co., 40 Mont. 599, 610, 107 Pac. 904.

An order refusing to set aside a judgment is a special one made after final judgment; and, as such is appealable under this section. It cannot be reviewed on appeal from a new trial order, as the two proceedings are separate and distinct from each other. Canning v. Fried, 48 Mont. 560, 565, 139 Pac. 448.

An appeal from an order appointing an administrator, and denying a counter-application for such appointment, will be dismissed, if not taken within the sixty days after entry of the order. In re Antonioli's Estate, 42 Mont. 219, 222, 111 Pac. 1033.

The action of the court in fixing the amount of an inheritance tax, and in directing its payment may be reviewed on appeal, either from the order itself or from the decree directing the delivery. State v. District Court, 41 Mont. 357, 368, 109 Pac. 438.

If no issue is joined in either of two applications for letters of administration heard together, the unsuccessful applicant's motion for a new trial will be denied, because a new trial in a probate proceeding is proper only in a case involving an issue of fact, based upon formal and authorized pleadings; and an appeal from the order denying the motion for a new trial must, therefore, be dismissed. In re Antonioli's Estate, 42 Mont. 219, 222, 111 Pac. 1033.

An order sustaining the defendant's motion to exclude evidence is not appealable. Stephens v. Conley, 48 Mont. 352, 360, 138 Pac. 189.

No appeal lies from an order annulling an order appointing a receiver; but such order is reviewable upon appeal from the final judgment. Taintor v. St. John, 50 Mont. 358, 146 Pac. 939.

An order overruling a motion to quash, upon the return to an alternative writ of mandamus, is not appealable. State v. Barnett, 49 Mont. 252, 254, 141 Pac. 287.

No appeal lies from an order striking from the files a pleading or other document constituting a part of the record of the case; no appeal lies from an order of the lower court striking from its file a default judgment entered under section 6537, ante, where final judgment had not been entered when the order was made. State (ex rel. Smotherman) v. District Court, 50 Mont. 119, 145 Pac. 724.

An order of the district court correcting the verdict in a civil action is not appealable. Frank v. Symons, 35 Mont. 56, 63, 88 Pac. 561.

An order of court requiring a person, charged with concealing or disposing of the assets of a decedent's estate, to make a disclosure of such assets, under sections 7505 and 7506, ante, is not appealable. In re Roberts' Estate, 48 Mont. 40, 42, 135 Pac. 909.

A minute entry of an order sustaining a demurrer to the plaintiff's complaint, and directing the dismissal of his action, is not an order from which an appeal can be taken; the order, in view of section 6710, ante, and section 7139, post, is not a judgment. Pentz v. Coriscadden, 49 Mont. 581, 144 Pac. 157.

An order taxing costs is not appealable; and an order overruling a motion to tax costs is reviewable on appeal from the judgment. Isman v. Altenbrand, 42 Mont. 188, 198, 111 Pac. 849.

An order authorizing the payment of a fund, deposited in court in condemnation proceedings, to the person entitled thereto is not appealable. Chicago etc. Ry. Co. v. White, 36 Mont. 439, 93 Pac. 350.

An undertaking filed in conformity with this and the following section need not be signed by the appellant. Russell v. Chicago etc. Co., 37 Mont. 1, 10, 94 Pac. 501.

An "adverse party" is one who is shown by the record to have an interest in opposing the object sought to be accomplished by the appeal; a party not of record is not an "adverse party," upon whom service of notice of appeal is necessary. Jenkins v. Carroll, 42 Mont. 302, 307, 112 Pac. 1064; Cummings v. Reins Copper Co., 40 Mont. 599, 610, 107 Pac. 904.

An undertaking on appeal is abortive, if words are used therein, which render it meaningless and nugatory as an indemnity for costs in any amount. In re Kappler's Estate, 38 Mont. 419, 422, 100 Pac. 228.

Where different appeals are taken except when combined with an appeal from an order granting or denying a new trial, taken at the same time, the statute requires an undertaking in the sum of three hundred dollars to effectuate each appeal, and unless this requirement is met, or the undertaking is waived, or a deposit is made to take its place, the appeal is ineffective. In re Kappler's Estate, 38 Mont. 419, 422, 100 Pac. 228.

After the preliminary stage, in which the court may stay proceedings under section 6798, ante, has passed, the matter of stay is no longer lodged in the discretion of the trial court, but is governed by other provisions of the code which must be complied with pending appeal. State v. Horn, 36 Mont. 420, 93 Pac. 351.

Editorial Notes.

Supersedeas, implied power of courts to issue. 67 Am. St. Rep. 714.

§ 7103.

Undertakings may be in one instrument. See post, § 7107.

The filing of the undertaking, after the amount has been fixed by the court, operates, ipso facto, to stay execution; and the fact that it has been stayed need not be specifically alleged in an action to recover on the undertaking. Sullivan v. Fried, 42 Mont. 335, 341, 112 Pac. 535.

A complaint to recover on the undertaking, though indefinite, in failing to allege specifically that the amount of the stay bond was fixed by the court, is sufficient, as against a general demurrer, if the undertaking itself, containing such recital, is set out in the complaint. Sullivan v. Fried, 42 Mont. 335, 341, 112 Pac. 535.

If the undertaking contains a number of obligations, the first being in the form of the usual undertaking on appeal, describing the judgment which it is sought to have the court review, and another obligation, in the form of that required to be given under this section to stay execution pending appeal, simply refers to "said judgment so appealed from," the words quoted are sufficient, in an action on the last obligation, to identify the judgment. Sullivan v. Fried, 42 Mont. 335, 342, 112 Pac. 535.

Sufficient identification of judgment, in action on undertaking. See note ante, § 7103.

Undertaking or deposit on appeal. See note ante, § 7100.

In case of different appeals from a final judgment, and an order granting or denying a new trial, taken at the same time, one undertaking in the penalty of three hundred dollars is sufficient. In re Kappler's Estate, 38 Mont. 419, 423, 100 Pac. 228.

In view of this section and of sections 6794 and 7098, ante, the trial court, notwithstanding the perfecting of an appeal from a judgment, retains jurisdiction over a motion for a new trial; and an appeal may be taken from an order denying the new trial, although, before such order was entered, an appeal from the judgment has been perfected. Molt v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 44 Mont. 471, 477, 120 Pac. 809.

Whatever may be the number of appeals taken at the same time, only one undertaking need be filed, but the penalty in all cases, except where the appeals from the final judgment are combined with an appeal from an order granting or denying a new trial, taken at the same time, must be sufficient in amount to support all of them, and the references must be so made to each of them that the penalty may be properly apportioned. In re Kappler's Estate, 38 Mont. 419, 423, 100 Pac. 228.

Where the record on appeal from a judgment simply that the statement on motion for a new trial was never passed upon, the statement was not used "on motion for a new trial" within the meaning of this section. Harrington v. Butte etc. Min. Co., 35 Mont. 531, 90 Pac. 748.

A certificate of the clerk of the district court, stating that the record on appeal in a civil case contains copies of all the papers constituting the judgment-roll, is a sufficient compliance with this section. Donovan v. McDevitt, 36 Mont. 61, 66, 92 Pac. 49.

This section requires only those parts of the judgment-roll which are necessary to be considered on the appeal to be brought up in the transcript; hence, the bringing up of the instructions can serve no useful purpose, if the bill of exceptions taken at the settlement is not made up in conformity with the requirements of section 6785, ante, Robinson v. Helena Light & Ry. Co., 38 Mont. 222, 247, 99 Pac. 837.

After a case has reached the district court, on appeal from a justice's court, the proceedings thenceforth shall be the same as in cases originating in the district court. Mettler v. Adamson, 38 Mont. 198, 201, 99 Pac. 441.

See §§ 7120a-7120h, post.

Certification of copies. See note post, § 7115.

The provisions of this section and of section 7115, post, are mandatory, and were enacted so that the appellate court may know that the record presented to it contains correct copies of the papers which are required for a review. First Nat. Bank v. Gebo, 46 Mont. 263, 267, 127 Pac. 463.

Unless the papers specified in this section, certified as required by section 7115, post, are furnished to the appellate court, before the submission of the cause, the judgment will be affirmed. First Nat. Bank v. Gebo, 46 Mont. 263, 267, 127 Pac. 463.

The statutory requirement that, on an appeal from an order, the appellate court shall be furnished with a copy of the papers used on the hearing in the court below, is sufficiently complied with where the transcript is certified by the clerk as "a full, true, and correct copy of plaintiff's bill of exceptions." Where such bill purports to be a narrative of "the proceedings had and done" respecting the matter in question, and to contain all the papers relative thereto; and where such bill is settled and certified, by the judge who made the order, as "in all respects a true and correct record of the proceedings had and done in the above-entitled action." Beller v. Le Bouef, 50 Mont. 192, 145 Pac. 945.

The record on appeal from an order vacating or refusing to vacate a default consists of the papers used on the motion, whatever they are. Manuel v. Scott, 37 Mont. 29, 31, 94 Pac. 487.

Papers, not a part of the record on appeal by statute, can be made a part of it only by bill of exceptions or statement duly certified by the judge. Papers supposedly used at a hearing of a motion to set aside a default, not brought into the record by bill of exceptions nor identified in any way, but merely certified by the clerk as being all the papers used on the motion, are not properly in the record and will be stricken out. Manuel v. Scott, 37 Mont. 29, 94 Pac. 487.

This section authorizes the clerk or attorneys to certify that the copies provided for in the last three preceding sections are correct copies, but it does not authorize either to convey to the supreme court, in a certificate, the information that the copies furnished on appeal are copies of the papers actually used as the basis of the order from which the appeal was taken. This information can be furnished only by a bill of exceptions, settled by a certificate of the judge in the usual way. Latimer v. Nelson, 47 Mont. 545, 546, 133 Pac. 680.

See §§ 7120a-7120h, post.

§ 7116. Dismissal of Appeals.

If the appellant fails to furnish the requisite papers, the appeal may be dismissed; provided, however, no appeal can be dismissed for insufficiency of or other objection to the undertaking thereon, even though the same may be void, if a good and sufficient undertaking, approved by a justice of the supreme court, be filed in the supreme court before the hearing upon a motion to dismiss the appeal; and provided further, that no appeal can be dismissed for any objections to the record or the brief of the appellant if the cause of such objection is removed by perfecting the record or brief to the satisfaction of the court or a justice thereof before the hearing of a motion to dismiss. All objections to the record and brief of appellant shall be deemed waived unless a motion to dismiss is made because thereof, except such as will prevent a fair hearing, consideration and decision of the appeal on its merits; and as to any such objection the court may, in its discretion permit a compliance with the provision of the law or rule of court violated within such time and upon such terms as may be just. [Amendment approved Mar. 3, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 55.]

Dismissal of appeal. See note ante, § 7099.

Submission of agreed cases. See note post, § 7254.

If the original undertaking on appeal is void, the filing of a substituted undertaking, though approved as required, does not preserve the appeal; but it does do so, if the undertaking is not wholly void; and this construction applies to a defective undertaking, under section 7128, post, on appeal to the district court. Marlowe v. Michigan Stove Co., 48 Mont. 342, 345, 137 Pac. 539.

To justify the dismissal of an appeal, upon the ground that there is no real controversy to be determined and that the parties have entered into collusion with each other to have the case heard merely to enable them to ascertain what the law is, for some ulterior purpose, it must appear, at least with reasonable certainty, that the parties in the particular case are guilty of the abuse charged as the ground of the motion; otherwise, the appeal will be retained and the case heard on its merits. *Carlson v. This section requires the supreme court to review the errors made, not only against the appellant, but also those made in his favor, if they are made to appear in the record by bill of exceptions, and prohibits the reversal of the judgment upon any error complained of by the appellant, if, but for the error against the respondent, the result of the trial would have been the same. On a plaintiff's appeal from a judgment for the plaintiff, the defendant cannot complain where he has not appealed nor even, by cross-assignment in his brief, asked that the judgment be modified. Williams v. Johnson, 50 Mont. 7, 144 Pac. 768.

The supreme court will dispose of a case according to the substantial rights of the parties, as shown upon the record. Manhattan Co. v. White, 48 Mont. 565, 568, 140 Pac. 90.

The rule that an order granting a new trial will be upheld, if any ground of the motion supports such order, is applicable only where the order is a general one, not disclosing the particular ground upon which the court acted, or where counsel have invoked the provisions of this section for the compensation of errors. Harrington v. Butte Miner Co., 48 Mont. 550, 553, 51 L. R. A. (N. S.) 369, 139 Pac. 451.

Where the plaintiff, on appeal from a judgment in his favor, complains that it is for an insufficient amount, but the defendant correctly insists that the complaint is insufficient to support any judgment, the supreme court will reverse the judgment with directions to sustain the demurrer to the complaint. Manhattan Co. v. White, 48 Mont. 565, 567, 140 Pac. 90.

Where no objection was made to an instruction, and no exception taken, the action of the court respecting the instruction will not be reviewed. De Sandro v. Missoula L. & W. Co., 48 Mont. 226, 247, 136 Pac. 711.

The losing party will not be heard to assert on appeal, for the first time, that there was a fatal variance. Mosher v. Sutton's New Theater Co., 48 Mont. 137, 149, 137 Pac. 534.

Upon the return of the cause on remittitur, the supreme court may order the district court to correct the judgment to comply with section 7536, post. Gauss v. Trump, 48 Mont. 92, 102, 135 Pac. 910.

Though an order sustaining a motion to strike out part of the defendant's answer is part of the record on appeal, it cannot be reviewed where the original pleading against which the motion was directed is no longer a part of the record. Bordeaux v. Bordeaux, 43 Mont. 102, 106, 115 Pac. 25.

§ 7120a. Appeal to Supreme Court—Records and Papers.

(Section 1.) All pleadings, docket entries, minute entries, judgments, all the minutes of the trial court, including all papers and files, all testimony, exhibits and other evidence, whether settled in a bill of exceptions or statement of the case or not, shall be deemed to be brought up by an appeal and to be subject to review and to be deemed part of the record on appeal in all cases. It shall not, however, be necessary actually to bring all such papers before the supreme court or to print them; only such as may be material or proper or necessary to be considered on the appeal need be brought up or printed.

The supreme court may ordain rules to regulate the manner in which any such papers may be brought up. In the absence of such rules, the following procedure may be followed:

If the appellant desire to incorporate in his transcript all or a part of the stenographer's notes or transcript, or any paper or matter not appearing in the judgment-roll or in a bill of exceptions or statement of the case, he shall serve upon the opposite parties or their attorneys, at or prior to the time of the filing of the notice of appeal, or within five days thereafter, and file with the clerk of the district court, a praecipe stating what papers and what, if any, part of the stenographer's notes or transcript he desires to have incorporated in the transcript on appeal. Within fifteen days thereafter or such further time as may be granted by the district court or judge or by the supreme court or a judge thereof, any other party to the case or person having a right to be heard thereon, may serve on the appellant or his attorneys and file with the said clerk praecipe specifying what other matters or other evidence or parts of evidence he desires to have incorporated in the transcript on appeal. A transcript of the papers so designated by their respective parties shall, unless ordered by the supreme court, be deemed sufficient for all purposes of the appeal, unless suggestion be made to the supreme court of a diminution of the record or of some incorrectness therein. If such suggestion be made, such disposition shall be made thereof as justice may require. In case of disagreement between parties regarding the insertion of any matter in the transcript or its omission, the questions arising shall be, after notice to the parties, settled, by the judge who tried the case or made the order, subject to summary review by the supreme court; and the supreme court shall also have power to act, in the first instance, regarding such questions, if it shall deem proper. At the request of any of the parties, any or all original papers and files in the case, other than the judgment-roll, shall be forwarded to the clerk of the supreme court by the clerk of the district court with a certificate of identity by the judge of the district court or the clerk thereof. The supreme court may in any case order the judgment-roll to be sent up. [Approved March 18, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 149, p. 423.]

§ 7120b. Transcript of Proceedings by Stenographer.

(Section 2.) In any case where the proceedings upon a trial or hearing have been reported by the official stenographer or by a stenographer pro tempore, or a stenographer agreed upon in writing or in open court by the parties, and his notes shall have been transcribed and filed with the clerk and shall have been certified by the court or judge as correct, after notice to the parties, or agreed to by written stipulation of the attorneys, such transcript may, at the request of either party, be forwarded to the clerk of the supreme court, with the transcript on appeal and with a certificate of identity by the clerk of the district court, and shall then be deemed to be before the supreme court for all purposes of the appeal, but in such case, the same need not be printed in whole or in part unless directed by the court. Such stenographer's transcript may be referred to by the supreme court for the decision of any matter before the court, including questions of the sufficiency of the evidence, and regarding the settlement of instructions, as fully as if it had been part of a bill of exceptions or statement of the case, as well as to supplement the record or correct any insufficiency or defect therein. This provision, however, shall not be construed as relieving the appellant from having the same printed as a part of the transcript on appeal when requisite for the purpose of his appeal, nor relieve the respondent from the necessity of specifying in his praecipe what, if any parts or additional parts of such stenographer's transcript he desires incorporated in the transcript on appeal by the clerk of the district court. Such stenographer's transcript when certified or agreed to as aforesaid shall also serve any and all of the purposes of a bill of exceptions or statement of the case, and may be used in all cases where a bill of exceptions or statement is now required. In all cases where a part only of the stenographer's notes shall be sufficient for the purposes of review or of the appeal, such part may be transcribed and certified or agreed to, as above provided, and with like effect and authority with respect to the matters included therein. The notice of hearing on the certification of the stenographer's transcript may be given by any party to the others, and shall be served as other notices are required to be served, and the time thereof, shall be five days, or such other period as the district court or the judge thereof may order. Such stenographer's transcript may be filed in the office of the clerk of the district court and certified, at any time, but this provision shall not affect any rule of the supreme court limiting the time for the filing of transcripts in said court, nor limit the power of the district court or judge to compel the stenographer to file the same. It shall be the duty of the judge to settle the correctness thereof and when settled to certify the same. In case of refusal or inability of the judge to settle and certify the same, in accordance with the facts, such transcript may be settled by the supreme court on application in like manner as in cases of bills of exception. The supreme court or a judge thereof shall have discretionary power by writ, or summary proceedings, to compel the stenographer to perform his duties in connection with such transcript. [Approved March 18, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 149, p. 424.]

§ 7120c. Imposition of Terms, Costs and Penalties.

(Section 3.) The supreme court may, in any case, impose terms, costs and penalties upon the making of any order relating to the transcript on appeal or diminution thereof, or to the transcript of the stenographer's notes, or to the printing of such papers, regardless of the final determination of the appeal, and allow or disallow costs in connection with these matters when disposing of the same. [Approved March 18, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 149, p. 425.]

§ 7120d. Certificate of Clerk as to Correctness of Transcript.

(Section 4.) In all cases, a certificate of the clerk of the court from which the appeal is taken, or a stipulation of the attorneys as to the correctness of the transcript, and that the papers therein incorporated were on file in the court below at the time of the decision, or, as the case may be, of any judgment or order brought up for review or appealed from, shall be prima facie sufficient to identify all the matters in the record and to attest their correctness, make them part of the record on appeal, and entitle them to be considered. If any dispute or question shall arise regarding the correctness of such stipulation or certificate, or of the record on any point, the supreme court shall have power to hear and determine such disputes or questions, take evidence concerning the same, and make any ruling or order that may be proper in the premises, and may do all of these things of its own motion.

(Section 5.) In all cases of insufficiency or other defectiveness in the transcript or papers on appeal, the appellant or other party in interest may be allowed to complete or correct the same. And, in case any certificate required to be made by the district court, or a judge thereof, or the clerk of the district court, to be found defective, the same may be corrected by amendment or by the filing of a new certificate, with the same effect if such certificate had been made or filed in due form and time, in the first instance; leave being first obtained from the supreme court. In all such cases, the supreme court may impose such terms, costs or penalties upon the party responsible for the insufficiency or defect as to the court may seem proper. [Approved March 18, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 149, p. 425.]

§ 7120e. Rules of Supreme Court.

(Section 6.) The supreme court may make rules and orders in furtherance of the purposes of this act, and make further regulations concerning the matters mentioned in this act. [Approved March 18, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 149, p. 426.]

§ 7120f. Act Does not Prohibit Bill of Exceptions or Statement.

(Section 7.) Nothing in this act [§§ 7120a-7120h hereof] shall be deemed to prohibit the settlement of a bill of exceptions or a statement of the case, and, if desired, the same may be done, as in such cases provided, but without prejudice to the provisions of this act; nor shall anything in this act be deemed to repeal any provision of law relating to stenographers. [Approved March 18, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 149, p. 426.]

§ 7120g. Invalidity of Part of Act Does not Affect Remainder.

(Section 8.) If any section, sentence or clause of this act shall, for any reason, be held invalid or inoperative, the remaining portions of the act shall not therefore be deemed invalid or inoperative; it being the intention of the legislature, hereby expressly declared, to enact each section, sentence and clause of this act, irrespective of whether any one or more sections, sentences or clauses thereof, be found to be invalid or inoperative. [Approved March 18, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 149, p. 426.]

§ 7120h. Return of Original Files to District Court.

(Section 9.) All original papers transmitted to the supreme court or to the clerk thereof shall be returned to the clerk of the district court, with the remittitur, or at such other time as may be ordered by the supreme court.

(Section 10.) All laws or parts of laws in conflict with this act are hereby repealed.

(Section 11.) This act shall take effect at the time of its passage. [Approved March 18, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 149, p. 426.]

APPEALS TO DISTRICT COURT.

§ 7121. Time for Appeals from Justice's Court—Notice.

Any party dissatisfied with the judgment rendered in a civil action in a police or justice court may appeal therefrom to the district court of the county at any time within thirty days after the rendition of the judgment. The appeal is taken by serving a copy of the notice of appeal on the adverse party or his attorney and by filing the original notice of appeal with the justice or judge. The order of serving and filing is immaterial. [Amendment approved January 31, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 8.]

An appeal from a justice's court is taken by filing a notice of appeal with the justice and serving a copy thereof on the adverse party or his attorney. Thien v. Wiltse, 49 Mont. 189, 192, 141 Pac. 146.

The appeal from a justice's court to the district court is taken by serving a copy of the notice of appeal on the adverse party or his attorney and by filing the original notice with the justice or judge. The order in which these acts are done is not important. State v. District Court, 48 Mont. 477, 479, 138 Pac. 1100.

As to undertaking. See note post, § 7124.

Necessity of filing notice of appeal. See note post, § 7124.

Necessity of compliance with the statute. See note post, § 7127.

Appeals are statutory, and the appellant must proceed as the statute requires, particularly with respect to appeals from such bodies as a board of county commissioners. Thien v. Wiltse, 49 Mont. 189, 192, 141 Pac. 146.

An adverse party is one who has an interest in opposing the object sought to be accomplished by the appeal; but it does not follow that one who is neither a necessary nor a proper party to the action must be considered adverse merely because he appears as such upon the record. Anderson v. Red Metal Min. Co., 36 Mont. 312, 323, 93 Pac. 44.

The appeal lies from a judgment, and only from a judgment. Thien v. Wiltse, 49 Mont. 189, 192, 141 Pac. 146.

An appeal lies to the district court, from a judgment of the justice's court, setting aside an order of dismissal; for this reason, such order cannot be reviewed on certiorari. State v. Smith, 42 Mont. 492, 495, 113 Pac. 294.

Where, in an action in a justice's court, brought by the assignee of an account, the debtor interpleads the assignor and another, and the debtor admits the assignment and disclaims any interest in the subject matter of controversy, he is not an adverse party upon whom service of notice of appeal must be made. Anderson v. Red Metal Min. Co., 36 Mont. 312, 323, 93 Pac. 44.

The notice of appeal has a purpose to fulfill. It performs the office of a summons; and, if it fails to inform the adverse party of what he is to meet, as, where the date of the judgment is not given, so that the judgment cannot be identified, the notice of appeal is insufficient to give the district court jurisdiction. State v. District Court, 41 Mont. 100, 103, 21 Ann. Cas. 1307, 108 Pac. 580.

The notice of appeal must describe the particular judgment or order appealed from by reference to the court that rendered it, to the parties litigant, and to the date and amount or character of the judgment, in terms sufficiently specific to identify it, without resort to extrinsic evidence. State v. District Court, 41 Mont. 100, 103, 21 Ann. Cas. 1307, 108 Pac. 580.

Trial de novo. See post, § 7127, and note.

The rule of practice under this section applies in criminal cases. In re Graye, 36 Mont. 397, 93 Pac. 266.

On appeal from a justice's court, the district court does not sit as a court of review, but tries the cause de novo; therefore, by taking the appeal, irregularities attending the rendition of judgment are waived. State v. O'Brien, 35 Mont. 482, 491, 10 Ann. Cas. 1006, 90 Pac. 514.

Upon the removal of a cause to the district court, it stands for trial de novo; and, in view of section 7124, post, it is questionable whether the appeal, after it has been perfected, can be withdrawn or dismissed by the appellant. Valadon v. Lohman, 46 Mont. 144, 148, 127 Pac. 88.

Whatever may be the scope of investigation by the district court, on appeal from a justice's court, the appeal lies only from a judgment; it cannot be taken from a mere order made by the justice, such as an order sustaining a motion of the defendant to set aside a default judgment against him, to open the default, and to permit an answer to be interposed. Burch v. Roberson, 47 Mont. 456, 457, 132 Pac. 1132.

Necessity of transmitting papers. See note post, § 7124.

Prompt action is required of the appellant, in so far as he is responsible for the filing of the papers. He is subject to the penalty of having his appeal dismissed, if, without excuse, he is guilty of laches. He cannot hold the appeal in abeyance and prevent the adverse party from bringing the case to a hearing in the district court. Bush v. Baker, 46 Mont. 535, 547, 129 Pac. 550.

If the appellant is not in fault, he may invoke the power of the court to compel the transmission of the papers; and, in flagrant cases, the district court may impose a fine for dereliction on the part of the justice. Bush v. Baker, 46 Mont. 535, 547, 129 Pac. 550.

Adversary parties in actions against counties. See note ante, § 2947.

Anyone may waive the advantage of a law intended solely for his benefit. See ante, § 6181.

Bond is required on appeal from allowance or disallowance of claim against county. See ante, § 2947.

Bond is required on appeal from action of state board of medical examiners in refusing a license to practice medicine. See ante, § 1588.

Right of appellant to withdraw or dismiss appeal. See note ante, § 7122.

The required steps are essential to jurisdiction. See note post, § 7127.

Appeal from allowance or disallowance of claim against county. See ante, § 2947.

Appeal from action of state board of medical examiners in refusing a license to practice medicine. See ante, § 1588.

The practice that prevails in taking an appeal from a justice's court to the district court applies to the action of a board of county commissioners respecting an application to sell liquor in any place not within the corporate limits of a city or town. In such cases, an appeal may be taken to the district court. The position of the board is the same as that of the justice, because the statute, Laws of 1913, chapter 35, section 3, accords to communities, outside of incorporated cities and towns, the right to appear before the board and oppose the issuance of the license, thus making the applicant and protestants adversary parties. State v. District Court, 48 Mont. 477, 481, 138 Pac. 1100.

Where the protestants against the issuance of a retail liquor license, under the laws of 1913, take an appeal, but omit to file either a notice of appeal or an undertaking with the board of commissioners, and there is no waiver by the adverse party, the applicant for the license, the district court does not acquire jurisdiction of the appeal. State v. District Court, 48 Mont. 477, 481, 138 Pac. 1100.

On appeal from the determination of a board of county commissioners, in granting a retail liquor license, no undertaking is necessary. Thien v. Wiltse, 49 Mont. 189, 193, 141 Pac. 146.

The provisions of section 1588, ante, prescribing the methods of taking appeals from the determinations of the board of medical examiners, in certain instances, do not apply to an appeal from the action of a board of county commissioners, relative to an application for a retail liquor license, outside of incorporated cities or towns. State v. District Court, 48 Mont. 477, 481, 138 Pac. 1100.

Appeals are statutory, and the appellant must proceed as the statute requires, but he is not obliged to do more than the statute prescribes. He need not give an undertaking unless the statute requires it. Thien v. Wiltse, 49 Mont. 189, 194, 141 Pac. 146.

An appeal from a justice's court presents three defined stages: First, the taking of the appeal, which occurs when notice of the proper character is properly filed and served; second, the perfecting of the appeal or rendering it effectual, which occurs upon the filing of the undertaking; third, the hearing, which occurs when the trial de novo is had in the district court. Thien v. Wiltse, 49 Mont. 189, 194, 141 Pac. 146.

To make an appeal from a justice's court effective, a notice of appeal, as provided in section 7121, ante, as amended in 1911, as well as an undertaking, provided for in this section, must be filed with the justice; and, within ten days after receiving the notice and the undertaking, the justice must, as required by section 7123, ante, transmit all the papers in the case to the clerk of the district court. State v. District Court, 48 Mont. 477, 480, 138 Pac. 1100.

The appeal is taken by filing and serving the notice of appeal, but it is ineffectual for any purpose unless the required undertaking is filed. State v. District Court, 41 Mont. 100, 102, 21 Ann. Cas. 1307, 108 Pac. 580.

There is a clear distinction between the taking and the perfecting of an appeal. An appeal is taken when a notice of appeal is served and filed. The filing of an undertaking perfects the appeal, but it is not a part of the taking, in the statutory sense. Thien v. Wiltse, 49 Mont. 189, 193, 141 Pac. 146.

Where the statute says that an appeal shall be "taken and heard" as appeals from justices' courts, omitting the word "perfected," it is not necessary to give an undertaking. Thien v. Wiltse, 49 Mont. 189, 194, 141 Pac. 146.

If all the requirements of this section, relative to amounts and conditions, are complied with in an undertaking on appeal to the district court, the inclusion of additional conditions, in no way affecting the liability, under the statute, of the sureties, does not render such undertaking invalid. Marlowe v. Michigan Stove Co., 48 Mont. 342, 344, 137 Pac. 539.

The right to require the sureties on the undertaking on appeal to justify is personal to the exceptant, and may therefore be waived by him. Bush v. Baker, 46 Mont. 535, 545, 129 Pac. 550.

Any irregularity in the examination of sureties and the approval of the undertaking is waived where no objection is made. Bush v. Baker, 46 Mont. 535, 545, 129 Pac. 550.

If any of the necessary steps, in taking an appeal from a justice's court to the district court are omitted, the district court is without jurisdiction to entertain the appeal. Such appeals, though provided for by the Constitution, are subject to statutory regulation and the mode prescribed for taking them is exclusive. Jenkins v. Carroll, 42 Mont. 302, 311, 112 Pac. 1064.

Until the notice of appeal is filed and served as prescribed, and the undertaking given, and, if required, the sureties thereon, or others in their stead, justify after notice and within five days, the district court does not acquire jurisdiction of the subject matter or of the parties. Jenkins v. Carroll, 42 Mont. 302, 312, 112 Pac. 1064.

On appeal from a justice's court, the trial is de novo, but the district court, though proceeding with the trial as in other cases, acquires its jurisdiction by appeal, under the statute, and its jurisdiction must affirmatively appear. Jenkins v. Carroll, 42 Mont. 302, 312, 112 Pac. 1064.

The discretionary power of the district court to dismiss an appeal from a justice's court for delay in bringing it to a hearing should not be exercised where there is a reasonable excuse for the delay, and where it is apparent that the adverse party has not suffered prejudice by reason of the delay. Bush v. Baker, 46 Mont. 535, 547, 129 Pac. 550.

Instance of abuse of discretion in dismissing, on motion, an appeal from a justice's court for alleged lack of diligence in prosecuting it, where counsel for the appellant was prevented from attending to matters of business by reason of illness. Bush v. Baker, 46 Mont. 535, 548, 129 Pac. 550.

The construction given to section 7116, ante, applies to this section. If the undertaking under this section is not wholly void, it is proof against dismissal for insufficiency; and it is not wholly void where, in one clause, it effectively secures the payment of costs. Marlowe v. Michigan Stove Co., 48 Mont. 342, 346, 137 Pac. 539.

On appeal from the determination of a board of county commissioners, in granting a retail liquor license, no undertaking is necessary. Thien v. Wiltse, 49 Mont. 189, 193, 141 Pac. 146.

The filing of the undertaking is no part of the taking of the appeal. The appeal may be preserved, notwithstanding the undertaking is defective or irregular, if a good one is substituted at or before the hearing of the motion to dismiss. Thien v. Wiltse, 49 Mont. 189, 193, 141 Pac. 146.

COSTS.

Under this section and section 7155, post, one who successfully prosecutes a writ, prohibiting a justice of the peace from proceeding further in an action in which the justice has unlawfully issued a search warrant, is entitled to his costs. In such cases the prevailing party is entitled to his costs as a matter of course. State v. Justice's Court, 45 Mont. 375, 382, 48 L. R. A. (N. S.) 156, 123 Pac. 405.

If an administrator, who has prosecuted a number of appeals to the supreme court, is not shown to have acted in bad faith, the action of the lower court in allowing him credit in his account for costs incurred in taking the appeals should be sustained. Estate of Davis, 35 Mont. 273, 282, 88 Pac. 957.

A memorandum of items of cost, served on the opposite party and filed with the clerk, is prima facie evidence that the items were necessarily expended and properly taxable, and the burden of showing the contrary is on the party taking that ground. Brande v. Babcock Hardware Co., 35 Mont. 264, 88 Pac. 949.

A verified memorandum of costs and disbursements, prepared by the successful party, is prima facie evidence that the amounts named therein were necessarily expended, and the burden of overcoming the prima facie showing thus made is upon the losing party. Isman v. Altenbrand, 42 Mont. 188, 199, 111 Pac. 849.

The cost of taking a party's deposition for himself is not properly taxable as costs against the other party. Isman v. Altenbrand, 42 Mont. 188, 199, 111 Pac. 849.

The reasonable expenses for making a map, if required or necessary to be used, are properly taxable. The original memorandum, if verified, is prima facie evidence that the amounts named therein were necessarily expended; and the burden of overcoming such showing is on the party objecting to the taxation. *Kelly v. § 7170.

The "decision" is the findings of fact and conclusions of law, signed by the court and filed with the clerk. McDonnell v. Huffine, 44 Mont. 411, 428, 120 Pac. 792.

The five days must be computed from the date upon which the court's written findings and conclusions of law are filed, and not from the day on which the court orally announced its decision. McDonnell v. Huffine, 44 Mont. 411, 428, 120 Pac. 792.

A litigant who does not claim his costs as provided in this section is not entitled to them. A court cannot award costs without a showing that this section has been complied with. Butte N. C. Co. v. Radmilovich, 39 Mont. 157, 164, 101 Pac. 1078.

An affidavit to a memorandum of costs, made by one of the defendant's attorneys, stating that the memorandum is true and correct, and that the items are reasonable and were necessarily incurred in defense of the cause, to the best of affiant's knowledge and belief, substantially complies with this section. Hoskins v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 39 Mont. 394, 404, 102 Pac. 988.

Entry of judgment after remittitur. See note ante, § 7120.

This section may very well be construed as applying to judgments rendered or ordered by an appellate court. At any rate, it should be so applied as to make it the duty of the clerk below, in the absence of specific directions as to interest, to include, in the judgment, interest from the date of the order of the supreme court to the time of entry of the judgment. State v. Reece, 43 Mont. 291, 293, 115 Pac. 681.

In carrying out the provisions of this section, the clerk acts merely in a ministerial capacity. Butte N. C. Co. v. Radmilovich, 39 Mont. 157, 164, 101 Pac. 1078.

Though a judgment is defined in section 6710, ante, as the final determination of the rights of the parties, the action or proceeding must be regarded as still pending within the meaning of this section (7188), until the happening of one or more of the events enumerated therein. Peterson v. City of Butte, 44 Mont. 129, 133, 120 Pac. 231.

Preparation and filing of bill of exceptions. See ante, § 6788.

The constitutionality of a statute that attempts to give a court power to extend time will not be considered by the supreme court on appeal unless the necessity of passing upon that question is urgent and imperative. Sanden v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 39 Mont. 209, 211, 102 Pac. 145.

The time for presenting a bill of exceptions for settlement cannot be extended for a period of time exceeding ninety days, without the consent of the adverse party. Canning v. Fried, 48 Mont. 560, 562, 139 Pac. 448.

Where, without the consent of opposing counsel, defendant obtained extensions of time for the preparation of a bill of exceptions in support of a motion for new trial, amounting to ninety-four days, the court was without jurisdiction to determine the motion on its merits. Evans v. Oregon Short Line R. Co. (Mont.), 149 Pac. 715.

Where a mandamus proceedings by the state is instituted against a mayor to compel him to reinstate a lieutenant of police, who has been removed, and the mayor appeals from a judgment awarding an alternative writ, he is not required to furnish an undertaking. *State v. This section applies to quasi-judicial bodies as well as to courts and judicial officers strictly so called. State v. Board of County Commissioners, 47 Mont. 531, 535, 134 Pac. 291.

A writ of review is the proper remedy for an order made in excess of the jurisdiction of the court; as, where it strikes from the files a default judgment to which the plaintiff is entitled. State (ex rel. Smotherman) v. District Court, 50 Mont. 119, 145 Pac. 724.

In proceedings for the organization of a new county, the board of county commissioners is required to act as a quasi-judicial tribunal; hence, certiorari lies to review its action with reference to the creation of new counties. *State v. The character of the duty measures the extent of the relief which can be afforded by mandamus. State v. Hindson, 44 Mont. 429, 438, 120 Pac. 485.

The writ of mandamus lies only to compel the performance of a clear legal duty. It will not issue to compel the doing of an idle or useless thing. State (ex rel. Culbertson Ferry Co.) v. District Court, 49 Mont. 595, 596, 144 Pac. 159.

When it becomes the sheriff's duty to deliver possession of the property to the plaintiff, the performance of that duty may be compelled by mandamus. State v. Collins, 41 Mont. 526, 530, 110 Pac. 526.

When the petition for the removal of a county seat is signed by a majority of the ad valorem taxpayers of the county, all of the signers being qualified voters, it is the ministerial duty of the board of commissioners, under section 2852, ante, to act upon the petition and submit the question of removal to a vote; and, if it declines to act, mandamus lies to compel it to act. *State v. ELECTION CONTEST.

Illegal votes as ground of contest. See note post, § 7239.

The malconduct on the part of election officers, as specified in the first subdivision of this section, is a wholly distinct ground of contest from that of the reception of illegal votes referred to in the fourth subdivision of this section. Stephens v. Nacey, 49 Mont. 230, 245, 141 Pac. 649.

The proceeding for contesting an election is classed as a special proceeding. It partakes of the nature of a civil action, but it is not in fact such an action. It is altogether statutory, and is embodied in sections 7234-7249. Curry v. McCaffery, 47 Mont. 191, 194, 131 Pac. 673.

That the contestee's name was not rightfully on the official ballot, is not a ground of contest. Stephens v. Nacey, 47 Mont. 479, 485, 133 Pac. 479.

The malconduct of election officers is a wholly distinct ground of contest from that of the reception of illegal votes. Stephens v. Nacey, 49 Mont. 230, 245, 141 Pac. 649.

When a statement of contest has been filed within the time limited, the court has jurisdiction of the subject matter of that particular contest, and the jurisdiction thus obtained is not ousted by the neglect of the judge to thereupon order a special session or term of the district court, as provided in section 7241, post; or, by error committed in failing to convene court "at the time and place designated," as required by section 7244, post. These two last-mentioned sections are not mandatory, but simply directory. Stephens v. Nacey, 47 Mont. 479, 483, 133 Pac. 361.

Distinction between grounds of contest. See note ante, § 7234.

When the reception of illegal votes is stated as the ground of contest, it is incumbent upon the contestant to furnish to the contestee, at least three days before the trial, a written list of the number of votes he deems illegal; otherwise, proof of the specific votes cannot be made. Stephens v. Nacey, 49 Mont. 230, 245, 141 Pac. 649.

When the reception of illegal votes is stated as the ground of contest of an election, though the malconduct charged is the receiving of votes cast in the aggregate, and not in the receiving of any specific number of illegal votes, it is incumbent upon the contestant to furnish to the contestee, at least three days before the trial, a written list of the number of votes he deems illegal. If he fails to do so, he cannot claim that any number of the votes cast were illegal. Stephens v. Nacey, 49 Mont. 230, 245, 141 Pac. 649.

Section is directory only. See note ante, § 7238.

The special session or term is not limited to twenty days, or to any period of time, by either the Constitution or the statute. Curry v. McCaffery, 47 Mont. 191, 199, 201, 131 Pac. 673.

§ 7242.

This section is directory merely. Curry v. McCaffery, 47 Mont. 191, 200, 131 Pac. 673; citing O'Dowd v. Superior Court, 158 Cal. 537, 111 Pac. 751, construing an identical section from the code of California.

Section is directory only. See note ante, § 7238.

To hold the provisions of this section and of section 7241, ante, mandatory, would, in view of section 6315, ante, giving to each party to a proceeding the right to disqualify judges by filing disqualifying affidavits, defeat the very purpose of the statute concerning election contests. If the terms of this section (7244) were to be carried out strictly according to the language employed and not otherwise, the contestee, by disqualifying the presiding judge on the eve of the day set for the hearing could, in practically every instance, prevent a trial "at the time and place designated" in the order calling the special term and thereby oust the court of jurisdiction. Stephens v. Nacey, 47 Mont. 479, 483, 133 Pac. 361.

This section does not contain any restriction upon the power of the court, of its own motion, to adjourn the hearing of an election contest before the trial actually commences; hence, if such an adjournment is taken, for a period of time exceeding twenty days from the day originally set for the hearing, the court errs in dismissing the contest on the ground that such adjournment deprived it of jurisdiction. Curry v. McCaffery, 47 Mont. 191, 196, 131 Pac. 673.

A court of record has authority, of its own motion, and in the absence of a statute, to adjourn the hearing of a matter pending before it; but this power may be restricted by statute, as in section 8005, post. Curry v. McCaffery, 47 Mont. 191, 201, 131 Pac. 673.

As this section makes no provision for a record by which the appeal can be presented to the supreme court, it is proper, under section 6329, ante, for the contestant, in an election contest, to file a record that is an appropriate one in an ordinary civil action. Curry v. McCaffery, 47 Mont. 191, 194, 131 Pac. 673.

SUBMISSION OF CONTROVERSY.§ 7254.

Dismissal of appeal, for collusion. See note ante, § 7116.

Applied, in determining the question whether a city has the right and power to compel a light and railway company to light its railway tracks within the corporate limits of the city, without cost or expense to the city. Helena etc. Ry. Co. v. City of Helena, 47 Mont. 18, 27, 130 Pac. 446.

Applied to a controversy over the right to office of chief of police and night policeman. Grush v. Bishop, 46 Mont. 97, 98, 126 Pac. 619.

The submission of agreed cases is to be encouraged where they involve real controversies. Carlson v. City of Helena, 38 Mont. 581, 586, 101 Pac. 163.

The bringing of actions upon feigned issues, for the purpose merely of enabling the parties to ascertain what the law is, is not to be encouraged. Carlson v. City of Helena, 38 Mont. 581, 589, 101 Pac. 163.

A cause, having for its purpose the obtaining of a decree to quiet the title to land, may be submitted, without pleadings, under an agreed statement of facts. Lockey v. City of Bozeman, 42 Mont. 387, 390, 113 Pac. 286.

Agreed statement of facts presented for the purpose of determining the constitutionality of chapter 64, of the laws of 1909, providing for state accident insurance and workmen's compensation for personal injuries sustained by coal mine employees in the course of their employment. Cunningham v. Northwestern Imp. Co., 44 Mont. 180, 201, 119 Pac. 554.

UNLAWFUL DETAINER.

Complaint. See note post, § 7276.

The provision in the fourth subdivision of this section, against an assignment of the lease without the lessor's consent, is for the benefit of the lessor; but if, in case of such assignment, he fails to avail himself of the privilege of declaring the lease ended, he, by his inaction, waives the breach of the condition. Winslow v. Dundom, 46 Mont. 71, 82, 125 Pac. 136.

In an action for unlawful detainer, brought under the first subdivision of this section, the complaint should allege, specifically, that the holding over is without the permission of the plaintiff, or state facts sufficient to furnish a clear inference to that effect. Centennial Brewing Co. v. Rouleau, 49 Mont. 490, 499, 143 Pac. 969.

In an action for unlawful detainer, brought under the first subdivision of this section, it is not necessary for the complaint to allege that the plaintiff was entitled to possession at the time of commencing his action, or that he gave notice, or demanded possession, before that time. Centennial Brewing Co. v. Rouleau, 49 Mont. 490, 499, 143 Pac. 969.

MECHANICS' LIENS.

Interests affected. See note post, § 7293.

Lien extends to whole claim. See note post, § 7293.

This section is the "fountain-head" of all mechanics' liens, and, under it, mining claims and railroads are, as possible subjects for such liens, in pari materia. Dean v. Stewart, 49 Mont. 506, 515, 143 Pac. 966.

The lien is given primarily upon the building, structure or other improvement, and extends to the land incidentally. Stritzel-Spaberg Lumber Co. v. Edwards, 50 Mont. 49, 144 Pac. 772.

The lien on a building cannot be denied because of the fact that some injury may result to the realty from the removal of the building. The statute contemplates removal, whether injury does or does not result. Stritzel-Spaberg Lumber Co. v. Edwards, 50 Mont. 49, 144 Pac. 772.

The mechanic's lien statute, sections 7290-7301, is materially different from that concerning loggers' liens, and cases upon the former are inapplicable to the latter. Lane v. Lane Potter Lumber Co., 40 Mont. 541, 550, 107 Pac. 898.

One who does work or labor upon, or furnishes material for, a mining claim is entitled to a mechanic's lien therefor, on the claim. McIntyre v. MacGinniss, 41 Mont. 87, 95, 137 Am. St. Rep. 701, 108 Pac. 353.

Sufficiency of notice. See note post, § 7293.

Where machinery was shipped from New York on June 6th, and reached its destination in this state on June 18th, and a claim therefor was filed on September 14th, it was held that, although the materials had been "furnished," the claim for a lien was not filed in time to comply with the law. McEwen v. Union Bank etc. Co., 35 Mont. 470, 90 Pac. 359.

A person who desires to file a mechanic's lien need not classify the character of work done, or set out the items of it in the account filed with the notice; all that is required is an honest statement from which it may be understood what amount is claimed. McIntyre v. MacGinniss, 41 Mont. 87, 98, 137 Am. St. Rep. 701, 108 Pac. 353.

Though a claimant's notice of lien fails to state under oath, as required by this section, that it contains "a just and true account of the amount due him after allowing all credits," it is sufficient where it sets forth the contract between the parties, the amount of work done, and the materials furnished, in considerable detail; where it gives the total amount of credits or moneys paid thereon, and states the balance claimed to be due; where it states "that items are correct"; where it is signed by the claimant and where it bears a jurat, reciting that it was subscribed and sworn to before a designated notary public. Mills v. Olsen, 43 Mont. 129, 133, 115 Pac. 33.

A verified account to a lien statement, in the matter of excavating and constructing a cistern, is held to constitute a substantial compliance with the requirements of this section for the filing, with the county clerk, of an account of the amount due after allowing all credits, etc. Neuman v. Grant, 36 Mont. 81, 92 Pac. 43.

A mechanic's lien is sufficient, though it is in the form of an affidavit, with an itemized statement attached, instead of consisting of a statement of the account and a description of the property, followed by an affidavit. Wertz v. Lamb, 43 Mont. 477, 482, 117 Pac. 89.

A notice of lien, stating that there is a certain sum due the lienor, "after allowing just credits and offsets," instead of using the words, "after allowing all" credits, is sufficient. Wertz v. Lamb, 43 Mont. 477, 481, 117 Pac. 89.

In an action to foreclose a mechanic's lien, the plaintiff must allege and prove that he has complied with the requirements of this section; but, if the lien is sufficient, a reference to it in the complaint to which it is attached, is likewise sufficient for the purpose of showing compliance with the statutory provisions. Wertz v. Lamb, 43 Mont. 477, 481, 117 Pac. 89.

A notice of a lien for clearing land must contain such a description of the land sought to be charged that it can be identified; if it is impossible to identify the land from such notice, the lien is invalid. Ivanhoff v. Teale, 47 Mont. 115, 118, 130 Pac. 972.

The notice of lien for material and labor furnished in the construction of a railway roadbed is sufficient, notwithstanding errors of description therein, if the property can be identified by the description given. Dean v. Stewart, 49 Mont. 506, 514, 143 Pac. 966.

The limitation of one acre in this section does not apply to mining claims; the lien upon such property extends to the whole claim. Dean v. Stewart, 49 Mont. 506, 515, 143 Pac. 966.

A lien for materials and labor furnished in the construction of a railway roadbed is not defeated by the fact that the description in the notice of lien covered more than the limit of one acre fixed by this section. The lien is given primarily upon the structure, and a misdescription does not defeat the lien if the structure can be identified. Dean v. Stewart, 49 Mont. 506, 515, 143 Pac. 966.

LIEN FOR WAGES.

§ 7302a. Attorney Fee as Costs.

In an action to establish a claim for salary or wages under the provisions of Part III, Title IV, Chapter 3, of this code, the court must allow as costs a reasonable attorney's fee to each claimant who establishes his claim as provided in section 7302 of the Revised Codes of Montana, 1907, or to the defendant if such claim be not established. Where a person, without a license to practice law, employs all the customary methods to advertise himself as an attorney and counselor at law, he is guilty of contempt, under the sixth subdivision of this section. In re Bailey, 50 Mont. 365, 146 Pac. 1101.

An attorney who enters the judge's chambers without leave and takes a discarded memorandum of proceedings from the waste-basket, indorses it and files it with the clerk, is guilty of contempt. State ex rel. Coleman v. District Court (Mont.), 149 Pac. 973.

Neither a contempt proceeding nor a writ of possession is a proper remedy to restore the plaintiff in an ejectment suit, to the possession of premises adjudged to belong to him and from which he alleges he was ousted by the successor in interest of the defendant in a preceding action, under the assertion of a right not adjudicated theretofore. *Baker v. § 7311.

An attempt corruptly to influence a member of a jury panel amounts to an unlawful interference with the proceedings of the court, and is punishable as a contempt, irrespective of whether the juror has been actually sworn to try a cause. State v. District Court, 37 Mont. 191, 15 Ann. Cas. 743, 95 Pac. 593.

In the absence of some requirement of the statute prescribing the form in which a charge for contempt must be presented, a substantial and general statement will give the court jurisdiction to proceed. The affidavit need not be drawn in strict conformity with the rules of criminal pleading, as in case of informations or indictments; but it is generally necessary, however, to allege, in some way, the intent with which the unlawful act has been committed; yet, where it appears as a conclusive inference from facts stated in the affidavits that the contemner intended corruptly to influence jurors, it is not necessary to specially allege the intent with which the act was done. State v. District Court, 37 Mont. 191, 196, 15 Ann. Cas. 743, 95 Pac. 593.

A constructive contempt can be punished only after a hearing upon an affidavit showing the facts constituting the contempt, and the answer thereto by the party accused, as provided in section 7317, post. Ex parte Mettler, 50 Mont. 299, 146 Pac. 747.

If an attorney is adjudged guilty of a contempt committed in the presence of the court, the order of commitment must recite the facts alleged to have constituted the contempt, so that the judgment of conviction may be examined and reviewed; unless it does so, no review is possible, and the order cannot stand. Ex parte Mettler, 50 Mont. 299, 146 Pac. 747.

Hearing and punishment. See note ante, § 7311.

§ 7318.

Contempt proceedings are sui generis and complete in themselves, and cannot be changed by construction into actions for the wrongful conversion of personal property or for the wrongful occupation of real property. Consequently, statutes fixing the measure of damages in such actions have no application. Dunlavey v. Doggett, 38 Mont. 204, 209, 99 Pac. 436.

Contempt proceedings do not furnish a remedy available to the plaintiff for the redress or prevention of a private wrong. The object to be attained is vindication of the dignity of the authority of the court, and not indemnity for the plaintiff or any judgment in his favor. Dunlavey v. Doggett, 38 Mont. 204, 210, 99 Pac. 436.

When it has been decreed that a person is entitled to certain water rights, and he institutes contempt proceedings for the violation of a restraining order included in such decree, and incurs attorney's fees, witness fees, court costs, and other expenses necessarily incident to a lawsuit, and afterward brings an action against the contemner for damages proximately caused by his disobedience of the order, such items, in the absence of a statute on the subject, are not recoverable as damages. Dunlavey v. Doggett, 38 Mont. 204, 210, 99 Pac. 436.

No additional penalty can be imposed. Dunlavey v. Doggett, 38 Mont. 204, 208, 99 Pac. 436.

An attorney found guilty of contempt was properly subject to punishment by fine and imprisonment in the county jail until the fine was paid. State ex rel. Coleman v. District Court (Mont.), 149 Pac. 973.

§ 7319.

Inability to render obedience to an order of court is a good defense to a charge of contempt for its violation, unless it appears that the person charged has voluntarily and contumaciously brought the disability upon himself. State v. District Court, 37 Mont. 488, 97 Pac. 841.

"Necessary" does not mean an absolute or indispensable necessity, but one reasonable, requisite, and proper for the accomplishment of the end in view, under the peculiar circumstances of the case. Northern Pac. Ry. Co. v. McAdow, 44 Mont. 547, 554, 121 Pac. 473.

A beneficial use of the water flowing in the streams of the state is a public use; but it may be appropriated to a more necessary public use, and it is not necessary that the new public use should, in all cases, be a different public use. It does not follow, however, that a city can acquire the exclusive right to the use of the water in a particular stream; it must first be shown that the use for which it is sought is a more necessary use, and the city must then be able financially to make compensation to the person or persons entitled to the present use. Carlson v. City of Helena, 39 Mont. 82, 105, 17 Ann. Cas. 1233, 102 Pac. 39.

An appeal from the award in condemnation proceedings presents to the district court only the question of the amount of damages, and the judgment should determine that question and nothing more. Great Northern Ry. Co. v. Benjamin (Mont.), 149 Pac. 963.

What estates may be acquired by condemnation. See ante, § 7332.

Lands granted to the state for common school purposes cannot be taken under condemnation proceedings. Congress commanded that sections 16 and 36 in each township should be sold at public sale, and the framers of the state Constitution expressly agreed, for the state, not to dispose of them, except in the manner prescribed, without the consent of the United States. State v. District Court, 42 Mont. 105, 116, 112 Pac. 706.

Lands belonging to the state, except as otherwise indicated in the second subdivision of this section, may be taken by the exercise of the power of eminent domain, and the state may properly be made a party to the action; in other words, the state has expressly consented to be sued under such circumstances. *State v. § 7341.

If commissioners appointed to assess damages in eminent domain proceedings do not perform their whole duty, the injured party may appeal, or move to set aside their report. Failing to invoke either of these remedies, he may not thereafter complain that his property was taken without due process of law. Spratt v. Helena Power etc. Co., 37 Mont. 60, 94, 94 Pac. 631.

In condemnation proceedings, where an appeal has been taken to the district court from the award made by the commissioners, and the jury in the district court renders a verdict for damages greater than the amount awarded by the commissioners appointed, and judgment is entered in favor of the party entitled thereto for the difference, it is proper for the court to add interest from the date of the order admitting the plaintiff company into possession of the property, there having been no disputed question of fact relating to interest for the jury to pass upon. Interest is allowed by the statute, and, under such circumstances, is a matter for the court to deal with. Helena Power Trans. Co. v. Spratt, 40 Mont. 254, 256, 106 Pac. 5.

After the report of the commissioners has been filed and the damages paid into court for the owner of the property, the court may properly permit the plaintiff to continue in possession of the property, which possession had theretofore been obtained under an order in a like proceeding, the judgment in which had been reversed on appeal. Spratt v. Helena Power etc. Co., 37 Mont. 60, 95, 94 Pac. 631.

A recital in condemnation proceedings that plaintiff have judgment and execution against defendant for any sum theretofore paid by plaintiff to defendant in accordance with the award, which award was appealed from, is improper, as the statute gives an ample remedy if plaintiff is entitled to recover any amount from defendant. Great Northern Ry. Co. v. Benjamin (Mont.), 149 Pac. 968.

ESCHEAT.

§ 7359. Claim to Escheated Estate—Filing and Determination.

Within twenty years after judgment for any proceedings had under this title, a person, not a party or privy to such proceedings, may file a petition in the district court of the county in which the seat of government is located, showing his claim or right to the property or the proceeds thereof. A copy of such petition must be served on the Attorney General at least twenty days before the hearing of the petition, who must answer the same; and the court must thereupon try the issue as issues are tried in civil actions, and if it be determined that such person is entitled to the property or the proceeds thereof, it must order the property, if it has not been sold, to be delivered to him, or, if it has been sold and the proceeds paid into the state treasury, then it must order the auditor to draw his warrant on the treasury for the payment of the same, but without interest or cost to the state, a copy of which order, under the seal of the court, shall be a sufficient voucher for drawing such warrant. All persons who fail to appear and file their petitions within the time limited are forever barred; saving, however, to infants and persons of unsound mind or persons beyond the limits of the United States, the right to appear and file their petitions at any time within the time limited, or five years after their respective disabilities cease; provided, however, that any person claiming the proceeds of the sale of escheated property or property alleged to have escheated, which have been paid into the treasury of the state of Montana, at any time before the first day of July, 1895, shall have one year after the passage of this act in which to file his petition for the recovery of such proceeds, as hereinabove provided. [Amendment approved March 21, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 483.]

CHANGE OF NAME.

§ 7362. Notice of Hearing—Publishing and Posting.

When a petition setting out the matters contained in section 7361 is filed, the court or judge may appoint a time for hearing the said petition. Notice of the time and place of hearing the said petition must be published for four successive weeks in some newspaper published in the county, if a newspaper be printed therein, but if no newspaper be printed in the county, a copy of such notice must be posted in at least three public places in the county for a like period. [Amendment approved February 3, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 11.]

§ 7363. Hearing of Application.

On the day set for the hearing of said petition or at any time to which the hearing is continued or postponed, due proof of the publication, or posting, of the required notice as set out in section 7362 being made, such application must be heard. At any time before such hearing, objections may be filed by any person who can in such objections, show to the court or judge good reasons against such change of name. On the hearing the court or judge may examine on oath any of the petitioners, remonstrants, or other persons touching the application, and may make an order changing the name or dismissing the applications, as to the court or judge may seem right and proper. [Amendment approved February 3, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 11.]

ARBITRATION.

If parties to a contract of fire insurance agree after the property has been destroyed, to submit the amount of loss to arbitration, the award fixes the amount of loss sustained and is binding upon both parties; hence, the insured cannot maintain an action upon the policy and have a readjustment of the loss, without first having the award set aside. *Solem v. court and cause and addressed to the judge of the court, and is accompanied by an affidavit as to the identity of the party making the request, executed before an officer authorized to administer oaths outside of the United States, such request virtually constitutes a pleading, and, as the request and affidavit are a part of the record in the case, and thus before the court, it is unnecessary to formally offer them in evidence. Order of persons entitled to administer. See ante, § 7432.

The primary purpose of sections 7432, 7444 and 7447-7450 is to confer a prior right of administration upon those most interested in an intestate's estate; to signify the legislative will concerning the order of priority; to provide a method by which it may be once asserted in every case; and to authorize its assertion by nomination in certain instances; but the right is for the benefit of the persons named and may, under section 6181, ante, be waived, and the effect of its waiver is the same as the effect of a waiver in other cases. In re Blackburn's Estate, 48 Mont. 179, 187, 137 Pac. 381.

It is the policy of the law that the widow shall control in limine the administration of her late husband's estate. She may administer it herself or nominate some person in whom she places trust and confidence to administer it for her, or she may waive her right. In re Blackburn's Estate, 48 Mont. 179, 188, 137 Pac. 381.

If a widow's renunciation of her prior right to administer is fairly procured and freely given, she has exercised her prior right, and no longer has any to assert; but it is otherwise if such renunciation was not so procured and given. In re Blackburn's Estate, 48 Mont. 179, 194, 137 Pac. 381.

If a widow renounces her right to administer her late husband's estate in favor of her stepson, believing him friendly to her and not hostile to her claims, but he subsequently exhibits an attitude so generally hostile to the widow as to warrant the inference that he had held it before his appointment, and had carefully screened it from her until his position should be assured, it cannot be said that her waiver was fairly procured and freely given. It is therefore error to deny her petition for the revocation of the stepson's letters. In re Blackburn's Estate, 48 Mont. 179, 194, 137 Pac. 381.

If the court or judge refuses to accord the preference given by this section, in making the appointment of a special administrator, it is, in the absence of a showing of incompetency, under section 7436, ante, a direct violation of the law. *State v. Where the court, after a partial hearing, holds that an executor must be held to account for profits derived through his dealings with the trust funds, but no final order is made, he may not apply to the supreme court for a writ of supervisory control. Such application is premature, and, in any event, he has an effective remedy by appeal. State v. District Court, 35 Mont. 366, 90 Pac. 161.

It is within the power of a court to require an executor or administrator, who has been remiss in his duties, to turn over to his successor all property of the estate which has come into his hands. State v. District Court, 35 Mont. 366, 90 Pac. 161.

If a court goes beyond its powers in holding an executor to account for profits, or in removing him from office, he has the right of appeal. State v. District Court, 35 Mont. 367, 90 Pac. 161.

An administrator should not be removed for an alleged failure to include certain articles of personal property, of small value, in his inventory of an estate of large value, where, subsequent to the petition for the revocation of his letters, he files a supplemental inventory, including such articles. Variance amounting to failure of proof. See ante, § 6587.

No action can be maintained upon a claim against a decedent's estate unless it has been first presented to the executor or administrator for allowance; neither can it be maintained unless the identical claim sued upon is the one that was presented. A party cannot present a claim founded upon an open account and then maintain an action upon a promissory note, or vice versa; and, if he attempts to do so, the result is such a variance as amounts to a failure of proof. Vanderpool v. Vanderpool, 48 Mont. 448, 453, 138 Pac. 772.

The complaint, based upon a claim against a decedent's estate, fails to state a cause of action, where it does not allege the due presentation of the claim sued upon. Vanderpool v. Vanderpool, 48 Mont. 448, 453, 138 Pac. 772.

By section 7576, post, the court or judge is vested with a discretion to accept an offer of ten per cent more in amount than that made in a return of real estate, but the fact that no such provision is found in this section as to personal property does not efface the question of implied discretion. State v. District Court, 42 Mont. 182, 185, 111 Pac. 717.

There is implied authority, in this section, for the district court or judge to exercise a judicial discretion in determining whether a particular sale of personal property, belonging to an estate, shall or shall not be confirmed. State v. District Court, 42 Mont. 182, 187, 111 Pac. 717.

The district court, sitting in probate, has a discretion to refuse to confirm a sale of personal property upon the sole ground that a bid of ten per cent in excess of the former bid, together with the costs of resale, has been received; and, where no abuse of such discretion is shown, an application for a writ of supervisory control to compel the confirmation of the sale will be dismissed. State v. District Court, 42 Mont. 182, 187, 111 Pac. 717.

Implied power of executor or trustee to sell real estate. 32 L. R. A. (N. S.) 676.

§ 7561. Authority to Sell Real Estate.

When a sale of the property is necessary to pay the allowance of the family, or the debts outstanding against the decedent, or the debts, expenses, or charges of administration, or legacies; or when it appears to the satisfaction of the court that it is for the advantage, benefit, and best interests of the estate, and those interested therein, including the minor heirs, if any, that the real estate, or some part thereof, be sold, the executor or administrator may sell any real as well as personal property of the estate, upon the order of the court or judge; and an application for the sale of real property may also embrace the sale of personal property. [Amendment approved February 2, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 6.]

When sale is necessary. See note post, § 7562.

§ 7562. Petition for Sale, What It may Contain and to What It may Refer.

To obtain such order for the sale of real property, he must present a verified petition to the court or judge, setting forth the amount of personal property that has come to his hands, and how much thereof, if any remains undisposed of; the debts outstanding against the decedent, as far as can be ascertained or estimated; the amount due upon the family allowance, or that will be due after the same has been in force one year; the debts, expenses and charges of administration already accrued, and an estimate of what will or may accrue during the administration; a general description of all the real property of which the decedent died seized, or in which he had any interest, or in which the estate has acquired any interest and the condition and value thereof; and the names of the legatees and devisees, if any, and of the heirs of the deceased, so far as known to the petitioner; and if said order for sale of real estate is petitioned for on the ground that it is for the advantage, benefit and best interests of the estate, and those interested therein, including the minor heirs, if any, that a sale be made, the petition, in addition to the foregoing facts, must set forth in what way an advantage or benefit would accrue to the estate, and those interested therein, by such sale. If any of the matters here enumerated cannot be ascertained, it must be so stated in the petition; but a failure to set forth the facts showing the sale to be necessary will not invalidate the subsequent proceedings, if the defect be supplied by the proofs at the hearing, and the general facts showing such necessity be stated in the order. [Amendment approved February 2, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 6.]

The petition is sufficient if it substantially complies with this section. Plains L. & I. Co. v. Lynch, 38 Mont. 271, 279, 129 Am. St. Rep. 645, 99 Pac. 847.

The requirement of this section, that the "condition" and "value" of the real estate be set forth in the petition to sell such real property to pay debts, is not jurisdictional. Plains L. & I. Co. v. Lynch, 38 Mont. 271, 284, 129 Am. St. Rep. 645, 99 Pac. 847.

Though there is no statement in the petition as to the "condition" of the real estate, such omission does not necessarily render the petition fatally defective; and "value" is sufficiently shown by the statement of a sum at which the property was appraised less than one year prior to the presentation of the petition. Plains L. & I. Co. v. Lynch, 38 Mont. 271, 284, 129 Am. St. Rep. 645, 99 Pac. 847.

If enough appears upon the face of the petition to show the necessity of a sale, such petition is sufficient when drawn in question by a collateral attack upon the order of sale. Plains L. & I. Co. v. Lynch, 38 Mont. 271, 279, 129 Am. St. Rep. 645, 99 Pac. 847.

If the petition upon which the order of sale was made is so defective that the court did not acquire jurisdiction, the order may be assailed at any time upon a collateral as well as upon a direct attack; but if the facts stated in the petition were sufficient to confer jurisdiction upon the court to hear the application, its order directing a sale cannot be impeached upon a collateral attack. Plains L. & I. Co. v. Lynch, 38 Mont. 271, 290, 129 Am. St. Rep. 645, 99 Pac. 847.

Where a court, having jurisdiction of the subject matter, orders the real property of a decedent to be sold under the authority of this section, any mere errors, irregularities or defects in the proceedings leading up to the sale are errors within the jurisdiction, and, in an action by the purchaser to quiet title, the heirs cannot collaterally attack the sale because of such errors. Plains L. & I. Co. v. Lynch, 38 Mont. 271, 289, 129 Am. St. Rep. 645, 99 Pac. 847.

If the debts of the estate appear to exceed in amount the available means at hand with which to pay them, it may fairly be said to appear that a sale is necessary; and, if real estate is to be sold, the court or judge may properly consult the recitals of the petition as to the condition of the real estate to determine whether all or only a portion should be sold, and, if only a portion, then what particular portion. Plains L. & I. Co. v.

Lynch, 38 Mont. 271, 283, 129 Am. St. Rep. 645, 99 Pac. 847.

Where the court has jurisdiction to make an order of sale, the remedy for any error committed by it in making such order is by an appeal. Such error is not ground for a collateral attack. Plains L. & I. Co. v. Lynch, 38 Mont. 271, 290, 129 Am. St. Rep. 645, 99 Pac. 847.

§ 7563. Order to Persons Interested to Appear.

If it appears to the court or judge, from such petition that it is necessary or that it would be for the advantage, benefit, and best interests of the estate, and those interested therein, including the minor heirs, if any, to sell the whole or some portion of the real estate for the purposes and reasons mentioned in the preceding section, or any of them, such petition must be filed and an order thereupon made, directing all persons interested in the estate to appear before the court or judge, at a time and place specified, not less than four nor more than ten weeks from the time of making such order, to show cause why an order should not be granted to the executor or administrator to sell so much of the real estate of the decedent as is necessary. [Amendment approved February 2, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 7.]

§ 7567. When Court may Order Sale.

If it appears necessary, or that it is for the advantage, benefit, and best interests of the estate and those interested therein, including the minor heirs, if any, to sell part of the real estate and that by a sale thereof the residue of the estate, real or personal or some specific part thereof, would be greatly injured, or diminished in value, or subjected to expense, or rendered unprofitable, or that after any such sale the residue would be so small in quantity or value or would be of such character, with reference to its future disposition among the heirs or devisees, as clearly to render it for the best interest of all concerned that the same should be sold, the court or judge may authorize the sale of the whole estate, or of any part thereof necessary and for the best interest of all concerned. [Amendment approved February 2, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 7.]

§ 7568. When Order of Sale is to be Made.

If the court or judge is satisfied, after a full hearing upon the petition and an examination of the proofs and allegations of the parties interested, that a sale of the whole or some portion of the real estate is necessary, for any of the causes mentioned in this article, or that a sale of the whole or some portion of the real estate is for the advantage, benefit and best interests of the estate and those interested therein, including the minor heirs, if any, or if such sale be assented to by all of the persons interested, an order must be made to sell the whole, or so much and such parts of the real estate described in the petition, as the court or judge shall judge necessary or beneficial. [Amendment approved February 2, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 8.] § 7569.

The court may make its order of sale in the alternative. It may grant authority to sell either at public or private sale. Plains L. & I. Co. v. Lynch, 38 Mont. 271, 285, 129 Am. St. Rep. 645, 99 Pac. 847.

§ 7570. Interested Persons may Apply for Order of Sale—Form of Petition.

If the executor or administrator neglects to apply for an order of sale when it is necessary, or when it is for the advantage, benefit, and best interests of the estate, and those interested therein, including the minor heirs, if any, that the real estate, or some portion thereof be sold, any person in interest may make application therefor, in the same manner as the executor or administrator, and notice thereof must be given to the executor or administrator before the hearing. The petition of such applicant must contain as many of the matters set forth in section 7562 as he can ascertain, and the order of sale must fix the period of time within which the executor or administrator must make the sale. ACCOUNTS OF EXECUTOR.

§ 7641. Accounting of Executor After Revocation of His Authority.

When the authority of an executor or administrator ceases, or is revoked for any reason, he may be cited to account before the court or judge at the instance of the person succeeding to the administration of the same estate, in like manner as he might have been cited by any person interested in the estate during the time he was executor or administrator. And if an executor or administrator dies, his account may be presented by his personal representatives to, settled by the court in which the estate of which he was executor or administrator is being administered, and upon the petition of the successor of such deceased executor or administrator, such court may compel the personal representatives of such deceased administrator or executor to render an account of the administration of their testator or intestate and must settle such account as in other cases. There is no statutory requirement that an administrator must keep the funds in his hands profitably invested, and he is not ordinarily chargeable with interest unless he has actually received it. Estate of Davis, 35 Mont. 286, 88 Pac. 957.

Numerous sections of the code, relating to probate matters, show a clear purpose to place, in the hands of the court, authority sufficient to secure a just administration of the estate, to the end that creditors may be protected and the heirs receive the largest amount of the property compatible with an economic but complete administration of the estate. State v. District Court, 42 Mont. 182, 185, 111 Pac. 717.

It is clear, from the provisions of this section and of section 7662, post, that the final account of an administrator or executor cannot be settled or approved so long as there are outstanding claims against the estate, which have not been paid, if there is any property in the hands of the representative that is available for the payment of such claims, in whole or in part. In re Williams' Estate, 47 Mont. 325, 329, 132 Pac. 421.

It is error for the district court to settle and approve the final account of an administrator where it appears that claims against the estate for advancements made for its benefit, though properly allowed, are unpaid, and where there is no showing that all property available for their payment has been exhausted. This section is susceptible of but one meaning, namely, that any heir, devisee or legatee shown by the record to be such, and concerning whose right to inherit there is no question raised, may ask for distribution to him of the share of the estate which the record shows he is entitled to receive, and about which there is no controversy. In re Fleming's Estate, 38 Mont. 57, 61, 98 Pac. 648.

In a proceeding under this section for partial distribution, the questions of heirship, amount of distributive estate claimed, etc., cannot be considered. Those questions are to be determined under the express authority of section 7672, post. In re Fleming's Estate, 38 Mont. 57, 59, 98 Pac. 648.

Where a motion to dismiss the appeal of an executor and some of the legatees from that portion of a "judgment," rendered in a proceeding had under this and the two following sections, based on the ground that an appeal does not lie from a part thereof, is denied upon consideration of exhaustive briefs of counsel, the determination will be deemed the law of the case on the submission of the question on its merit. Estate of Klein, 35 Mont. 202, 88 Pac. 798.

The denial of a motion to affirm an order of the district court, in the proceeding under this and the two following sections, refusing a new trial to an executor and some of the legatees, of issues found in favor of other legatees, is held not the law of the case upon final determination on the merits. Estate of Klein, 35 Mont. 202, 88 Pac. 798.

§ 7671. Proceedings for Determination of Heirship.

All persons appearing within the time limited must file their written appearance in person or through their authorized attorney, such attorney filing at the same time written evidence of his authority to so appear, which written evidence must be in the English language, or if in a foreign language, the same must be accompanied by an English translation thereof duly certified as correct by a United States consul, entry of which appearance shall be made in the minutes of the court and in the register of proceedings of said estate. And the court or judge shall, after the expiration of the time limited for appearing as aforesaid, enter an order adjudging the default of all persons for not appearing as aforesaid, who shall not have appeared as aforesaid. At any time within twenty days after the date of the order of the court or judge establishing proof of service of such notice, any of such persons so appearing may file his complaint in the matter of the estate, setting forth the facts constituting his claim of heirship, ownership, or interest in said estate, with such reasonable particularity as the court or judge may acquire, [require] and serve a copy of the same upon each of the parties or attorneys who shall have entered their written appearance as aforesaid, if such parties or such attorneys reside within the county; and in case any of them do not reside within the county, then service of such copy of said complaint shall be made upon the clerk of said court for them, and the clerk shall forthwith mail the same to the address of such party or attorney as may have left with said clerk his postoffice address. Such parties are allowed twenty days after the service of the complaint, as aforesaid, within which to plead thereto, and thereafter such proceedings shall be had upon such complaint as in this code provided in case of an ordinary civil action; and the issues of law and of fact arising in the proceeding shall be disposed of in like manner as issues of law and fact are herein provided to be disposed of in civil actions, with a like right to a motion for a new trial and appeal to the supreme court; and the provisions in this code contained regulating the mode of procedure for the trial of civil actions, the motion for a new trial of civil actions, statements on motion for a new trial, bills of exceptions, and statements on appeal, as also in regard to undertakings on appeal, and the mode of taking and perfecting appeals, and the time within which such appeals shall be taken, shall be applicable thereto; provided, however, that all appeals herein must be taken within sixty days from the date of the entry of the judgment or the order complained of. In a proceeding to determine the rights of a large number of legatees, wherein the executor and some of the legatees are adjudged entitled to share in the distribution of the estate, but move for a new trial of issues found in favor of other claimants, the aggrieved parties may move for a new trial and appeal from an adverse ruling. The contention that the supreme court cannot review the order denying a new trial, because of the complications that would arise in the district court, should a new trial of part of the issues be ordered, is untenable. Estate of Klein, 35 Mont. 201, 88 Pac. 798.

The question of heirship and the interest of any heir may be determined, not only under this and the next two preceding sections, but also upon a proceeding for the final distribution of an estate. In re Fleming's Estate, 38 Mont. 57, 59, 98 Pac. 648.

§ 7672.

Heirship, amount of distributive estate claimed, etc., cannot be determined on petition for partial distribution. The clear implication is that such questions cannot be determined in any other proceeding than one instituted under sections 7670-7672, or in one for final distribution. See note ante, section 7669.

§ 7673. Distribution of Estate—How and to Whom Made.

Upon the final settlement of the accounts of the executor or administrator, or at any subsequent time, upon the application of the executor or administrator, or of any heir, legatee, or devisee, the court or judge, must proceed to distribute the residue of the estate in the hands of the executor or administrator, if any, among the persons who by law are entitled thereto; and if the decedent has left a surviving child, and the issue of other children, and any of them, before the close of the administration, have died while under age and not having been married, no administration on such deceased child's estate is necessary, but all the estate which such deceased child was entitled to by inheritance must, without administration, be distributed to the other heirs at law; provided, that whenever it appears from the records or files of an estate under course of administration, that any of the persons claiming to be heirs, or claiming a right to share in said estate, are nonresidents of the United States, then a proceeding to determine their rights shall be had under the provisions and as provided for in sections 7670, 7671, and 7672 of the Revised Codes with reference to the determination of heirship. A statement of any receipts and disbursements of the executor or administrator, since the rendition of his final accounts, must be reported and filed at the time of making such distribution; and a settlement thereof together with an estimate of the expenses of closing the estate, must be made by the court or judge, and included in the order; or the court or judge may order notice of the settlement of such supplementary account, and refer the same as in other cases of the settlement of accounts. [Amendment approved March 4, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 105.]

The provisions of this section do not relieve an estate from the burden of an inheritance tax, nor impair the power of the court to collect it. The jurisdiction of the court is conferred by section 7740, post. State v. District Court, 41 Mont. 357, 364, 109 Pac. 438.

The delivery provided for by this section, when the property is ready for distribution, serves all the purposes of distribution, and the power to direct the delivery is tantamount to the power to order distribution directly to the persons entitled to take. *State v. INHERITANCE TAXATION.

§ 7724. Property or Successions Subject to Tax.

After the passage of this act, all property which shall pass by will or by the intestate laws of this state, from any person who dies seised or possessed of the same, while a resident of this state, or if such decedent was not a resident of this state, at the time of his death, which property, or any part thereof, shall be within this state, or any interest therein or income therefrom, which shall be transferred by deed, grant, sale or gift made in contemplation of the death of the grantor or bargainor, or intended to take effect in possession or enjoyment after such death to any person or persons, or to any body politic corporate, in trust or otherwise, or any property, which shall be in this state or the proceeds of all property outside of this state, which may come into this state, and which may be or should be distributed in this state to any such heirs, devisees or legatees, by reason whereof any person or corporation shall become beneficially entitled in possession or expectancy, to any such property, or to the income thereof, other than to or for the use of his or her father, mother, husband, wife, lawful issue, brother, sister, the wife or widow of the son, or the husband of a daughter, or any child or children adopted as such in conformity with the laws of the state of Montana, and any lineal descendant of such decedent born in lawful wedlock, shall be and is subject to a tax of five dollars on every hundred dollars of the market value of such property, and at a proportionate rate for any less amount, to be paid to the treasurer of the proper county hereinafter defined for the use of said county and state in the proportions hereafter stated: and all administrators, executors and trustees shall be liable for any and all such taxes until the same have been paid as hereinafter directed.

This section is here republished to correct a typographical error which appears in the Revised Codes of 1907.

An inheritance tax is not a tax upon the property itself, but rather a duty or burden imposed by the state upon the privilege of acquiring property by inheritance; the statute authorizing it is free from constitutional objections. Estate of Tuohy, 35 Mont. 431, 90 Pac. 170.

The expression "increase of all property" includes augmentation in value as well as multiplication in kind. This rule is applied in the case of property consisting of lode mining claims in Estate of Tuohy, 35 Mont. 431, 90 Pac. 170.

An inheritance tax is not an imposition upon property, but is an exaction by the state for the right to receive or take property by testamentary disposition or succession, or by any deed or instrument to take effect at or after the death of the testator. State v. District Court, 45 Mont. 335, 339, Ann. Cas. 1914A, 469, 122 Pac. 922.

The basis for the computation of an inheritance tax is the clear value of the whole estate, and not that of each individual legacy or distributive share. State v. District Court, 45 Mont. 335, 337, 341, Ann. Cas. 1914A, 469, 122 Pac. 922.

Where the decedent, at the time of his death, was not a resident of this state, this section requires the collection of an inheritance tax, the amount of which is to be ascertained by computation, using, as a base, the value of the estate, exclusive of exemptions, delivered to the executor or administrator, in accordance with the provisions of section 7675, ante. State v. District Court, 41 Mont. 357, 364, 109 Pac. 438.

Under this section, an estate valued at less than "seventy-five hundred dollars," distributable, among others, to brothers and sisters, is exempt; but such exemption is to be construed as referring to the clear value of the estate, not to the distributive shares. State v. District Court, 45 Mont. 335, 341, Ann. Cas. 1914A, 469, 122 Pac. 922.

Where the clear value of an estate is ten thousand seven hundred seventy-two dollars and twenty-seven cents, distributable among the decedent's four brothers and sisters, it is proper for the court to order the administrator to pay a tax at the rate of one dollar per hundred upon that amount. State v. District Court, 45 Mont. 335, 336, 343, Ann. Cas. 1914A, 469, 122 Pac. 922.

Computation of inheritance tax. See note ante, § 7724.

In this section and in section 7727 there is an implication that the basis or measure for computing the amount of the inheritance tax is the value of the estate as it is made to appear by the appraisement of it in the ordinary way. This, however, is not exclusive. State v. District Court, 41 Mont. 357, 364, 109 Pac. 438.

Computation of inheritance tax. See notes ante, §§ 7724 and 7725.

The payment of an inheritance tax is in nowise dependent upon the distribution of the estate, nor upon the amount of the specific legacies or distributive shares; it is due and payable upon the value of the estate, at the death of the decedent. *State v. Citation to compel payment. See note post, § 7741.

All persons who are interested in the disposition of estates are entitled to some kind of notice of proceedings which affect their interests, and to a hearing or an opportunity to be heard; but, if the statute provides for reasonable notice and an opportunity to be heard, it is not open to the objection that it does not provide "due process of law." State v. District Court, 41 Mont. 357, 366, 109 Pac. 438.

This section and section 7741, post, forming a part of the inheritance tax law, provide for reasonable notice to nonresident distributees of the appraisement of the estate for the purposes of fixing the inheritance tax, and also provide for an opportunity to be heard. The legislation is not, therefore, open to the objection that it fails to provide "due process of law." State v. District Court, 41 Mont. 357, 367, 109 Pac. 438.

The court or judge in fixing the time in the notice mentioned in this section should give a reasonable opportunity to those interested to be heard, according to the analogies of the statute in fixing the time for appearance after publication of summons, or those providing for notice in other cases. *State v. DEPENDENT CHILDREN.

§ 7843a. Financial Aid for Children in Their Own Home.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Montana.

(Section 1.) Allowance for Dependent Children.—Every child under the age of fourteen years, whose father is dead, or an inmate of some Montana state institution of charity or correction, or who is physically or mentally unable to work, which act of disability shall have occurred while a resident of the state, and who has, for a period of two years or more, failed to provide for said child, shall be entitled to assistance which will help make it possible for such child to be cared for in his or her own home instead of being sent to some public institution, said financial aid to be given to the mother of said child or children.

(Section 2.) Amount of Allowance—Subject to Subsequent Provisions of this Act.—Every child as provided for in section 1, whose mother is wholly dependent upon her labor for support, shall be allowed from the public moneys of the county, in which said mother resides, the sum of ten dollars per month if there is one child in said family; if more than one child then seven dollars and fifty cents per month for a second child and two dollars and fifty cents per month for each additional child, said money to be paid to the mother of said child or children.

(Section 3.) Conditions of Allowance.—The allowance herein referred to shall be made subject to the following conditions: (1) The child or children for whose benefit the allowance is made must be living with the mother of such child or children. (2) The allowance shall be made only when in absence of such allowance, the mother would be required to work regularly away from her home and children, when by means of such allowance, she will be able to remain at home with her children. (3) The mother must, in the judgment of the juvenile court officer if there be one, and if not then in the judgment of the judge of the district court, be a proper person physically, mentally and morally for the bringing up of her children. (4) Such allowance shall, in the judgment of the court, be necessary to save the child or children from neglect. (5) No person shall receive the benefit of this act, who shall not have been a resident of the county in which such application is made, for at least two years next before the making of such application for such allowance. (6) Provided that the provisions of this act shall not apply to any child which has property of its own sufficient for its support.

(Section 4.) Allowance Paid Out of County Funds.—Whenever the judge shall determine that an allowance under this act shall be made, he shall make an order to that effect, which order, among other things, shall set out in full the name of the mother, her place of residence, the names and ages of the children, and the amount allowed to each child, and upon presentation of such order, the county commissioners shall direct monthly warrants to be drawn therefor, which warrants shall be paid from the general funds of the county.

(Section 5.) When Allowance Shall Cease.—No allowance for any child shall continue after such child shall have reached the age of fourteen years. Whenever any mother of any child on whose account any allowance shall have been made under the provisions of this act, shall marry, such allowance shall cease. [Approved March 5, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 86, p. 111.]

This section is but declaratory of the common law; it does not add to nor subtract from the rule as it existed prior to the adoption of the statute. Washoe Copper Co. v. Junila, 43 Mont. 178, 185, 115 Pac. 916.

In a suit to have the executor and heirs of the plaintiff's co-owner in a mining claim declared trustees for his benefit, declarations made by the decedent, after issuance of patent, that the plaintiff was still the owner of an interest in the claim, when in fact his name had been omitted from the patent, and evidence that the decedent at one time joined with the plaintiff in a lease of the property, are admissible in evidence. Delmos v. Long, 35 Mont. 154, 88 Pac. 778.

In the absence of any offer of proof concerning what the defendant in an action for waste intended to show by a question to a witness, as to what the plaintiff's husband had said to him in relation to his or her interest in the land, the appellate court is not in a position to say from the mere reading of the question that its answer was erroneously excluded. Erbes v. Smith, 35 Mont. 50, 80 Pac. 568.

One who offers in evidence the declaration of a person through whom he traces his title to land must show that it was made while the declarant was holding title; that he was in fact the grantor of the party against whom the declaration is offered; and that the declaration was against interest. Washoe Copper Co. v. Junila, 43 Mont. 178, 185, 115 Pac. 916.

This provision was not intended to embody the statement of a rule by which to determine the competency of declarations relative to a transaction, but to be a mere direction that they must be deemed competent when they are so connected with the main transaction as to form a part of it. Callahan v. Chicago etc. R. R. Co., 47 Mont. 401, 410, 47 L. R. A. (N. S.) 587, 133 Pac. 687.

In an action to recover a sum of money for communicating to the defendant valuable information about a cross-cut in a mine intersecting a vein or ore, and for which information the defendant promised to pay, whatever the defendant said and did, while engaged in one of the preliminary steps leading up to the consummation of the contract, without the doing of which there would have been no contract, is a part of the res gestae and is competent. McCrimmon v. Murray, 43 Mont. 457, 471, 117 Pac. 73.

Declarations, when admissible as part of the res gestae. Callahan v. Chicago etc. R. R. Co., 47 Mont. 401, 410, 47 L. R. A. (N. S.) 587, 133 Pac. 687.

Kemper*, 44 Mont. 1, 6, Ann. Cas. 1912D, 1326, 118 Pac. 811.

Application of the second subdivision in a will contest. Murphy v. Nett, 47 Mont. 38, 55, 130 Pac. 451.

A plaintiff may offer in evidence an admission made by the defendant in his verified answer without offering the entire answer, and, by so doing, he is not estopped from denying or disproving statements contained in the pleading. Johnson v. Butte etc. Copper Co., 41 Mont. 158, 167, 48 L. R. A. (N. S.) 938, 108 Pac. 1057.

The admission of a county assessor, implied by his listing a strip of land that has been used as a public highway, is not an admission by the city or the public that the strip is not a highway, because he has nothing to do with the control of public highways, and cannot thus admit away the rights of the public. Lockey v. City of Bozeman, 42 Mont. 387, 398, 113 Pac. 286.

Where parties allege matters of fact in their pleadings, these pleadings may be offered in evidence against such parties as admissions of the facts so alleged. The provision in the fourth subdivision of this section, relative to the admissibility of dying declarations, is simply declaratory of the common law, and has generally been held to be sufficiently broad to comprise the facts and circumstances of the killing, and such other facts and circumstances immediately surrounding and attending it, as properly form a part of the res gestae. State v. Crean, 43 Mont. 47, 58, Ann. Cas. 1912C, 424, 114 Pac. 603.

Where the stenographer who took the testimony of a witness, since deceased, has died before the testimony is sought to be used, and no one can be found who can read the notes or speak as to the correctness of them or of the transcript, or to the fact that the transcript embodies the testimony as it was given at a former hearing, the case is not brought within the rule of this section. Pew v. Johnson, 35 Mont. 181, 88 Pac. 770.

If, at the time of a second trial, it appears that a witness had been examined in a former controversy over the same subject matter between the same parties, and is, at the time, out of the jurisdiction, notes of his testimony given on the former trial are competent evidence and should be admitted. Mette & Kanne D. Co. v. Lowrey, 39 Mont. 124, 132, 101 Pac. 966.

Applied, the court permitting a stenographer to rehearse the testimony of a deceased witness. O'Rourke v. Grand Opera House Co., 47 Mont. 459, 470, 133 Pac. 965.

In a homicide case, in which the defense of insanity is set up, testimony by non-expert witnesses is limited to those who have an intimate acquaintance with the accused, and they are required to state the facts upon which their opinions are founded. Acquaintanceship acquired by newspaper reporters, acquired during an interview with the accused, does not qualify them to give an opinion as to his sanity. State v. Penna, 35 Mont. 540, 90 Pac. 787.

The last clause of the ninth subdivision of this section means that an expert witness may give his opinion upon, or about, a question of science, art or trade. Copenhaver v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 42 Mont. 453, 465, 113 Pac. 467.

A witness, having qualified, may be permitted to state his opinion that the defendant was insane. State v. Leakey, 44 Mont. 354, 368, 120 Pac. 234.

Whether a rope, without a chain attachment, is an unsafe appliance for hoisting timbers in a mine is not a proper subject for opinion evidence. It is appropriate for the jury to draw its inferences as to such question after hearing evidence of the facts. Cummings v. Reins Copper Co., 40 Mont. 599, 621, 107 Pac. 904.

A witness may testify as to whether certain beef was that of animals killed and properly bled, where he shows, upon his preliminary examination, that he is qualified. State v. Keeland, 39 Mont. 506, 516, 104 Pac. 513.

2. Children under ten years of age who appear incapable of receiving just impressions of the facts respecting which they are examined, or of relating them truly.

3. Parties or assignors of parties to an action or proceeding, or persons in whose behalf an action or proceeding is prosecuted against an executor or administrator upon a claim or demand against the estate of a deceased person, as to the facts of direct transactions or oral communications between the proposed witness and the deceased, excepting when the executor or administrator first introduces evidences thereof, or when it appears to the court that without the testimony of the witness, injustice will be done.

4. Parties or assignors of parties to an action or proceeding, or persons in whose behalf an action or proceeding is prosecuted against any person or corporation, as to the facts of direct transaction or oral communication between the proposed witness and the deceased or deceased agent, of such person or corporation, and between such proposed witness and any deceased officer of such corporation. [Amendment approved February 28, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 57.]

Questions of law addressed to the court. See post, § 8055.

This section was adopted from the code of California, but the construction given it by the courts of that state does not seem reasonable, and, therefore, will not be followed in this state. Delmoe v. Long, 35 Mont. 153, 88 Pac. 778.

The words "claim" and "demand" are used in this section in their broad, comprehensive sense, and apply to all sorts of causes of action against the estates of decedents, whether for money claims or for property which would belong to the estate, except for the establishment of the claim or demand. Delmoe v. Long, 35 Mont. 152, 88 Pac. 778.

The plaintiff, in a suit to obtain a decree declaring the executor and heirs of the estate of the plaintiff's alleged co-owner in a mining claim trustees for his benefit of an undivided interest therein is incompetent to testify as to conversations had between him and the decedent pertaining to the property and its title. Delmoe v. Long, 35 Mont. 149, 88 Pac. 778.

Before the confession of a defendant is admitted in evidence, he has a right to show what his mental condition was at the time the confession was made. He is entitled to show that he was of unsound mind and, therefore, not a competent witness against himself, and that the confession should, consequently, be excluded. State v. Berberick, 38 Mont. 423, 447, 16 Ann. Cas. 1077, 100 Pac. 209.

Proof of the written law of another state must be made in compliance with the methods prescribed in this section and in section 7907, post. Ridpath v. Heller, 46 Mont. 586, 590, 129 Pac. 1054.

Proof of written law of sister state. See note ante, § 7906.

§ 7908.

The unwritten law of a sister state may be proved by the published reports of the decisions of its courts, or by the oral testimony of witnesses skilled in the subject. Ridpath v. Heller, 46 Mont. 586, 590, 129 Pac. 1054.

§ 7911.

A judicial record of a sister state is not entitled to be admitted in evidence in this state in the absence of a certificate that the attestation is "in due form." Adams v. Stenehjelm, 50 Mont. 232, 146 Pac. 1103.

The phrase, "in due form," means in the form prescribed by the law or practice of the state from which the record comes. It is for the judge of that state to determine whether the attestation of the clerk is in due form and to evidence his conclusion by his certificate, and it is to his certificate alone that the court of this state must look to ascertain whether what purports to be a certificate by the clerk is such under the laws of the state where it was made. Adams v. Stenehjelm, 50 Mont. 232, 146 Pac. 1103.

A final judgment is conclusive, but a trial court has the power to grant a rehearing on a motion. Its decision in such a case does not have the same force as a judgment finally settling the controversy. State (ex rel. Working) v. District Court, 50 Mont. 441, 147 Pac. 614.

One not a party to a judgment is not bound thereby. Conrow v. Huffine, 48 Mont. 437, 447, 138 Pac. 1094.

What may be implied from final decree. See note ante, § 6701.

Where the rights of the parties defendant in a water right suit are not, as between themselves, presented to the court by the pleadings for determination, the decree will not estop them from having such rights determined in a subsequent case. Sloan v. Byers, 37 Mont. 514, 97 Pac. 855.

Where defendants were enjoined in a suit over water rights, and the court necessarily determined that certain waters existed, evidence to the contrary is inadmissible in a subsequent suit, until a change in conditions has been shown. Howell v. Bent, 48 Mont. 268, 272, 137 Pac. 49.

Construed, together with section 906 of the United States Revised Statutes, in considering proof of the corporate existence of a foreign corporation. Milwaukee Gold etc. Co. v. Gordon, 37 Mont. 218, 95 Pac. 995.

Under the ninth subdivision of this section, a certified copy of a copy is not admissible. The best evidence is a certified copy of the original by the officer having it in custody. Stephens v. Nacey, 49 Mont. 230, 246, 141 Pac. 649.

Certified copies of the records of the county commissioners, showing the result of a local option election, together with a certified copy of the affidavit of the publisher of the newspaper giving notice of the election, made by the county clerk, are properly admitted in evidence on the trial of one charged with an unlawful sale of liquor. State v. O'Brien, 35 Mont. 482, 499, 10 Ann. Cas. 1006, 90 Pac. 514.

It is error to admit in evidence, against objection, the copy of a copy of the plat of a townsite, it not being the best evidence; but where it appears that a certified copy of the original, by the officer having it in charge, could easily be supplied, and it does not appear that prejudice was wrought by the use of the copy admitted, the judgment will not be reversed because of such error. Stephens v. Nacey, 49 Mont. 230, 246, 141 Pac. 649.

This section refers to a public record of a private writing within this state, not to public records of other states. Milwaukee Gold etc. Co. v. Gordon, 37 Mont. 218, 95 Pac. 995.

§ 7926.

In a prosecution for statutory rape, where the age of the prosecutrix is in question, a public record required to be kept by law, such as the census of a school that the prosecutrix had attended, is prima facie evidence of her age. State v. Vinn, 50 Mont. 27, 144 Pac. 772.

§ 7931.

In ejectment to recover a mining claim, a certificate that does not disclose that the plaintiff made a purchase or that he is entitled to a patent is valueless as evidence, but its admission is error without prejudice where the plaintiff's title has been amply proved by other evidence. Consolidated etc. Min. Co. v. Struthers, 41 Mont. 565, 575, 111 Pac. 152.

Verdict founded upon inference. See note post, § 7959.

§ 7957.

See note post, § 7959.

After having correctly defined an inference, and stating that it must be founded upon a fact legally proved, it is not error for the court to refuse to instruct the jury that an "inference cannot be founded upon another inference, or upon facts inferred from other facts legally proved." State v. Blaine, 45 Mont. 482, 485, 124 Pac. 516.

A verdict may be founded upon an inference; thus, if a passenger of one railroad company is injured at the depot platform of another company, the defendant, by stepping into an uncovered water hole in the platform, an inference that the employees omitted to recover the hole is justified, and authorizes a recovery against the latter company. Jenkins v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 44 Mont. 295, 303, 119 Pac. 794.

Presumption as to railway brakeman's authority to eject trespassers from freight train. See note post, § 7962.

As between the parties, or their successors in interest by a subsequent title, the recitals in a written instrument are conclusively presumed to be true, except the recital of a consideration; and, under section 7962, post, the recital of a consideration is deemed prima facie to be true. Dubbels v. Thompson, 49 Mont. 550, 557, 143 Pac. 986.

An instruction that, when an unlawful act is shown to have been deliberately committed for the purpose of injuring another, it is presumed to have been committed with a malicious and guilty intent, and that the law presumes that a person intends the ordinary consequences of his act, should not be given in a prosecution for assault in the first degree. Such an instruction may be properly given in a case where the charge and facts warrant, but when a defendant is on trial for a crime involving specific intent as the gist of the offense, it might mislead the jury. State v. Schaefer, 35 Mont. 221, 88 Pac. 792.

Proof of jurisdictional facts in a justice's court. See note ante, § 7071.

If a railroad engine runs against a boy on the track, and the engineer, in an action brought for personal injuries, is practically charged with manslaughter, the presumption is that he is innocent of that crime. Haddox v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 43 Mont. 8, 17, 113 Pac. 1119.

In an action to recover for personal injuries to a child, the burden of alleging and proving contributory negligence is upon the defendant, in the first instance, since there is a presumption of law that the plaintiff exercised ordinary care. Harrington v. Butte etc. Ry. Co., 37 Mont. 169, 172, 16 L. R. A. (N. S.) 395, 95 Pac. 8.

Under the fourth subdivision of this section, the law presumes that a person exercises ordinary care for his own safety. Meehan v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 43 Mont. 72, 80, 114 Pac. 781.

A person's possession of cattle is prima facie evidence that he owns them. Kerr v. Blaine, 49 Mont. 602, 607, 144 Pac. 566.

The presumptions contained in the eighth, eleventh and twelfth subdivisions of this section, relative to the possession and ownership of property, may be reinforced by competent evidence; such as evidence consisting of a note given by the apparent owner of cattle, and a chattel mortgage to secure the debt evidenced by it, which latter remained of record uncanceled for more than a month at the time a defendant claimed to have bought the livestock. Cuerth v. Arbogast, 48 Mont. 209, 216, 136 Pac. 383.

Error cannot be predicated upon the action of the court in refusing to include, in an instruction, the provisions of the eighth, eleventh and twelfth subdivisions of this section. It is not commendable practice to submit to jurors abstract rules of law, though they are correct. Cuerth v. Arbogast, 48 Mont. 209, 221, 136 Pac. 383.

Assuming that the supreme court should, in a proper case where a stay of proceedings has been ordered by the trial court, use the writ of mandamus to compel the requirement of security pending the motion for a new trial, the presumption must be indulged that the defendant regularly pursued his duty and that the order complained of was the result of the exercise of a wise discretion. State v. Clements, 37 Mont. 96, 100, 127 Am. St. Rep. 701, 94 Pac. 837.

Under the fifteenth subdivision of this section, the presumption is, when the sheriff receives a venire for service, that every man whose name appears upon it is competent for jury service. The defendant in a criminal case who interposes a challenge to the panel, on the ground that the sheriff failed to summon all of the jurors, may, therefore, rely on such presumption to establish a prima facie case to that extent. State v. Groom, 49 Mont. 354, 358, 141 Pac. 858.

The fifteenth subdivision of this section applied to the warden of the penitentiary. Stephens v. Conley, 48 Mont. 352, 364, 138 Pac. 189.

The presumptions found in the fifteenth and sixteenth subdivisions of this section do not relieve a party who alleges in his pleading that a judgment of a justice of the peace was "duly given or made," from establishing on the trial the facts concerning jurisdiction where such allegation is controverted. Miller v. Miller, 47 Mont. 150, 155, 131 Pac. 23.

Under the twenty-fourth subdivision of this section, defendants, to each of whom copies of the summons and complaint were mailed at their known places of residence, are presumed to have had actual notice of the pendency of the action. Smith v. Collis, 42 Mont. 350, 369, Ann. Cas. 1912A, 1158, 112 Pac. 1070.

The presumption mentioned in the thirty-second subdivision of this section does not apply regardless of the nature of the thing or condition in question. It applies only to those conditions which, from their nature, must continue for some appreciable length of time. In re Murphy's Estate, 43 Mont. 353, 373, Ann. Cas. 1912C, 380, 116 Pac. 1004.

When lunacy or insanity, of a general, habitual or permanent nature is once shown to exist, it is presumed to continue until the presumption is overturned by countervailing evidence, because we know, from experience, that the condition usually continues; but such presumption does not apply to cases of intermittent or occasional insanity, as the idea of continuity is excluded. In re Murphy's Estate, 43 Mont. 353, 373, Ann. Cas. 1912C, 380, 116 Pac. 1004.

If lateral ditches are run from a canal toward the head of a swamp, the question whether the increase of flow in the canal is permanent is conjectural, and the presumption, "that a thing once proved to exist continues as long as is usual with things of that nature," embodied in the thirty-second subdivision of this section, cannot be indulged. Smith v. Duff, 39 Mont. 374, 392, 133 Am. St. Rep. 582, 102 Pac. 981.

It is a prima facie presumption that a railway brakeman on a freight train has authority, by virtue of his employment, to eject trespassers therefrom. In some states, however, the presumption is conclusive. Golden v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 39 Mont. 435, 451, 18 Ann. Cas. 886, 34 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1154, 104 Pac. 549.

It is proper to charge the jury that one charged with crime is presumed to be innocent until his guilt is established beyond a reasonable doubt. State v. Blaine, 45 Mont. 482, 487, 124 Pac. 516.

Application of the presumption that the law has been obeyed, respecting the indorsement of a satisfaction of a chattel mortgage or the filing thereof. Kerr v. Blaine, 49 Mont. 602, 607, 144 Pac. 566.

Where a hodgecarrier, on a scaffold made wet by rain, steps on a mortar board, slips and throws out his hands so that they come in contact with wires charged with electricity, it cannot be said that his slipping was negligence per se. Birsch v. Citizens' Electric Co., 36 Mont. 574, 581, 93 Pac. 940.

Where a plaintiff has brought an action for damages for injury to his private property, caused by the alleged negligence of the defendant, he cannot, after having made out a prima facie case by evidence of the facts constituting the alleged negligence, invoke the rule res ipsa loquitur; the burden of proof is upon him. Lyon v. Chicago M. & St. Paul Ry. Co., 50 Mont. 532, 148 Pac. 386. For former appeal, see 45 Mont. 33, 121 Pac. 886.

Where an undertaking, given for the release of personal property from attachment, recites that a levy has been made and the undertaking given to secure its release, the sureties are estopped to say, in action on the undertaking, that no levy was made. Dackich v. Barich, 37 Mont. 502, 97 Pac. 931.

An affidavit may be used to verify a pleading or paper required to be verified, but it gives no evidentiary value to a paper not required to be verified. State (ex rel. Wood) v. Board of Commissioners, 49 Mont. 165, 171, 140 Pac. 728.

Parties to guardianship proceeding. See note ante, § 7764.

A deposition taken to be used in guardianship proceedings, to appoint a guardian for one claimed to be insane, is not admissible in evidence, where the question in issue is the mental condition of such alleged incompetent at the time of the execution of his will, prior to the guardianship proceedings; the controversy is not between the same parties and does not involve the same subject matter. § 8016.

An order excluding witnesses from the courtroom does apply to one who remained in the courtroom not knowing he would be called. State v. McDonald (Mont.), 149 Pac. 279.

The courts are not authorized to enlarge the provisions of this section. It establishes the law relative to the subject matter, and, in such a case, the common law is not applicable. Marron v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 46 Mont. 593, 603, 129 Pac. 1055.

This section comprehends two classes of witnesses; the first class includes the witness whose memory can be refreshed by reference to memoranda; the second class includes the witness who does not retain any recollection of the particular facts recorded in the memoranda, even after he examines the entries that he made himself. The witness of the first class may refresh his memory, and, having done so, may then testify independently of the memoranda; the witness of the second class may testify directly from the memoranda. Marron v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 46 Mont. 593, 601, 129 Pac. 1055.

Where it becomes necessary for a witness to resort to memoranda, he will not be permitted to testify at all until proof of the following preliminary facts namely: That the entries were written by the witness himself, or under his direction; that the entries were written at the time the facts occurred, or at a time when the facts were fresh in the memory of the witness; and that the witness knew at the time the entries were made, that they correctly stated the facts. Marron v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 46 Mont. 593, 602, 129 Pac. 1055.

To refresh his memory, a witness may properly have a recourse to a memorandum-book containing entries written by himself. Cohen v. Clark, 44 Mont. 151, 157, 119 Pac. 775.

A memorandum, fugitive in character, kept by a witness, but not intended as a record of his business transactions from day to day, is hearsay and not admissible in evidence, though he may use it to refresh his memory or to aid him in giving his testimony. Columbus State Bank v. Erb, 50 Mont. 442, 147 Pac. 617.

Where the testimony of a deceased witness, given on a former trial, was reported by a stenographer, who made a transcript of it, and who testifies that the transcript was an accurate translation of the original report, it is competent for him, when produced as a witness, to rehearse the evidence, either by using the transcript as a memorandum to refresh his memory, or, in case he has no independent recollection of the testimony, to testify from the transcript; but the court is technically in error in allowing him to testify from the transcript, without a previous showing that he has no independent recollection of the testimony. O'Rourke v. Grand Opera House Co., 47 Mont. 459, 470, 133 Pac. 965.

If a witness does not recollect, and must resort to a memorandum, but cannot qualify, by testifying to the necessary preliminary facts, and, cannot, therefore, testify by its aid, or directly from it, the memorandum itself is inadmissible. Marron v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 46 Mont. 593, 602, 129 Pac. 1055.

Editorial Notes.

Right of witness to refresh his memory from published statement or report made by him instead of from original memorandum. Ann. Cas. 1913B, 582.

§ 8021.

This section must be liberally construed. It permits a wide range for cross-examination, and courts should extend rather than restrict the right. Cuerth v. Arbogast, 48 Mont. 209, 215, 136 Pac. 383.

The right of cross-examination is a substantial one and may not be unduly restricted. It may extend not only to facts stated by the witness in his original examination, but to all other facts connected with them which tend to enlighten the jury upon the question in controversy. State v. Biggs, 45 Mont. 400, 404, 123 Pac. 410.

The right of cross-examination extends not only to facts stated by the witness in his original examination but to all other facts connected with them, which tend to enlighten the jury upon the question in controversy. The rule necessarily includes questions the purpose of which is to bring out facts illustrative of the motives, bias and interest of the witness, or as reflecting upon his capacity and memory; but the questioner has no right, under the guise of cross-examination, to go into the merits of his cause of action or defense. Moss v. Goodhart, 47 Mont. 257, 269, 131 Pac. 1071; Shandy v. McDonald, 38 Mont. 393, 398, 100 Pac. 203.

Where the testimony of a witness on the trial of a case is at variance with his testimony previously given at a coroner's inquest, such portions of his testimony given at the inquest as contradict his testimony on the trial are admissible to show statements made by the witness inconsistent with his present testimony, if he denies having made such statements, or if recollection of them is disclaimed. *Westlake v. § 8028.

This statute is the law of the state, and no matter what other courts have decided, in the absence of like statutes, the supreme court of this state is bound by its provisions. State v. Paisley, 36 Mont. 254, 92 Pac. 566.

The jury, in the first instance, are the exclusive judges of the credibility of a witness and of the weight to be given to his testimony. Bowen v. Webb, 37 Mont. 484, 97 Pac. 839.

Juries may not arbitrarily and capriciously disregard the testimony of witnesses, which is not only unimpeached but is supported by all the circumstances of the case. Haddox v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 43 Mont. 8, 16, 113 Pac. 1119.

In civil actions, where the evidence is conflicting, a preponderance of the evidence is the least that will support a verdict. Flaherty v. Butte Elec. Ry. Co., 42 Mont. 89, 93, 111 Pac. 348.

In civil actions, where the evidence is not conflicting, the verdict must be in favor of the party who has the affirmative of the issue, and who has produced the uncontradicted evidence in support of it. Flaherty v. Butte Elec. Ry. Co., 42 Mont. 89, 93, 111 Pac. 348.

Statements of declarations or admissions made by another are the weakest and least satisfactory character of evidence, in persuasive value, and should be received with great caution. Escallier v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 46 Mont. 238, 248, Ann. Cas. 1914B, 468, 127 Pac. 458.

In any case, the court has a wide discretion as to the extent it should go in submitting specific instructions as to the interest or bias of witnesses; ordinarily, a general instruction embodying the provisions of section 7864, ante, is sufficient. White v. Chicago etc. Ry. Co., 49 Mont. 419, 427, 143 Pac. 561.

A refusal to instruct that, "the oral admissions of a party are to be viewed with caution," is error, when. McCrimmon v. Murray, 43 Mont. 457, 471, 117 Pac. 73.

The jury should not be instructed in a homicide case that, if they are satisfied that any witness has knowingly and willfully testified falsely in any material matter, they have the right to reject the whole of this testimony, "unless on any point such testimony is corroborated by the facts and circumstances of the case or other credible evidence." State v. Peña, 35 Mont. 545, 90 Pac. 787.

An instruction in an action for conversion, "that fraud is never presumed but must be clearly and distinctly proven," is erroneous in requiring something more than a bare preponderance of the evidence. Gehlert v. Quinn, 35 Mont. 451, 457, 119 Am. St. Rep. 864, 90 Pac. 168.

On appeal from the judgment in a felony case, it will be presumed that the giving of an instruction in the language of this section, "that a witness false in one part of his testimony is to be distrusted in others," was warranted by the case as submitted. State v. Connors, 37 Mont. 15, 94 Pac. 199.

Such instruction is not erroneous for failure to insert the word "willfully" before the word "false," and the words "as to a material matter" after the word "testimony." State v. Connors, 37 Mont. 15, 94 Pac. 199.

Schaefer*, 35 Mont. 221, 88 Pac. 792.

Such an instruction may be properly given in a case where the charge and facts warrant, but when a defendant is on trial for a crime involving a specific intent as the gist of the offense, it might mislead the jury. State v. Schaefer, 35 Mont. 221, 88 Pac. 792.

ASSAULT.

§ 8312. Assault in First Degree.

Every person who, with intent to kill a human being, or to commit a felony upon the person or property of the one assaulted or of another;

1. Assaulds another with a loaded firearm or any other deadly weapon, or by any other means or force likely to produce death; or,

2. Administers or causes to be administered to, or taken by another, so as to endanger the life of such other,

Is guilty of assault in the first degree, and is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not less than five nor more than twenty years. [Amendment approved January 31, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 9.]

In cases of assault of the first degree, where the specific charge in the information is "assault with intent to kill," the instructions should omit all reference to murder or manslaughter, and advise juries, in lieu thereof, that, to sustain the information, they must find, beyond a reasonable doubt, that the assault was committed with intent to kill. *State v. An information charging that the defendant "did willfully, unlawfully, wrongfully, intentionally and feloniously assault one S., by throwing said S. from a moving street-car, with intent in him, the said defendant, to inflict grievous bodily harm upon said S.," sufficiently charges assault in the second degree, under subdivision 3 of this section. State v. Tracey, 35 Mont. 554, 90 Pac. 791.

FALSE IMPRISONMENT.

Evidence shows that the liberty of the prosecuting witness was violated within the meaning of the statute defining false imprisonment. State v. McDonald (Mont.), 149 Pac. 279.

False imprisonment is treated as a tort and also as a crime, the definition being the same in either case. The liability of the wrongdoer does not depend primarily upon his mental attitude. Kroeger v. Passmore, 36 Mont. 508, 14 L. R. A. (N. S.) 988, 93 Pac. 805.

Treating false imprisonment as a tort, as distinguished from a crime, the only defenses which may be interposed thereto are a denial of the imprisonment and a justification of the imprisonment. Kroeger v. Passmore, 36 Mont. 510, 14 L. R. A. (N. S.) 988, 93 Pac. 805.

False imprisonment is an unlawful violation of the personal liberty of another, and is the subject of an action, whether the wrongful act is prompted by malice or not. Grorud v. Lossi, 48 Mont. 274, 283, 136 Pac. 1069.

The gist of the offense of false imprisonment is the unlawful detention. Stephens v. Conley, 48 Mont. 352, 364, 138 Pac. 189.

An information charging the defendant with having willfully, unlawfully and feloniously assaulted a person with a piece of iron pipe, with intent to inflict grievous bodily harm, is sufficient to charge an assault with intent to commit a felony, and gives the district court jurisdiction. State v. Farnham, 35 Mont. 375, 89 Pac. 728.

Under a charge of assault, the defendant may be convicted either of the assault or of the attempt, because the former includes all the elements of the latter. State v. Stone, 40 Mont. 88, 91, 105 Pac. 89.

§ 8314.

A verdict finding a defendant guilty of an assault with corrosive acids and caustic chemicals, which fails to find that the assault is committed willfully or maliciously, or with intent to injure, is a verdict of guilty of assault in the third degree. State v. District Court, 35 Mont. 324, 89 Pac. 63.

§ 8315.

Willfulness, malice and intent to injure are necessary to constitute an assault, with corrosive acids or caustic chemicals, a felony; and, without a finding as to these necessary requisites, a verdict finding the defendant guilty of an assault with corrosive acids and caustic chemicals will not support a conviction for a felony. State v. District Court, 35 Mont. 323, 89 Pac. 63.

If an arrest and imprisonment have been accomplished without legal process, it is false imprisonment. Grorud v. Lossi, 48 Mont. 274, 283, 136 Pac. 1069.

SEXUAL CRIMES.

§ 8336. Definition of Rape—Age of Consent.

Rape is an act of sexual intercourse accomplished with a female, not the wife of the perpetrator, under either of the following circumstances:

1. When the female is under the age of eighteen years.
2. Where she is incapable, through lunacy or any other unsoundness of mind, whether temporary or permanent, of giving legal consent.
3. Where she resists, but her resistance is overcome by violence or force.
4. Where she is prevented from resisting by threats of immediate and great bodily harm, accompanied by apparent power of execution, or by any intoxicating, narcotic or other anesthetic substance, administered by or with the privity of the accused.
5. Where she is, at the time, unconscious of the nature of the act, and this is known to the accused.
6. Where she submits, under a belief that the person committing the act is her husband, and this belief is induced by any artifice, pretense or concealment practiced by the accused, with the intent to induce such belief. [Amendment approved February 13, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 15.]

If an information for rape states that the act was committed by force and violence, and against the will and consent of the female, it is not necessary to set forth with particularity the facts set forth in the third and fourth paragraphs of this section; they may be proved under the allegations made. State v. Morrison, 46 Mont. 84, 88, 125 Pac. 649.

While the prosecutrix in rape may not have given ready consent to the act of intercourse, the defendant cannot be lawfully convicted if the prosecutrix did not offer any physical resistance which it required force to overcome. State v. Needy, 43 Mont. 442, 444, 117 Pac. 102.

OFFENSES AGAINST GOOD MORALS.

§ 8369. Keeping Places of Amusement Open on Sunday.

Every person who on Sunday, or the first day of the week, keeps open or maintains, or who aids in opening or maintaining any dance-hall, dance-house, race-track, gambling-house, or pool-room, variety-hall or in any other place of amusement where any intoxicating liquors are sold or dispensed, is guilty of a misdemeanor; provided, however, that the provisions of this section shall not apply to such dancing-halls or pavilions as are maintained or conducted in public parks or playgrounds where no admission is charged, and where good order is maintained, and where no intoxicating liquors are sold. [Amendment approved March 6, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 146.]

This section is not directed toward the keeping open and maintaining of a theater building, but refers to the class of entertainment furnished, or performances therein. State v. Penny, 42 Mont. 118, 123, 31 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1155, 111 Pac. 727.

§ 8380a. Penalty for Violation of Act.

A violation of any of the provisions of this act shall be deemed a misdemeanor, and upon conviction the offender shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars and not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars, and persons acting as servants, employees or agents shall be liable in the same manner as their employers or principals. [New section adopted February 27, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 60.]

§ 8380b. Penalty upon Second or Third Conviction.

Any person convicted a second time for a violation of the provisions of this act, in addition to the penalty above named, if he be engaged in the business of selling intoxicating liquors, shall be prohibited from the conduct of such business for a period of three months from the date of such conviction, and any such person convicted a third time for a violation of the provisions of this act shall, in addition to the penalty prescribed in section 8380 (a) hereof, be barred from obtaining a retail liquor license for a period of six months to three years within said county. [New section adopted February 27, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 60.]

§ 8380c. Minor Misstating Age.

Any minor who shall misstate his age shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and any person who shall send a minor to any person to purchase any such intoxicating liquors shall be equally guilty with the person who shall give or sell such intoxicating liquor as provided in section 1 of this act. [New section adopted February 27, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 60.]

§ 8385.

An information, under this section, alleging that the defendant was "then and there" the owner and manager, having charge and control, is sufficient, under section 9155, post, to apprise him that he is accused of being in control "for the time being." The exact words of the statute need not be used. State v. Conway, 38 Mont. 42, 43, 98 Pac. 654.

GAMING.

Conviction on testimony of accomplice. See post, § 9290.

This section subjecting to a penalty any person conducting any brokerage business, bucket-shop, or office where grain, stocks, or securities of any kind are sold on margins, refers only to such transactions on margins as are recognized as gambling transactions, such as a mere payment of the difference between the contract and the market price. It does not apply to a legitimate contract for the future delivery of stocks, where a part of the price has been paid and the stock is held as security for the payment of the balance. In re Dorr, 186 Fed. 276, 278, 108 C. C. A. 322.

This section prohibiting places where stocks are sold on a margin, being penal, must be strictly construed. In re Dorr, 186 Fed. 276, 278, 108 C. C. A. 322.

An information charging the defendant with a violation of this section "as owner and proprietor" of the game is not defective. The words quoted do not restrict or enlarge the scope or meaning of the information, and may be rejected as surplusage. State v. Tudor, 47 Mont. 185, 187, 131 Pac. 632.

In an information under this section for carrying on and conducting a game of chance played with cards, it is not necessary to give the name of the particular game. If stated, it is mere surplusage, and the state, after the defendant's plea has been entered, may be permitted to amend the information by striking out such designation. State v. Duncan, 40 Mont. 531, 535, 107 Pac. 510.

The mere player who does not take part in carrying on, opening, or causing to be opened, conducting, or causing to be conducted, operating, or running the prohibited game, as principal, agent, or employee, is not guilty of any offense. He is not an accomplice. State v. Wakely, 43 Mont. 427, 438, 117 Pac. 95.

An information alleging that the defendant carried on, opened, conducted and ran a game of studhorse poker, the same being a game of chance, charges a violation of this section. State v. Wakely, 43 Mont. 427, 433, 117 Pac. 427.

An information charging the defendant with permitting a game of chance to be played upon his premises is not defective because of its failure to set forth the names of the persons permitted to play. State v. Radmilovich, 40 Mont. 93, 98, 105 Pac. 91.

§ 8436a. Pooling in Purchase, Sale or Handling of Grain by Warehousemen—Penalty.

(Section 1.) It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation engaged in the buying, selling, or handling of grain in any public local warehouse in this state, or for the local agent in charge of such warehouse, or any other agent of the person, firm or corporation operating the same, to enter into any contract, agreement, combination, or understanding with any other person, firm, or corporation, owning or operating any other public local warehouse at any railway station, their agent or agents, whereby the amount of grain to be received or handled by said warehouses at such station or stations, shall be equalized or pooled between said warehouses, or whereby the profits or earnings derived from said warehouses shall be divided or pooled or apportioned in any manner, or whereby the price to be paid for any kind of grain, at such station, shall be fixed or in any manner affected; and each day of the continuance of any such agreement, contract, or understanding shall constitute a separate offense.

(Section 2.) Any person, firm, or corporation, or any agent of any person, firm, or corporation, who shall violate the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars or more than three hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than thirty days or more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. It shall be the duty of the court before whom a conviction is had to, within ten days after judgment of conviction is rendered, forward a certified copy of said judgment of conviction to the chief grain inspector; and it is hereby made the duty of the chief grain inspector to revoke and annul any license heretofore issued to such person; and in such case no new license shall be granted to the person whose license is revoked, nor to any one either directly or indirectly engaged with him in said business, for a period of one year. [Approved March 5, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 69, p. 96.]

§ 8436b. Betting on Races.

(Section 1.) It shall be unlawful to make or report or record or register any bet or wager upon the result of any contest of speed or skill or endurance of animal or beast, whether such contest is held within or without the state of Montana.

(Section 2.) Any person who aids or abets in the commission of any of the acts herein declared to be unlawful, either by transmitting or communicating or transferring money or other thing of value, or information for the purpose of having bets or wagers made or reported or recorded or registered, shall be deemed a principal in the commission of such offense.

(Section 3.) Every person, or persons, violating any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine or not less than one hundred dollars or more than one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

(Section 4.) Chapter 92 of the Laws of the Eleventh Session of the Legislative Assembly of Montana is hereby repealed and all acts or parts of acts in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

(Section 5.) This act is hereby declared to be necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, and shall take effect from and after its passage and approval by the Governor. [Approved March 3, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 55, p. 83.]

§ 8444. Operation of Boilers Without License—Penalty.

Every person who operates any steam boiler or steam engine without first obtaining a license from the boiler inspector or assistant boiler inspector as required by law, and every owner, employer or manager of any steam engine or boiler who knowingly permits any unlicensed engineer to operate any steam boilers or steam engines where a license is required, or who operates or causes to be operated any steam engine or boiler without having the same inspected and the inspector's certificate issued thereon as required by law, or who violates any of the provisions of section 1639 to and including section 1659 of the Revised Codes of 1907 as amended by this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof, where no other punishment is prescribed, shall be punished by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail of not exceeding six months or by both such fine and imprisonment. [Amendment approved February 24, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 42.]

§ 8447. Forging or Counterfeiting Trade Marks or Names.

Every person, association or corporation who knowingly or willfully forges or counterfeits, or procures to be forged or counterfeited, any trade mark or name used and recorded by any person in connection with his goods, or affixed thereto to distinguish them from the goods of any other person; or any person, association or corporation who shall make use of any trade mark or name, or anything similar thereto, which has been recorded in the office of the Secretary of State for any other person, association or corporation,—with intent to palm off on the public, any goods to which said forged, counterfeit or similar trade mark or name is affixed, as the goods of such person whose trade mark or name is recorded,—is guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to the penalty therefor provided—it being the intent of this act that any person owning or using a recorded trade mark or name shall be protected in the exclusive use thereof. [Amendment approved March 14, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 426.]

TRESPASS BY STOCK.

Provisions not applicable to animals in charge of a herder. See note ante, § 2090.

The provisions of this section and of section 8475, post, merely declare unlawful, and punish as a misdemeanor, the driving or herding of animals upon the uninclosed lands of another when the boundaries are marked as therein provided; they do not annul the rule of civil liability for trespasses in driving or herding one's animals upon the lands of another, whether such lands are protected by an inclosure or not. *Herrin v. § 8535.

Meaning of term "town." See note ante, § 3202.

Unincorporated town as an entity. See note ante, § 3202.

The legislature did not intend, by the exception in this section, to include within the prohibited list a ditch of any character more than ten feet deep. Judging from the history of the section and the prohibitive language employed, it was never intended to apply to a ditch or trench temporarily opened for the purpose of laying sewer-pipe. McLaughlin v. Bardsen, 50 Mont. 177, 145 Pac. 954.

"Cht," in mining law, means a surface opening in the ground intersecting a vein. McLaughlin v. Bardsen, 50 Mont. 177, 145 Pac. 954.

It is negligence per se for the owner of a mining claim not to place a cover over, or a tight fence around, a mining shaft within the limits of a city or town, or within one mile of such limits. Conway v. Monidah Trust, 47 Mont. 269, 278, 132 Pac. 26.

The owner of a mining claim is liable for a failure to place a cover over, or a tight fence around, a mining shaft within the limits of a city or town, or within one mile of such limits; hence, if one is injured by falling into an unguarded shaft on such premises, the owner is answerable in damages, though he did not sink the shaft, and though the injured person was technically a trespasser; but, of course, the evidence must show that the shaft is within the defined limits. Conway v. Monidah Trust, 47 Mont. 269, 280, 282, 132 Pac. 26.

Analogy between statutes. See note ante, § 4289.

This section does not make it obligatory upon mine operators to employ a station-tender at each station; nor does it prohibit the employer from imposing the duty of opening and closing the cage doors upon those who have other duties to perform, where such duties do not interfere with each other. Maronen v. Anaconda Copper Min. Co., 48 Mont. 249, 266, 136 Pac. 968.

This section is a penal statute, and its violation a crime; but the fact that a penalty is attached for its violation does not render the violator immune from civil liability under section 6486, ante. Maronen v. Anaconda Copper Min. Co., 48 Mont. 249, 258, 136 Pac. 968.

This section did not create any right of action, or destroy any defense available at the time of its enactment. Maronen v. Anaconda Copper Min. Co., 48 Mont. 249, 258, 136 Pac. 968.

History of section. Monson v. La France Copper Co., 39 Mont. 50, 59, 133 Am. St. Rep. 549, 101 Pac. 243.

In cases where an employee has a choice of continuing in the employment or of abandoning it, when the employer habitually omits use of the statutory safeguards, the defense of assumption of risk is available to the employer, even though the negligence alleged is the violation of a statutory duty; but the duty imposed on the employer by the statute is a continuing one, and where the employee has no such choice, as where he is in a deep mining shaft and has no means of egress other than that provided by the employer, and must use a mining cage from which the doors are missing, contrary to the provisions of this section, he will be presumed to have submitted to its use from necessity, and, therefore, not to have assumed the attendant risk. Monson v. La France Copper Co., 43 Mont. 65, 71, 114 Pac. 779.

The defense of assumption of risk is based, not upon contract, but on the principle expressed by the maxim, "Volenti non fit injuria." Osterholm v. Boston etc. Min. Co., 40 Mont. 508, 526, 107 Pac. 499.

The failure of an employing company to equip a safety-cage in a mine with doors, as required by this section, does not prevent it from interposing the defense of assumption of risk or contributory negligence. The statute does not impose this additional penalty for its omission of duty in this respect; the penalty imposed cannot be augmented by implication. Osterholm v. Boston etc. Min. Co., 40 Mont. 508, 527, 107 Pac. 499.

An allegation of negligence in storing dynamite in a mine, in a quantity greater than three thousand pounds, or in storing that or any other explosive in a mine where, should an explosion accidentally take place, escape by those working in the mine would be cut off, charges the violation of a specific duty imposed by this section, and such a violation is negligence per se. *Westlake v. INTOXICANTS.

The provisions of this section do not apply to the selling, furnishing or giving away intoxicating liquors, wine or cider within the limits of any town or city, provided, that the word "town" or "city" within the meaning of this section shall include all places and only such places as have a bona fide permanent population of not less than fifty persons over the age of twenty-one years residing within the territory not exceeding one mile square and excluding from such enumeration all persons who have not resided at least one year in such place, and also excluding all employees, owners or agents engaged in any of the above named business; provided, that the provisions of this section shall not apply to any person previously engaged in selling intoxicating liquors at a fixed place of business, established two years prior to the beginning of work in or upon, or the erection or construction, or operation of any of the things enumerated in this act, or to his assigns. [Amendment approved March 5, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 105.]

(Section 2.) Police power is conferred hereby upon every conductor of a railroad company engaged in operating trains upon lines of railway in Every person who within the limits of any city or town carries or bears concealed upon his person a dirk, dagger, pistol, revolver, slung-shot, sword cane, or knuckles made of any metal or hard substance, or other deadly weapon, is punishable by imprisonment in the county jail for a term not exceeding six months or by a fine not exceeding five hundred ($500) dollars or by imprisonment in the penitentiary for a period not exceeding five (5) years. This section shall not apply to peace officers or persons summoned in their aid in the discharge of their official duty, nor to the carrying of arms in one's premises or place of business. This act shall not be construed as repealing any other provisions of section 8586 of the Revised Codes of Montana, 1907. [Amendment approved March 1, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 118.]

Unincorporated town as an entity. See note ante, § 3202.

"Town," when used in a statute as intended to convey the sense only of incorporated town, has always the qualifying word with it. State ex rel. Powers v. Dale, 47 Mont. 231, Ann. Cas. 1914D, 227, 131 Pac. 670.

§ 8591a. Sale of Toy Weapons and Explosives Prohibited.

(Section 1.) Any person who shall sell, trade, exchange or give away, or offer to sell, trade, exchange or give away, or who shall have the possession of, what is known as toy pistols, toy cannons, cap pistols, explosive canes or other devices or appliances for the use of blank cartridges or caps containing chlorate of potash mixture or other explosive substance; or any blank cartridge, paper caps or other explosive substance prepared for, used in, or intended for use in toy pistols, cap pistols, explosive canes or other such appliances, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

(Section 2.) Toy pistols, toy cannons, cap pistols, explosive canes, and all such devices and appliances designated in the preceding section are hereby declared to be a public nuisance, and it shall be the duty of every officer authorized to make arrests, to seize every such toy pistol, article and device and bring the same before a committing magistrate.

(Section 3.) The magistrate before whom such toy pistol, article or device is brought must cause the public destruction of the same and no person owning or claiming to own any such toy pistol, article or device shall have any right of action against any person or against the state, county or city for the value of such article or for damages for the destruction thereof.

(Section 4.) It shall be the duty of every mayor of every town or city in the state, to cause this act to be diligently enforced and to cause the police officers of his city or town to arrest and make complaint against any and all persons offending against any of the provisions of this act. [Approved March 2, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 70, p. 133.]

CRIMES AGAINST PROPERTY.

§ 8592.

Deposit of county money in a bank, when a felony. See note ante, § 3003.

It is a felony for a county treasurer to keep county moneys on a general deposit in a bank without the security required by section 3003, ante. Yellowstone County v. First Trust and Sav. Bank, 46 Mont. 439, 449, 128 Pac. 596.

§ 8620.

To constitute a burglarious entry, the act of entry must itself be a trespass, and the information should, therefore, negative the idea that the defendant had the right to enter. State v. Mish, 36 Mont. 170, 122 Am. St. Rep. 343, 92 Pac. 459.

An information charging burglary need not allege the time of the day when the offense was committed. State v. Copenhagen, 35 Mont. 344, 89 Pac. 61.

The degree of an offense is a matter of proof, and is for the jury to determine under proper instructions; but when the pleader makes the specific charge of a burglary in the night-time, he unnecessarily narrows the scope of inquiry and must be held to proof of the charges made. State v. Copenhagen, 35 Mont. 344, 89 Pac. 61.

The changing of a writing from a non-negotiable instrument into a negotiable promissory note, done with criminal intent, constitutes forgery. State v. Mitton, 37 Mont. 376, 127 Am. St. Rep. 732, 96 Pac. 926.

A juror's certificate, void because it does not bear the seal required by the statute, is not subject of forgery. In re Farrell, 36 Mont. 254, 92 Pac. 785.

A person charged with forgery, in fraudulently making an instrument, cannot be convicted by showing that he altered the instrument. State v. Mitton, 36 Mont. 383, 92 Pac. 969.

Not every alteration of one of the instruments mentioned in this section amounts to forgery. In order that an alteration may constitute forgery, it must be material. State v. Mitton, 36 Mont. 382, 92 Pac. 969.

It is therefore necessary that the information set forth the particulars in which the instrument is alleged to have been altered, so that the court may say, as a matter of law, whether the alteration is of a character such as to constitute the crime of forgery. State v. Mitton, 36 Mont. 382, 92 Pac. 969.

To warrant a conviction for uttering a forged note, it is not necessary that the forgery, in the first instance, should have been committed by the defendant. If, knowing that the instrument was a forgery, he passed it as genuine with felonious intent, he is guilty of forgery. State v. Mitton, 37 Mont. 372, 127 Am. St. Rep. 732, 96 Pac. 926.

Power of appellate court. See note post, § 9417.

Sufficiency of information for grand larceny. See note post, § 8645.

One cannot be convicted of larceny except upon the taking of the personal property of another, as described in this section. A partner cannot commit larceny of the funds or property of the partnership of which he is a member; but, until an agreement to form a partnership ripens into a consummation of the agreement, a person who contemplates becoming a partner may become the bailee of his prospective partner, and, if he feloniously appropriates the latter's property to his own use, he may be convicted of larceny as bailee. State v. Brown, 38 Mont. 309, 315, 99 Pac. 954.

An indictment charging the defendant with larceny as bailee must contain an averment of the bailment, but the particulars of the bailment need not be averred. State v. Brown, 38 Mont. 309, 313, 99 Pac. 954.

An indictment charging the defendant with larceny, as bailee, in the words of the statute, and in the form prescribed by section 9148, post, is sufficient. It is not open to the objection that it fails to describe the character of the bailment. State v. Brown, 38 Mont. 309, 313, 99 Pac. 954.

If the state has convicted a defendant of the crime of grand larceny, but the evidence just does not justify such conviction, and the Attorney General suggests that the prosecution was conducted under the wrong section of the code, the case will be remanded for a new trial, or for such other proceedings as the state may take. State v. Thomas, 46 Mont. 468, 128 Pac. 588.

An instruction in a grand larceny case which omits the element of felonious or criminal intent, is erroneous. State v. Peterson, 36 Mont. 109, 92 Pac. 302.

Where a party let defendant have a check on the agreement that he should use the proceeds for cashing checks and repay the amount on a certain day, defendant was not guilty of larceny as bailee when he used it for other purposes and did not repay it. As the transaction was a loan for exchange and the title passed to defendant. State v. Karri (Mont.), 149 Pac. 956.

If several different articles have been stolen in substantially the same transaction; if the different asportations are prompted by one design, one purpose, one impulse, they are a single act, without regard to time, and the value of the different articles may be aggregated in order to make out a charge of grand larceny. § 9006.

Duties of sheriff. See note ante, §§ 3010, 3030, 8962.

A comparison of sections 8992 and 9006 shows that the former was intended to apply to those cases only in which the accused has been guilty of willful or corrupt misconduct or malfeasance; the latter, to those derelictions which are the result of incompetency or inattention to official duties. State v. District Court, 44 Mont. 318, 323, Ann. Cas. 1913B, 396, 119 Pac. 1103.

One accused under section 8992, ante, is entitled to a trial by jury; but one accused, under this section, 9006, is not so entitled. The question of guilt or innocence lies exclusively with the judge, and, no appeal or method of review being provided for, the supreme court cannot control or coerce the judgment of the lower court. State v. District Court, 44 Mont. 318, 328, Ann. Cas. 1913B, 396, 119 Pac. 1103.

A police judge, who accepts fees or compensation other than that provided in section 3241, ante, though he acted in ignorance of the law, or in good faith and without guilty intent or even under the advice of the Attorney General, may be deprived of his office. State v. District Court, 44 Mont. 318, 324, Ann. Cas. 1913B, 396, 119 Pac. 1103.

Under this section, an officer is subject to removal for delinquency, either in demanding excessive fees, or in the performance of the duties enjoined by law, without reference to whether he acts willfully and corruptly or not. State v. District Court, 44 Mont. 318, 324, Ann. Cas. 1913B, 396, 119 Pac. 1103.

The district court may remove a police judge from office for illegally collecting a fee from a defendant, upon approving a bond filed in support of an appeal from a judgment of conviction for the violation of a city ordinance. State v. District Court, 45 Mont. 205, 209, 122 Pac. 270.

A police judge is not entitled to any fee in a case arising out of the violation of a city ordinance, either from the city or from the defendant. State v. District Court, 45 Mont. 205, 209, 122 Pac. 270.

In a charge to obtain the removal of a police judge for collecting illegal fees, it is unnecessary to allege that he acted willfully, intentionally, and corruptly. State v. District Court, 44 Mont. 318, 326, Ann. Cas. 1913B, 396, 119 Pac. 1103.

A sheriff's neglect of official duty is an offense public in its nature, under section 8107, ante; and an accusation looking to his removal from office for such neglect is sufficient in form, where it is entitled in the name of the state "on the accusation" of certain persons, if, from the whole body of the charge, it is apparent that a public proceeding and not a private action was instituted by it. State v. Driscoll, 49 Mont. 558, 560, 144 Pac. 153.

An accusation against a sheriff for neglect of duty, in failing to suppress a riot, and asking his removal from office, does not necessarily have to be made in the language of section 8565, ante. A statement of facts from which the existence of a riot was inferable is sufficient. State v. Driscoll, 49 Mont. 558, 565, 144 Pac. 153.

One of the methods provided by law for the removal of an officer from office is a summary proceeding, as prescribed in this section, initiated upon a written accusation verified by the oath of "any person." State v. Driscoll, 49 Mont. 558, 561, 144 Pac. 153.

Where a person is shot in one county but dies in another, and is charged with murder in the former county, it is unnecessary to allege where the deceased died; and, though it is alleged that he died in the county where the fatal shot was fired, while the evidence shows that he died in another county, there is no variance. That term refers to a disagreement between the allegations, in the information and the proof, with reference to some matter that is legally essential to the charge. *State v. Sufficiency of information for murder, where the deceased was assaulted, exposed to inclement weather, and neglected. State v. Rees, 40 Mont. 571, 575, 107 Pac. 893.

Allegations sufficient for a common-law indictment for murder suffice for an information under the code. State v. McGowan, 36 Mont. 422, 93 Pac. 552.

An information charging an attempt to obtain money by false pretenses, although defective in form and containing immaterial averments, is sufficient. State v. Phillips, 36 Mont. 118, 92 Pac. 299.

If a person of common understanding would, from the reading of an information, know that the defendant is charged with murder in the first degree, the defendant will be presumed to have a like knowledge and be held not prejudiced by the use of peculiar phraseology. State v. McGowan, 36 Mont. 422, 93 Pac. 552.

Sufficiency of indictment for larceny, as bailee. See note ante, § 8642.

Section 27 of article VIII of the Constitution requires all prosecutions to be conducted in the name and by the authority of the state, but an information need not necessarily contain a specific allegation that the prosecution is so conducted, where it is in the form prescribed by this section; where it meets the requirements of section 9156; post, and where it alleges that the defendant is accused "in the name and on behalf of the state of Montana." State v. Barry, 45 Mont. 582, 585, 124 Pac. 774.

Allegations sufficient for a common-law indictment for murder are sufficient for an information under the code. State v. Hayes, 38 Mont. 219, 221, 99 Pac. 434.

An information alleging that at a specified time and place defendant did "willfully, unlawfully, feloniously, premeditatedly and of his malice aforethought, kill and murder" a designated person, is sufficient to charge murder, though it does not set forth facts showing how and by what means the actual killing was accomplished. State v. Hayes, 38 Mont. 219, 221, 99 Pac. 434.

Sufficiency of information. See note ante, § 9148.

Sufficiency of information charging an attempt to obtain money by false pretenses. State v. Phillips, 36 Mont. 118, 92 Pac. 299.

§ 9151.

The inhibition of this section is directed to pleadings which charge more than one distinct offense, not to a pleading which, in each of two counts, charges the same offense; hence, an information charging forgery in two counts, the first by the false making of the instrument, and the second by uttering it, is not demurrable. State v. Mitton, 37 Mont. 370, 127 Am. St. Rep. 732, 96 Pac. 926.

Limitation of time for prosecution for murder or manslaughter. See ante, § 9026.

It is not necessary that murder or manslaughter should have been committed upon the precise date laid in the information for either crime, where it appears, from the evidence that it was committed at any time prior to the filing of the information. State v. Vanella, 40 Mont. 326, 341, 20 Ann. Cas. 398, 106 Pac. 364.

§ 9153.

In prosecution for receiving stolen property, ownership must be proved as alleged. See note ante, § 8662.

§ 9156.

Sufficiency of prosecution in name of state. See note ante, § 9148.

This section, and sections 9145 and 9148, ante, were intended to relax the technical common law, and to simplify the procedure to the end that regard to substance, rather than form, should be the rule of interpretation. State v. Brown, 38 Mont. 309, 312, 99 Pac. 954.

Stating facts, charging a crime, in the form of participial clauses, though that is a method of pleading not to be commended, does not render an information abortive. The proper way, however, to make the charge is by direct allegation. State v. Pemberton, 39 Mont. 530, 532, 104 Pac. 556.

It is sufficient in an information for robbery, to charge that the taking was accomplished "with" force and fear, instead of "by means of force and fear." The word "with," in this connection, is equivalent to the expression "by means of." State v. Pemberton, 39 Mont. 530, 533, 104 Pac. 556.

An information for robbery is sufficient, with respect to the crime, if it enables a person of ordinary understanding to know what is intended to be charged. State v. Pemberton, 39 Mont. 530, 532, 104 Pac. 556.

Instance of a complaint charging a sale of liquor, in violation of the local option law, and meeting all the requirements of the statute. State v. O'Brien, 35 Mont. 494, 10 Ann. Cas. 1006, 90 Pac. 514.

Waiver of objections. See note post, § 9208.

An information charging an attempt to obtain money by false pretenses, though defective in form and containing immaterial averments, is held sufficient to sustain a conviction, when it is apparent that the defendant has suffered no prejudice. State v. Phillips, 36 Mont. 118, 92 Pac. 299.

Superfluous words or sentences, in an information charging murder in the first degree, may be disregarded if, without them, the offense is sufficiently charged.

State v. McGowan, 36 Mont. 427, 93 Pac. 552.

§ 9164.

An information for the larceny of money need not describe the money alleged to have been taken. State v. Hall, 45 Mont. 498, 502, 125 Pac. 639.

§ 9172.

While the offense of kidnaping includes the minor offenses of false imprisonment and assault in the third degree, the court need not so formulate the charge that the jury may find the defendant guilty of a lower offense or of an included offense, where the evidence is such as to show that defendant is guilty of the offense charged or is entitled to an acquittal. § 9193.

Mandatory nature of provisions and procedure. See note post, § 9194.

The motion must be in writing, subscribed by the defendant or his counsel, and must specify the particular ground of objection. State v. Chevigny, 48 Mont. 382, 384, 138 Pac. 257.

Editorial Notes.

Necessity that criminal information filed by prosecuting attorney be under oath. 7 Ann. Cas. 983.

The defendant, in a criminal case, may insist that the provisions of sections 9105, 9107, and 9193, ante, be observed, as they are all mandatory, but he need not do so. If he does not, the court is authorized and required by this section, 9194, to proceed upon the assumption that all antecedent requirements have been observed. This section, 9194, is not less mandatory than are the others, and, if the defendant does not invoke it, at the proper time and in the way pointed out by it, he will thereafter not be heard to complain. State v. Chevigny, 48 Mont. 382, 384, 138 Pac. 257.

Where the defendant enters a plea to an information, without a written motion to set it aside, and consents to an immediate trial, he thereby waives his right to make any objections to the information. State v. Vinn, 50 Mont. 27, 144 Pac. 772.

Editorial Notes.

Time and method of objecting to indictment on ground of duplicity. 10 Ann. Cas. 1004.

§ 9200.

Waiver of objections. See note post, § 9208.

If a charge of crime is not direct and certain, it is open to attack on special demurrer. State v. Pemberton, 39 Mont. 530, 533, 104 Pac. 556.

Where an information for a misdemeanor was filed more than one year and ten months after the time of the alleged offense, and it contains an allegation that, on or about that time, the defendant left the state and afterward resided without the state, the defendant, under the fifth subdivision of this section, may properly demur to the information on the ground that it appears upon the face thereof that the prosecution is barred by the statute of limitations. State v. Clemens, 40 Mont. 567, 571, 107 Pac. 896.

Waiver of objections. See note post, § 9208.

Where an objection to the information must be taken by demurrer, and it is so taken, the objection is waived, unless it is distinctly specified. State v. Tudor, 47 Mont. 185, 187, 131 Pac. 632.

§ 9203.

An order sustaining a defendant's demurrer, in a criminal case, amounts to entering a judgment in favor of the defendant. State v. Gemmell, 45 Mont. 210, 211, 122 Pac. 268.

§ 9204.

Though an indictment is quashed for invalidity, the state is not thereby precluded from proceeding by information for the same offense. State v. Vinn, 50 Mont. 27, 144 Pac. 772.

In view of sections 9157, 9200, 9201, and 9208, the defendant is required to raise all questions touching the form of the charge made against him, not going to the jurisdiction of the court or the sufficiency of the facts, by demurrer, and if he fails to do so, he must be conclusively presumed to have waived them. State v. Tudor, 47 Mont. 185, 188, 131 Pac. 632.

If an information is attacked in the trial court by motion in arrest of judgment, all questions arising upon alleged defects in the information, except that of want of jurisdiction and the sufficiency of the facts to state a public offense, are waived. State v. Pemberton, 39 Mont. 530, 533, 104 Pac. 556.

If an accused person pleads to an information, without interposing the objection, by motion, that, having already been prosecuted by indictment, he cannot be prosecuted by information, that objection is waived. State v. Vinn, 50 Mont. 27, 144 Pac. 772.

An objection that an information charges two distinct offenses is waived unless it is raised by special demurrer. State v. Rodgers, 40 Mont. 248, 251, 106 Pac. 3.

PLEA.

§ 9209.

The provisions of this section are not applicable in an action for wrongful death under section 6486, ante, where a violation of section 8536, ante, is charged. Maronen v. Anaconda Copper Min. Co., 48 Mont. 249, 261, 136 Pac. 968.

§ 9212.

The plea of not guilty of the offense charged puts in issue the allegations of prior convictions, as well as the other allegations in the information. State v. Gordon, 35 Mont. 465, 90 Pac. 173.

JURY.

§ 9244.

Peremptory challenges in civil cases. See note ante, § 6740.

A substantial compliance with the law is required in the work of procuring a jury. Anything less will vitiate such work. State v. Groom, 49 Mont. 354, 358, 141 Pac. 858.

Case clearly within the provisions of this section. State v. Groom, 49 Mont. 354, 357, 141 Pac. 858.

A sheriff will not be permitted to summon only such veniremen as suits his whim or caprice. To do so would allow him to defeat the constitutional guaranty of a speedy trial by an impartial jury. State v. Groom, 49 Mont. 354, 358, 141 Pac. 858.

A challenge to the panel must be sustained where the sheriff has intentionally omitted to serve one or more of the jurors drawn, if the accused raises the objection. State v. Groom, 49 Mont. 354, 358, 141 Pac. 858.

It is not every deviation from the strict letter of the law in drawing or returning a jury that will furnish ground for a challenge to the panel. The departure must be a material one. State v. Groom, 49 Mont. 354, 359, 141 Pac. 858.

Editorial Notes.

Right to interpose challenge to array in absence of statute. Ann. Cas. 1912A, 1137.

§ 9249.

An exception to the challenge to a jury panel in a criminal case is, in effect, a demurrer and admits all the facts stated to be true. State v. Groom, 49 Mont. 354, 357, 141 Pac. 858.

§ 9251.

Where all parties treat a challenge to the panel as raising an issue of fact under this section, the supreme court will treat the matter as though an issue had been raised by a denial of the challenge. State v. Groom, 49 Mont. 354, 357, 141 Pac. 858.

In a criminal case, where all parties have apparently treated an exception to a challenge to the jury panel as raising an issue of fact under this section, the court will treat the matter as though an issue had been raised by a denial of the challenge. State v. Groom, 49 Mont. 354, 357, 141 Pac. 858.

TRIAL.

This section is mandatory in character. Specifications of error relating to instructions cannot be considered on appeal unless the record shows that the alleged errors were specifically pointed out at the settlement of the instructions, and the exceptions are incorporated in a bill of exceptions, settled as provided by law.

State v. Thomas, 46 Mont. 468, 128 Pac. 588.

The fourth paragraph of this section, prohibiting a reversal for error in instructions, unless pointed out and incorporated in a bill of exceptions, is mandatory; hence, in a criminal case, where the record on appeal does not contain a bill of exceptions, error in instructions cannot be considered. State v. Cook, 42 Mont. 329, 331, 112 Pac. 537.

It is still obligatory upon the trial court, in a criminal case, to deliver its instructions in writing, in the absence of a waiver of the parties. State v. Tudor, 47 Mont. 185, 190, 131 Pac. 632.

General requests and objections are to be disregarded both by the trial court and by the supreme court. The particular ground of objection to a proposed instruction must specifically specify wherein it is insufficient or does not state the law. State v. Hall, 45 Mont. 498, 517, 125 Pac. 639.

The defendant, in a criminal case, is bound by instructions to which he does not object. State v. Crean, 43 Mont. 47, 60, Ann. Cas. 1912C, 424, 114 Pac. 603.

If a party does not offer a good instruction, and fails to point out any defect in that of the court, he cannot be heard to say that the trial court erred to his prejudice; and the supreme court cannot, under such circumstances, grant a reversal. State v. Hall, 45 Mont. 498, 517, 125 Pac. 639.

A party cannot on appeal complain of the modification of an instruction where no objection was made and no exception was taken in the trial court. State v. Vanella, 40 Mont. 326, 343, 20 Ann. Cas. 398, 106 Pac. 364.

An objection that instructions of the trial court, in a criminal case, were oral will be disregarded on appeal if the record does not show how the instructions were delivered, whether orally or in writing. State v. Tudor, 47 Mont. 185, 190, 131 Pac. 632.

A defendant who fails to make objection to any portion of the charge, or to any action of the trial court in its settlement during trial, will not, on appeal, be heard to complain of error therein, or of any omission by the court to submit any special instruction. State v. Stone, 40 Mont. 88, 93, 105 Pac. 89.

Instructions in a prosecution for robbery, there being also allegations of prior convictions in another state, held not ground for reversal, though, perhaps, they were improper. State v. Paisley, 36 Mont. 251, 92 Pac. 566.

In a prosecution for murder, the burden of proving circumstances of mitigation or justification is on the defendant. State v. Byrd, 41 Mont. 585, 596, 111 Pac. 407.

In a prosecution for murder, the duty of showing excuse, or palliating circumstances, or of adducing evidence of facts sufficient to raise in the minds of the jurors a reasonable doubt of the defendant's guilt, is upon the accused. State v. Leakey, 44 Mont. 354, 366, 120 Pac. 234.

While this section declares the circumstances under which the burden of proof shifts to the defendant, he is not, at any time, required to bear a greater burden than to go forward with his proofs far enough to create in the minds of the jurors a reasonable doubt as to his guilt. The burden is upon the state, from the beginning to the end of the trial, to prove the facts necessary to establish the crime; the burden is not on the defendant to disprove them. State v. Halk, 49 Mont. 173, 175, 141 Pac. 146.

Where the evidence on the part of the prosecution, in a case of homicide, tends to show that the killing amounted to murder, the burden is upon the defendant to prove circumstances of mitigation, or that justified or excused the killing; but, concerning the quantum of proof, if he raises a reasonable doubt of his guilt, he should be acquitted. State v. Crean, 43 Mont. 47, 55, Ann. Cas. 1912C, 424, 114 Pac. 603.

To be an accomplice, participation in guilt is necessary. He must be an associate in the crime. State v. Wakely, 43 Mont. 427, 438, 117 Pac. 95.

A mere player at one of the games prohibited by section 8416, ante, is not an accomplice, and, in a prosecution against another for conducting such a game, it is not necessary that the player's testimony be corroborated. State v. Wakely, 43 Mont. 427, 438, 117 Pac. 95.

It is a sufficient corroboration of the testimony of an accomplice that the evidence, independent of his testimony, has enough probative value in it to warrant a submission of it to the jury for a finding as to the guilt of the defendant. State v. Biggs, 45 Mont. 400, 406, 123 Pac. 410.

Evidence of accomplice, in larceny, sufficiently corroborated. State v. Van, 44 Mont. 374, 387, 120 Pac. 479.

Evidence, disregarding that of an accomplice, insufficient to sustain a conviction of grand larceny. State v. Lawson, 44 Mont. 488, 492, 120 Pac. 488.

In a larceny case, the testimony of an accomplice will not support a conviction unless corroborative. State v. McCarthy, 36 Mont. 235, 92 Pac. 521.

A person through whom a litigant attempts to corruptly influence a member of a jury panel is, under the circumstances of the case, held not an accomplice whose testimony it is necessary to corroborate before the litigant can be found guilty of contempt. State v. District Court, 37 Mont. 191, 199, 15 Ann. Cas. 743, 95 Pac. 593.

It must affirmatively appear that one charged with a felony was present when the verdict was received; but this may be shown by every fair intendment of the record. State v. De Lea, 36 Mont. 537, 93 Pac. 814.

The purpose of the provision that the names of the jurors must be called by the clerk when their verdict is delivered is to insure their presence before delivery of the verdict. State v. De Lea, 36 Mont. 534, 93 Pac. 814.

§ 9322.

Where the defendant, in a criminal case, relies upon the defense of insanity, the jury should be told that they may find him "not guilty by reason of insanity." State v. Crowe, 39 Mont. 174, 184, 18 Ann. Cas. 643, 102 Pac. 579.

§ 9324.

In the absence of testimony, it will be presumed on appeal that the trial court, in a burglary case, had evidence before it justifying a finding that, if guilty at all, the defendant was guilty of an attempt to commit burglary in the night-time, which constitutes the first degree of the offense, and that the punishment inflicted was proper. State v. Mish, 36 Mont. 168, 175, 122 Am. St. Rep. 343, 92 Pac. 459.

The degree of burglary is a matter of proof, and is for the jury to determine under proper instructions. State v. Copenhaver, 35 Mont. 344, 89 Pac. 61.

Construed with reference to mere informality in verdict, where the matter of prior convictions was involved. State v. Gordon, 35 Mont. 466, 90 Pac. 173.

The provision of this section, that the verdict of the jury upon a charge of previous conviction may be, "we find the charge of previous conviction true," is not mandatory, but directory merely. State v. Gordon, 35 Mont. 466, 90 Pac. 173.

It is immaterial whether the crime for which the defendant is alleged to have been previously convicted in another state is a felony in that state, if the offense is such that, if committed in this state, it would subject the offender to imprisonment in the state prison. In charging a prior conviction, therefore, it is sufficient to allege the fact of the defendant's former conviction of a named offense, indicating the court which rendered the judgment and the date thereof. State v. Paisley, 36 Mont. 247, 92 Pac. 566.

A judgment of conviction will not be reversed for a mere informality of the verdict, finding the defendant guilty of robbery and also "guilty of prior conviction," instead of following the language of this section, "we find the charge of previous conviction true." State v. Gordon, 35 Mont. 464, 90 Pac. 173.

Murder in the first degree includes manslaughter. State v. Crean, 43 Mont. 47, 53, Ann. Cas. 1912C, 424, 114 Pac. 603.

An information charging murder, when stripped of the terms conveying the idea of deliberation, premeditation and malice, sufficiently charges manslaughter, and the accused may be found guilty of the lesser offense. State v. Crean, 43 Mont. 47, 53, Ann. Cas. 1912C, 424, 114 Pac. 603.

Where an information makes the specific charge of a burglary in the night-time, the pleader thereby unnecessarily narrows the scope of inquiry, and he must prove the charge as made. State v. Copenhaver, 35 Mont. 344, 89 Pac. 61.

NEW TRIAL.

§ 9350.

Impeachment of verdict in civil cases. See note ante, § 6794.

New trial in civil action, for verdict claimed to be too small in amount. See note ante, § 6794.

A new trial cannot, in a prosecution for a violation of section 8416, ante, be granted for misconduct of the jury, during their deliberations, in examining a court calendar and in discovering that there were two other cases against the defendant for the same offense, where the only evidence of such misconduct is that of the jurors themselves. It must be shown by other evidence. State v. Wakely, 43 Mont. 427, 438, 117 Pac. 427.

The impeachment of verdicts, by jurors, should not be tolerated further than the statute permits. Sutton v. Lowry, 39 Mont. 462, 471, 104 Pac. 545.

JUDGMENT.

§ 9357.

Waiver of right, in a justice's court, to a postponement for judgment. See note post, § 9614.

§ 9358.

In the absence of testimony, it will be presumed, on appeal that the trial court, in a burglary case, had evidence before it justifying a finding that, if guilty at all, the defendant was guilty of an attempt to commit burglary in the nighttime, which constitutes the first degree of the offense, and that the punishment inflicted was proper. State v. Mish, 36 Mont. 168, 175, 122 Am. St. Rep. 343, 92 Pac. 459.

§ 9371.

The provision of a judgment imposing a fine of five hundred dollars, that in default of payment defendant be imprisoned "for the term of one day for each two dollars of said fine not paid," specifies the extent if imprisonment, and the words "not paid" do not render the judgment indefinite. State ex rel. Poindexter v. District Court (Mont.), 149 Pac. 958.

§ 9373.

Though Revised Codes, section 8388, does not authorize a greater penalty than a fine for a first offense, the court may order that in default of payment of the fine defendant be imprisoned one day for each two dollars of the fine not paid, as this is no part of the penalty but a method of enforcing it. State ex rel. Poindexter v. District Court (Mont.), 149 Pac. 958.

§ 9374.

The method enforcing payment of a fine provided by this section is merely cumulative, and does not prohibit the enforcement of a fine by imprisonment in default of payment. State ex rel. Poindexter v. District Court (Mont.), 149 Pac. 958.

§ 9376.

Referred to in connection with instructions in a robbery case, wherein a prior conviction of burglary in another state was charged. State v. Paisley, 36 Mont. 251, 92 Pac. 566.

Error of the court in assuming the guilt of the accused, in instructions to the jury, is not necessarily ground for reversal, even if the evidence is up for review, and clearly is not in the absence of the evidence from the record. State v. Gordon, 35 Mont. 468, 90 Pac. 173.

EXECUTION.

Proceedings in contempt are in their nature criminal, and the order adjudging one in contempt is in its nature a final judgment, but the sheriff cannot execute a judgment in a criminal matter or proceeding "without competent authority," as provided in section 9773, post; hence, where one has been committed for contempt, and the sheriff does not hold a certified copy of the order of commitment, he is not authorized to detain the person so committed. Ex parte Mettler, 50 Mont. 299, 146 Pac. 747.

§ 9379.

An instruction embodying the provisions of this section is not open to the objection that it practically deprives the defendant of the presumption of innocence which attends him until his guilt is established beyond a reasonable doubt. State v. Farnham, 35 Mont. 379, 89 Pac. 728.

Editorial Notes.

Sentence of imprisonment until fine is paid. 12 Am. St. Rep. 202.

An attorney found guilty of contempt was properly subject to punishment by fine and imprisonment until the fine was paid. State ex rel. Coleman v. District Court (Mont.), 149 Pac. 973.

§ 9380.

The certified copy of the judgment is the evidence of the warden's authority for detaining the prisoner. Stephens v. Conley, 48 Mont. 352, 367, 138 Pac. 189.

APPEALS.

§ 9397.

Review of intermediate orders. See note post, § 9416.

An appeal does not lie from an order overruling a motion in arrest of judgment. State v. Brown, 38 Mont. 309, 311, 99 Pac. 954.

§ 9400.

Referred to in construing section 9406, post. State v. Foster, 36 Mont. 280, 92 Pac. 761.

Referred to in State v. Foster, 36 Mont. 280, 92 Pac. 761.

The clerk of the district court must, as soon as notice of appeal is filed, prepare a copy of the record and other papers and transmit the same within ten days from the date of the notice, or, in case there is a bill of exceptions to be settled, then, within ten days of the date of settlement, to the clerk of the supreme court, without charge to the appellant. A praecipe enumerating the papers constituting such technical record need not be lodged with the clerk. State v. Foster, 36 Mont. 280, 92 Pac. 761.

The copy of the record which the clerk of the district court is required to prepare upon the filing of a notice of appeal and transmit to the clerk of the supreme court must comply with rule VI, subdivision 2, and rule VII of the latter court. State v. Foster, 36 Mont. 278, 92 Pac. 761.

Construed with reference to mere informality in verdict, where the matter of prior convictions was involved. State v. Gordon, 35 Mont. 466, 90 Pac. 173.

The early ruling of the supreme court that "error appearing, prejudice will be presumed," has been abrogated, or at least modified, by this section. State v. Gordon, 35 Mont. 466, 90 Pac. 173.

To warrant the supreme court in interfering with the judgment in a criminal case; it must appear that the substantial rights of the defendant have been injuriously affected. State v. Crean, 43 Mont. 47, 60, Ann. Cas. 1912C, 424, 114 Pac. 603.

It is for the supreme court to determine whether an error affects the substantial rights of the defendant. If the point can be decided from an inspection of the record, the court may act accordingly; if the defendant claims prejudice, it is his duty to demonstrate that fact from the record. State v. Byrd, 41 Mont. 585, 592, 111 Pac. 407.

Where the record does not show that the jurors were not all present when the verdict was delivered, and from the minutes no other fair inference can be drawn than that they were then actually present, the omission from the minutes of a statement that their names were not called prior to delivery of the verdict is not prejudicial error. State v. De Lea, 36 Mont. 536, 93 Pac. 814.

An information charging an attempt to obtain money by false pretenses, though defective in form and containing immaterial averments, is sufficient to sustain a conviction, when it is apparent that the defendant has suffered no prejudice. State v. Phillips, 36 Mont. 118, 92 Pac. 299.

Under this section and section 9548, post, a judgment of conviction will not be reversed unless the error prejudiced, or tended to the prejudice of, the defendant. State v. Vanella, 40 Mont. 326, 345, 20 Ann. Cas. 398, 106 Pac. 364.

In view of this section and of section 9548, post, improper argument of counsel to the jury is no ground for reversal, where the defendant did not suffer in respect to any substantial right. State v. Murphy, 46 Mont. 591, 129 Pac. 1058.

A judgment will not be reversed for error that did not prejudice, or tend to prejudice, the defendant in respect to a substantial right. State v. Rhys, 40 Mont. 131, 134, 105 Pac. 494.

A judgment, in a criminal case, will not be reversed for errors not prejudicial. State v. Jones, 48 Mont. 505, 515, 139 Pac. 441.

Where, under the evidence in a prosecution for assault in the second degree, the defendant might have been convicted of assault in either the second or third degree, but was found guilty of the lower degree, the judgment will not be reversed for a technical error in an instruction. State v. Tracey, 35 Mont. 555, 90 Pac. 791.

A technical error in pleading a prior conviction in another state will not work a reversal, if the punishment imposed does not exceed the limit which could properly be imposed. State v. Paisley, 36 Mont. 248, 92 Pac. 566.

A conviction, otherwise proper, will not be set aside for error which has not prejudiced, or apparently tended to prejudice, the defendant in respect to a substantial right. (Reversal refused for failure to indorse the names of all witnesses on the information.) State v. McDonald (Mont.), 149 Pac. 279.

§ 9416.

An order overruling a motion in arrest of judgment is an intermediate order affecting the judgment, and may be reviewed only on appeal from the judgment. State v. Brown, 38 Mont. 309, 311, 99 Pac. 954.

§ 9417.

Judgment upon appeal in civil actions. See notes ante, §§ 6253 and 7119.

New trial where case was tried on the wrong theory. See note ante, § 8642.

Reversal, affirmance or modification of judgment in civil cases. See ante, §§ 7118 and 7119.

An unsubstantial variance is no ground for a reversal. Mosher v. Sutton's New Theater Co., 48 Mont. 137, 148, 137 Pac. 534.

A sentence is valid to the extent to which the court has power to impose it. If it contains anything beyond that, it is void only as to the excess. The objectionable part may be stricken out, and, as so modified, the remainder may be allowed to stand. State v. Stone, 40 Mont. 88, 93, 105 Pac. 89.

The citation shall be made returnable at any time within twenty days after the date thereof and may be served by the sheriff or by any duly appointed probation officer, even though such officer be the petitioner. The return of such citation with indorsement of services by the sheriff or such probation officer in accordance herewith shall be sufficient proof thereof, but no incarceration of the child proceeded against thereunder shall be made or had, unless, in the opinion of the judge of the district court, or, in the absence of the judge from the county seat, then in the opinion of the justice of the peace or committing and examining magistrate, it shall be necessary to insure its attendance in court at such time as shall be required. In order to avoid such incarceration if practical, it shall be the duty of the judge having jurisdiction to serve a notice of the proceedings upon the parent of the child, if living and known, or its legal guardian, or, if his or her whereabouts or residence is not known or if neither parent nor guardian shall be in this state, then some relative living in the county, if any there be whose whereabouts is known, and such judge having jurisdiction may accept the written or verbal promise of such person so notified, except in felony cases, or of any other proper person, to be responsible for the presence of such child at the hearing of such case, or at any other time to which the case may be continued or adjourned by the court. § 9436. Probation Officers—Salary and Expenses—Complaints Against Minors and Procedure Thereon—Trial and Punishment.

(Section 14.) In every judicial district of the state of Montana, the judge or judges thereof may appoint one discreet person of good moral character, who shall be known as the chief probation officer of such district, and who shall hold his office during the pleasure of the court, and who shall receive for his or her services such sum as shall be specified by the court upon appointment, not exceeding the sum of eighteen hundred dollars ($1,800) per annum, to be paid, however, upon a per diem basis for the time actually and necessarily employed in performing the duties of the office. Said probation officer shall also be reimbursed for the actual and reasonable traveling and other expenses incurred by him in pursuance of his official duties. Such reimbursement shall be made once each month by the county or several counties constituting the judicial district for which such probation officer shall have been appointed. Each probation officer shall, not later than the tenth (10th) day of every calendar month, and before the allowance and payment thereof, file or cause to be filed with the proper board of county commissioners of the county chargeable therewith, an itemized sworn statement and account of such expenses, including his claim for salary for the preceding month, with the approval of the district judge or judges indorsed thereon. Each county of the state shall reimburse such probation officer only in respect to such expenses as have been incurred in connection with juvenile persons residing in that county. When a judicial district consists of one county, the salary of the probation officer to be paid by that county, and when a judicial district is composed of more than one county, the salary of such officer shall be apportioned among and paid by each of said counties in proportion to the assessed valuation of such counties for the year then current.

That in every judicial district of the state of Montana the judge or judges thereof having jurisdiction, if in their opinion the circumstances require, may appoint other persons, but not to exceed two (2) to serve as probation officers, who shall receive not to exceed one hundred dollars ($100) per month, and to serve at the will of the court, and be paid by the county treasurer, as above set forth, and provided that said judge or judges of the district court may appoint as probation officers such other discreet persons of good moral character as are willing to serve without compensation. It shall be the duty of the clerk of the district court, immediately upon the appointment of a probation officer, to notify the courts and magistrates of any county in which the said officer is appointed, giving them the names and postoffice addresses of such officers. The duties of said probation officer or officers shall be such as hereinafter prescribed.

Whenever a complaint is made or pending against a boy or girl, before they have completed their seventeenth year (17th), for the commission of any offense not punishable by law with life imprisonment, or for which the penalty is death, before any court or magistrate, it shall be the duty of such court or magistrate at once and before any other proceedings are had in the cause, to give notice in writing of the pendency of said cause to the probation officer of his county. Said probation officer shall immediately, or as soon thereafter as possible, proceed to inquire into and make a full examination and investigation of the facts and circumstances surrounding the commission of the alleged offense, the parentage and surroundings of said child, its exact age, habits and school record, and everything that will throw light on its life and character, and may also inquire into the home conditions, habits and character of the parents or guardians, and shall make a full report thereon in writing to the judge of the district court having charge of such cases, before said cause is tried. If, upon consultation with the probation officer and examination of such report, it shall appear to the judge of said court that the child is not guilty of the offense charged against it, or that the interest of the child shall be best subserved thereby, the court shall order that such be not brought into court and said cause shall be dismissed. Said chief probation officer shall attend all hearings under this act and represent the interests of the child and shall take charge of any child before or after the trial, as the judges may direct; he shall serve warrants and other process of the court, within or without the county, and in that respect they are hereby clothed with the powers and authority of sheriffs; they can make arrests without warrant upon view of the violation of any of the provisions of this act and detain the person so arrested pending the issuance of a warrant, and perform such other duties incident to their offices as the judge may direct, and all sheriffs, deputy sheriffs, constables, marshals and police officers are required to render assistance to probation officers in the performance of their duties when requested to do so.

If upon the trial of any child the court shall find that such child is guilty of the offense charged, he may withhold judgment for a definite or indefinite period if it appear that the public and the interest of the child will be best subserved thereby, and may order that such child be returned to the care of his or her parents, guardian or friends; or he may commit such child to the care of a volunteer probation officer who shall exercise supervision over it until such time as it is discharged by the court from supervision upon the recommendation of such volunteer probation officer, and if the parents, parent, guardian or custodian consent thereto, or if the court shall further find either that the parent, parents, guardian or custodian are unfit or improper guardians, or are unable or unwilling to care for, protect, educate or discipline such child, and shall further find that it is for the best interest of such child and for the people of this state that such child be taken from the custody of its parents, custodian or guardian, the court may order such child to be placed in the family of some suitable person where such family home shall be recommended by the probation officer of the court after consultation with those representing the interests of the child, there to remain until he or she shall have attained the age of twenty-one years or for any less time, or the court may order such child to be placed in the home where the county's dependent children are kept; or, if it appears to be for the best interests of the child, and such child appears to be in need of institutional training, the court may order him or her to be committed to some state institution, or some institution of learning managed by a corporation or an individual, and devoted to the care of such children, for a definite or indefinite period; said institution to be situated in the state of Montana, and to be inspected at least once a year and approved by the Bureau of Child and Animal Protection, and to receive for its services a per diem of thirty-five cents for each day that such child shall be in the custody, such per diem to be paid by the county sending the child, upon itemized vouchers duly certified to by the court; or the court may impose a fine with costs, or the court may for good cause shown suspend judgment in any case for a definite or indefinite period; or, if the offense be a malicious trespass, the court may require the damage to be made good, or if the offense be petit larceny and the stolen property is not recovered, the court may require it to be paid for by the delinquent child himself if it be shown that he or she is capable of earning the money or has money of his or her own, or its parents or guardian, at the discretion of the court; and in all the foregoing cases, where the parents or guardian are unfit to have the custody of said child or unable to control said child, the court may deem the child to be the ward of the court, as far as its person is concerned; and in all cases where any child has been decreed to be the ward of the court, the authority of the court over its person shall continue until the court shall otherwise decree, and the court may adopt all rules and regulations that may be needed in order to carry out the provisions of this act. In every case in which the court shall commit any child to the care and custody of any other institution as above provided, other than a state institution and such child shall have a parent or guardian within the county, the court may make and enter an order requiring such parent or guardian to appear before said court upon a day and hour to be named by the court therein, and show cause, if any she or he have, why she or he should not pay for the support of such child, in whole or in part, while it is an inmate of such institution. A certified copy of said order shall be served upon such parent or guardian by the chief probation officer of the county not less than ten days prior to the day fixed therein for such appearance. Upon due service and return of said order, the court shall, upon the day fixed or upon such subsequent day as may be fixed by the court, hear evidence as to the financial ability of such parent or guardian, and in case the court shall find that such parent or guardian should pay for or contribute to the support and maintenance of such child, the court shall render judgment against such parent or guardian that that parent or guardian shall pay to the chief probation officer such sums as the court shall adjudge and at such time and in such amounts as shall be by the court found just. And such judgment shall be enforced as other judgments are enforced, and all moneys collected on such judgments shall be held by the chief probation officer and shall be remitted quarterly by him to the institution keeping such child or children, and the amount so remitted shall be deducted from the quarterly bill of such institution.

Provided, that the chief probation officer shall make a verified report to the court at the close of each quarter of the amount of money so collected on such judgments, which report the judge shall cause to be filed with the county commissioners with the bill rendered by the institution keeping such child. If any child is wayward and unmanageable, the court may commit him or her to the industrial school, or to any other state penal or reformatory institution authorized by law to receive such boy or girl, subject to such conditions as are already provided by law for the reception of such children in said schools or institutions. And in cases where a child shall be committed to a state or other institution as above provided, the report of the probation officer shall be attached to the commitment and the child shall be placed in charge of the probation officer, or some person designated by the court to be conveyed under his direction, to the designated institution; provided, that a woman shall always be sent with the girls so committed, and the person taking such child to the designated institution shall be allowed and paid his or her actual expenses and no more, where he or she is a paid officer of such court, appointed by the court, and in all other cases the person taking such child to any institution shall be allowed and paid for his or her services, the same fees and expenses as are paid to sheriffs in like cases;

And provided, that the court may when the health or condition of the child require it, cause the child to be placed in a public hospital or institution for treatment or special care, or in a private hospital or institution which will receive it for like purposes without charge or for the per diem of thirty-five cents a day;

Provided, that when any child contemplated by this act shall be sentenced to confinement in any institution to which adult convicts are sentenced, it shall be unlawful to confine such child in any room, yard or inclosure with such adult convicts, or to allow them in any manner to come in contact with them or in any way commingle with such adult convicts, or to bring such child into any yard or room in which adult convicts may be present;

And provided, that in every trial of any such child he shall be entitled to a trial by a jury of twelve persons if he shall so elect, and

Provided, that if any such boy or girl against whom a petition is filed is unable to give bond, and the court does not release him or her on his or her own recognizance, then said boy or girl shall be entitled to an immediate hearing and trial, according to law.

Providing that the commitment of any child to an institution or association or society shall be subject to the rules and laws that may be in force from time to time governing such institution, association or society.

Provided, that when it shall be made to appear to the court that the home of the child or of his parents, former guardian or custodian, is a suitable place for such child, and that such child could be permitted to remain or ordered to be returned to said home, consistent with the public good and the good of such child, the court may enter an order to that effect, returning such child to his home under probation parole or otherwise; it being the intention of this act that no child should be taken away or kept out of his home or away from his parents or guardian any longer than is reasonably necessary to preserve the welfare of the child and the interest of this state; provided, however, that no such order shall be entered without first giving ten days' notice to the person, institution or association to whose care such child has been committed, unless such guardian, institution, or association to whose care such child has been committed, consents to such order.

And provided, the court may from time to time, cite into court the person, institution, association or society, to whose care any delinquent child has been awarded, and require him or it to make a full, true and perfect report as to his or its doings in behalf of such child; and it shall be the duty of such person, institution or association, within ten days after such citation, to make such report, either in writing, verified by affidavit, or verbally under oath, in open court or otherwise, as the court shall direct; and upon the hearing of such report with or without further evidence, the court may, if it sees fit, take such child from said person, institution, association or society, and place it with another, or restore such child to the custody of its parents or former guardian or custodian. [Amendment presented to Governor February 23, 1915, and became a law without his approval; Laws 1915, p. 74.]

Such agreement may contain any and all proper stipulations to that end, and may authorize the institution or association, by its attorney or agent, to appear in any proceeding for the legal adoption of such child, and consent to its adoption, and the order of the court made upon such consent shall be binding upon the child and its parents or guardian or other person the same as if such person were personally present in court and consented thereto, whether made a party to the proceeding or not. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 333.]

§ 9439a. Encouragement of Delinquency a Misdemeanor.

(Section 18.) Any parent or parents, legal guardian or other persons who shall encourage, willfully cause or contribute to, or through negligence in the care, custody, guidance, education, maintenance or direction of any child of the age of seventeen (17) years, or under such age, cause or permit such child to violate any law of this state, or the ordinance or ordinances of any city of this state, or to be or become incorrigible, or to knowingly associate with thieves, vicious or immoral persons; or to grow up in idleness or crime, or to knowingly enter a house of prostitution; or to knowingly visit or patronize any place, house or apartment building where any gambling device is or devices are, or shall be operated or run, or where any gambling is done or conducted or to patronize or visit any saloon or saloons, or dram-shop or dram-shops, where intoxicating liquors are sold, or to patronize or visit any public poolroom or poolrooms, or bucket-shop, or to

§ 9439b. Suspension of Sentence.

(Section 19.) The court may suspend any sentence for the violation of the provisions of section 18 of this act, or release any person sentenced under this act from custody upon condition that such person shall furnish a good and sufficient bond or undertaking to the state of Montana, in such penal sum, not exceeding three thousand ($3,000) dollars, as the court shall determine, upon conditions to be prescribed or imposed by the court as seem most calculated to remove the cause of such delinquency of the child or children, and while such conditions are accepted and complied with by such persons, such sentence may, in the discretion of the court, remain suspended, and such persons shall be considered on probation in said court; and in case a bond is given as provided herein the conditions prescribed by the court may be made a part of the terms and conditions of such bond. (Section 20.) Upon the failure of any person to comply with the terms and conditions of such bond, or of the conditions imposed by the court, such bond or the term of probations may be declared forfeited and terminated by the court, and the original sentence executed as though it had never been suspended, and the terms of any jail sentence imposed in any such case shall commence from the date of the incarceration of any such person after the forfeiture of such bond or term of probation. There shall be deducted from any such period of incarceration any part of such sentence which may have already been served. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 334.]

§ 9439d. Enforcement of Bond.

(Section 21.) It shall not be necessary to bring a separate suit to recover the penalty of any such bond forfeited, but the court may cause a citation to issue to the surety or sureties thereon, requiring that he or she appear at a time named therein by the court, which time shall not be less than ten or more than twenty days from the issuance thereof, and show cause, if any there be, why judgment should not be entered for the penalty of such bond and execution issue for the amount thereof against the property of the surety or sureties thereon, as in civil cases, and, upon failure to appear or failure to show any sufficient cause, the court shall enter judgment in behalf of the state of Montana, against the surety or sureties. Any moneys collected or paid upon any such execution or in any case upon said bond, shall be turned over to the county treasurer of the county in which such bond is given, to be applied to the care and maintenance of the child or children for whose dependency such conviction was had in such manner and upon such terms as the district court may direct.

Provided, that if it shall not be necessary in the opinion of the court to use such fund or any part thereof for the support and maintenance of such child, the same shall be paid into the county treasury and become a part of the funds of such county. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 335.]

§ 9439e. Funds for Carrying Out Act—Detention Home.

(Section 22.) The county commissioners of all counties to which this act applies are hereby authorized, empowered and required to provide the necessary funds and to make all needful appropriations to carry out the provisions of this act; and in counties with a population of over forty thousand (40,000) inhabitants, the county commissioners shall provide by purchase, lease or otherwise, a place to be known as a detention home, within convenient distance of the courthouse, not used for the confinement of adult persons charged with criminal offenses, where delinquent, dependent, or neglected children may be detained, until final disposition, which place shall be maintained by the county as in other like cases.

And in counties having a population in excess of forty thousand (40,000) the judge having jurisdiction may appoint a superintendent and matron subject to ratification of the juvenile improvement committee who shall have charge of such home and of the delinquent, dependent and neglected minors detained therein.

Codes of Montana, 1907, or any amendments thereof, nor shall anything in this act be construed to repeal any existing law providing for the support, maintenance, guidance, education, or protection by parents of their minor children, and nothing in said laws shall prevent proceedings under this act in any proper case. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 336.]

§ 9439g. Construction of Act—Treatment of Children—Costs of Transportation.

(Section 24.) This act shall be liberally construed, to the end that its purpose may be carried out, to wit: That the care, custody, education and discipline of the child shall approximate as nearly as may be that which should be given it by its parents, and that, as far as practicable any delinquent child shall be treated, not as a criminal, but as misdirected and misguided, and needing aid, encouragement, help and assistance.

And as far as practicable, in proper cases, that the parent or parents or guardians of such child may be compelled to perform their moral and legal duty in the interest of the child and all fees and costs in all cases coming within the provisions of this act, together with such sums as shall be necessary for the incidental expenses of such court and its officers and together with the costs of transportation of children to places to which they may be committed, shall be paid out of the county treasury of the county, upon itemized vouchers, certified to by the judge of the court. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 337.]

ERRING FEMALES.

§ 9439k. Reformation of Erring Women and Girls.

(Section 1.) Any female person may at any time apply to the Secretary of the Bureau of Child and Animal Protection to be admitted to any institution in this state devoted to the purpose of reclaiming or reforming unchaste women, or such as are likely to become so, whereupon such secre-

(Section 2.) Whenever under any law of this state any court, judge or magistrate is authorized to commit any person brought before him to the reform school, he may, if such person be a female, order instead, that such person be committed to and confined in some institution such as is designated in section 1 of this act and there kept in custody for such period, during the minority of such person, as he may direct, and thereupon such proceedings shall be taken as are provided by law in case of commitments to the reform school.

(Section 3.) Whenever any female person is convicted before any court or magistrate of drunkenness, disorderly conduct or vagrancy she may, at the discretion of the court or the judge thereof, in lieu of the punishment prescribed by the law or ordinance under which such conviction was had, be committed to some institution such as is mentioned in section 1 of this act for not more than one year.

(Section 4.) Any institution may qualify itself for the reception of inmates, under the provisions of this act, by filing in the office of the Secretary of State a statement to the effect that it is an institution of the character mentioned in section 1 of this act, and setting out the number of inmates it can accommodate, which said statement shall be verified by the acting head of such institution.

(Section 5.) The person, corporation or association conducting any such institutions shall be entitled to compensation from the county from which any inmate is sent or admitted, as provided in this act, at the rate of ten dollars per month, to be allowed and paid as other claims against the county are paid.

BAIL.

§ 9443.

No discharge for irregularity in justice's judgment. See note post, § 9621.

§ 9447.

An order allowing bail, in a homicide case, is properly made, in the absence of a showing, by the county attorney, that the proof of the defendant's guilt was evident or the presumption thereof great. State v. District Court, 35 Mont. 507, 90 Pac. 513.

WITNESSES.

§ 9483. When Husband and Wife are not Competent Witnesses.

Except with the consent of both, or in cases of criminal violence upon one by the other, or in case of abandonment, or neglect of children by either party, or of abandonment or neglect of the wife by the husband, neither husband nor wife is a competent witness for or against the other in a criminal action or proceeding to which one or both are parties. [Amendment approved March 8, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 248.]

§ 9484.

This section has made an exception to the general rule that a court should not single out a particular witness and direct the attention of the jury to his testimony. State v. De Lea, 36 Mont. 541, 93 Pac. 814.

When a defendant is sworn and testifies in his own behalf, he is subject to the same rules of cross-examination and impeachment as any other witness. No wider latitude is permitted. State v. Crowe, 39 Mont. 174, 178, 18 Ann. Cas. 643, 102 Pac. 579.

There is no limitation, either in this section or in section 9495, post, as to the time when depositions may be taken, and it is at least implied that they may be taken at any time after the defendant has been held to answer the charge, even before an information has been filed against him. State v. Vanella, 40 Mont. 326, 337, 20 Ann. Cas. 398, 106 Pac. 364.

Time of taking. See note ante, § 9494.

The law does not require that a deposition shall show affirmatively that the defendant was present at the taking. The officer's duty is limited to taking and certifying the deposition. State v. Vanella, 40 Mont. 326, 337, 20 Ann. Cas. 398, 106 Pac. 364.

§ 9504.

In the absence of any objection to the use of a deposition, it is not necessary for it to appear whether or not it was taken as the law requires. The court will not presume that error was committed. State v. Vanella, 40 Mont. 326, 332, 20 Ann. Cas. 398, 106 Pac. 364.

HARMLESS ERROR.§ 9548.

Reversal for errors not prejudicial. See note ante, § 9415.

Construed with reference to mere informality in verdict, where the matter of prior convictions was involved. State v. Gordon, 35 Mont. 466, 90 Pac. 173.

The early ruling of the supreme court that "error appearing, prejudice will be presumed," has been abrogated, or at least modified, by this section. State v. Gordon, 35 Mont. 466, 90 Pac. 173.

An information charging an attempt to obtain money by false pretenses, though defective in form and containing immaterial averments, is sufficient to sustain a conviction, when it is apparent that the defendant has suffered no prejudice. State v. Phillips, 36 Mont. 118, 92 Pac. 299.

Where, under the evidence in a prosecution for assault in the second degree, the defendant might have been convicted of assault in either the second or third degree, but was found guilty of the lower degree, the judgment will not be reversed for a technical error in an instruction. State v. Tracey, 35 Mont. 555, 90 Pac. 791.

Where the record does not show that the jurors were not all present when the verdict was delivered, and from the minutes no other fair inference can be drawn than that they were then actually present, the omission from the minutes of a statement that their names were not called prior to delivery of the verdict is not prejudicial error. State v. De Lea, 36 Mont. 536, 93 Pac. 814.

A technical error in pleading a prior conviction in another state will not work a reversal if the punishment imposed does not exceed the proper limit. State v. Paisley, 36 Mont. 248, 92 Pac. 566.

PARDONS.§ 9556.

The governor is authorized to impose conditions upon granting a pardon, or to attach restrictions to a parole granted.

O'Brien*, 35 Mont. 482, 494, 10 Ann. Cas. 1006, 90 Pac. 514.

It seems that a police judge may grant a change of venue either for bias or prejudice of the judge or prejudice in the citizens of the township. In re Graye, 36 Mont. 397, 93 Pac. 66.

A change of venue cannot be had from a justice's court in one county to such a court in another county. State v. Cronin, 41 Mont. 293, 295, 109 Pac. 144.

A board of county commissioners cannot nullify the provisions of this section by reducing the number of townships in a county to one. State v. Cronin, 41 Mont. 293, 109 Pac. 144.

§ 9614.

Where a person accused in a justice's court of a misdemeanor is convicted and the justice immediately proceeds, upon the return of the verdict, to pronounce sentence, without any objection from the defendant, his silence is a waiver of his right to a postponement of judgment. Hosoda v. Neville, 45 Mont. 310, 312, 123 Pac. 20.

An appeal may be taken by oral notice at the time of the rendition of the verdict or judgment. In re Graye, 36 Mont. 398, 93 Pac. 66.

§ 9621.

Cited in a prosecution for an offense against the local option law. State v. O'Brien, 35 Mont. 491, 90 Pac. 514.

The result of an appeal from a justice's judgment is to abrogate the justice's judgment, and the defendant cannot complain, on habeas corpus, of any irregularity committed by the justice in rendering it. Hosoda v. Neville, 45 Mont. 310, 313, 123 Pac. 20.

A party cannot, under the guise of an application for a trial de novo, insist that irregularities, to which he made no objection, shall be taken note of, or that the judgment, which is abrogated by the appeal, be reversed on account of them. It is therefore immaterial, on the trial of the case appealed, whether the justice lost jurisdiction by conducting the trial in part on a legal holiday, or failed to comply with the statute in giving judgment, or pronouncing sentence. In re Graye, 36 Mont. 401, 93 Pac. 66.

The original files, together with a copy of the docket minutes, may be regarded as constituting the record on appeal from a justice of the peace to the district court. In re Graye, 36 Mont. 397, 93 Pac. 66.

It is not decided whether the notice of appeal from a justice's judgment, without the giving of an undertaking by the defendant, has the effect of removing the case to the district court; but, if the giving of the notice does of itself effectuate the appeal, the defendant is not then held in execution of the judgment, but under the original warrant of arrest, awaiting trial de novo in the district court. Hosoda v. Neville, 45 Mont. 310, 313, 123 Pac. 20.

HABEAS CORPUS.

§ 9641.

An order allowing bail, in a homicide case, is properly made, in the absence of a showing, by the county attorney, that the proof of the defendant's guilt was evident or the presumption thereof great.

State v. District Court, 35 Mont. 507, 90 Pac. 513.

§ 9644.

One who has been sentenced to state prison for an offense which constitutes only a misdemeanor is entitled to a discharge on habeas corpus. State v. District Court, 35 Mont. 321, 89 Pac. 63.

The fact that the petitioner for a writ of habeas corpus has a plain remedy by way of appeal is no argument against the issuance of the writ. State v. District Court, 35 Mont. 326, 89 Pac. 63.

Jurisdiction to render the particular judgment is as essential to the validity of a judgment as jurisdiction of the person or subject matter. State v. District Court, 35 Mont. 325, 89 Pac. 63.

All funds coming into the hands of the commissioner shall be kept separate and apart from state funds; and the commissioner shall have power to make all necessary rules and regulations to govern said department.

The department shall receive application for farm loans through the county treasurer, or other agencies in each county, said applications to be made upon suitable blanks furnished by the department. The commissioner shall require proof of value of lands offered as security, including an appraisal of three disinterested taxpayers or public officials, and shall take the necessary steps to verify the facts set forth in said applications, and only those applications shall be approved which show good title; and no application for a loan shall be approved for more than one-half of the value of the security, on a productive basis, as determined by the commissioner. Loans shall be made only on acreage property outside of incorporated towns and cities, and preference shall be given to those applications in which the applicant resides upon the land offered as security, and uses the same for productive purposes. No application shall be approved unless the commissioner is satisfied that the applicant will be able to meet the payments required to extinguish the loan with interest.

Information to Applicant—Examination of Security.

Section 5. The commissioner may require the county treasurer in each county to collect all payments due from borrowers in such county, and such collections shall be made in the same manner that county taxes are collected, and in case of default the same penalties shall be collected as are collected in case of default in the payment of taxes.

Which payments in the aggregate shall amount to at least twenty-five hundred dollars, all of which shall be credited to the mortuary or disability fund on account of such applicants, and no part of which may be used for expenses.

Said advanced payments shall, during the period of organization, be held in trust, and, if the organization is not completed within one year as hereinafter provided, returned to said applicants.

The commissioner of insurance may make such examination and require such further information as he deems advisable, and upon presentation of satisfactory evidence that the society has complied with all the provisions of law he shall issue to such society a certificate to that effect. Such certificate shall be prima facie evidence of the existence of such society at the date of such certificate. The commissioner of insurance shall cause a record of such certificate to be made and a certified copy of such record may be given in evidence with like effect as the original certificate.

No preliminary certificate granted under the provisions of this section shall be valid after one year from its date, or after such further period, not exceeding one year, as may authorized by the commissioner of insurance, upon cause shown, unless the five hundred applicants herein required have been secured and the organization has been completed as herein provided, and the articles of incorporation and all proceeding thereunder shall become null and void in one year from the date of said preliminary certificate, or at the expiration of said extended period, unless such society shall have completed its organization and commenced business as herein provided. When any domestic society shall have discontinued business for the period of one year, or has less than four hundred members, its charter shall become null and void.

Every such society shall have the power to make a Constitution and by-laws for the government of the society, the admission of its members, the management of its affairs and the fixing and readjusting of the rates of contribution of its members from time to time; and it shall have the power to change, alter, add to or amend such Constitution and by-laws and shall have such other powers as are necessary and incidental to carrying into effect the objects and purposes of the society.

Powers Retained—Reincorporation—Amendments.

Section 13. Any society now engaged in transacting business in this state may exercise, after the passage of this act, all of the rights conferred thereby, and all of the rights, powers and privileges now exercised or possessed by it under its charter or articles of incorporation not inconsistent with this act, if incorporated; or, if it be a voluntary association it may incorporate hereunder. But no society already organized shall be required to reincorporate hereunder, and any such society may amend its articles of incorporation from time to time in the manner provided therein or in its Constitution and laws and all such amendments shall be filed with the commissioner of insurance and shall become operative upon such filing, unless a later time be provided in such amendments or in its articles of incorporation, Constitution or laws.

Mergers and Transfers.

Section 14. No domestic society shall merge with or accept the transfer of the membership or funds of any other society unless such merger or transfer is evidenced by a contract in writing, setting out in full the terms and conditions of such merger or transfer, and filed with the commissioner of insurance of this state, together with a sworn statement of the financial condition of each of said societies, by its president and secretary, or corresponding officers, and a certificate of such officers, duly verified under oath of said officers of each of the contracting societies, that such merger or transfer has been approved by a vote of two-thirds of the members of the supreme legislative or governing body of each of said societies.

Upon the submission of said contract, financial statements and certificates, the commissioner of insurance shall examine the same, and, if he shall find such financial statements to be correct and the said contract to be in conformity with the provisions of this section, and that such merger or transfer is just and equitable to the members of each of said societies he shall approve said merger or transfer, issue his certificate to that effect and thereupon the said contract of merger or transfer shall be of full force and effect.

In case such contract is not approved, the fact of its submission and its contents shall not be disclosed by the commissioner of insurance.

Annual License.

Section 15. Societies which are now authorized to transact business in this state may continue such business until the first day of April next succeeding the passage of this act, and the authority of such societies may thereafter be renewed annually, but in all cases to terminate on the first day of the succeeding April, provided, however, the license shall continue in full force and effect until the new license be issued or specifically refused. For each such license or renewal the society shall pay the commissioner of insurance ten dollars. A duly certified copy or duplicate of such license shall be prima facie evidence that the licensee is a fraternal benefit society within the meaning of this act.

Admission of Foreign Society.

Section 16. No foreign society now transacting business, organized prior to the passage of this act, which is not now authorized to transact business in this state, shall transact any business herein without a license from the commissioner of insurance. Any such society shall be entitled to a license to transact business within this state upon filing with the commissioner a duly certified copy of its charter or articles of association; a copy of its Constitution and laws, certified by its secretary or corresponding officer, a power of attorney to the commissioner as hereinafter provided; a statement of its business under oath of its president and secretary or corresponding officers, in the form required by the commissioner, duly verified by an examination made by the supervising insurance official of its home state or other state satisfactory to the commissioner of insurance of this state; a certificate from the proper official in its home state, province or country that the society is legally organized; a copy of its contract, which must show that benefits are provided for by periodical, or other payments by, persons holding similar contracts, and upon furnishing the commissioner such other information as he may deem necessary to a proper exhibit of its business and plan of working, and upon showing that its assets are invested in accordance with the laws of the state, territory, district, province or country where it is organized, he shall issue a license to such society to do business in this state until the first day of the succeeding April, and such license shall upon compliance with the provisions of this act, be renewed annually, but in all cases to terminate on the first day of the succeeding April, provided, however, that license shall continue in full force and effect until the new license be issued or specifically refused.

Any foreign society desiring admission to this state shall have the qualifications required of domestic societies organized under this act and have its assets invested as required by the laws of this state, territory, district, country, or province where it is organized. For each such license or renewal the society shall pay the commissioner ten dollars. When the commissioner refuses to license any society, or revokes its authority to do business in this state, he shall reduce his ruling, order or decision to writing, and file the same in his office, and shall furnish a copy thereof, together with a statement of his reasons, to the officers of the society, upon request, and the action of the commissioner shall be reviewable by proper proceedings in any court of competent jurisdiction within the state; provided, however, that nothing contained in this or the preceding section shall be taken or construed as preventing any such society from continuing in good faith all contracts made in this state during the time such society was legally authorized to transact business herein.

Power of Attorney and Service of Process.

Section 17. Every society, whether domestic or foreign, now transacting business in this state shall, within thirty days after the passage of this act, and every such society hereafter applying for admission, shall, before being licensed, appoint in writing the commissioner of insurance and his successors in office to be its true and lawful attorney, upon whom all legal process in any action or proceeding against it shall be served, and in such writing shall agree that any lawful process against it which is served upon such attorney shall be of the same legal force and validity as if served upon the society and that the authority shall continue in force so long as any liability remains outstanding in this state.

Copies of such appointment, certified by said commissioner of insurance, shall be deemed sufficient evidence thereof and shall be admitted in evidence with the same force and effect as the original thereof might be admitted. Service shall only be made upon such attorney, must be made in duplicate upon the commissioner of insurance or in his absence upon the person in charge of his office and shall be deemed sufficient service upon such society; provided, however, that no such service shall be valid or binding against any such society when it is required thereunder to file its answer, pleading [pleading] or defense in less than thirty days from the date mailing the copy of such service to such society. When legal process against any such society is served upon said commissioner of insurance he shall forthwith forward by registered mail one of the duplicate copies prepared and directed to its secretary or corresponding officer. Legal process shall not be served upon any such society except in the manner provided herein.

Place of Meeting—Location of Office.

Section 18. Any domestic society may provide that the meetings of its legislative or governing body may be held in any state, district, province or territory wherein such society has subordinate branches and all business transacted at such meetings shall be as valid in all respects as if such meetings were held in this state. But its principal office shall be located in this state.

No Personal Liability.

Section 19. Officers and members of the supreme, grand or any subordinate body of any such incorporated society shall not be individually liable for the payment of any disability or death benefit provided for in the laws and agreements of such society, but the same shall be payable only out of the funds of such society and in the manner provided by its laws.

Waiver of the Provisions of the Laws.

Section 20. The Constitution and laws of the society may provide that no subordinate body, nor any of its subordinate officers or members shall have the power or authority to waive any of the provisions of the laws and Constitution of the society, and the same shall be binding on the society and each and every member thereof and on all beneficiaries of members.

Benefits not Attachable.

Section 21. No money or other benefit, charity or relief or aid to be paid, provided or rendered by any such society shall be liable to attachment, garnishment or other process, or be seized, taken, appropriated or applied by any legal or equitable process or operation of law to pay any debt or liability of a member or beneficiary, or any other person who may have a right thereunder, either before or after payment.

Constitution and Laws—Amendment.

Section 22. Every society transacting business under this act shall file with the commissioner of insurance a duly certified copy of all amendments of or additions to its Constitution and laws within ninety days after the enactment of the same. Printed copies of the Constitution and laws as amended, changed or added to, certified by the secretary or corresponding officer of the society shall be prima facie evidence of the legal adoption thereof.

Annual Reports.

Section 23. Every society transacting business in this state shall annually, on or before the first day of March file with the commissioner of insurance, in such form as he may require, a statement under oath of its president and secretary or corresponding officers, of its condition and standing on the thirty-first day of December next preceding, and of its transaction for the year ending on that date and also shall furnish such other information as the commissioner may deem necessary to a proper exhibit of its business and plan of working. The commissioner may at other times require any further statement he may deem necessary to be made relating to such society.

In addition of the annual report herein required each society shall annually report to the commissioner a valuation of its certificates in force on December 31st, last preceding, excluding those issued within the year for which the report is filed, in cases where the contributions for the first year in whole or in part are used for current mortality and expenses, provided the first report of valuation shall be made as of December 31, 1912. Such report of valuation shall show, as contingent liabilities, the present mid-year value of the promised benefits provided in the Constitution and laws of such society under certificates then subject to valuation; and, as contingent assets, the present mid-year value of the future net contributions provided in the Constitution and laws as the same are in practice actually collected. At the option of any society, in lieu of the above, the valuation may show the net value of the certificates subject to valuation hereinbefore provided and said net value, when computed in case of monthly contributions, may be the mean of the terminal values for the end of the preceding and of the current insurance years.

Such valuation shall be certified by a competent accountant or actuary, or at the request and expense of the society, verified by the actuary of the department of insurance of the home state of the society, and shall be filed with the commissioner within ninety days after the submission of the last preceding annual report. The legal minimum standard of valuation for all certificates, except for disability benefits, shall be the National Fraternal Congress Table of Mortality as adopted by the National Fraternal Congress August 23, 1899, or at the option of the society, any higher table, or, at its option, it may use a table based upon the society's own experience of at least twenty years and covering not more than four per centum per annum. Each such valuation report shall set forth clearly and fully the mortality and interest basis and the method of valuation. Any society providing for disability benefits shall keep the net contributions for such benefits in a fund separate and apart from all other benefit and expense funds and the valuation of all other business of the society; provided, that where a combined contribution table is used by a society for both death and permanent total disability benefits, the valuation shall be according to tables of reliable experience and in such a case a separation of the funds shall not be required.

The valuation herein provided for shall not be considered or regarded as a test of the financial solvency of the society, but each society shall be held to be legally solvent so long as the funds in its possession are equal to or in excess of its matured liabilities.

Beginning with the year 1914 a report of such valuation and an explanation of the facts concerning the condition of the society thereby disclosed shall be printed and mailed to each beneficiary member of the society not later than June 1st of each year, or in lieu thereof, such report of valuation and showing of the society's condition as thereby disclosed may be published in the society's official paper and the issue containing the same mailed to each beneficiary member of the society. The laws of such society shall provide that if the stated periodical contributions of the members are insufficient to pay all matured death and disability claims in full and to provide for the creation and maintenance of the funds required by its laws additional, increased or extra rates of contribution shall be collected from the members to meet such deficiency, and such laws may provide that, upon the written application or consent of the member, his certificate may be charged with its proportion of any deficiency disclosed by valuation, with interest not exceeding five per centum per annum.

Provisions to Insure Future Security.

Section 23a. If the valuation of the certificates as hereinbefore provided, on December 31, 1917, shall show that the present value of future net contributions, together with the admitted assets, is less than ninety per centum of the present value of the promised benefits and accrued liabilities, such society shall be required thereafter to reduce such deficiency not more than five per centum of the total deficiency on said December 31, 1917, at each succeeding triennial valuation. If at any succeeding triennial valuation such society does not show such percentage of improvement, the commissioner shall direct that it thereafter comply with the requirements herein specified. If the next succeeding triennial valuation after the receipt of such notice shall show that the society has not made the percentage of improvement required therein, the commissioner may, in the absence of good cause shown for such failure, institute proceedings for the dissolution of such society, in accordance with the provision of section 24 of this act, or, in the case of a foreign society, he may cancel its license to transact business in this state.

Any such society, shown by any triennial valuation, subsequent to December 31, 1917, not to have made the improvement herein required shall, within one year thereafter, complete such deficient improvement, or thereafter, as to all new members admitted, be subject, so far as stated rates of contribution are concerned, to the provisions of section 12 of this act, applicable in the organization of new societies; provided, that the contributions and funds of such new members shall be kept separate and apart from the other funds of the society until the required improvement shall be shown by valuation. If such required improvement is not shown by the succeeding triennial valuation, then the said new members may be placed in a separate class and their certificates valued as an independent society in respect of contributions and funds.

Examination of Domestic Societies.

Section 24. The commissioner of insurance, or any person he may appoint, shall have the power of visitation and examination into the affairs of any domestic society. He may employ assistants for the purpose of such examination, and he, or any person he may appoint, shall have free access to all the books, papers and documents that relate to the business of the society and may summon and qualify as witness under oath and examine its officers, agents and employees or other persons in relation to the affairs, transactions and condition of the society.

The expense of such examination shall be paid by the society examined, upon statement furnished by the commissioner of insurance, and the examination shall be made at least once in three years.

Whenever after examination the commissioner of insurance is satisfied that any domestic society has failed to comply with any provisions of this act, or is exceeding its powers, or is not carrying out its contracts in good faith, or is transacting business fraudulently, or whenever any domestic society, after the existence of any one year or more, shall have a membership of less than four hundred, (or shall determine to discontinue business), the commissioner of insurance may present the facts relating thereto to the Attorney General, who shall, if he deem the circumstances warrant, commence an action in quo warranto in a court of competent jurisdiction, and such court shall thereupon notify the officers of such society of a hearing, and if it shall then appear that such society should be closed, said society shall be enjoined from carrying on any further business and some person shall be appointed receiver of such society, and shall proceed at once to take possession of the books, papers, moneys and other assets of the society and shall forthwith, under the direction of the court, proceed to close the affairs of the society and to distribute its funds to those entitled thereto.

No such proceedings shall be commenced by the Attorney General against any such society until after notice has been duly served on the chief executive officers of the society and a reasonable opportunity given to it, on a date to be named in said notice, to show cause why such proceedings should not be commenced.

Application for Receiver, etc.

Section 25. No application for injunction against or proceedings for the dissolution of, or the appointment of a receiver for any such domestic society or branch thereof, shall be entertained by any court in this state unless the same is made by the Attorney General.

Examination of Foreign Societies.

Section 26. The commissioner of insurance or any person whom he may appoint, may examine any foreign society transacting or applying for admission to transact business in this state. The said commissioner may employ assistants, and he, or any person he may appoint, shall have free access to all the books, papers and documents that relate to the business of the society, and may summon and qualify as witness under oath and examine its officers, agents and employees and other persons in relation to the affairs, transactions and condition of the society. He may, in his discretion, accept in lieu of such examination, the examination of the Insurance Department of the state, territory, district, province or county where such society is organized. The actual expenses of examiners making any such examination shall be paid by the society upon statement furnished by the commissioner of insurance.

If any such society or its officers refuse to submit to such examination or to comply with the provisions of the section relative thereto, the authority of such society to write new business in this state shall be suspended or license refused until satisfactory evidence is furnished the commissioner relating to the condition and affairs of the society, and during such suspension the society shall not write new business in this state.

No Adverse Publication.

Section 27. Pending during or after an examination or investigation of any such society, either domestic or foreign, the commissioner of insurance shall make public no financial statement, report or finding, nor shall he permit to become public any financial statement, report or finding, affecting the status, standing or rights of any such society, until a copy thereof shall have been served upon such society, at its home office, nor until such society shall have been afforded a reasonable opportunity to answer any such financial statement, report or finding and to make such showing in connection therewith as it may desire.

Revocation of License.

Section 28. When the commissioner of insurance on investigation is satisfied that any foreign society transacting business under this act has exceeded its powers, or has failed to comply with any provision of this act, or is conducting business fraudulently, or is not carrying out its contracts in good faith he shall notify the society of his findings, and state in writing the grounds of his dissatisfaction, and after reasonable notice require said society, on a date named, to show cause why its license should not be revoked. If on the date named in said notice such objections have not been removed to the satisfaction of the said commissioner, or the society does not present good and sufficient reasons why its authority to transact business in this state should not at that time be revoked, he may revoke the authority of the society to continue business in this state. All decisions and findings of the commissioner made under the provisions of this section may be reviewed by proper proceedings in any court of competent jurisdiction, as provided in section 16 of this act.

Exemption of Certain Societies.

Section 29. Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to affect or apply to grand or subordinate lodges of Masons, Odd Fellows or Knights of Pythias (exclusive of the Insurance Department of the Supreme Lodge Knights of Pythias), and the Junior Order of United American Mechanics (exclusive of the Beneficiary Degree or insurance branch of the National Council Junior Order United American Mechanics) or societies which limit their membership to any one hazardous occupation, nor to similar societies which do not issue insurance certificates, nor to an association of local lodges of a society now doing business in this state which provides death benefits not to exceed three hundred dollars to any one person, or disability benefits not exceeding three hundred dollars in any one year to any one person, or both, nor to any contracts of reinsurance business on such plan in this state, nor to domestic societies which limit their membership to the employees of a particular city or town, designated firm, business house or corporation, nor to domestic lodges, orders or associations of a purely religious, charitable and benevolent description, which do not provide for a death benefit of more than one hundred dollars, or for disability benefits of more than one hundred and fifty dollars to any one person in any one year; provided, always, that any such domestic order or society which has more than five hundred members, and provides for death or disability benefits and any such domestic lodge, order or society which issues to any person a certificate providing for the payment of benefits, shall not be exempt by the provisions of this section, but shall comply with all the requirements of this act. The commissioner of insurance may require from any society such information as will enable him to determine whether such society is exempt from the provisions of this act.

No society, which is exempt by the provisions of this section from the requirement of this act shall give or allow to promise to give or allow, to any person any compensation for procuring new members.

Any fraternal benefit society, heretofore organized and incorporated and operating within the definition set forth in section 1, 2 and 3 of this act, providing for benefits in case of death or disability resulting solely from accidents, but which does not obligate itself to pay death or sick benefits, may be licensed under the provisions of this act, and shall have all the privileges and shall be subject to all the provisions and regulations of this act, except that the provisions of this act requiring medical examinations, valuations of benefit certificates, and that the certificate shall specify the amount of benefits, shall not apply to such society.

Taxation.

Section 30. Every fraternal benefit society organized or licensed under this act is hereby declared to be a charitable and benevolent institution, and all of its funds shall be exempt from all and every state, county, district, municipal and school tax, other than taxes on real estate and office equipment.

Penalties.

Section 31. Any person, officer, member or examining physician of any society authorized to do business under this act who shall knowingly or willfully make any false or fraudulent statement or representation in or with reference to any application for membership, or for the purpose of obtaining money from or benefit in any society transacting business under this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars, nor more than five hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail for not less than thirty days, nor more than one year, or both, in the discretion of the court; and any person who shall willfully make a false statement of any material fact or thing in a sworn statement as to the death or disability of a certificate holder in any such society for the purpose of procuring payment of a benefit named in the certificate of such holder, and any person who shall willfully make any false statement in any verified report or declaration under oath required or authorized by this act, shall be guilty of perjury, and shall be proceeded against and punished as provided by the statutes of this state in relation to the crime of perjury.

Any person who shall solicit membership for, or in any manner assist in procuring membership in any fraternal benefit society not licensed to do business in this state, or who shall solicit membership for, or in any manner assist in procuring membership in any such society not authorized as herein provided, to do business as herein defined in this state, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty nor more than two hundred dollars.

Any society, or any officer, agent or employee thereof neglecting or refusing to comply with, or violating any of the provisions of this act, the penalty for which neglect, refusal or violation is not specified in this section, shall be fined not exceeding two hundred dollars upon conviction thereof.

The principal and interest of the bonds authorized by this act shall be paid out of the special fund provided for by section 1240, Revised Codes of Montana of 1907, designated as the "Capitol Building Interest and Sinking Fund," and from said "Capitol Building Interest and Sinking Fund" there shall, as the same becomes due and payable, be paid the interest on the said bonds; and it is further provided, that it is the duty of the State Board of Land Commissioners, whenever there are any funds in the said "Capitol Building Interest and Sinking Fund," over and above the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars in excess of the amount required to pay the yearly interest on the bonds issued pursuant to section 1238, of the Revised Codes of Montana of 1907, known as the "Capitol Building Bonds of the State of Montana," and the interest on the bonds provided for by this act, to invest such access funds in the manner set forth and provided in section 1241, of the Revised Codes of Montana of 1907, and the amount so invested shall constitute a permanent fund to pay the principal of the bonds issued pursuant to section 1238, of the Revised Codes, and the bonds issued pursuant to this act, but all interest or profit derived from the investment shall be paid into the "State Capitol Building Interest and Sinking Fund," and the principal and interest of the bonds issued pursuant to section 1238, Revised Codes, shall be a first lien upon said funds and the lands granted and belonging to the state for the purpose of erecting buildings at the state capitol, and the principal and interest of the bonds authorized by this act shall be a second lien upon said funds and all lands granted and belonging to the state for the purpose of erecting buildings at the state capitol.

Section 4. It is hereby provided and set forth that in the event the state of Montana shall at any time provide and pay the interest, or any part thereof, on the bonds authorized by this act from the general fund of the state, or by any special appropriation made, or taxes levied therefor, then for any and all interest so paid the state shall be reimbursed from the said "Capitol Building and Interest and Sinking Fund" by the payment of the amount so paid or due whenever there is sufficient money in said "Capitol Building Interest and Sinking Fund" to pay the same after paying the principal and interest due on the bonds issued pursuant to section 1238 of the Revised Codes of Montana of 1907.

Section 5. The State Treasurer is hereby designated as the custodian of the funds provided by this act, and he shall pay all warrants properly drawn by the State Auditor, save and except as to the interest on the bonds, which he shall pay as the same become due, and charge the amount thereof to the "Capitol Building Interest and Sinking Fund" hereinbefore referred to.

Section 6. Whenever any bonds authorized by this act shall become due and payable, and there is sufficient funds to pay the same, they shall be called in and paid in the order of their issuance, beginning with the lowest number.

Section 7. The cost and expense of issuing the bonds provided for by this act may be paid out of the proceeds from the sale thereof, or be chargeable to the expenses of the construction of said wings to the capitol building.

Section 8. In the event there shall not at any time be sufficient money in the "Capitol Building Interest and Sinking Fund" to pay the interest when due, the State Board of Examiners shall, by an order entered on their minutes or record-books, cause warrants to be issued on the said "Capitol Building Interest and Sinking Fund" for the amount of interest due, and the warrants so issued shall be registered in the office of the treasurer of the state and shall bear interest at the rate of five per cent per annum, and said warrants shall be paid by the state treasurer whenever there is sufficient money accumulated in said fund to pay the same, after paying the interest on the bonds issued pursuant to section 1238 of the Revised Codes, and by reason of the delivery of said warrants to the holders of said bonds, and the surrender of the said interest coupons, there shall be no default in the payment of interest.

Section 9. Nothing in this act shall be so construed as to in any wise hold the state of Montana liable for the payment of the bonds herein authorized, or the interest thereon, except as to the lien heretofore created against the lands and funds granted for the purpose of erecting buildings at the state capitol, and such liens shall not be abridged or set aside until the bonds authorized by this act shall have been fully paid, together with interest thereon, and the Governor is hereby especially authorized and empowered to use all lawful means to enforce the provisions of this act.

Section 10. All moneys received from the sale of the bonds authorized by this act shall be paid to the State Treasurer, and shall constitute a special fund for the erection of said wings to the state capitol building, and shall be disbursed by the State Treasurer on warrants properly drawn by the State Auditor, pursuant to the order of the State Board of Examiners.

Section 11. Upon the sale of the bonds authorized by this act it shall be the duty of the State Board of Examiners to secure the erection and completion of wings at the east and west ends of the state capitol building. In furtherance of this purpose said board shall procure plans and specifications in such manner as the board shall direct, under proper and safe conditions. The architect whose plan is selected as the plan for said wings must be required to furnish full and complete specifications for the erection and heating, lighting and plumbing of the same, with full and complete full-sized drawings and details and working plans so that any capable architect may take the plans, drawings and specifications submitted and erect said wings in accordance therewith. The board may employ, with the consent of the designing architect, any skilled and reputable architect as supervising architect of said wings, if in its judgment the best interests of the state would be subserved thereby.

Section 12. The architect whose plan is selected by the board shall receive such compensation as the board shall deem reasonable. He shall prepare all plans, specifications and details for all contracts for construction and material for said wings, and if employed by the board to superintend the construction of said wings he shall see that all material furnished and work done shall be of the best quality, and that all contracts with the said board are faithfully performed by the parties contracting with said board for work or material. He shall perform all other duties devolving upon him as supervising architect and may be removed at the pleasure of said board. Neither said architect, nor any of his subordinates or assistants shall be in any way connected with any work done or material furnished for said wings, or any contract therefor, or shall have any interest therein, directly or indirectly. He shall furnish bond to the state of Montana in the sum of fifteen thousand dollars, with a fidelity company authorized to do business under the laws of this state, as surety, condition for the faithful performance by said architect, his assistants and subordinates of his and their duties as herein prescribed, provided that the superintendents and contractors shall be residents of the state of Montana.

Section 13. The board may appoint a specially qualified person to act as superintendent of the construction of said wings. It shall be his duty to see that all contracts made with the board are faithfully performed, that all material furnished and the work done shall be as required by law or the contract therefor, that all duties imposed upon the architect are faithfully performed by him and his subordinates and that no provisions of this act are violated. He shall be removed at the pleasure of the board.

Section 14. The board shall procure all material used in the construction of said building from the products of the state of Montana, provided the same is produced in the state of Montana and can be procured as cheaply therein as material of like kind and quality can be procured elsewhere, and, provided, further, that the total cost of the erection and furnishing of said wings, including steam-heating apparatus and other fixtures shall not exceed the sum of five hundred thousand dollars, and the board shall at all times have this object in view, and all plans accepted, and all contracts awarded, shall be accepted and awarded only after the board shall be satisfied that the cost of the wings, when they shall be completed and furnished, shall not exceed said sum.

Section 15. The entire construction and furnishing of said wings shall be completed by the first day of January, 1911; provided, that the bonds provided for in this act shall have been sold in time to enable the commencement of work so as to complete the wings by that date.

Section 16. All disbursements on account of the erection of said wings shall be made pursuant to the orders of said board. All claims, bills and demands for labor performed or material furnished shall be presented to the board in duplicate, and shall be fully itemized, and shall be passed upon by said board only at regular sessions thereof and after careful examination of every item named. If found correct they shall audit the same, preserving one duplicate and transmitting the other to the State Auditor, with directions to the State Auditor to draw his warrant on the special fund for the erection of the wings to the state capitol building for the amount allowed and to the order of the person named in said order; provided, that no order shall be issued by the State Board of Examiners in excess of the amount received from the sale of the bonds authorized by this act.

Section 17. This act shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Montana:

In General—Debts and Assets Prorated.

Section 1. New counties may from time to time be formed and created in this state from portions of one or more counties, which shall have been created and in existence for a period of more than two years, in the manner set forth and provided in this act; provided, however, that no new county shall be established which shall reduce any county to an assessed valuation of less than eight million dollars, inclusive of all assessed valuation as shown by the last preceding assessment; nor shall any new county be formed which contains an assessed valuation of property less than five million dollars, inclusive of all assessed valuation as shown by the last preceding assessment, of the county or counties from which such new county is to be established, nor shall any line thereof pass within twenty miles of the boundaries of the county seat of the county sought to be divided; provided, that such county line may be run within a distance of ten miles of a county seat in cases where the natural contour of the country, by reason of mountain ranges or other topographical conditions, are such as to make it difficult to reach the county seat, and in such cases a petition signed by at least sixty-five per cent of the voters in the proposed new county shall be presented to the judge of the district court in which the county affected is located, asking for the appointment of a commission of five disinterested persons who shall determine if the topographical conditions are such as to warrant the fixing of the county division lines closer than at twenty miles from the county seat, as such boundaries are legally fixed and determined at the date of the filing of the petition or petitions referred to in section 2 of this act.

Every county which shall be enlarged or created from the territory taken from any other county or counties shall be liable for a pro rata proportion of the existing debts and liabilities of the county or counties from which such territory shall be taken, and shall be entitled to a pro rata proportion of the assets of the county or counties from which such territory is taken, to be determined as hereinafter provided.

Petition for Creation of New County — Attached Affidavits — Notice and Hearing.

Section 2. Whenever it is desired to divide any county or counties and form a new county out of a portion of the territory of such then existing county or counties, a petition shall be presented to the Board of County Commissioners of the county from which the new county is to be formed in case said proposed new county is to be formed from but one county; or to the Board of County Commissioners of the county from which the largest area of territory is proposed to be taken for the formation of such new county, in case said new county is to be formed from portions of two or more existing counties; and such Board of County Commissioners shall be empowered and have jurisdiction to do and perform all acts provided for to be done or performed in this act, for each of the several counties from which any proposed territory is to be taken, and shall direct that a certified copy of all orders and proceedings had before such Board of County Commissioners shall be certified by the county clerk to the Board of County Commissioners of each of the several counties from which any territory is taken by the proposed new county; and all officers of any such county from which any territory is taken by the proposed new county shall comply with the orders of the Board of County Commissioners in the same manner as if said order had been duly made by the Board of County Commissioners of each respective county from which territory is proposed to be taken.

Such petition shall be signed by at least sixty-five per cent of the qualified electors of the proposed new county, whose names appear on the official registration books and who are shown thereon to have voted at the last general election preceding the presentation of said petition to the Board of County Commissioners as herein provided; provided, that in cases where the proposed new county is to be formed from portions of two or more existing counties, separate petitions shall be presented from the territory taken from each county; and each of said separate petitions shall be signed by at least sixty-five per cent of the qualified electors of each of said proposed portions. Such signatures need not all be appended to one paper but may be signed to several petitions which must be similar in form, and when so signed the several petitions may be fastened together and shall be treated and presented as one petition.

Such petition or petitions shall contain:

1. A particular description of the boundaries of the proposed new county.
2. A statement that no line thereof passes within twenty miles of the outer boundaries of the county seat of any county proposed to be divided, except as hereinbefore in this act provided.
3. A statement of the assessed valuation of such proposed county as shown by the last preceding assessment, inclusive of all assessed valuation.
4. A statement of the surveyed area in square miles which will remain in the county or counties from which territory is taken to form such new county, after such county is formed.
5. The name of the proposed new county.
6. A prayer that such proposed new county be organized into a new county under the provisions of this act.

There shall be attached to and filed with said petition or petitions the affidavit of three qualified electors and taxpayers residing within each county sought to be divided, to the effect that they have read said petition and examined the signatures affixed thereto, and they believe that the statements therein are true, and that it is signed by at least sixty-five per cent of the qualified electors, as herein provided, of the proposed new county, or of the proposed portion thereof, taken from each existing county, where the proposed new county is to be formed from portions of two or more existing counties; that the signatures affixed thereto are genuine; and that each of such persons so signing was a qualified elector of such county therein sought to be divided, at the date of such signing. Such petition or petitions so verified and the verification thereof shall be accepted in all proceedings permitted or provided for in this act, as prima facie evidence of the truth of the matters and facts therein set forth. Upon the filing of such petition or petitions and affidavit with the clerk of the said Board of County Commissioners, said clerk shall forthwith fix a date to hear the proof of the said petitions and of any opponents thereto, which date must be at the next regular quarterly meeting subsequent to the filing of such petition with the clerk of said board. The county clerk shall also at the same time designate a newspaper of general circulation published in the old counties, but not within the proposed new county, and also a newspaper of general circulation published within the boundaries of the proposed new county, if there be such, in which the said county clerk shall order and cause to be published at least once a week for two weeks next preceding the date fixed for such hearing, a notice in substantially the following form:

Notice.

Notice is hereby given that a petition has been presented to the Board of County Commissioners of County (naming the county represented by the Board of County Commissioners with which said petition was filed), praying for the formation of a new county out of portion of the said county and county (naming the county or counties of which it is proposed to form the new county), and that said petition will be heard by the said Board of County Commissioners at its place of meeting (designating the city or town and the day and hour of the meeting so to be held), when and where all persons interested may appear and oppose the granting of said petition and make any objections thereto.

Dated at Montana.

....., County Clerk.

Said petitioners shall, on or before the date fixed for said hearing, or on or before the date to which said hearing may have been adjourned, file with said Board of County Commissioners a bond to be approved by said board, in the amount of five thousand dollars ($5,000) payable to the county in which said petition is filed, conditioned that the obligators named in said bond will pay to said county all expenses incurred in the proceedings and election provided for in this act, not exceeding the amount specified in said bond, in the event that at the election herein provided for more than thirty-five per cent of the votes cast at said election are "for the new county of (naming the proposed new county)" "No."

At the time so fixed for said hearing, the Board of County Commissioners shall proceed to hear the petitioners and any opponents upon the petition or protests filed on or before the time fixed for the hearing. No petition, or protest, or petition for the exclusion of territory shall be considered unless the same is filed on or before the time fixed for the hearing, and the Board of County Commissioners may adjourn such hearing from time to time, not exceeding fourteen days in all, and shall receive the proofs to establish or controvert the facts set forth in said petition or petitions. No withdrawals of signatures to the original petition for the creation of a proposed county shall be filed or considered which have not been filed with the county clerk on or before the date fixed for the hearing. No withdrawals of any signature from the petition for the exclusion of territory shall be received or considered which is not filed within three days after the filing of the petition for such exclusion of territory, and not more than one withdrawal of any signature from any petition shall be permitted, granted, or considered. Any person filing a withdrawal of his signature from the original petition for the creation of said county, or from the petition for the exclusion of territory, shall be considered and counted by the Board of County Commissioners as being opposed to the creation of said county.

The Board of County Commissioners on the final hearing of such petition or petitions shall, by a resolution entered on its minutes, determine:

1. The boundaries of the proposed new county and the boundaries so determined by said Board of County Commissioners shall be the boundaries of such proposed new county, if it be created as herein provided.

2. Whether the said petition contains the genuine signatures of at least sixty-five per cent of the qualified electors of the proposed new county as herein required, or in cases where separate petitions are presented from portions of two or more existing counties as herein required, whether each petition is signed by at least sixty-five per cent of the qualified electors of that portion of each of such existing counties which it is proposed to take into the proposed new county.

3. Whether any line of the proposed new county passes within twenty miles of the county seat of any county proposed to be divided, except as hereinbefore in this act provided.

4. Whether the proposed new county will contain property, according to the last preceding assessment, which will equal in amount at least five million dollars ($5,000,000), inclusive of all assessed valuation.

5. Whether the area of any existing county from which territory is taken to form such new county will be reduced to less than twelve hundred (1200) square miles of surveyed land, by taking the territory proposed to be taken therefrom to form such new county.

6. The class to which said proposed new county after its creation will belong and the name of said proposed new county, as stated in such petition.

7. Whether the area embraced within the proposed new county will be reasonably compact.

On the final hearing of the Board of Commissioners, upon petition of not less than fifty per cent of the qualified electors (as shown by the official registration books on the day of the filing of any such petition) of any territory lying within said proposed new county and contiguous to the boundary line of the said proposed new county and of the old county from which such territory is proposed to be taken, and lying entirely within a single old county and described in said petition, asking that said territory be not included within the proposed new county, must make such changes in the proposed boundaries as will exclude such territory from such new county, and shall establish and define such boundaries; provided, that if any change or changes so made shall result in reducing the valuation of the proposed new county to less than an assessed valuation of five million dollars, inclusive of all assessed valuation, then such new county shall not be created or organized; and provided further, that no change shall be made which shall leave the territory so excluded separate and apart from and without the county of which it was formerly a part; petitions for exclusion shall be disposed of in the order in point of time in which they are filed with the clerk of the Board of County Commissioners, and on final determination of boundaries no changes in the boundaries originally proposed shall be made except as prayed for in said petition or petitions, or to correct clerical errors or uncertainties.

Duties of Commissioners, When Findings Justify New County—Division into Township, Road and School Districts—Change of Boundaries of Election Precincts—Election—Temporary County Seat.

Section 3. If the said Board of County Commissioners determine that the formation of said proposed new county will not reduce any county from which any territory is taken to an assessed valuation of less than eight million dollars ($8,000,000), inclusive of all assessed valuation, nor the area thereof to less than twelve hundred (1200) square miles of surveyed land, and that the proposed new county contains property of an assessed valuation of at least five million dollars ($5,000,000), inclusive of all assessed valuation, and that no line of said proposed new county passes within twenty miles of the outer boundaries of the county seat of any county proposed to be divided, except as hereinbefore in this act provided, and that said petition contains the genuine signatures of at least sixty-five per cent of the qualified electors of the proposed new county, or in cases where separate petitions are presented from portions of two or more existing counties (as herein required), that each of said petitions contain the genuine signatures of at least sixty-five per cent of the qualified electors of that portion of the proposed new county from which it is taken, then the said Board of County Commissioners shall divide the proposed new county into a convenient number of township, road, and school districts and define their boundaries and designate the names of such districts. Said Board of County Commissioners shall also, if necessary for the purpose of the election hereinafter provided for, change the boundaries of the election precincts in said old county or counties to make the same conform to the boundaries of the proposed new county; provided, that the boundary lines of no such precinct shall extend beyond the boundary lines of the then existing county in which it is located and from which the territory is proposed to be taken; and said board shall appoint election officers to act at said election and to be paid by said board. Within two weeks after its determination of the truth of the allegations of said petition as aforesaid, the said Board of County Commissioners shall order and give proclamation and notice of an election to be held on a specified day in the territory which is proposed to be taken for the new county, not less than ninety days nor more than one hundred and twenty days thereafter, for the purpose of determining whether such territory shall be established and organized into a new county; and for the election of officers and location of a county seat therefor, in case the vote at such election shall be in favor of the establishment and organization of such new county. All qualified electors residing within the proposed new county who are qualified electors of the county or counties from which territory is taken to form such proposed new county, and who have resided within the limits of the proposed county for a period of more than six months next preceding the day of election, and who are registered under the provisions of the registration laws of the state, shall be entitled to vote at said election. Registration and transfers of registration shall be made and shall close in the manner and at a time provided by law for registration and transfers of registration for a general election in the state of Montana. Such proclamation and notice of election shall be published at least once a week for three weeks before the holding of such election, in some newspaper of general circulation published in the territory which is proposed to be taken for the new county, and a copy thereof shall be mailed immediately by the county clerk of the county in which the petition is filed to the county clerk of each county from which territory is taken for the proposed new county. Such proclamation and notice shall require the voters to cast ballots which shall contain the words, "For the new county of . . . (giving the name of the proposed new county)" "Yes," and "For the new county of . . . (giving the name of the proposed new county)" "No," and each voter desiring to vote for the establishment and organization of said new county shall mark a cross (X) opposite the words, "For the new county of" "Yes" in the manner now required by law in other elections, and each voter desiring to vote against the establishment and organization of said new county shall mark a cross (X) opposite the words, "For the new county of" "No," in the manner now required by law in other elections; and shall also contain the names of persons to be voted for to fill the various elective offices designated in said proclamation for counties of the class to which said proposed county will belong, as determined by the Board of County Commissioners as herein directed and in the manner provided by law, except as herein otherwise provided. There shall also be printed upon said ballot the words, "For the county seat," and the names of all cities or towns which may have been incorporated under the laws of the state for a period of one year preceding the day of the filing and presentation of the original petition, and which may have filed with the county clerk a petition signed by at least twenty-five qualified electors, nominating any city or town within the proposed new county for the county seat, and the voter shall designate his choice for county seat by marking a cross (X) opposite the name of the city or town for which he desires to cast his ballot. At a special election to be held, as provided in this act, the question of the election of the county seat is hereby provided to be submitted to the qualified electors of the proposed new county, and the majority of all the votes cast therefor shall determine the election thereon. In case any city or town fails to receive a majority of all the votes cast, then the city or town receiving the highest number of all votes cast shall be designated as the temporary county seat, and in case any city or town is not the choice of the election for the county seat by a majority of all votes cast, the question of choice between the two incorporated cities or towns for which the highest number of votes shall have been cast, shall be submitted in like manner to the qualified electors at the next general election thereafter. When the county seat shall have been selected as herein provided, it shall not thereafter be changed except in the manner provided by law.

The proclamation calling the election and the notice thereof provided for in this act shall be made and given exclusively by the Board of County Commissioners with which is filed the said petition for the formation and establishment of such new county and such board shall cause the clerk of said county to furnish to the officers of each precinct in such proposed new county all ballots, poll lists, tally lists, registers for voter's signatures, ballot-boxes, and other election supplies and equipment necessary to conduct such election and which are not hereinafter specifically directed to be furnished by the clerk of another county or counties. Such election shall be governed and controlled by the general election laws of the state, so far as the same shall be applicable, except as herein otherwise provided. The returns of all elections for officers and for location of the county seat as provided for in this act, shall be made to and canvassed by the Board of County Commissioners of the county from which the largest area is taken by the proposed county.

The county clerk of each county from which territory is taken for the proposed new county shall not less than five days before the date of such election furnish to each board of election within said proposed new county, the book of affidavits of registration for the precincts of such proposed new county as are within their respective counties, and the copies of indexes thereof required by law, containing the names of all persons who were qualified electors at the last general election before the date of such election.

All returns of election herein provided for shall be made to the Board of County Commissioners calling such election.

All nominations of candidates for the offices required to be filled at said election shall be made in the manner provided by law for the nomination of candidates for all general state elections.

The provisions of the election laws relating to preparation, printing, and distribution of sample ballots, except the provisions of said laws relating to primary elections in this state, shall have application to any election provided for in this act.

See following chapter on Location of County Seats.

Measures to be Taken After Election—Officers—Effect of Adverse Vote.

Section 4. If upon the canvass of the votes cast at such election it appears that sixty-five per cent of the votes cast where the proposed new county is formed from one existing county, or that sixty-five per cent of the votes cast in the territory taken from each county where the proposed new county is formed from two or more existing counties are, "For the new county of" "Yes," the Board of County Commissioners shall by a resolution entered upon its minutes declare such territory duly formed and created as a county of this state, of the class to which the same shall belong, under the name of . . . county, and that the incorporated city or town receiving the highest number of votes cast at said election for county seat shall be the county seat of said county until removed in the manner provided by law, and designating and declaring the persons receiving respectively the highest number of votes for the several offices to be filled at said election, to be duly elected to such offices. Said board shall forthwith cause a copy of its said resolution, duly certified, to be filed in the office of the Secretary of State, and ninety (90) days from and after the date of such filing said new county shall be deemed to be fully created, and the organization thereof shall be deemed completed, and such officers shall be entitled to enter immediately upon the duties of their respective offices upon qualifying in accordance with law and giving bonds for the faithful performance of their duties, as required by the laws of the state. The clerk of the Board of County Commissioners with which said petition was filed, as herein provided, must immediately make out and deliver to each of said persons so declared and designated to be elected, a certificate of election authenticated by his signature and the seal of the said Board of County Commissioners. The persons elected members of the Board of County Commissioners and the county clerk shall immediately, upon receiving their certificates of election, assume the duties of their respective offices.

The Board of County Commissioners shall have authority to provide a suitable place for the county officers and to purchase such supplies as may be deemed necessary for the proper conduct of the county government. All other officers take office ninety (90) days after the filing of the resolution herein provided for with the Secretary of State. All the officers elected at said election, or appointed under this act, shall hold their offices until the time provided by general law for the election and qualification of such officers in this state and until their successors are elected and qualified, and for the purpose of determining the term of office of such officers, the years said officers are to hold office are to be computed respectively from and including the first Monday after the first day of January following the last preceding general election. If, however, upon such canvass it appears that more than thirty-five per cent of the votes cast at said election where the proposed new county is formed from one existing county, or that more than thirty-five per cent of the votes in the territory taken from any county, where the proposed new county is formed from two or more existing counties, are, "For the new county of" "No," the Board of County Commissioners canvassing said vote as provided herein shall pass a resolution in accordance therewith and thereupon the proceedings relating to division of such county or counties shall cease; and no other proceedings in relation to any other division of said old county or counties shall be instituted for at least two years after such determination.

Officers of New County—Judicial District.

Section 5. At the election provided for in section 3 of this act there shall be chosen such county, township, and district officers as are now or may hereafter by general law be provided for in counties of the class to which the said new county is determined to belong, as herein provided; provided, that all duly elected, qualified, and acting officers of the county or counties, who may reside within the proposed new county, shall be deemed to be officers of said new county if they file with the Board of County Commissioners, whose duty it shall be to call the election, within five days after the final hearing and determination of said petition for such proposed new county, their intention to become officers of said proposed new county and the Board of County Commissioners issuing the proclamation of any election, as in this act provided, shall omit providing for the election of any such officers as may have filed their declaration as herein provided; and provided, also, that all duly elected, qualified, and acting justices of the peace and constables residing within the proposed new county at the time of the division of such county into townships, as hereinbefore in section 3 hereof provided, shall hold office as such justices of the peace or constables in said county for the remainder of the term for which they were elected on qualifying as justices of the peace or constables for the respective townships in which they reside, when said townships are organized as provided in this act; provided further, that all duly-elected, qualified, and acting school trustees residing within the proposed new county at the time of the division of such county into school districts, as hereinbefore in section 3 hereof provided, shall hold office as school trustees in said new county for the remainder of the term for which they were elected on qualifying as school trustees for the respective districts in which they reside, as said districts are organized as provided by this act. Each person elected or appointed to fill an office of such new county under the provisions of this act shall qualify in the manner provided by law for such officers, except as herein otherwise provided, and shall enter upon the discharge of the duties of his office within such time as herein provided, after the receipt of the certificate of his election. Each of such officers may take the oath of office before any officers authorized by the law of the state of Montana to administer oaths, and the bond of any officer from which a bond is required shall be approved by any judge of the district court of the district to which such new county is attached for judicial purposes. The officers elected or appointed under the provisions of this act shall each perform the duties and receive the compensation now provided by general law for the office to which he has been appointed or elected in the counties of the class to which such new county shall have been determined to belong, as herein provided under the general classification of counties in this state.

Said new county when created and organized in pursuance of the provisions of this act shall be attached to such judicial district as may be designated by the Governor of the state of Montana, in a proclamation to be issued by him, designating such new county as attached to the particular judicial district for judicial purposes.

Commission Appointed by Governor to Adjust Indebtedness of Old and New Counties.

Section 6. It shall be the duty of the persons elected to or continuing to hold the office of county commissioners of said new county to meet at the county seat thereof within five days after all of them shall have qualified, and upon organization of said Board of County Commissioners it shall notify the Governor of the state of the organization of said county, and thereupon it shall be the duty of the Governor to appoint three persons, one of whom shall be a resident and a taxpayer within the new county and no two of whom shall be from any one county; the three persons so appointed shall form and be a Board of Commissioners. Such commissioners shall, within ten days after the notice of the appointment, meet at the county seat of the new county and organize by electing from their number a chairman, and also elect a secretary who must not be a member of said commission. Thereafter such commission may meet at such place or places as it may select. A majority of such commissioners shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. Said commission shall have power to compel by citation or subpoena, signed by their president and secretary, the attendance of such persons and the production of such books and papers before said commission as may be required in the performance of the duties imposed by this act, except that the official records of any county or counties from which said new county was formed shall in no case be taken from the county seat of said county. It shall be the duty of the sheriff of any county to execute in his county all lawful orders and citations of the said commission; and for any services so performed the sheriff shall be allowed the same fees as are allowed to him for services in civil actions; and all witnesses attending before said commission shall be entitled to the same compensation and mileage as is allowed to witnesses in courts of record; provided, that no witness shall be excused from attendance at the time and place mentioned in said order or citation by reason of the failure of the officer making such service to tender to such witness his fees and mileage in advance.

Determination of Amount of Indebtedness and Value of Property—Taxation.

Section 7. Said Board of Commissioners shall immediately after its organization ascertain the costs of the election held hereunder, and apportion the same pro rata among each of the counties from which territory was taken to form such new county; shall ascertain the indebtedness of each county from which territory was taken to form the new county, as the same existed at the time when the result of the election was declared by the Board of County Commissioners, as hereinbefore provided, and also ascertain the total value of all property at the time belonging to each of said counties from which territory was taken and situated within the limits of said old counties, respectively. It shall also ascertain the assessed value of all property in each of the original old counties from which territory was so taken, according to the last completed assessment made for said county, and also the assessed value, under the same assessment, of all property within the territory of the new county which shall have been taken from the old county or counties from which said new county was formed. They shall then find the difference between the amount of the indebtedness of the old county and the value of the property belonging to the old county at the date of the declaration of the result of said election, as hereinbefore provided, and if such indebtedness exceeds the value of such property belonging to the old county, the new county shall pay to the old county a due proportion thereof to be determined as follows:

"As said assessed value of the property in the old county is to the said assessed value of the property in the territory provided by this act to be incorporated within the new county from said old county, so is the amount of said excess to the amount to be paid by said new county to said old county."

Said Board of Commissioners shall certify forthwith to the Board of County Commissioners of the new county and the old counties thereby affected, the amount constituting the due proportion of said excess payable by such new county to each of them; also the value of any property belonging to each old county at the time when said division took effect (as hereinbefore provided) which is situated in the new county. The sum of said ascertained value of said last-mentioned property added to the ascertained proportion of said excess which the new county is to pay to the old county, and its proportion of the expense of said election as aforesaid, shall be an indebtedness from the new county to the old county, and the said property situated as aforesaid in the new county shall upon settlement therefor, as provided in this act, become the property of the new county; and the old county shall pay the entire indebtedness against it, and the expense of said election shall be paid by the county calling such election, and any other county affected thereby shall pay its proportion thereof, as hereinbefore provided. The proceedings in this section required to be taken in the ascertainment and adjustment of property rights and debts shall be had and taken as between said new county and each of the counties from which territory is taken to form said new county, in the manner and at the ratio in said section provided. If upon the settlement between the old and new county as herein provided for, the new county shall be found to be indebted to the old county, or either of the old counties, the money necessary to pay said indebtedness shall be raised by a tax levied upon the property contained in said new county, and said new county shall pay the same; provided, however, that such payment by said new county may be made in not more than three equal annual payments, or by funds to be derived from the sale of bonds of said new county, as may be determined by a resolution of the Board of County Commissioners of said new county, adopted within one year after the receipt of the statement from the Board of Commissioners as aforesaid of the amount or amounts due from it. If the value of the property belonging to the old county exceeds the indebtedness of the old county, then the old county shall pay to the new county a due proportion of such excess, which proportion shall be determined by the Board of Commissioners and shall be paid by the old county to the new county in the same manner and subject to the same conditions herein provided for payment by the new county to the old county, when the indebtedness of the old county exceeds the value of the property in the old county. In the determination of the value of county property all buildings and their furniture, real estate, road tools, and machinery and all steel bridges which may have been constructed and in use for a less period than ten years, shall be taken into consideration by the said commissioners.

Delinquent taxes due to the old county against property situated in the new county shall be transcribed in and collected by the new county.

Compensation and Expenses of Commissioners.

Section 8. Members of the Board of Commissioners provided for under this act shall receive a compensation of not to exceed eight dollars ($8) per day for every day they are actually employed under the provisions of this act, together with their actual expenses incurred in the performance of their duties, and the clerk of said board shall receive as compensation for his services not to exceed five dollars ($5) per day for every day that he is actually employed under the provisions of this act, all of which expenses, together with the reasonable expenses of stationery, postage, and incidental expenses, shall be borne in equal proportions by the counties affected by such division, including said new county and the amounts payable by each county shall be paid by the treasurers of the respective counties, after the same shall have been presented to and allowed by the Board of County Commissioners, as is provided by law for claims against any county.

Assessment and Collection of Taxes.

Section 9. After the creation of a new county, as herein provided, its officers shall proceed to complete all proceedings necessary for the assessment or collection of the state and county taxes for the then current year, and all acts and steps theretofore taken by the officers of the old county or counties prior to the creation of the new county shall be deemed and taken as having been performed by the officers of the new county for the benefit of the new county; and upon the creation of the new county it shall be the duty of the officers of the old county or counties to immediately execute and deliver to the Board of County Commissioners of such new county copies of all assessments or other proceedings relative to the assessment and collection of the current state and county taxes of property in such new county. Such copies shall be filed with the respective officers of the new county who would have the custody of the same if the proceeding had been originally had in the new county, and such certified copies shall be taken and deemed as originals and original proceedings in the new county, and all proceedings therein recited shall be taken and deemed as original proceedings in the new county, and shall have the same effect as if the proceedings therein stated had been had at the proper time and in the proper manner by the respective officials of the new county; and the officials of the new county are hereby authorized and directed to proceed thenceforth with the assessment and collection of said taxes as if the proceedings originally had in the old county or counties had been originally had in the new county.

School and Road Funds.

Section 10. The county superintendent of schools of the old county or each of the old counties, respectively, shall furnish the county superintendent of schools of the new county with a certified copy of the last school census of the different school districts in the territory set apart to form the new county, and shall certify to the Board of County Commissioners the amount due; and said board shall order a warrant drawn on the treasurer of the old county in favor of the treasurer of the new county, for all the money that is or may be due by any apportionment or otherwise to the different school districts embraced in the new county from his county; and the county treasurer shall certify to the county commissioners the amount due in the different road funds, and the county commissioners shall order a warrant drawn on the treasurer of their county in favor of the new county for all money that is or may be due by apportionment or otherwise to the different road and district funds in the territory set apart to form the new county from their county, which said amounts shall be properly credited in both counties. And whenever in the formation of a new county a road or school district has been divided, the Board of County Commissioners shall by resolution direct the treasurer to transfer the proper proportionate amount of the money remaining in the fund of such district to the treasurer of the new county.

Records, Books and Papers.

Section 11. The Board of County Commissioners of any new county formed as aforesaid must provide suitable books and have transcribed from the records of the old county or counties all such parts thereof as relate to or affect property, or the title thereof, situated in the new county, and said records when so transcribed and certified, as herein provided, shall have the same force and effect as such original records; the said county commissioners shall have full power and authority to contract for transcribing of records as now provided by law; providing, that all chattel mortgages, renewals of chattel mortgages, articles of incorporation, contract notes, sheriff certificates of sale, liens, and original affidavits of registration which may affect or relate to property or persons situate within the new county, shall be by the county clerk of the old county delivered to the county clerk of the new county and be preserved by said county clerk of the new county as permanent files of such new county.

Transfer of Pending Actions in District Court.

Section 12. All actions pending in the district court of the old county or counties for the recovery of the possession of, quieting the title to, or for the enforcement of liens upon, or any other actions affecting real estate lying in the new county shall, on motion of any party thereto, be transferred to the district court to which the new county may be attached for judicial purposes, and thereafter shall be subject to the same laws as if said action had been originally brought in the district court of the new county. All other actions or special proceedings pending in the district court or courts of said old county or counties, if said new county had been in existence at the date in which it is pending and on motion of any party interested therein shall be transferred to the district court of such new county.

Publication by Posting of Notice.

Section 13. Whenever in this act publication of any notice is provided for and no newspaper of general circulation is published within the territory in which said notice is required to be published, notice shall be given by posting copies of such notice in at least ten public places in such territories for the same length of time said notice was required to be published.

State Senator and Member of the House of New County.

Section 14. The territory within the limits of any new county, until otherwise provided by law, shall be entitled to representation in the state Senate by one state senator; and to representation in the House of Representatives by one member of the House of Representatives.

Misdemeanor and Malfeasance in Office.

Section 15. Any member of the Board of County Commissioners or any other officer who unlawfully and knowingly violates any of the provisions of this act, or fails to perform any duty imposed upon him hereunder, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and of malfeasance in office, and shall be deprived of his office by a decree of a court of competent jurisdiction, after trial and conviction.

Repealing Clause — Saving Clause — Effect of Act on Proposed New Counties.

Section 16. All acts and parts of acts in conflict herewith are hereby repealed, with the exception: "This act shall not apply in any case whereby the election has been held under the act passed by the Thirteenth Legislative Session for the creation of counties and a majority vote has been cast in favor thereof," but the provisions of this act shall be deemed in full force and effect so far as they may affect any proposed new county now in process of creation, unless said new county can comply with the requirements of this act; and it is hereby made the duty of the Board of County Commissioners which may have ordered any election in pursuance of existing laws, to immediately make an order annulling and setting aside all further proceedings in relation to such proposed new county, including an order to nullify and set aside any election order theretofore made; provided, if any order is made nullifying and setting aside any election as provided in this section, any bond which may have been given in pursuance with the provisions of law relating to the costs of the election for the creation of any proposed new county shall be deemed void, and no liability shall be incurred thereunder.

Section 17. This act shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.

Approved March 9, 1915.

The following decisions have been made by the supreme court in construing chapter 112 of Laws of 1911:

The proceedings for the creation of a new county are initiated by filing with the Board of County Commissioners a petition describing the territory sought to be included in the new county. The proceeding is an entirety, and includes all steps taken from the time of this filing until a copy of the resolution declaring the result of the election is presented to the Secretary of State. State v. Board of County Commrs., 44 Mont. 57, 118 Pac. 804.

Generally speaking, bridges are not such county property as to have their value brought under consideration in the adjustment of the indebtedness of the old county with the new one. A bridge is to be treated as but a portion of a public highway. State ex rel. Foster v. Ritch, 49 Mont. 156, 140 Pac. 731.

While, under certain circumstances, the board is authorized to exclude territory, there is not any authority in it to incorporate new territory for which there has not been any petition presented. State v. Board of County Commrs., 47 Mont. 537 et seq., 134 Pac. 291.

In providing for the erection of a new county and that at an election therefor a city or town shall be chosen to be the county seat, the choice is not confined to incorporated municipalities, unless so required expressly. State ex rel. Powers v. Dale, 47 Mont. 228, 231, Ann. Cas. 1914D, 227, 131 Pac. 670.

The change in the involuntary character of counties brought about by the new counties act is not such as to affect the status of counties as political subdivisions of the state for governmental purposes; only incorporated cities and towns are municipal corporations. Hersey v. Neilson, 47 Mont. 144, Ann. Cas. 1914C, 963, 131 Pac. 30.

When the Leighton act was passed, the law for the great register was not in existence; therefore it cannot be said that the Leighton act contemplated registration in the great register as a qualification for electors, or that the great register should be the sole, or any, basis upon which to determine the number of qualified electors resident in the territory to be excluded. State ex rel. Lang v. Furnish, 48 Mont. 28, 34, 134 Pac. 297.

The number of signatures to the petition for the erection of the new county must be at least one-half of all the electors whose names are on the registration list, exclusive of those found to be disqualified. State ex rel. Bogy v. Board of County Commrs., 43 Mont. 537, 117 Pac. 1062.

Under the Leighton act and under the present act (new counties act) the board is to determine whether the counter petition, for the exclusion of territory, contained at the time of its being filed the names of fifty per cent of the qualified electors within such territory, the required signers not being confined to registered voters. State ex rel. Lang v. Furnish, 48 Mont. 30 et seq., 134 Pac. 297.

While, under certain circumstances, the board is authorized to exclude territory, there is not any authority in it to incorporate new territory for which there has not been any petition presented. State v. Board of County Commrs., 47 Mont. 537 et seq., 134 Pac. 291; State ex rel. Darling v. Board of County Commrs., 50 Mont. 435, 148 Pac. 314.

Provided, however, that at any time within six months after the passage of an act creating a new county, a petition or petitions may be filed with the county clerk of the Board of County Commissioners of such county asking the board to submit the question of the location of the . . . the permanent county seat to the electors of the county at a special election to be called and held in the manner hereinafter in this act provided. Said petition or petitions must contain in the aggregate the names of at least one hundred taxpayers, whose names appear upon the assessment-books containing the last assessment of the property situated in such new county and whose names also appear as registered electors in some registration district established and existing in the territory embraced in the new county at the last general election held therein.

The petition or petitions when filed with the board must also have certificates attached thereto from the county clerk of the county in which the person or persons signing the petition resided before the creation of the new county certifying that the names of the person signing said petition or petitions appear in the last assessment-books of his county and also in the registration-books of his county containing the names of the electors registered in the last general election in the districts now embraced in the new county. [Approved March 9, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 135, p. 379.]

Section 3. Upon filing said petition or petitions duly certified to as provided in section 2 of this act, with the county clerk of the new county he must immediately notify the chairman of the Board of County Commissioners who, upon receipt of such notice, must call a meeting of the board to be held within ten days after the filing of said petition, for the purpose of considering the same. If the board at such meeting finds that said petition conforms to the requirements of and is in accordance with the provisions of section 2 of this act, it shall, at said meeting by a resolution spread upon its minutes, call a special election of the qualified electors of said county for the purpose of voting upon the question of the location of the permanent county seat.

Said election shall be held on Tuesday and not less than forty nor more than sixty days after the date of calling the same. The board must issue an election proclamation containing a statement of the time of the election and the question to be submitted. A copy of this proclamation must be published in some newspaper printed in the county, if any, and posted at each place of election at least ten days before the election. [Approved March 9, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 135, p. 380.]

It must also at the same session of the board appoint registry agents for the several registration districts established by it who must possess the qualifications required by law for registry agents. The county clerk must furnish the said registry agents with books, blanks, and other stationery required for the proper performance of their duties. M. of the fourth Monday prior to the date of said election to 9 P. M. of the second following Saturday. It shall be the duty of each registry agent to publish and post notices of the time and places of registration in the manner provided by law for the publication of notices of registration for general elections. No person shall be entitled to register and vote at such special election unless he is a qualified voter of the state of Montana of the age of twenty-one years and will have been a resident of Montana one year and of the territory embraced within the boundaries of the new county for a period of one hundred and eighty days on the day next preceding the day of such election and also takes and subscribes to the oath provided in section 479, Revised Codes of Montana.

Canvass of Returns—Result of Election.

Section 9. When the name of a town or place in a county shall be so inserted in the blank space on such ballot by an elector and the ballot has been cast as provided by law, the same shall be deemed a vote for the designated town or place as the location of the permanent county seat of said county. The Board of County Commissioners of said county shall canvass the returns of said election in the manner provided by law for the canvassing of election returns and upon such canvassing of the returns the town or place found to have received a majority of all votes cast on such questions shall be declared by the board the permanent county seat of the county. Within ten days after the declaration of the result of such election all records and county offices of the county, if elsewhere located, must be moved to and remain at the place declared the permanent county seat. [Approved March 9, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 135, p. 383.]

[Approved March 9, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 135, p. 384.]

Section 12. Any county heretofore created, in which the permanent county seat has been located by valid election held for the purpose of locating the permanent county seat of said county, may have a special election, for the purpose of voting on such question, called and held under the provisions of this act or if no special election is held for such purpose, then said question shall be submitted by the county commissioners at the next general election after the passage of this act and in the manner provided herein for the submission of such questions at general elections; provided, however, that no special election shall be called for the purpose of submitting such question unless a petition or petitions containing in the aggregate the names of one hundred tax-paying electors of such county whose names appear upon the last assessment-book and also on the last registration-books of said county are filed with the clerk of the Board of County Commissioners within six months after the passage and approval of this act.

Upon the filing of such petition or petitions within said time, containing the requisite number of tax-paying electors, which must be ascertained by the board from the records of said county, said board must immediately call such special election, as herein provided.

If registration districts and polling precincts have already been established in said county, they shall remain the same for such special election but a new registration shall be had and said special election conducted and the result determined as in this act provided.

Section 11. In the case of any political party not represented by any candidates for any office on the ballot at the last preceding general election, nomination papers must be signed by as many voters as are required in the case of the candidates of the party requiring the least numbers of signatures entitled, as herein provided, to a place on the ballot at such primary. If the nomination is for a municipal office, or for an office to be voted for in only one county, the necessary number of signers shall include electors residing in at least one-fifth of the voting precincts of the county, municipality or district; if it be a state or district office, and the district comprises more than one county, the necessary number of signers shall include electors residing in each of at least one-eighth of the precincts in each of at least two counties in the district; if it be an office to be voted for in the state at large, the necessary number of signers shall include electors residing in each of at least one-tenth of the precincts in each of at least seven counties of the state; if it be an office to be voted for in a congressional district, the necessary number of signers shall include electors residing in at least one-tenth of the precincts in each of at least one-fourth of the counties in such district. All the leaves or sheets making one petition shall be fastened together before they are forwarded to the proper officers for filing. There shall not be in any petition the name of more than one candidate for nomination. Any elector may sign more than one nominating petition required by this law for the same office. It shall be unlawful for any person to sign another person's name to any petition required by this law. It shall be unlawful for any person to sign any nominating petition required by this law unless he is a qualified elector. Any names or signatures placed on any petition in violation of the provisions of this law shall not be counted in computing the number of signers necessary to make the same a valid and effective petition.

Qualification of Petitioners.

Section 12. No person who is not a qualified elector shall be qualified to join in signing any petition for nomination, or to vote at said primary nominating election. But this shall not be construed to prevent any member of any party from signing a petition for the nomination of any independent or nonpartisan candidate after the primary nominating election, nor shall it be construed to prevent any qualified elector from signing petitions for more than one candidate for the same office on one party ticket.

Time for Filing Petitions for Nominations.

Section 13. All petitions for nomination under this act for offices to be filled by the state at large, or by any district consisting of more than one county, and nominating petitions for judges of district courts in districts consisting of a single county, shall be filed in the office of the Secretary of State not less than twenty days before the date of the primary nominating election; and for other offices to be voted for in only one county, or district or city, every such petition shall be filed with the county clerk or city clerk, as the case may be, not less than fifteen days before the date of the primary nominating election.

All such writings, poll-books, tally sheets, ballots, and ballot stubs pertaining to primary nominating elections under the provisions of this act shall be preserved as other records are for two years after the election to which they pertain, at which time, unless otherwise ordered or restrained by some court, the county clerk shall destroy the ballots and ballot stubs, by fire, without any one inspecting the same.

Failure to obey the order of any such court or judge shall be contempt. Any person in interest or aggrieved by the refusal or failure of any person to perform any duty or act required by this law shall, without derogation to any other right or remedy, be entitled to pray for a mandamus in the district court of appropriate jurisdiction, and any proceedings under the provisions of this law shall be immediately heard and decided.

The county clerk, whenever it shall be necessary for him to do so in order to send said returns and abstracts within the time above limited, may send the same by Section 32. There shall be elected by each political party, subject to the provisions of this law, at said primary nominating election, a committeeman for each election precinct, who shall be a resident of such precinct. Each committeeman shall hold such position for the term of two years from the date of the first meeting of said committee immediately following their election. In case of a vacancy happening on account of death, resignation, removal from the precinct, or otherwise, the remaining members of said county committee may select a committeeman to fill the vacancy and he shall be a resident of the precinct in which the vacancy occurred. Said county and city central committees shall have the power to make rules and regulations for the government of their respective political parties in each county and city, not inconsistent with any of the provisions of this law, and to elect the county member of the state central committee and of the members of the congressional committee, and said committees shall have the same power to fill all vacancies and make rules in their jurisdiction that the county committee has to fill county vacancies and make rules. Said county and city central committees shall have the power to make nominations to fill vacancies occurring among the candidates of their respective parties nominated for city or county offices by the primary nominating election, where such vacancy is caused by death or removal from the electoral district, but not otherwise. Said committees shall meet and organize by electing a chair-

They may select managing or executive committees and authorize such subcommittees to exercise any and all powers conferred upon the county, city, state and congressional central committees respectively by this law.

Penalty for Violation of Law.

Section 33. If any candidate for nomination shall be guilty of any wrongful or unlawful act or acts at a primary nominating election which would be sufficient, if such wrongful or unlawful act or acts had been done by such candidate at the regular general election, to cause his removal from office, he shall, upon conviction thereof, be removed from office in like manner as though such wrongful or unlawful act or acts had been committed at a regular general election, notwithstanding that he may have been regularly elected and shall not have been guilty of any wrongful or unlawful act at the election at which he shall have been elected to his office.

Section 34. The candidates for the various state offices, and for the United States Senate, representatives in Congress and the legislative assembly nominated by each political party at such primary, and senators of such political party, whose term of office extends beyond the first Monday in January of the year next ensuing, and the members of the state central committee of such political party, shall meet at the call of the chairman of the state central committee not later than September 15th next preceding any general election. They shall forthwith formulate the state platform of their party. They shall thereupon proceed to elect a chairman of the state central committee and perform such other business as may properly be brought before such meeting.

Other Offenses.

Section 36. Any act declared an offense by the general laws of this state concerning caucuses, primaries and elections shall also, in like case, be an offense in and as to all primaries as herein defined, and shall be punished in the same form and manner as therein provided, and all the penalties and provisions of the law as to such caucuses, primaries and elections, except as herein otherwise provided, shall apply in such case with equal force, and to the same extent as though fully set forth in this act.

Forgery—Refusal to Deliver Papers.

Section 37. Any person who shall forge any name of a signer or a witness to a nomination paper shall be guilty of forgery, and on conviction punished accordingly. Any person who, being in possession of nomination papers entitled to be filed under this act, or any act of the legislature, shall wrongfully either suppress, neglect or fail to cause the same to be filed at the proper time in the proper office, shall, on conviction, be punished by imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed six months, or by a fine not to exceed one thousand dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court.

The provisions of the laws of this state now in force in relation to the holding of election, the solicitation of voters at the polls, and the challenging of voters, the manner of conducting elections, of counting the ballots and making return thereof, the appointment and compensation of officers of election, and all other kindred subjects, shall apply to all primaries, in so far as they are consistent with this act, the intent of this act being to place the primary under the regulation and protection of the laws now in force as to elections.

Such voter shall make and subscribe the said affidavit before an officer authorized by law to administer oaths and who has an official seal, and may do so at any place in the state of Montana, and such voter shall thereupon, in the presence of such officer and of no other person, mark such ballot or ballots, but in such manner that such officer cannot see the vote, and such ballot or ballots shall thereupon, in the presence of such officer, be folded by such voter so that each ballot will be separate, and so as to conceal the vote, and shall be, in the presence of such officer, placed in such envelope without detaching any stub or stubs, and the said envelope securely sealed. Said officer shall thereupon append his signature and official title and affix his seal at the end of said jurat and certificate. Said envelope shall be mailed by such absent voter, postage prepaid, or delivered to the county clerk.

Duty of County Clerk upon Receipt of Marked Ballot.

Section 8. Upon receipt of such envelope, such county clerk shall forthwith inclose the same, unopened, together with the written application of such absent voter, in a larger envelope, which shall be securely sealed and indorsed with the name of the proper voting precinct, the name and official title of such clerk, and the words, "This envelope contains an absent voter ballot and must be opened only on election day at the polls while the same are open," and such clerk shall safely keep the same in his office until the same is delivered or mailed by him as provided in the next section.

In case the official ballots for such precinct shall have been delivered to the judge of election prior to the time of the receipt by the county clerk of such absent voter's envelope, such clerk shall, immediately after inclosing such voter's envelope and his application in a larger envelope, and after indorsing the latter as provided in the foregoing section, address and mail such larger envelope, postage prepaid, to the said judge of election of said precinct, as hereinafter further provided.

Clerk to Keep Record Ballots and Issue Certificate.

Section 10. The county clerk shall keep a record of all ballots so delivered for the purpose of absent voting, as well as of ballots, if any, marked before him as hereinafter provided, and shall make and deliver to the judge of election, to whom the ballots for the precinct are delivered, and at the time of the delivery of such ballots, a certificate stating the numbers of the ballots delivered or mailed to absent voters, as well as those marked before him, if any, and the names of the voters to whom such ballots shall be delivered or mailed, or by whom they shall have been marked if marked before him.

Section 11. The judges of election, at the opening of the polls, shall note on the poll list, when one is required by law to be kept, opposite the numbers corresponding to the numbers of the ballots issued to absent voters, as shown by the certificate of the county clerk, the fact that such ballots were issued to absent voters and shall reserve said numbers for the absent voters. The notation may be made by writing the words "Absent Voters" opposite such numbers. The judges shall not allow any names to be inserted in the poll list on the lines corresponding to said numbers, except the name of the elector entitled to each particular number according to the certificate of the county clerk and the number of his ballot. Any qualified elector who is present in his county after the official ballots of such county have been printed, and who has reason to believe that he will be absent from such county on election day, as provided in section 2, may vote before he leaves his county, in like manner as an absent voter, before the county clerk or some officer authorized to administer oaths and having an official seal; and the provisions of this act shall be deemed to apply to such voting. In case the judges find the affidavit is sufficient and that the signatures correspond, and that the applicant is then a duly qualified elector of such precinct and has not voted at such election, they shall open the absent voter envelope, in such manner as not to destroy the affidavit thereon, and take out the ballot or ballots therein contained, and without unfolding the same, or permitting the same to be opened or examined, shall ascertain whether the stub or stubs is or are still attached to the ballot or ballots and whether the number thereon corresponds to the number in the county clerk's certificate. If so, they shall indorse the same in like manner that other ballots are indorsed, shall detach the stub, as in other cases, and deposit the ballot or ballots in the proper ballot box or boxes, and make in their election list and books the proper entries to show such elector to have voted. If upon opening the absent voter's envelope, it be found that the stub of any ballot has been detached or that the number thereon does not correspond to the number in the county clerk's certificate of the number issued to such absent voter, the ballot shall be rejected and it shall then and there, and without looking at the face thereof be marked on the back "rejected on the ground of . . ." filling the blank with the statement of the reason of the rejection; which statement shall be dated and signed by the majority of the judges. The ballot or ballots so rejected together with the absent voter's envelope bearing the application and the said application shall all be inclosed in an envelope which shall be then and there securely sealed and on such envelope the judges shall write or cause to be written (if not already printed thereon) the words "rejected ballot of absent voter" (writing in the name of the elector). If the envelope containing the absent-voter-ballot shall have been marked "rejected as defective," and deposited in the ballot-box, such elector so appearing shall have the same right to vote as if he had not attempted to vote as an absent voter. If voting machines are there used, he shall vote by machine as other voters.

Applicability of Election Laws.

Section 1. In the years when a President and Vice-President of the United States are to be elected, the primary nominating election shall be held on the forty-fifth day before the first Monday in June of said year; and all laws pertaining to the nomination of candidates, registration of voters and all other things incident and pertaining to the holding of the regular biennial nominating election, shall be enforced and affected.

Electors may Express Preference for President.

Section 3. The members of the political parties subject to this law shall elect their party delegates to their national conventions for the nomination of their party candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, and shall nominate candidates for their party presidential electors at such nominating election. The Governor shall grant a certificate of election to each of the delegates so elected, which certificates shall show the number of votes received in the state by each person of such delegate's political party for nomination as its candidate for President and Vice-President. Nominating petitions for the office of delegate to the respective party national conventions, to be chosen and elected at said nominating election, shall be sufficient if they contain a number of signatures of the members of the party equal to one per cent of the party vote in the state at the last preceding election for representative in Congress; provided that not more than five hundred signatures shall be required on any such petition. Every qualified voter shall have the right at such nominating election to vote for the election of one person, and no more, to the office of national delegate for his party, and to vote for the nomination of one aspirant, and no more, for the office of presidential elector as the candidate of his party. A number of such candidates equal to the number of delegates to be elected by each party which is subject to the provisions of this law, receiving, respectively, each for himself, the highest number of votes for such office, shall be thereby elected. Every political party subject to the provisions of this law shall be entitled to nominate, at said nominating election, as many candidates for the office of presidential elector as there are such offices to be elected; that number of aspirants in every such party who shall receive, respectively, each for himself, the highest number of votes of his party for that nomination, shall be thereby nominated as a candidate of his political party for the office of presidential elector.

The election of such national delegates for political parties not subject to the direct primary nominating elections law shall be certified in like manner as nominations of candidates of such political parties for elective public offices. Every such delegate to a national convention to nominate candidates for President and Vice-President, shall subscribe to an oath of office that he will uphold the Constitution and the laws of the United States and of the state of Montana, and that he will, as such officer and delegate, to the best of his judgment and ability, faithfully carry out the wishes of his political party as expressed by its voters at the time of his election.

The committee or organization which shall file a petition to place the name of any person on the nominating ballot of their political party to be voted for by its members for expression of their choice for nomination as the candidate of such party for President or Vice-President of the United States, shall have the right, upon payment thereof, to four pages of printed space in the campaign books of such political party provided for by law. In this space said committee shall set forth their statement of the reasons why such person should be voted for and chosen by the members of their party in Montana and in the nation as its candidate. Any qualified elector of any such political party who favors or opposes the nomination of any person by his own political party as its candidate for President or Vice-President of the United States, may have not exceeding four pages of space in his aforesaid party nominating campaign book, at a cost of one hundred dollars per printed page, to set forth his reasons therefor.

In this space, the candidate, or his supporters with his written permission filed with the Secretary of State, may set forth the reasons why he should be elected. No charge shall be made against candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States for this printed space. The other candidates above named shall pay at the rate of one hundred dollars per printed page for said space, and said payment shall not be counted as a part of the ten per cent of one year's salary that each candidate is allowed to spend for campaign purposes.

No person shall pay the owner, editor, publisher or agent of any newspaper or other periodical to induce him to editorially advocate or oppose any candidate for nomination or election, and no such owner, editor, publisher or agent shall accept such payment. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be punished as for a corrupt practice.

Section 34. It shall be unlawful for any person at any place on the day of any election to ask, solicit, or in any manner try to induce or persuade any voter on such election day to vote for or refrain from voting for any candidate, or the candidates or ticket of any political party or organization, or any measure submitted to the people, and upon conviction thereof he shall be punished by a fine of not less than five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for the first offense, and for the second and each subsequent offense occurring on the same or different election days, he shall be punished by fine as aforesaid, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than five nor more than thirty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Circulation of Letters, Posters, Bills, etc.

Section 35. If any letter, circular, poster, bill, publication or placard shall contain any false statement or charges reflecting on any candidate's character, morality or integrity, the author thereof and every person printing or knowingly assisting in the circulation shall be guilty of political criminal libel and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary for not less than one nor more than three years. If the person charged with such crime shall prove on his trial that he had reasonable ground to believe such charge was true and did believe it was true, and that he was not actuated by malice in making such publica-

But in that event, and as a part of such defense, the author and the printer or publisher or other person charged with such crime shall also prove that, at least fifteen days before such letter, circular, poster, bill or placard containing such false statement or statements was printed or circulated, he or they caused to be served personally and in person upon the candidate to whom it relates a copy thereof in writing, and calling his attention particularly to the charges contained therein, and that, before printing, publishing or circulating such charges, he received and read any denial, defense or explanation, if any, made or offered to him in writing by the accused candidate within ten days after the service of such charge upon the accused person.

The name of a candidate chosen at a primary nominating election or otherwise shall not be printed on the official ballot for the ensuing election unless there has been filed by or on behalf of said candidate the statements of accounts and expenses relating to nominations required by this act, as well as a statement by his political agent and by his political committee or committees in his behalf, if his statement discloses the existence of such agent, committee or committees. The officer or board intrusted by law with the preparation of the official ballots for any election shall, as far as practicable, warn candidates of the danger of the omission of their names by reason of this provision, but delay in making any such statement beyond the time prescribed shall not preclude its acceptance or prevent the insertion of the name on the ballot if there is reasonable time therefor after the receipt of such statements. Any such vacancy on the ballot shall be filled by the proper committee of his political party in the manner authorized by law, but not by the use of the name of the candidate who failed to file such statements. No person shall receive a certificate of election until he shall have filed the statements required by this act.

It shall be unlawful for any person to accept, receive, or pay money or any valuable consideration for becoming or for refraining from becoming a candidate for nomination or election, or by himself or in combination with any other person or persons to become a candidate for the purpose of defeating the nomination or election of any other person and not with a bona fide intent to obtain the office. Upon complaint made to any district court if the judge shall be convinced that any person has sought the nomination or seeks to have his name presented to the voters as a candidate for nomination by any political party for any mercenary or venal consideration or motive, and that his candidacy for the nomination is not in good faith, the judge shall forthwith issue his writ of injunction restraining the officer or officers whose duty it is to prepare the official ballots for such nominating election from placing the name of such person thereon as a candidate for nomination to any office. In addition thereto the court shall direct the county attorney to institute criminal proceedings against such person or persons for corrupt criminal proceedings against such person or persons for corrupt practice, and upon conviction thereof he and any person or persons combining with him shall be punished by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year.

Forfeiture of Nomination or Office for Violation of Law—When not Worked.

Section 38. Where, upon the trial of any action or proceeding under the provisions of this act for the contest of the right of any person declared nominated or elected to any office, or to annul or set aside such nomination or election, or to remove a person from his office, it appears from the evidence that the offense complained of was not committed by the candidate, or with his knowledge or consent, or was committed without his sanction or connivance, and that all reasonable means for preventing the commission of such offense at such election were taken by and on behalf of the candidate, or that the offense or offenses complained of were trivial, unimportant and limited in character, and that in all other respects his participation in the election was free from such offenses or illegal acts, or that any act or omission of the candidate arose from inadvertence or from accidental miscalculation, or from some other reasonable cause of a like nature and in any case did not arise from any want of good faith, and under the circumstances it seems to the court to be unjust that the said candidate shall forfeit his nomination or office or be deprived of any office of which he is the incumbent, then the nomination or election of such candidate shall not by reason of such offense or omission complained of be void, nor shall the candidate be removed from or deprived of his office.

Punishment for Violation of Act.

Section 39. If, upon the trial of any action or proceeding under the provisions of this act, for the contesting of the right of any person declared to be nominated to an office, or elected to an office, or to annul and set aside such election, or to remove any person from his office, it shall appear that such person was guilty of any corrupt practice, illegal act, or undue influence in or about such nomination or election, he shall be punished by being deprived of the nomination or office, as the case may be, and the vacancy therein shall be filled in the manner provided by law. The only exception to this judgment shall be that provided in section 38 of this act. Such judgment shall not prevent the candidate or officer from being proceeded against by indictment or criminal information for any such act or acts.

Time for Commencing Contest.

Section 40. Any action to contest the right of any person declared elected to an office, or to annul and set aside such election, or to remove from or deprive any person of an office of which he is the incumbent, for any offense mentioned in this act, must, unless a different time be stated, be commenced within forty days after the return day of the election at which such offense was committed, unless the ground of the action or proceeding is for the illegal payment of money or other valuable things subsequent to the filing of the statements prescribed by this act, in which case the action or proceeding may be commenced within forty days after the discovery by the complainant of such illegal payment. A contest of the nomination or office of Governor or representative or senator in Congress must be commenced within twenty days after the declaration of the result of the election, but this shall not be construed to apply to any contest before the legislative assembly.

Court Having Jurisdiction of Proceedings.

Section 41. An application for filing a statement, payment of a claim or correction of an error or false recital in a statement filed, or an action or proceeding to annul and set aside the election of any person declared elected to an office, or to remove or deprive any person of his office for an offense mentioned in this act, or any petition to excuse any person or candidate in accordance with the power of the court to excuse as provided in section 38 of this act, must be made or filed in the district court of the county in which the certificate of his nomination as a candidate for the office to which he is declared nominated or elected is filed or in which the incumbent resides.

Disqualification of Person Convicted to Hold Office.

Section. 42. A candidate nominated or elected to an office, and whose nomination or election thereto has been annulled and set aside for any offense mentioned in this act, shall not, during the period fixed by law as the term of such office, be elected or appointed to fill any office or vacancy in any office or position of trust, honor or emolument under the laws of the state of Montana or of any municipality therein. Any appointment or election to any office or position of trust, honor or emolument made in violation of or contrary to the provisions of this act shall be void.

Duty of County Attorney on Violation of Act.

Section 43. If any county attorney shall be notified by any officer or other person of any violation of any of the provisions of this act within his jurisdiction, it shall be his duty forthwith to diligently inquire into the facts of such violation, and if there is reasonable ground for instituting a prosecution it shall be the duty of such county attorney to file a complaint or information in writing, before a court of competent jurisdiction, charging the accused person with such offense; if any county attorney shall fail or refuse to faithfully perform any duty imposed upon him by this act, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall forfeit his office. It shall be the duty of the county attorney, under penalty of forfeiture of his office, to prosecute any and all persons guilty of any violation of the provisions of this act, the penalty of which is fine or imprisonment, or both, or removal from office.

Declaration of Result of Election After Rejection of Illegal Votes.

Section 44. If, in any case of a contest, on the ground of illegal votes, it appears that another person than the one returned has the highest number of legal votes, after the illegal votes have been eliminated, the court must declare such person nominated or elected, as the case may be.

Grounds for Contest of Nomination.

Section 45. Any elector of the state, or of any political or municipal division thereof, may contest the right of any person to any nomination or office for which such elector has the right to vote, for any of the following causes:

1. On the ground of deliberate, serious and material violation of any of the provisions of this act, or of any other provision of the law relating to nominations or elections.
2. When the person whose right was contested was not, at the time of the election, eligible to such office.
3. On account of illegal votes or an erroneous or fraudulent count or canvass of votes.

Corrupt practices acts of 1913, section 45, permitting the contest of a nomination, was passed in anticipation of the passage of the general primary election law. Cadle v. Town of Baker (Mont.), 149 Pac. 960.

This section permits a nomination as well as an election to be made the subject of contest. Cadle v. Town of Baker (Mont.), 149 Pac. 960.

Nomination or Election not to be Vacated When.

Section 46. Nothing in the third ground of contest specified in section 45 is to be so construed as to authorize a nomination or election to be set aside on account of illegal votes, unless it appear, either that the candidate or nominee whose right is contested had knowledge of, or connived at such illegal votes, or that the number of illegal votes given to the person whose right to the nomination or office is contested, if taken from him, would reduce the number of his legal votes below the number of votes given to some other person for the same nomination or office, after deducting therefrom the illegal votes which may be shown to have been given to such other person.

Allegation and Evidence of Corrupt Practices.

Section 47. When the reception of illegal votes is alleged as a cause of contest, it shall be sufficient to state generally that in one or more specified voting precincts, illegal votes were given to the person whose nomination or election is contested, which, if taken from him, will reduce the number of his legal votes below the number of legal votes given to some other person for the same office; but no testimony shall be received of any illegal votes unless the party contesting such election deliver to the opposite party, at least three days before such trial, a written list of the number of illegal votes, and by whom given, which he intends to prove on such trial. This provision shall not prevent the contestant from offering evidence of illegal votes not included in such statement, if he did not know and by reasonable diligence was unable to learn of such additional illegal votes and by whom they were given, before delivering such written list.

Petition Contesting Nomination or Election.

Section 48. Any petition contesting the right of any person to a nomination or election shall set forth the name of every person whose election is contested, and the grounds of the contest, and shall not thereafter be amended, except by leave of the court. Before any proceedings thereon the petitioner shall give bond in the state in such sum as the court may order, not exceeding two thousand dollars, with not less than two sureties, who shall justify in the manner required of sureties on bail bonds, conditioned to pay all costs, disbursements and attorney's fees that may be awarded against him if he shall not prevail. If the petitioner prevails, he may recover his costs, disbursements and reasonable attorney's fees against the contestee. But costs, disbursements and attorney's fees, in all such cases, shall be in the discretion of the court, and in case judgment is rendered against the petitioner it shall also be rendered against the sureties on the bond. On the filing of any such petition the clerk shall immediately notify the judge of the court, and issue a citation to the person whose nomination or office is contested, citing them to appear and answer not less than three nor more than seven days after the date of filing the petition, and the court shall hear said cause, and every such contest shall take precedence over all other business on the court docket and shall be tried and disposed of with all convenient dispatch. The court shall always be deemed in session for the trial of such cases.

Hearing of Contest.

Section 49. The petitioner (contestant) and the contestee may appear and produce evidence at the hearing, but no person other than the petitioner and contestee shall be made a party to the proceedings on such petition; and no person other than said parties and their attorneys shall be heard thereon, except by order of the court. If more than one petition is pending, or the election of more than one person is contested, the court may, in its discretion, order the cases to be heard together, and may apportion the costs, disbursements and attorney's fees between them, and shall finally determine all questions of law and fact, save only that the judge may in his discretion empanel a jury to decide on questions of fact. In the case of a contested nomination or election for senator or representative in the legislative assembly, or for senator or representative in Congress, the court shall forthwith certify its findings to the Secretary of State to be by him transmitted to the presiding officer of the body in question. In the case of other nominations or elections, the court shall forthwith certify its decision to the board or official issuing certificates of nomination or election, which board or official shall thereupon issue certificates of nomination or election to the person or persons entitled thereto by such decision. If judgment of ouster against a defendant shall be rendered, said judgment shall award the nomination or office to the person receiving next the highest number of votes, unless it shall be further determined in the action, upon appropriate pleading and proof by the defendant, that some act has been done or committed which would have been ground in a similar action against such person, had he received the highest number of votes for such nomination or office, for a judgment of ouster against him; and if it shall be so determined at the trial, the nomination or office shall be by the judgment declared vacant, and shall thereupon be filled by a new election, or by appointment, as may be provided by law regarding vacancies in such nomination or office.

This section violates Constitution, article IX, section 13, if it permits a candidate who did not receive the highest number of legal votes to be declared elected upon the ousting of the one who received such votes. Cadle v. Town of Baker (Mont.), 149 Pac. 960.

Corporations Violating Act.

Section 50. In like manner as prescribed for the contesting of an election, any corporation organized under the laws of or doing business in the state of Montana may be brought into court on the ground of deliberate, serious and material violation of the provisions of this act. The petition shall be filed in the district court in the county where said corporation has its principal office, or where the violation of law is averred to have been committed. The court, upon conviction of such corporation, may impose a fine of not more than ten thousand dollars, or may declare a forfeiture of the charter and franchises of the corporation if organized under the laws of this state, or if it be a foreign corporation may enjoin said corporation from further transacting business in this state, or by both such fine and forfeiture or by both such fine and injunction.

Punishment for Violation of Act.

Section 51. Whoever violates any provision of this act, the punishment for which is not specially provided by law, shall on conviction thereof be punished by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year, or by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Trial—Privilege of Witnesses.

Section 52. Proceedings under this act shall be advanced on the docket upon request of either party for speedy trial, but the court may postpone or continue such trial if the ends of justice may be thereby more effectually secured, and in case of such continuance or postponement, the court may impose costs in its discretion as a condition thereof. No petition shall be dismissed without the consent of the county attorney unless the same shall be dismissed by the court. No person shall be excused from testifying or producing papers or documents on the ground that his testimony or the production of papers or documents will tend to criminate him; but no admission, evidence or paper made or advanced or produced by such person shall be offered or used against him in any civil or criminal prosecution or any evidence that is the direct result of such evidence or information that he may have so given except in a prosecution for perjury committed in such testimony.

Form of Complaint.

Section 53. A petition or complaint filed under the provisions of this act shall be sufficient if it is substantially in the following form:

Adopted by the people at the November election in 1912. See Laws 1913, pp. 593-616.

Sections 38, 39, 40, construed in connection with this section, do not authorize the contest of an election for the determination of the location of a county seat. The words "persons" or "public office" are used in the same sense as in Revised Codes, sections 7234, 7238. Cadle v. Town of Baker (Mont.), 149 Pac. 960.

While the corrupt practices act is in force by virtue of a vote by the people, it has no greater efficacy as a statute than if it had been enacted by the legislature; in other words, it cannot affect any provision of the Constitution. State ex rel. Smith v. District Court, 50 Mont. 137, 145 Pac. 721.

Every corporation, company, copartnership or association which shall outside of the county in which such land is located sell, offer or negotiate for the sale of any contracts for deed, bonds for deed or other papers by whatsoever names such instruments may be designated, not originally issued by such corporation, company, copartnership or association, providing that when certain payments are made or certain conditions fulfilled a deed or title will be delivered to certain parts or parcels of land.

(3.) This act shall not apply to any person, bank, corporation, copartnership or association of Montana selling stock or securities actually owned by said person, corporation, copartnership or association, provided that they shall not be engaged in the brokerage business of buying and selling stocks for securities nor shall this be so construed so as to prevent any corporation either foreign or domestic from selling its own stock, bonds or securities through an officer or agent of such corporation providing that two-thirds or more of the assets of said corporations shall consist of property situated within the state of Montana.

"Stock Broker" Defined.

Section 2. The name "stock broker" as used in this act shall include every person, set of persons, associations, companies, copartnership or corporation, who shall, in the state of Montana, engage in the business of dealing in stocks, bonds or other securities covered by this act, selling or offering or negotiating for the sale thereof, or underwriting or purchasing such securities and reselling them to any person or persons, at a commission or profit.

Words "Domestic" and "Foreign" Defined.

Section 3. The name "domestic" as used in this act shall apply to those investment companies or stock brokers incorporated under the laws of Montana or having their principal office in the state of Montana, and the word "foreign" shall apply to those incorporated under the laws of another state, or foreign country or having their principal office outside of the state of Montana.

Word "Agent" Defined.

Section 4. The name "agent" as used in this act shall include any person who shall act for any investment company or stock broker in offering for sale, taking subscriptions for or negotiating for the sale, or selling any securities for any investment company or stock broker, either as an employee on a salary basis or for a commission.

Investment Companies and Stock Brokers must have Permit.

Section 5. It shall be unlawful for any investment company or stock broker, or any representative thereof, to sell, offer for sale, take subscriptions for or negotiate for the sale in any manner whatsoever, of any stocks, bonds or other securities of any kind or character, other than those exempted from the provisions hereof by the definitions herein provided, without a permit from the state investment commissioner as hereinafter provided.

Application for Permit by Investment Companies.

Section 6. Before securing such permit it shall be necessary for each and every investment company to file in the office of the investment commissioner, together with a filing fee of twenty-five ($25) dollars, the following papers, documents, etc., together with such other information and documents as said investment commissioner shall deem necessary in each case, to wit:

1. An itemized statement of its actual financial condition and the amount of its properties and liabilities.
2. A copy of all contracts, bonds or other securities which it proposes to make with or sell to its contributors.
3. Sample copies of all literature or advertising matter used or to be used by such investment company.
4. A copy of its Constitution and by-laws, or articles of copartnership or association.
5. If it shall be an incorporated investment company, it shall also file a copy of its charter, and if it be a foreign investment company, such copy shall bear the certificate of the Secretary of State, or other state officer having custody of such records, that it is a true, complete and correct copy.

Verification of Application and Papers.

Section 7. All of the above-described papers shall be verified by the oath of a duly authorized member of a copartnership or association, if it be a copartnership or association, and by the oath of the president and secretary, if it be incorporated, provided that the investment commissioner shall have the power to require such officers to make affidavit to such other reports or information as he may call for.

Foreign Investment Companies to File Written Consent to Service of Process.

Section 8. Every foreign investment company shall also file its written consent, in such form as may be approved by the investment commissioner, that actions may be commenced against it, in the proper court of any county in this state in which a cause of action may arise or in which the plaintiff may reside, by the service of process on the investment commissioner, agreeing that such service of process on the investment commissioner shall be taken and held, in all courts, to be as valid and binding as if due service had been made upon the company itself according to the laws of this or any other state, and such written consent for service of process shall be irrevocable. Such written consent shall be accompanied by a certified copy of an order or resolution of the board of directors, trustees, owners or managers of such investment company authorizing the execution of same. When a case shall be brought, the summons shall be directed to the investment commissioner, and shall require the defendant to answer by a certain day, not less than forty days nor more than sixty days from the date thereof. Said summons shall be forthwith forwarded by the clerk of the court to the investment commissioner, who shall immediately forward a copy thereof to the secretary of the corporation sued, by registered mail, and thereupon the investment commissioner shall make return of said summons to the court whence it issued, showing the date of its receipt by him, the date of forwarding such copy, the name and address of the person to whom he forwarded said copy, and the costs of service and return thereof, which in each case shall be two ($2.50) dollars and fifty cents. Such return shall be under his hand and seal of office, and shall have the same force and effect as a due and sufficient return made by the sheriff on process directed to him. The investment commissioner shall keep a suitable record book, in which he shall docket each action commenced against a foreign investment company as aforesaid. This record shall show the court in which the suit is brought, the title of case, the time when commenced, the date and manner of service, and the date of payment of fee taxed as costs in the case.

Examination of Application by Commissioner and Issuance of Statement.

Section 9. It shall be the duty of the investment commissioner to examine the statements and documents so filed, and if said investment commissioner shall deem it advisable, he shall make or have made a detailed examination, audit an investigation of such investment company's affairs, providing that such investment company may at its option, in writing, refuse to have such investigation made, in which event said investment commissioner shall reject its application. If he finds that such investment company is solvent, that its article of incorporation or association, its Constitution and by-laws, its proposed plan of business and proposed contracts contain and provide for a fair, just and equitable plan for the transaction of business, and in his judgment promises a fair return on the stocks, bonds, or other securities by it offered for sale, the investment commissioner shall issue to such investment company a statement, entitling it to sell such securities in the state of Montana, and reciting that such company has complied with the provisions of this act, that detailed information in regard to the company and its securities is on file in the investment commissioner's office, that such investment company is permitted to do business in this state; and such statement shall also recite in bold type that the investment commissioner in no wise recommends the securities to be offered for sale by such investment company. Such permit, however, shall be subject to revocation at any time by the investment commissioner for cause to him sufficient. But if said investment commissioner finds that such articles of incorporation or association, charter, Constitution and by-laws, plan of business or proposed contract contains any proviso that is unfair, unjust, inequitable or oppressive to any class of contributors, or if he decides from his investigation or examination of its affairs that said investment company is not solvent, or does not intend to do a fair and honest business, or in his judgment does not promise a fair return on the stocks, bonds or other securities by it offered for sale, then he shall not grant such company a permit as herein provided and shall notify said company in writing of his decision.

Stock Brokers—Issuance of Permit to Do Business.

Section 10. The foregoing 6, 7, 8, and 9 shall apply to stock brokers, providing that stock brokers shall not be required to file a copy of each stock, bond or other security it shall handle, and that said investment commissioner shall make special investigation and ascertain the reputation of such stock broker, especially as to the class of stocks, bonds and other securities handled by such broker, and that the granting of a permit to such stock broker shall be further contingent upon such stock broker having the reputation of handling such stocks, bonds and other securities as said investment commissioner shall decide to be good legitimate investment. Such permit shall entitle such stock broker to handle such stocks, bonds and other securities in the state of Montana as are not objected to by the investment commissioner, providing that such stock broker shall file on the first day of each month a list of the stocks, bonds and other securities on bond for sale, and handled by it during the preceding month; and providing further, that said investment commissioner shall have authority to prohibit said stock broker from handling any of such issues at any time, or to cancel said broker's permit at any time he decides that said broker is not handling such securities as he deems good legitimate investments.

Appeals from Investment Commissioner to State Board of Examiners.

Section 11. An appeal may be taken from the decision of the investment commissioner refusing to grant a license to any investment company or stock broker, to the State Board of Examiners of this state. Such appeal shall be taken by filing with said State Board of Examiners an application for hearing on its case. When such hearing is set, it shall be the duty of the investment commissioner to produce for the inspection and consideration of the State Board of Examiners all papers regarding such company on file in his office and other information, and such State Board of Examiners shall have authority to call for any additional information it may desire under oath from the company or stock broker under consideration. If said State Board of Examiners shall reverse the decision of the investment commissioner, it shall so notify him in writing, and it shall then become the duty of the investment commissioner to forthwith issue said applicant a permit.

Amendment of Charter or By-laws of Company—Restrictions upon Investment Companies.

Section 12. No amendment of the charter, articles of incorporation, Constitution or by-laws of any such investment company, shall become operative until a copy of the same has been filed with the investment commissioner as provided in regard to the original filing in section 6 of this act, nor shall it be lawful for such investment company to transact business on any other plan than that set forth in its application, or to make any contracts other than that shown in copy of proposed contract required under section 6 of this act, until a written statement showing in full detail the proposed new contract shall have been filed with the investment commissioner, in like manner as provided in regard to the original plan of business and proposed contract, and the consent of the investment commissioner obtained as to making such proposed new plan of business or contract.

Registration of Agents of Investment Companies—Permits to Do Business.

Section 13. Any investment company or stock broker may appoint one or more agents, but no such agent shall do any business as provided in this act for said investment company or stock broker in this state until he shall be registered with the investment commissioner as an agent of such investment company or stock broker, and for each of such registrations there shall be paid to the investment commissioner the sum of one ($1) dollar, and said investment commissioner shall issue to each agent so registered an individual permit, entitling him to represent such investment company or stock broker in the state of Montana as its agent until the 1st day of March following, when it shall be necessary to re-register such agent. Such permit, however, shall be subject to revocation at any time by the investment commissioner for cause appearing to him sufficient.

Statements to be Filed by Investment Companies and Stock Brokers.

Section 14. Every investment company or stock broker licensed under this act shall file at the close of business December 31st, of each year, and such other times as required by the investment commissioner, a statement setting forth, in such form as may be prescribed by said investment commissioner, its financial condition, amount of its properties and liabilities, and such other information concerning its affairs as said investment commissioner may require. Each such statement shall be accompanied by a filing fee of two ($2.50) dollars and fifty cents. Any investment company or stock broker failing to file its report as herein provided within ten days of the dates herein specified, or failing to file any special report within thirty days after receipt of request from the investment commissioner therefor, shall forfeit its right to do business in this state by reason thereof.

Books, Accounts and Records of Investment Companies.

Section 15. The general accounts of every investment company, domestic or foreign, doing business in this state, shall be kept in such manner and form as may be prescribed by the investment commissioner and all books, papers, business, methods, and affairs of such investment company shall be at all times subject to inspection and investigation by said investment commissioner or any person thereto by said commissioner authorized and designated for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this act. The investment commissioner shall have the power of a court of general jurisdiction to enforce the attendance of witnesses and production of evidence by subpoena, attachment and punishment, which said power shall extend throughout the state; said commissioner shall have power to take testimony under deposition either within or without the state.

Supervision and Examinations by Investment Commissioner—Costs and Fees.

Section 16. The investment commissioner shall have general supervision and control, as provided by this act, over any and all investment companies and stock brokers, domestic or foreign, licensed under this act, and all such investment companies or stock brokers shall be subject to examination by the investment commissioner or his duly authorized agents, or deputies, at any time the investment commissioner may deem it advisable and in the same manner as is now provided for the examination of state banks. The rights, powers, and privileges of the investment commissioner in connection with such examination shall be the same as is now provided with reference to the examination of state banks. Such investment company or stock broker shall pay a fee for each examination made by said investment commissioner, or his deputies or agents, of not to exceed ten ($10) dollars for each day or fraction thereof plus the actual traveling and hotel expenses of said commissioner, or his agent or deputy, that he is absent from the capitol building for the purpose of making such examination, and the failure or refusal of any investment company or stock broker to pay such fees upon the demand of the investment commissioner, or his deputy or agent, while making such examination, shall work a forfeiture of his or its right to do business in this state.

Circulars and Advertisements of Brokers and Companies.

Section 17. It shall be unlawful for any investment company or stock broker or his or its agent to issue, circulate or deliver any advertisement, pamphlet, circular or other document in regard to his or its stocks, bonds or other securities in the state of Montana until after such investment company or stock broker shall have been licensed to sell his or its securities in the state of Montana as provided in this act, and it shall be unlawful for any such licensed investment company or stock broker or his or its agent to issue, circulate or deliver any such advertisement, pamphlet, circular or other document, unless the same shall be signed and bear a serial number and a copy thereof first filed with the investment commissioner and the approval of the investment commissioner obtained thereto, nor shall it be lawful for such investment company or stock broker or his or its agent to issue, circulate or deliver such advertisement, etc., after he or it has been notified of objection thereto by said investment commissioner.

Revocation of Permits—Appointment of Receiver.

Section 18. Whenever it shall appear to the investment commissioner that the assets of any investment company doing business in this state are impaired to the extent that such assets do not equal its liabilities, or that it is conducting its business in an unsafe, inequitable or unauthorized manner, or is jeopardizing the interests of its stockholders or the investors in stocks, bonds or other securities by it offered for sale, or whenever any investment company shall refuse to file any papers, statements or documents required under this act, or shall refuse to permit an examination by said investment commissioner, or his deputies or agents, as provided in this act, without giving satisfactory reasons therefor, said investment commissioner shall at once cancel its permit, and if he shall deem advisable, shall communicate such facts to the Attorney General, who shall thereupon at once make an investigation, and if the facts as presented to him by the investment commissioner are substantiated, he shall thereupon apply to a court of competent jurisdiction for the appointment of a receiver to take charge of and conclude the business and affairs of such investment company, and if such fact or facts be made to appear it shall be sufficient evidence to authorize the appointment of a receiver and the making of such orders and decrees in such cases as equity may require.

Records of Commissioner Opened to Inspection.

Section 19. All papers, documents and other instruments filed with said investment commissioner under this act shall be subject to inspection of anyone affected by this act upon application therefor, except that the investment commissioner may, in his discretion, withhold any information relating to the affairs of any investment company or stock broker that, in his judgment, is not required for the best interests of its stockholders and the public welfare.

Manner of Sale or Distribution of Stocks, Bonds or Securities.

Section 20. It shall be unlawful for any investment company, after it has been granted a permit under the provisions of this act, to issue, sell or distribute any stocks, bonds or other securities for promotion or for any other causes, or on any other conditions than those set forth in its applications, without first securing the approval of the investment commissioner therefor. Neither shall it be lawful for any investment company, after it has been granted a permit under the provisions of this act, to pay any dividends in stocks, bonds or other securities without the approval of the investment commissioner.

False Entries or Statements by Brokers or Investment Companies.

Section 21. Any person who shall knowingly or willfully subscribe to, or make or cause to be made, any false statements or false entry in any book of such investment company or stock broker, or exhibit any false paper with the intention of deceiving any person authorized to examine into its affairs, or who shall make or publish any false or misleading statements of its financial condition or of the stocks, bonds, or other securities by it offered for sale, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not less than two hundred ($200) dollars nor more than ten thousand ($10,000) dollars, and shall be imprisoned for not less than one year nor more than ten years in the State Penitentiary.

Section 23. All fees herein provided for shall be collected by the investment commissioner and by him shall be turned into the state treas-

Section 25. Should the courts declare any section of this act unconstitutional or unauthorized by law or in conflict with any other section or provision of this act, then such decision shall affect only the section or provision so declared to be unconstitutional or void and shall not affect any other section or part of this act.

Existing Brokers and Companies Exempt from Act.

Chapter 45, Laws 1915, page 64.

"An act to provide for library extension through the establishment and maintenance of county free libraries."

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Montana:

Proceedings to Establish County Library.

Section 1. Upon petition signed by not less than twenty per cent of the qualified voters of a county, at least one-half of whom shall reside outside of the county seat, being filed with the Board of County Commissioners, requesting the establishment of a county free library, the county commissioners of any county may at their option and in their discretion, by resolution, duly adopt and make part of the records of such board, establish at the county seat a county free library, as provided in this act. At least once a week for four successive weeks prior to taking such action, the Board of County Commissioners shall publish, in a newspaper of general circulation in such county, notice of such contemplated action, giving therein the date and place of the meeting for a public hearing at which such action is proposed to be taken.

Withdrawal of Incorporated City.

Section 2. After the establishment of a county free library as provided in this act, the board of trustees, common council, or other legislative body of any incorporated city or town in the county may withdraw such incorporated city or town from the operation of this act, by notifying the Board of County Commissioners that such city or town no longer desires to be a part of the county free library system, and thereafter the residents of such city or town shall cease to participate in the benefits of such county free library, and the property situated in such city or town shall not be liable to taxes for county free library purposes; provided, that public notice of such contemplated action by the board of trustees, common council, or other legislative body of any incorporated city or town desiring to withdraw such incorporated city or town from the operation of this act, shall be given by publication in some newspaper of general circulation, in such city or town, for at least once a week for four successive weeks prior to taking such action, giving therein the date and place of the meeting at which such contemplated action is proposed to be taken.

Appointment and Qualification of Librarian.

Section 3. Upon the establishment of a county free library the Board of County Commissioners may appoint a county librarian, who may be removed for or without cause. Any person who is a graduate of a library school, or has had one year's practical experience in library work, shall be eligible to the office of county librarian.

County Commissioners to Supervise and Make Rules—Branches and Stations—Employees and Apprentices.

Section 4. The county free library shall be under the general supervision of the Board of County Commissioners, who shall have the power to make general rules and regulations regarding the policy of the county free library, and to establish branches and stations throughout the county, and may locate said branches and stations wherever deemed advisable; to determine the number and kind of employees of such library, and to appoint and dismiss such employees. All employees of the county free library whose duties require special training in library work, shall be graded in grades to be established by the county librarian, according to the duties required of them. Before appointment to a position in the graded service, the candidate must pass an examination appropriate to the position sought, satisfactory to the county librarian and county commissioners, and show a satisfactory experience in library work; provided, that the county librarian may also accept as apprentices, without compensation, candidates possessing personal qualifications satisfactory to the librarian, and the Board of County Commissioners may dismiss such apprentices at any time if in its judgment the work is not satisfactory.

Oath, Duties and Compensation of Librarian.

Section 5. The county librarian shall, prior to the entering upon the duties of her office, file with the county clerk the usual oath of office and be required to file bond for such sum as the Board of County Commissioners may determine. The county librarian shall, subject to the general rules adopted by the Board of County Commissioners, build up and manage, according to the accepted principles of library management, a library for the use of the people of the county, and shall, subject to approval by the Board of County Commissioners, determine what books and other library equipment shall be purchased. The library building shall be under the general supervision and care of the county librarian. The county librarian shall be allowed actual and necessary traveling expenses incurred in the business of the office, and such other compensation as the Board of County Commissioners may fix. The Boards of County Commissioners of the several counties of the state are hereby authorized to audit and allow such traveling expenses and other compensation of the county librarian of the respective counties, quarterly; and the same shall be paid out of the county free library fund.

Library Tax—Bonds for Building—Gifts and Bequests—Funds and Claims.

Section 6. The Board of County Commissioners, after a county free library has been established, may annually levy, in the same manner and at the same time as other county taxes are levied, a special tax not to exceed one mill on the dollar upon all property in such county, for the purpose of maintaining the county free library. County bonds may be issued in the manner prescribed in sections 2905–2907 of the Revised Codes of 1907, of Montana, for the erection and equipment of county free library buildings and the purchase of land therefor. The Board of County Commissioners is authorized to receive on behalf of the county any gift, bequest, or devise for the county free library or for any branch or subdivision thereof. The title to all property belonging to the county free library shall be vested in the county. All laws applicable to the collection of county taxes shall apply to the collection of the tax herein provided. All funds of the county free library, whether derived from taxation or otherwise, shall be in the custody of the county treasurer. They shall constitute a separate fund, called the county free library fund, and shall not be used for any purposes except those of the county free library. Each claim against the county free library fund shall be authorized and approved by the county librarian, or in his absence from the county, by his assistant. It shall then be acted upon in the same manner as are all other claims against the county.

Acceptance of Property of School Libraries.

Section 7. The Board of County Commissioners shall have power to accept on behalf of the county free library, all books and other property of school libraries as provided by sections 1200–1205 of chapter 12 of the Session Laws of 1913, of the state of Montana, and to manage and maintain the same as a part of the county free library.

School Libraries as Branches of County Library.

Section 8. Whenever the county in which a school district library is situated shall maintain a county free library, the Board of School Trustees or City Board of Education may agree with the proper authorities of such county to make the school district library a branch of such county library. In this event this Board of School Trustees or city Board of Education shall turn over the books to the county free library, and shall annually transfer to such county free library its library fund, as soon as it is available, to be kept and expended as other funds of such county library. The said county free library shall thereupon have such district library managed and maintained according to the rules and regulations established by the authorities of the county free library.

Funds of District Library Turned Over to County Library.

Section 9. Whenever a school district library shall have become a branch library, as provided in section 8 of this act, the county or city Superintendent of Schools may draw a warrant for the whole amount of the district library fund, payable to the proper authorities of the county free library, upon the filing with him of a copy of the resolution of the Board of Trustees of the district or the city Board of Education, embodying the agreement made with such county free library, which copy shall be duly certified as correct by the clerk and recorder of the county, or other proper officer.

Disestablishment of Library.

Section 10. After a county free library has been established it may, upon petition signed by not less than ten per cent of the qualified voters of a county requesting its disestablishment being filed with the Board of County Commissioners, be disestablished in the same manner as it was established. At least once a week for four successive weeks prior to taking such action, the Board of County Commissioners shall publish, in a newspaper designated by them and published in the county, notice of such contemplated action, giving therein the date and place of meeting for a public hearing at which contemplated action is proposed to be taken; provided, that an interval of three months shall elapse between such action and the disestablishment.

How Libraries of City or Town may Assume Functions of County Library.

Section 11. Instead of establishing a separate county free library, the Board of County Commissioners may enter into a contract with the Board of Library Trustees, or other authority in charge of the free public library of any incorporated city or town, and the Board of Library Trustees, or other authority in charge of such free public library, is hereby authorized to make such a contract. Such contract may provide that the free public library of such incorporated city or town shall assume the functions of a county free library within the county with which such contract is made, and the Board of County Commissioners may agree to pay out of the county free library fund into the library fund of such incorporated city or town such sum as may be agreed upon. Either party to such contract may terminate the same by giving six months' notice of intention to do so.

Claims Against Library and Their Approval.

Section 12. Each claim against the county free library fund, as provided by this act, or against any "City or Town Library Fund," as provided for in section 3488 of the Revised Codes of 1907, must be authorized and approved by the Board of County Commissioners or by the Board of Trustees of the city library, as the case may be.

Repeal of Conflicting Acts.

Section 13. All acts or parts of acts in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

A copy of such notice must also be served upon the adversary party if there be any, by mailing the same to said adversary party to such address of such party as said party shall have left with the board. If such party shall have left no address with the board then no service upon such party shall be required. The order of filing and service of said notice is immaterial. Immediately upon service upon said board of said notice, the said board shall certify to said district court the entire record and proceedings, including all testimony and evidence taken by said board, with the clerk of said district court. Section 22. (c) The board, and each party to the action or proceeding before the board, shall have the right to appear in the proceeding, and it shall be the duty of the board to so appear. If the court shall find from such trial, as aforesaid, that the findings and conclusions of the board are not in accordance with either the facts or the law, or that they ought to be other or different than those made by the board, or that any finding and conclusion or any order, rule or requirement of the board is unreasonable, the court shall set aside such finding, conclusion, order, judgment, decree, rule, or requirement of said board, or shall modify or change the same as law and justice shall require, and the court shall also make and enter any finding, conclusion, order or judgment that shall be required, or shall be legal and proper in the premises.

Appeals to Supreme Court.

Section 22. (d) Either the board, or the appellant, or any adversary party, if there be one, may appeal to the supreme court of the state of Montana, from any final order, judgment or decree of the said district court, which said appeal shall be taken in like manner as appeals are now taken in other civil actions to the said supreme court, and upon such appeal the said supreme court shall make such orders in reference to a stay of proceedings as it finds to be just in the premises, and may stay the operation of any order, judgment, or decree of said district court without requiring any bond or undertaking from the applicant for such stay. When any such cause is so appealed it shall have precedence upon the calendar of the said supreme court, and shall be tried anew by said supreme court upon the record made in said district court and before said board, and judgment and decree shall be entered therein as expeditiously as possible.

Effect of Decision Holding Any Part of Act Unconstitutional.

Section 24. (b) If any section, subsection, subdivision, sentence, clause, paragraph, or phrase of this act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional or void, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this act, so long as sufficient remains of the act to render the same operative and reasonably effective for carrying out the main purpose and intention of the legislature in enacting the same as such purpose and intention may be disclosed by the act.

Money in Industrial Accident Fund Held in Trust.

Section 24. (c) The moneys coming into the Industrial Accident Fund shall be held in trust for the purpose for which such fund is created, and if this act shall be hereafter repealed, such moneys shall be subject to such disposition as may be provided by the legislature repealing this act; in default of such legislative provision, distribution thereof shall be in accordance with the justice of the matter, due regard being had to obligations of compensation incurred and existing.

Section 30. (a) Any employer in the industries, trades, works, occupations, or employments in this act specified as hazardous, by filing his election to become subject to and be bound by Compensation Plan No. 1, upon furnishing satisfactory proof to the board of his solvency and financial ability to pay the compensation and benefits in this act provided for, and to discharge all liabilities which are reasonably likely to be incurred by him during the fiscal year for which such election is effective, may by order of the said board, make such payments directly to his employees as they may become entitled to receive the same under the terms and conditions of this act.

Proof of Solvency of Employer Electing Plan No. 1 to be Filed.

Section 30. (b) Every such employer now or hereafter engaged in the state of Montana, in the industries, trades, works, occupations or employments herein mentioned, and who shall have elected to be bound by such Compensation Plan No. 1, shall file such proof of his solvency within the time and in such form as may be prescribed by the rules or orders of the board.

Employer Permitted to Carry on Business and Settle Directly With Employee—Renewal of Application.

If such employer, making such election, shall be found by the board to have the requisite financial ability to pay the compensation and benefits in this act provided for, then the board shall grant to such employer permission to carry on his said business for the fiscal year within which such election is made, and such proof filed, or the remaining portion of such fiscal year, and to make such payments directly to his employees as they may become entitled to receive the same. Every employer, so long as he continues in his said employment, and so long as he continues to be bound by such Compensation Plan No. 1, shall at least thirty days before the expiration of each fiscal year, renew his application to be permitted to continue to make such payments as aforesaid directly to his employees for the next ensuing fiscal year, and under like circumstances as those mentioned for the granting of such permission upon such first application, the board may renew the same from year to year.

Additional Proof of Solvency—Revocation of Order.

Section 30. (c) The board may at any time require from any employer acting under Compensation Plan No. 1 additional proof of solvency and financial ability to pay the compensation provided by this act, and may at any time, upon notice to such employer, of not less than ten or more than twenty days, after and upon a full hearing, revoke any order or approval theretofore made.

Requiring Security of Employer.

Section 30. (d) If said Industrial Accident Board shall find that such employer has not financial responsibility for the payment of the compensation herein provided to be paid which might reasonably be expected to be chargeable to such employer during the fiscal year to be covered by such permission, said Industrial Accident Board must so find, and must require such employer, before granting to him such permission, or before continuing or engaging in such employment, subject to the provisions of Compensation Plan No. 1, to give security for such payment, which security must be in such an amount as said board shall find is reasonable and necessary to meet all liabilities of such employer which may reasonably and ordinarily be expected to accrue during such fiscal year. Said security must be deposited with the treasurer of the board and may be a certain estimated per centum of said employer's last preceding annual pay-roll, or a certain per centum of the established amount of his annual pay-roll for said fiscal year, or said security may be in the form of a bond or undertaking executed to said Industrial Accident Board in the amount to be fixed by it with two or more sufficient sureties, which undertaking must be conditioned that such employer will well and truly pay, or cause to be paid, all such sums and amounts for which the employer shall become liable under the terms of this act to his employees during said fiscal year or such security may consist of any state, county, municipal, or school district bonds, or the bonds or evidence of indebtedness of any individuals or corporations which the board may deem solvent; and every such deposit and the character and amount of such securities shall at all times be subject to approval, revision, or change by the board as in its judgment may be required, and upon proof of the final payment of the liability for which such securities are given, such securities, or any remaining part thereof, shall be returned to the depositor. The treasurer of the board and his bondsmen shall be liable for the value and safekeeping of all such deposits or securities, and shall at any time, upon demand of the bondsmen or the depositor or the board, account for the same, and the earnings thereof.

Failure of Employer to Pay Compensation—Duty of Board.

Section 30. (e) Upon the failure of said employer to pay any compensation provided for in this act upon the terms and in the amounts and at the times when the same shall become due and payable, it shall be the duty of such State Accident Board, upon demand of the person to whom compensation is due, to apply any deposits made with the board to the payment of the same, and it shall be its duty to take the proper steps to convert any securities on deposit with the said board, or sufficient thereof, into cash and to pay the same upon the liabilities of said employer, accruing under the terms of this act, and it shall be its duty, in so far as the same shall be necessary, to collect and enforce the collection of the liability of all sureties upon any bonds which may be given by the said employer to insure the payment of his said liability. And to these ends, and for these purposes, the board shall be deemed to be the owner of said deposit and security and the obligee in said bond in trust for the said purposes and may proceed in its own name to recover upon such bonds or foreclose and liquidate said securities.

When Employer to Make Deposit or Security to Guarantee Payment of Compensation.

Section 30. (f) Within thirty days after the happening of an accident where death or the nature of the injury renders the amount of future payments certain, or reasonably certain, the employer shall make a deposit or give security as herein defined with the treasurer of the board for the protection and guaranty of the payment of such liability in such sum as the board may direct; provided, however, that if sufficient securities are already on deposit with the said board or if the said board, shall have determined that the employer has sufficient financial responsibility to meet said liability of the said employer, together with other liabilities already accrued, no such additional deposit or security shall be demanded.

How Employer may be Relieved from Liability.

Section 30. (g) Any employer against whom liability may exist for compensation under this act may, with the approval of the board, be relieved therefrom by (1) depositing the present value or the estimated present value of the total unpaid compensation for which such liability exists, assuming interest at five per centum per annum, with the treasurer of the board; or (2) purchasing an annuity within the limitations provided by law, in any insurance company granting annuities, and authorized to transact business in this state, subject to the approval of the board.

Section 35. (b) Any employer electing to become subject to and bound by Compensation Plan No. 2 shall file with the board written acceptance of the provisions of Compensation Plan No. 2, together with a statement upon forms provided by the board of the nature of his employment, the character and location of his works, the number of men employed during the preceding year, or any part of the preceding year, and the probable number of men to be employed during the first fiscal year to be covered by such election, and the board shall thereupon determine the amount of insurance which will be reasonably necessary to secure the compensation with which the said employer may reasonably be expected to become chargeable during such fiscal year. And thereupon, the said employer shall file the policy or policies of insurance herein provided for with the board, which policy or policies shall insure in the amounts so fixed by the board against any and all liability of the employer to pay the compensation and benefits provided for in this act. The amount of such insurance shall be fixed by the board for each ensuing fiscal year during which said employer shall engage in his said employment, and shall remain subject to the provisions of Compensation Plan No. 2, and for the purpose of fixing such amount of said insurance, the said board may make all reasonable and necessary investigation, and the said employer shall furnish to such board all information which it may require.

Policies to Contain What.

Section 35. (c) All policies insuring the payment of compensation under this act must contain a clause to the effect that as between the employee and the insurer the notice to, or knowledge of the occurrence of the injury on the part of the insured shall be deemed notice or knowledge, as the case may be, on the part of the insurer; that jurisdiction of the insured for the purpose of this act shall be jurisdiction of the insurer; and that the insurer shall, in all things, be bound by and subject to the awards, orders, judgments, or decrees rendered against such insured.

Agreement to be Contained in Policies of Insurance.

Section 35. (d) No such policy shall be issued unless it contains the agreement of the insurer that it will promptly pay to the person entitled to compensation all the installments of compensation or other payments in this act provided for and that the obligation shall not be affected by any default of the insured after the injury, or by any default in the giving of any notice required by such policy or by this act, or otherwise. Such agreement shall be construed to be a direct promise by the insurer to the person entitled to compensation.

Policies Made Subject to This Act—Form of Insurance.

Section 35. (e) Every policy for the insurance of the compensation herein provided for, or against liability therefor, shall be deemed to be made subject to the provisions of this act. No insurer shall enter into any such policy of insurance unless its form shall have been approved by the board, and as otherwise provided by law.

Renewals.

Section 35. (f) Every renewal of such policy shall be made and delivered to said board at least thirty days prior to the expiration of the expiring policy.

Deposits by Insurer With Board.

Section 35. (g) Within thirty days of the happening of an accident where death, or the nature of the injury renders the amount of future payments certain or reasonably certain, the insurer shall make a deposit as herein defined with the treasurer of the board for the protection and guaranty of the payment of such liability in such sum as the board may direct.

How Insurer Relieved from Liability.

Section 35. (h) Any insurer against whom liability may exist for compensation under this act may, with the approval of the board, be relieved therefrom by (1) depositing the present value or the estimated present value of the total unpaid compensation for which such liability exists, assuming interest at five per centum per annum, with the treasurer of the board; or (2) by purchasing an annuity within the limitations provided by law in any insurance company granting annuities and authorized to transact business in this state, subject to the approval of the board.

Cancellation of Insurance Policy.

Section 35. (i) No policy of insurance issued under the provisions of Compensation Plan No. 2 shall be canceled within the time limited for its expiration except upon thirty days' notice to the employer in favor of whom such policy is issued, and to the board, unless such policy sought to be canceled shall have been sooner replaced by other insurance.

Reports of Insurance Companies to Board.

Section 35. (j) Every insurance company transacting business under this act, shall, at the time and in the manner prescribed by the board, make and file with the board such reports of accidents as the board may require.

Policies to Contain Clause Agreeing to Do What—Approval or Change.

Section 35. (k) Every policy or contract insuring against liability for compensation under Compensation Plan No. 2 must contain a clause to the effect that the insurer shall be directly and primarily liable to and will pay directly to the employee or in case of death, to his beneficiaries, or major or minor dependents, the compensation, if any, for which the employer is liable. Every such policy shall at all times be subject to the approval, change, or revision by the board, and shall contain the clauses, agreements, and promises required by this act.

Deposits Under Plan No. 2 as Security.

Section 35. (1) Any deposit made under the provisions of Compensation Plan No. 2 shall be held in trust by the treasurer of the board as security for the payment of the liability for which the deposit was made. Such deposit may be reduced from time to time with the permission of the board, as the payment of the liability of the insurer may reduce the amount required to be on deposit. Such deposit may be changed or renewed when desired by the depositor, by withdrawing the same, or any part thereof, and substituting other deposits therefor; upon proof of the final payment of the liability for which such deposit was made, any deposit remaining shall be returned to the depositor. All earnings made by such deposit shall be first applied upon any liability of the depositors and if no such liability exists, then such earnings shall upon demand be delivered to such depositor. The treasurer of the board and his bondsmen shall be liable for the value and safekeeping of such deposit, and shall at any time, upon demand of his bondsmen, the depositor, or the board, account for the same and the earnings thereof.

Section 13. This act to be in full force and effect from and after the first day of October, 1910, benefits to commence four months thereafter.

Approved March 4, 1909.

Under the act, the duty imposed upon the employer to make payments as provided in section 2 is absolute and unconditional, and can be enforced by appropriate action, but after complying with the terms of the act he is not exonerated from liability; he may still be sued and compelled to pay damages in a proper case. No provision is made for reimbursement wholly or in part. The injured employees of one operator may all resort to the indemnity fund while those of another may elect to appeal to the courts, the result being that the employer against whom an action is successfully prosecuted is compelled to pay twice. He has already paid in full his assessments under the act and is now obliged to pay damages. The act in this regard is not only inequitable and unjust, but clearly illegal and void, as not affording such employer the equal protection of the laws. Cunningham v. Northwestern Impr. Co., 44 Mont. 196, 119 Pac. 554.

Section 27. If, at the beginning of the term of office of the first council elected in such city under the provisions of this act, the appropriations for the expenditures of the city government for the current fiscal year have been made, said council shall have power, by ordinance, to revise, repeal or change said appropriations and to make additional appropriations.

Rules for Construction of This Act—Definition of Terms.

Section 28. In the construction of this act the following rules shall be observed, unless such construction would be inconsistent with the manifest intent, or repugnant to the context of the statute:

First.—The words "councilman" or "alderman" shall be construed to mean "councilman" when applied to cities under this act.

Second.—When an office or officer is named in any law referred to in this act, it shall, when applied to cities under this act, be construed to mean the office or officer having the same function or duties under the provisions of this act, or under ordinances passed under authority thereof.

Third.—The words “franchise” or “right” shall include every special privilege in the streets, highways and public places of the city, whether granted by the state or the city, which does not belong to citizens generally by common right.

Fourth.—The word “electors” shall be construed to mean persons qualified to vote for elective offices at regular municipal elections.

Recall of Elective Officers.

Section 29. The holder of any elective office may be removed at any time by the electors qualified to vote for a successor of such incumbent. The procedure to effect the removal of an incumbent of an elective office shall be as follows: A petition signed by twenty-five per cent of all qualified electors registered for the last preceding general municipal election, demanding an election of a successor of the person sought to be removed shall be filed with the city clerk, which petition shall contain a general statement of the grounds for which the removal is sought. The signatures to the petition need not be appended to one paper, but each signer shall add to his signature his place of residence giving the street and number. One of the signers of such paper shall make oath before an officer competent to administer oaths that the statements therein are true as he believes, and that each signature to the paper appended is the genuine signature of the person whose name it purports to be. Within ten days from the date of filing such petition the city clerk shall examine, and from the voters' register ascertain whether or not said petition is signed by the requisite number of qualified electors, and, if necessary, the council shall allow him extra help for that purpose; and he shall attach to said petition his certificate, showing the result of said examination. If, by the clerk's certificate, the petition is shown to be insufficient, it may be amended within ten days from the date of said certificate. The clerk shall, within ten days after such amendment, make like examination of the amended petition and if his certificate shall show the same to be insufficient, it shall be returned to the person filing the same; without prejudice, however, to the filing of a new petition to the same effect. If the petition shall be deemed to be sufficient the clerk shall submit the same to the council without delay. If the petition shall be found to be sufficient the council shall order and fix a date for holding said election, not less than seventy (70) days nor more than eighty (80) days from the date of the clerk's certificate to the council that a sufficient petition is filed.

The council shall make, or cause to be made, publication of notice and all arrangements for holding such election, and the same shall be conducted, returned and the result thereof declared, in all respects as are other elections.

As far as applicable, except as otherwise herein provided, nominations hereunder shall be made without the intervention of a primary election by filing with the clerk at least ten days prior to said special election, a statement of candidacy accompanied by a petition signed by electors entitled to a vote at said special election equal in number to at least ten per cent of the entire number of persons registered to vote at the last preceding general municipal election, which said statement of candidacy and petition shall be substantially in the form set out in section 12 of this act, so far as the same is applicable substituting the word “special” for the word “primary” in such statement and petition, and stating therein that such person is a candidate for election instead of nomination. The ballot for such special election shall be in substantially the following form:

Official Ballot.

Special election for the balance of the unexpired term of as for (Vote for one only.)

(Name of candidates.)

Name of present incumbent.

Official ballot attest.

(Signature),

City Clerk.

The successor of any officer so removed shall hold office during the unexpired term of his predecessor. Any person sought to be removed may be a candidate to succeed himself, and unless he requests otherwise in writing, the clerk shall place his name on the official ballot without nomination. In any such removal election, the candidate receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared elected. At such election, if some other person than the incumbent receives the highest number of votes the incumbent shall thereupon be deemed removed from the office upon the qualification of his successor. In case the party who receives the highest number of votes should fail to qualify within ten days after receiving notification of the election the office shall be deemed vacant. If the incumbent receive the highest number of votes, he shall continue in office. The said method of removal shall be cumulative, and additional to the methods heretofore provided by law. [Amendment approved February 1, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 4.]

Ordinances—How Submitted—Petition and Election.

Section 30. Any proposed ordinance may be submitted to the council by petition, signed by electors of the city equal in number to the percentage hereinafter required. The signature, verification, inspection, certification, amendment and submission of such petition shall be the same as provided for petition under section 29 hereof. If the petition accompanying the proposed ordinance be signed by electors equal in number to twenty-five per centum of the entire number of persons registered to vote at the last preceding general election, and contains a request that the said ordinance be submitted to a vote of the people, if not passed by the council, such council shall either—

(a) Pass each ordinance without alteration within twenty days after the attachment of the clerk's certificate to the accompanying petition, or—

(b) Forthwith, after the clerk shall attach to the petition accompanying such ordinance his certificate of sufficiency, the council shall call a special election, unless a general municipal election is fixed by law within thirty days thereafter, and at such special or general municipal election, if one is so fixed, such ordinance shall be submitted to the vote of the electors of such city.

But if the petition is signed by not less than ten nor more than twenty-five per centum of the electors, as above defined, then the council shall, within twenty days, pass said ordinance without change, or submit the same at the next general city election occurring after the clerk's certificate of sufficiency is attached to said petition.

The ballots used when voting upon said ordinance shall contain these words: "For the ordinance" (stating the nature of the proposed ordinance), and "Against the ordinance" (stating the nature of the proposed ordinance). If a majority of the qualified electors voting on the proposed ordinance shall vote in favor thereof, such ordinance shall thereupon become a valid and binding ordinance of the city; and any ordinance proposed by the petition of which shall be adopted by a vote of the people, cannot be repealed or amended except by a vote of the people.

Any number of proposed ordinances may be voted upon at the same election, in accordance with the provisions of this section; but there shall not be more than one special election in any period of six months for such purposes.

The council may submit a proposition for the repeal of any such ordinance or for amendments thereto, to be voted upon at any succeeding general city election; and should such proposition so submitted receive a majority of the votes cast thereon at such election, such ordinance shall thereby be repealed or amended accordingly. Whenever any ordinance or proposition is required by this act to be submitted to the voters of the city at any election, the city clerk shall cause such ordinance or proposition to be published once in each of the daily newspapers published in such city, and if there be none, then one time in each weekly newspaper published therein; such publication to be not more than twenty or less than five days before the submission of such proposition or ordinance to be voted on.

Taking Effect and Suspension of Ordinances.

Section 31. No ordinance passed by the council, except when otherwise required by the general laws of this state or the provisions of this act, except an ordinance for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety, which contains a statement of its urgency, and is passed by a two-thirds vote of the council, shall go into effect before ten days from the time of its final passage; and if during said ten days a petition signed by electors of the city equal in number to at least twenty-five per centum of the entire number of persons registered to vote at the last preceding general municipal election, protesting against the passage of such ordinance, be presented to the council, the same shall thereupon be suspended from going into operation, and it shall be the duty of the council to reconsider such ordinance; and if the same is not entirely repealed, the council shall submit the ordinance, as is provided by subdivision (b) of section 30 of this act, to the vote of the electors of the city, either at a general election or at a special municipal election to be called for that purpose; and such ordinance shall not go into effect or become operative unless a majority of the qualified electors voting on the same shall vote in favor thereof. Said petition shall be in all respects in accordance with the provisions of said section 30, except as to the percentage of signers, and be examined and certified to by the clerk in all respects as therein provided.

Abandonment of Commission Form.

Section 32. Any city which shall have operated for more than one year under the provisions of this act, may abandon such organization hereunder and accept the provisions of the general law of the state then applicable to cities of its population.

Upon the petition of not less than twenty-five per cent of the electors of such city registered for the last preceding general election, a special election shall be called, at which the following proposition only shall be submitted:

"Shall the city of (name the city) abandon its organization under chapter 57 of the Acts of the Twelfth Legislative Assembly and become a city under the general law governing cities of like population; or if formerly organized under special charter shall resume said special charter."

If the majority of the votes cast at such special election be in favor of such proposition, the officers elected at the next succeeding biennial election shall be those then prescribed by the general law of the state for cities of like population, and upon the qualification of such officers such city shall become a city under such general law of the state, but such change shall not in any manner or degree affect the property, rights or liabilities of any nature of such city but shall merely extend to each change in its form of government.

The sufficiency of such petition shall be determined, the election ordered and conducted and the results declared, generally as provided for by section 29 of this act, in so far as the provisions thereof are applicable; or if now organized under special charter, may resume said special charter. Whenever the form of government of any city is determined by a vote of the people under the provisions of this section, the same question shall not be submitted again for a period of two years, and any ordinance adopted by a vote of the people shall not be repealed or the same question submitted for a period of two years. [Amendment approved March 18, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 128, p. 480.]

Petition for Abandonment.

Section 33. Petition provided for in this act shall be signed by none but legal voters of the city. Each petition shall contain in addition to the names of the petitioners, the street and house number in which the petitioner resides, his age and length of residence in the city. It shall also be accompanied by the affidavit of one or more legal voters of the city, stating that the signers thereof were, at the time of signing, legal voters of the city, and the number of signers at the time the affidavit was made.

Effect of This Act upon Existing Laws.

Section 34. All acts and parts of acts and all laws, now in force or hereafter enacted relative to municipal corporations are hereby continued in full force and effect and shall be considered and construed as not repealed by this act, except in so far as the same may be in conflict or inconsistent with the provisions of this act.

Repeal of Conflicting Laws.

Section 35. All laws and parts of laws in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

Time When Act Becomes Operative.

Section 36. This act shall become effective immediately upon its passage and approval.

Section 1. The city or town council of any city or town is authorized to create special improvement districts embracing any street or streets or public highway therein or portions thereof and property abutting thereon, for the purpose of lighting such street or streets or public highway, and to require not more than three-fourths and not less than one-fourth of the cost of installing and maintaining such lighting system to be paid by the owners of the property abutting upon some portion of the street or streets or public highway embraced within such districts, including any street or other railway therein, and to assess and collect such portion of such cost by special assessment against said property.

Resolution of Intention—Protests—Hearing—Public Property—Contracts for Work and Materials.

Section 3. Before creating any special improvement lighting district in any such city or town, for the purpose of lighting any street or streets or public highway, or section thereof, in accordance with the provisions of this act, the council shall pass a resolution of intention so to do, which resolution shall designate the number of such district, describe the boundaries thereof, and state therein the general character of the improvement or improvements which are to be made and an approximate estimate of the cost thereof; also an approximate estimate of the cost of maintaining such lights and supplying electrical current therefor for the first year, and the proportion of such cost to be assessed against the abutting property including such street or other railway.

Upon having passed such resolution, the council must give notice of the passage of such resolution of intention, which notice must be published for five days in a daily newspaper or in some one issue of a weekly newspaper in the city or town, or in case no newspaper be published in such city or town, then by posting for five days in three public places in the city or town, and a copy of such notice shall be mailed to every person, firm or corporation, or the agent of such person, firm or corporation having property within the proposed district, at his last known address, upon the same day such notice is first published or posted. Such notice must describe the general character of the improvement so proposed to be made and state the estimated cost thereof; also the estimated cost of maintaining the lights and supplying the electrical current therefor within such district for the first year; and designate the time when and the place where the council will hear and pass upon all protests that may be made against the making of such improvement or the creation of such district, and such notice shall refer to the resolution on file in the office of the city clerk for a description of the boundaries.

At any time within fifteen days after the date of the first publication of the notice of passage of the resolution of intention, any owner of property liable to be assessed for said work may make written protest against the proposed work or against the extent or creation of the district to be assessed or both. Such notice must be in writing and be delivered to the said clerk of the city council, who shall indorse thereon the date of its receipt by him.

At the next regular meeting of the city council, after the expiration of the time within which said protests may be so made, the city council shall proceed to hear and pass upon all protests so made, and its decision shall be final and conclusive, provided, however, that when the protest is against the proposed work and the cost thereof is to be assessed upon property fronting thereon, and the city council finds that such protest is made by the owners of a majority of the property fronting on the proposed work, no further proceedings shall be taken for a period of six months from the date when said protest was received by the said city clerk of said city council.

In determining whether or not sufficient protests have been filed in a proposed district to prevent further proceedings therein, property owned by a county, city or town shall be considered the same as other property in the district. The city council may adjourn said hearing from time to time.

When no protests have been delivered to the clerk of the city council within fifteen days after the date of the first publication of the notice of the passage of the resolution of intention, or when a protest shall have been found by the city council to be insufficient or shall have been overruled, or when a protest against the extent of the proposed district shall have been heard and denied, immediately thereupon the city council shall be deemed to have acquired jurisdiction to order the proposed improvements; but before ordering any of said proposed improvements, the city council shall pass a resolution creating the special improvement lighting district in accordance with the resolution of intention theretofore introduced and passed by the city council.

The city or town council may cause the posts, wires, pipes, conduits, lamps or other suitable and necessary appliances, for the purpose of lighting said streets, to be procured and erected by contract or by the street commissioner, or by any other official of the city or town, in such way and manner as the council shall provide, and after such lighting system has been installed, may, by contract, in such way and manner as the council shall elect, cause the lights to be maintained thereon and electrical current furnished therefor, provided that the posts in any such district shall be of uniform size and character and shall be distributed uniformly upon the street or streets or public highways, or section thereof to be lighted in any such district.

Bonds and Warrants—Interest—Redemption.

Section 4. All cost and expenses incurred in the construction of the improvement specified in this act, shall be paid for by special improvement lighting district bonds or warrants, in such form as may be prescribed by ordinance drawn against a fund to be known as "Special Improvement Lighting District No. Fund." Said warrants or bonds shall be in the denomination of one hundred ($100) dollars or fractions or multiples thereof; and may be issued in installments. Such warrants or bonds shall be redeemed by the treasurer when there is money in the fund against which said warrants or bonds are issued available therefor, and may extend over a period not to exceed eight years and shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent per annum from the date of registration thereof, until called for redemption or paid in full, interest to be payable annually on the first day of January of each year as expressed by the interest coupon attached thereto, which may bear the engraved facsimile signature of the mayor and city clerk.

Preparatory Expense—Accounts by Engineer.

Section 5. The cost and expense connected with and incidental to the formation of any such district including the cost of preparation of plans, specifications, maps, plats, engineering, superintendence and inspection, including the compensation of the city engineer for work done by him and the cost of printing and advertising as provided in this act, and the preparation of assessment-rolls shall be considered a part of the cost and expenses of making the improvements within such special improvement district; and it shall be the duty of the city engineer to keep an account of all costs and expenses incurred in his office in connection with every special improvement district, and certify the same to the city clerk, whose duty it shall be to prepare all necessary schedules and resolutions levying taxes and assessments in such special improvement districts.

Resolution Assessing Cost of Improvement—Notice—Hearing.

Section 6. It shall be the duty of the city or town council to ascertain the cost of installing such lighting system, and on or before the first Monday in October pass and finally adopt a resolution levying and assessing all of the property embraced within said district, including any street or other railway, with not less than one-fourth nor more than three-fourths of the entire cost of installing the same; each lot or parcel of land in said district to be assessed for that part of the whole cost which its linear feet in front of or abutting said street, avenue, alley or public highway, bears to the total number of linear feet in front of or abutting the streets, avenues, alleys or public highways included within said special improvement district, and levying and assessing against any street or other railway upon such street or public highway, or portion thereof, included in such district not to exceed one-sixth of the total cost of such installation, electrical current and maintenance, which proportion shall be determined by the city or town council. Any such resolution shall contain a list in which shall be described each lot or parcel of land, and any street or other railway with the name of the owner thereof, if known, and the linear number of feet fronting or abutting upon the street or public highway to be lighted, and the amount levied thereon set opposite. Such resolution, signed by the mayor and city clerk shall be kept on file in the office of the city clerk, and a notice signed by the city clerk stating that the resolution levying the assessment to defray the portion of the cost of installing and maintaining said lights and supplying electrical current therefor for the first year, as determined by the city or town council, is on file in his office subject to inspection for a period of five days, shall be published at least once in a newspaper published in the city. Such notice shall state the time and place at which objections to the final adoption of such resolution shall be heard by the city or town council, and the time for such hearing shall not be less than five days after the publication of such notice. At the time so fixed the council shall meet and hear all such objections and for the purpose may adjourn from day to day, and may modify such resolution in whole or in part. A copy of such resolution as finally adopted, certified by the city clerk, must be delivered within two days after its passage to the city treasurer. All moneys derived from the collection of such assessments shall constitute a fund to be known as "Special Improvement Lighting District No. Fund."

Contract for Maintenance of Lights—Assessment to Pay Cost.

Section 7. The lights in each district shall be maintained by contract for such period of time and in such way or manner as the city or town council shall elect, provided, however, that the city or town council shall not let a contract for a period to exceed three years. It shall be the duty of the city or town council to estimate, as near as practical, the cost of maintaining such lights and furnishing electrical current thereof each year; and the proportion thereof to be assessed against the abutting or other property, including any such street or other railway, and before the first Monday in October pass and finally adopt a resolution levying and assessing said property, including any such street or other railway, within said district with an amount equal to the proportion of the cost of such maintenance and electrical current so determined to be specially assessed against such property. Said resolution levying and assessing said portion of the cost of maintenance and for furnishing electrical current therefor shall be prepared and certified to in the same manner as the resolution provided for in the preceding section, and the same notice and hearing shall be given thereon, and shall be adopted and certified and the assessment collected in the same manner, as near as may be, as in the case of the resolution provided for in the preceding section. All moneys derived from the collection of the assessments provided for in such resolution shall be paid into a fund known as "Special Improvement Lighting District No. Maintenance Fund," and the number of which shall correspond with the number of the lighting district, for the maintenance of and the supplying of electrical current for which the tax is levied, and such fund shall be used to defray the expense of maintaining and furnishing electrical current for the lights in said district and for no other purpose. Any special assessment levied and made for any of the purposes aforesaid, together with all costs and penalties shall constitute a lien upon and against the property upon which said assessment is made and levied from and after the date of the final passage and adoption of the resolution levying the same; which lien can only be extinguished by payment of such assessment with all penalties, costs and interest.

Effect of Mistake as to Ownership of Property.

Section 8. When under any of the provisions of this act special taxes and assessments are assessed against any lot or parcel of land as the property of a particular person, no misnomer of the owner or supposed owner, or other mistake relating to the ownership thereof, shall affect such assessment, or render it void or voidable.

Remedies for Correction of Errors.

Section 9. All remedies, provisions and means provided by existing laws or by the ordinances of any city availing itself of the provisions of this act for the correction of errors or omissions in the adoption of any resolution or proceeding, or in the levy of any assessment, or for the collection thereof, or for the enforcement of any such levy by sale of the property against which any assessment shall be made, or for the redemption of such property from such sale, or otherwise applicable to the administration of this act shall be available in the administration hereof the same to all intents and purposes as would be the case were such remedies, provisions and means made a part hereof.

Discontinuance of Operation of System—Procedure.

Section 10. If at any time after the creation of any special improvement lighting district a petition shall be presented to the city or town council, signed by the owners or agents of more than three-fourths of the total number of linear feet of the property fronting or abutting upon any street or public highway or portion thereof, included within such district, asking that the maintenance and operation of such special lighting system and the furnishing of electrical current therefor, in such district, be discontinued, the city or town council shall thereupon, by resolution, provided for discontinuing the maintenance and operation of the lighting system; provided, however, that if the city or town council shall have, prior to the presentation of such petition, entered into any contract for the maintenance and operation of such lighting system, such maintenance and operation shall not be discontinued until after the expiration of the contract.

Repealing and Saving Clauses.

Section 11. All acts and parts of acts in conflict herewith are hereby repealed, provided, however, that each and every special improvement lighting district created or attempted to have been created, and each and every bond and warrant issued and each and every assessment made and heretofore created under and by virtue of any of the acts of 1911 and 1913, shall not be invalidated, but the same are hereby validated, legalized and approved.

United States Property not Liable for Costs.

Section 12. Whenever any lot, piece or parcel of land belonging to the United States, or mandatory of the government, shall front upon the proposed work or improvement, or be included within the district declared by the city or town council in its resolution of intention to be the district to be assessed to pay the costs and expenses thereof, said council shall, in the resolution on intention, declare that said lots, pieces or parcels of land, or any of them, shall be omitted from the assessment thereafter to be made to cover the costs and expenses of said work or improvement and the cost of said work or improvement in front of said lots, pieces or parcels of land shall be paid by the city from its general fund.

Section 13. This act shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.

Chapter 107, Laws 1911, page 190.

An act providing for bonding fire districts in unincorporated cities and towns.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Montana:

Fire Districts and Bonds in Unincorporated Cities and Towns.

Section 1. The board of directors of any duly organized fire district in unincorporated cities or towns within this state shall, whenever a majority of the directors so decide, submit to the electors of the district the question whether the board shall be authorized to issue coupon bonds to a certain amount, not to exceed three per cent of the taxable property in said district, and bearing a certain rate of interest not exceeding six per cent per annum, and payable and redeemable at a certain time, for the purpose of purchasing fire equipment, necessary lands, erecting buildings for fire purposes and establishing pipe-lines. No such bonds shall be issued unless a majority of all the votes cast at any such election shall be cast in favor of such issue.

Bond Elections—Form and Registration of Bonds.

Section 2. Such election shall be held in the manner prescribed for the election of fire directors. The ballots shall be in form as follows:

"Shall bonds be issued and sold to the amount of . . . dollars and bearing not to exceed . . . % interest and for a period not to exceed . . . years, for the purpose of purchasing fire equipment, necessary lands, erecting buildings for fire purposes, and establishing pipe-lines?"

Bonds, Yes?

Bonds, No?

The elector shall prepare his ballot by crossing out thereon parts of the ballot in such a manner that the remaining part shall express his vote upon the question submitted. If a majority of the votes cast at such election are Bonds "Yes," the board of directors shall issue such bonds in such form as the board may direct, and they shall bear the signature of the president of the board of directors, and shall be signed by the secretary of the said fire districts; and the coupons attached to the bonds shall be signed by the said president and secretary, provided, a lithographic or engraved facsimile of the signature of the president and secretary may be affixed to coupons only, when so recited in the bonds, and the corporate seal of the fire district shall be attached to each of the bonds; and each bond so issued shall be registered by the county treasurer in a book provided for that purpose, which shall show the number and amount of each bond and the person to whom the same is issued or sold; and the said bonds shall be sold by the fire directors as hereinafter provided.

Notice of Sale of Bonds—Proceeds and Delivery.

Section 3. The fire directors shall give notice by advertisement in some newspaper published in this state, for a period of not less than four weeks to the effect that the said fire directors will sell said bonds (briefly describing the same) and stating the time when, and place where such sale will take place; provided that the said bonds shall not be sold for less than their par value, and that the said directors are authorized to reject any bids, and to sell said bonds at private sale, if they deem it for the best interest of the district; and all moneys arising from the sale of said bonds shall be paid forthwith into the treasury of the county in which such district may be located to the credit of said district, and the same shall immediately be available for the purpose authorized by this title; provided, that no such bonds shall be delivered by the board of directors unless the moneys therefor have been paid into the county treasury.

Liability on Bonds.

Section 4. The faith of each fire district is solemnly pledged for the payment of the interest and redemption of the principal of the bonds which shall be issued under the provisions of this title. And for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this title, each fire district shall be a body corporate, which may sue and be sued by or in the name of the board of fire directors of such district.

Levy and Collection of Tax.

Section 5. The fire directors of each district shall ascertain and levy annually, the tax necessary to pay the interest when it becomes due and a sinking fund to redeem the bonds at their maturity; and said tax shall become a lien upon the property in said fire district, and be collected in the same manner as other taxes for fire purposes.

Payment and Liquidation of Bonds.

Section 6. The county commissioners, at the time of making the levy of taxes for county purposes, must levy a tax for that year upon the taxable property in such district, for the interest and redemption of said bonds, and such tax must not be less than sufficient to pay the interest of said bonds for that year, and such portion of the principal as is to become due during such year, and in any event must be high enough to raise, annually, for the first half of the term said bonds have to run, a sufficient sum to pay the interest thereon; and during the balance of the term, high enough to pay such annual interest, and to pay annually, a portion of the principal of said bonds equal to a sum produced by taking the whole amount of said bonds outstanding and divide it by the number of years said bonds have to run; and all money so levied, when collected must be paid into the county treasury to the credit of such district, kept in a separate fund and be used for the payment of principal and interest on said bonds, and for no other purpose.

a. Provided, that the board may with the surplus of such sinking fund, when the same shall be one thousand dollars or more, purchase any of the outstanding bonds issued by the board. Such purchase shall be made at the lowest price such bonds can be purchased at, but at no more than par value of such bonds; and whenever there shall be such a surplus of sinking fund amounting to the sum of one thousand dollars, the board shall purchase therewith like bonds on the same terms and conditions as hereinbefore specified.

b. If for any reason such bonds cannot be purchased as hereinbefore specified, such sinking fund shall be invested by the treasurer under the direction of the board of directors, at such times as the board shall direct, in the interest-bearing bonds of the United States or of the state of Montana, which shall be purchased at the lowest market price. Interest accruing upon such bonds shall be invested in the same manner and for the same purpose as sinking fund. Such bonds shall be held by the treasurer until the principal of any bonds issued by the board of directors shall become due, and shall be sold at the highest market price, and the proceeds applied to the payment of bonds; provided, further, that if at any time the board shall deem it best, it shall be lawful to sell such bonds for the purpose of purchasing the bonds issued by such board; but all such sales shall be at the highest market price, and the bonds of the board purchased with the proceeds of such sale shall be purchased at the lowest price they can be obtained for, and not above the par value of such bonds; provided, further, that the bonds first maturing shall be purchased, if they can be purchased, on terms as favorable to the board as others offered for sale to the said board. All bonds of the said board purchased under the authority hereby given, or paid by the board, shall be forthwith canceled as provided in the next succeeding section.

Sinking Fund and Redemption.

Section 7. When the sum in said sinking fund shall equal or exceed the amount of any bond then due, the county treasurer shall give notice to each bondholder, if known to him and shall post in his office a notice that he will, within thirty days from the date of such notice, redeem the bonds then payable, giving the numbers thereof, and preference shall be given to the oldest issue; and if at the expiration of the said thirty days the holder or holders of said bonds shall fail or neglect to present the same for payment, interest thereon shall cease; but the treasurer shall at all times thereafter be ready to redeem the same on presentation, and when any bonds shall be so purchased or redeemed, the county treasurer shall cancel all bonds so purchased and redeemed by writing across the face of such bond or bonds, in red ink, the word "Redeemed" and the date of such redemption; provided, that, whenever in the judgment of the board of fire directors, and prior to the redemption of said bonds said board shall deem it advisable and for the best interests of the fire district to invest said sinking fund or any part thereof, the board may by an order entered upon their minutes direct and require the county treasurer to invest said sinking fund or any part thereof in state or county bonds or warrants until such redeemable period.

Payment of Interest by County Treasurer.

Section 8. The county treasurer shall pay out of any moneys belonging to a fire district the interest upon any bonds issued under this title by such district when the same shall become due, upon the presentation at his office of the proper coupon which shall show the amount due, and the number of the bond to which it belonged; and all coupons so paid shall be reported to the fire directors at their first meeting thereafter.

Printing of Bonds and Coupons.

Section 9. The fire directors of any district shall cause to be printed or lithographed at the lowest rates, suitable bonds, with the coupons attached, when the same shall become necessary, and pay therefor out of any moneys in the county treasury to the credit of said fire district.

Failure to Pay Proceeds of Sale of Bonds in Treasury.

Section 10. If any of the fire directors of any district shall fail or refuse to pay into the proper county treasury the money arising from the sale of any bonds provided for by this title, they shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by imprisonment in the State Penitentiary for a term of not less than one year nor more than ten years.

Section 11. All acts and parts of acts in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

Section 12. This act shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.

Rule 1. All steamboats or other boats propelled by machinery shall be equipped with either steam or compressed-air whistles.

Rule 2. When two boats are meeting, or nearly end-on, so as to involve risk of collision, each shall alter her course to starboard, so that each may pass on the port side of the other.

Rule 3. When two boats are crossing so as to involve risk of collision, the boat which has the other on her starboard shall keep out of the way of the other.

Rule 4. When a steamboat or boat propelled by machinery and sailing boat are proceeding in the same direction so as to involve risk of collision, the boat propelled by machinery shall keep out of the way of the sailing craft.

Rule 5. When, by any of these rules one of the two of the vessels is to keep out of the way, the other shall keep her course and speed.

Rule 6. Every boat propelled by machinery under way and approaching another boat or vessel of any kind so as to involve a risk of collision, shall slacken her speed, or, if necessary, shall stop and reverse her engine, and every boat propelled by machinery shall, when in a fog, go at a moderate speed.

Rule 7. Any boat propelled by machinery overtaking another boat propelled by machinery shall keep out of the way of the last-named boat.

Rule 8. When two boats propelled by machinery are going in the same direction and the stern boat wishes to pass the other, she shall signal the forward boat of her intention to pass on the port side, by two distinct whistles, and to pass on her starboard side by one distinct whistle, which shall be answered by the forward boat by the same number of whistles, and the forward boat shall keep on her course as if no signal had been given.

Rule 9. When two steamboats or other boats propelled by machinery are approaching each other, and if the course of such boats is so far on the starboard side of each other as not to be considered by the pilot as meeting end-on or nearly so, or, if such boats are approaching each other in such a manner that passing is not as in rule 2, being deemed unsafe, the pilot of one boat shall give two short and distinct blasts of his whistle, which the pilot of the other boat shall answer by two blasts of his whistle, and they shall pass to the left (on the starboard side) of each other.

Rule 10. Steamboats or other boats propelled by machinery approaching each other at not less than three hundred yards distance from each other shall give a signal with one loud distinct whistle.

Rule 11. When two steamboats or other boats propelled by machinery are approaching each other and the pilot of either boat fails to understand the course or intention of the other, whether from signals being given or answered erroneously, or from other causes, the pilot so in doubt shall immediately signify the same by giving several short blasts of his whistle, and if the boats shall have approached within five hundred yards of each other, both shall immediately slow up to a speed barely sufficient for steering or until the proper signals are given, answered and understood or until the boats have passed each other.

Rule 12. When a steamboat or other boat propelled by machinery is in a fog or is in thick weather, it shall be the duty of the pilot to cause a long blast of the whistle to be sounded at intervals of not to exceed one minute.

Rule 13. Signals of distress shall be four blasts of the whistle and shall be recognized by the master of any steamboat or other boat propelled by machinery hearing the same, and he shall render such assistance as in his power.

Such rules and regulations to be from time to time coextensive with the requirements of, and in conformity to the provisions of the acts of Congress and rules and regulations of the Interstate Commerce Commission as then effective.

Platforms and Stations Where One Railroad Crosses Another.

Section 3. The Railroad Commission of the state of Montana shall have power and authority whenever the line of one railroad shall cross or intersect the railroad of another company or corporation to, after notice and hearing, order and compel the installation of suitable platforms and station-houses for the convenience of passengers desiring to transfer from one road to the other and for the transfer of passengers, baggage or freight, whenever the same shall be ordered by the Railroad Commission. And such company or corporation shall, when so ordered by the Railroad Commission keep such passenger station warmed, lighted and opened to the ingress and egress of all passengers, a reasonable time before the arrival and after the departure of such trains as accommodate such station carrying passengers on such railroad or railroads. And said railroad companies crossing or intersecting shall stop such trains at said station-house so located at said crossing or intersection for the transfer of baggage, passengers and freight so as to furnish reasonable facilities for that character of a station when so ordered by the Railroad Commission and the expense and construction and maintenance of such station house and platform shall be paid by such corporations in such proportions as they may agree; and if they fail to agree, as may be fixed by order of the Railroad Commission and the expense and construction of intersections as aforesaid shall also, when so ordered, after notice and hearing, by the Railroad Commission unite and connect the tracks of said several corporations so as to permit the transfer from the track of one corporation to the other, of loaded or unloaded cars designed for transportation on both roads, provided, however, that no such union or connection shall be ordered except where and when necessary to properly serve the public.

Proceedings in District Court.

Section 5. The district court shall have jurisdiction to enforce by proper decree, injunction or order, the rulings, orders and regulations made and established by the commission under the provisions of this act. The proceeding therefore shall be by equitable action in the name of the state, and shall be instituted by the Attorney General or county attorney, whenever advised by the board that any railroad is violating or refusing to comply with any rule, order or regulation made by the commission and applicable to such railroad. Such proceedings shall have the precedence over all other business in such courts, except criminal business. In any action the burden of proof shall rest upon the defendant, who must show by clear and satisfactory evidence that the rule, order or regulation involved is unreasonable and unjust as to them. If in such action, it be the decision of the court that the rule, regulation or order is not so unreasonable or unjust, and that in refusing compliance therewith the railroad is thereby failing or omitting the performance of any duty or obligation, the court shall decree a mandatory and perpetual injunction compelling obedience to, and compliance with the rule, regulation or order, by the defendant, and its officers, agents, servants and employees, and may grant such other relief as may be deemed just and proper. Any violation of such decree shall render the defendant and officer, agent, servant or servants or employees of the defendant, who is in any manner instrumental in such violation, guilty of contempt, and shall be punishable by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars for each offense, or by imprisonment of the person guilty of contempt until he shall sufficiently purge himself therefrom, and such decree shall continue and remain in effect and be in force until the rule, regulation or order shall be modified or vacated by the board. Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to deprive either party to such proceedings of the right to trial by jury, as provided by the seventh amendment to the Constitution of the United States, or as provided by the Constitution of this state. An appeal shall lie to the supreme court from the decree in such action, and the cause shall have precedence over all other civil actions of a different nature pending in the supreme court.

Appeals to Supreme Court.

Section 6. Appeals may be taken to the supreme court from the judgment of any district court in any action brought under the provisions of this act; such appeals shall have precedence over all other business, except criminal business, and original proceedings in such court, and shall be heard and determined as are appeals in civil actions.

Action to Determine Reasonableness of Rule.

Section 7. Any railroad may bring an action in the district court of the county where the principal office or place of business is situated or in any county where any such rule, regulation or order of the board is applicable, against the said board as defendant, to determine whether or not any such rule, regulation or order made, fixed or established by the board under provisions of this act is just and reasonable; provided, that until the final decision in any such action the rule, regulation or order of the board affecting any railroad shall be deemed to be final and conclusive; and provided, further, that in any action, hearing or proceeding in any court, the rules, regulations and orders made, fixed and established by said board shall prima facie be deemed to be just, reasonable and proper. All costs and expenses incurred in the hearing, trial or appeal of any action brought under this section, shall be fixed and assessed as by the court may seem just and equitable.

Section 8. All acts and parts of acts in conflict with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

Section 9. This act shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.

Powers of Railroad Commission as to Station and Crossings.

Section 1. The Board of Railroad Commissioners of the state of Montana shall have power and authority in addition to all other powers hereafter vested in said board, whenever the line of one railroad, or railway shall cross, intersect or parallel, (overhead, at grade, or otherwise), the railroad or railway of another company or corporation, after notice and hearing, to order and compel the installation of suitable platforms and station-houses for the convenience of passengers desiring to transfer from one road to the other and for the transfer of passengers, baggage or freight, whenever the same shall be ordered by the Board of Railroad Commissioners. And such company or corporation shall, when so ordered by the Board of Railroad Commissioners, keep such passenger station warmed, lighted and opened to the ingress and egress of all passengers a reasonable time before the arrival and after the departure of such trains as accommodate such station, carrying passengers on such railroad or railway. And said railroad or railway companies crossing, intersecting or paralleling (overhead, at grade, or otherwise), shall stop such trains at said station-house so located for the transfer of baggage, passengers and freight, so as to furnish reasonable facilities for that character of a station when so ordered by the Board of Railroad Commissioners, and the expense and construction and maintenance of such station-house and platform shall be paid by such corporations in such proportions as they may agree, and if they fail to agree, as may be fixed by order of the Board of Railroad Commissioners. Such corporation connecting by crossing, intersecting or paralleling (overhead, at grade, or otherwise), shall also when so ordered, after notice and hearing by the Board of Railroad Commissioners, unite and connect the tracks of said several corporations so as to permit the transfer from the tracks of said several corporations to the tracks of each other, of loaded and unloaded cars designed for transportation on both roads, provided, however, that no such union or connection shall be ordered except where and when necessary to properly serve the public. The expense of construction and maintenance shall be apportioned; and the material to be used and the route to be followed shall be determined by such corporations as they may agree, and in the event that they fail to agree, as may be fixed by order of the Board of Railroad Commissioners, and the expense thus incurred by the Board of Railroad Commissioners shall be paid by the railroad or railway companies jointly interested, on such basis as the commission may order.

"Paralleling," as referred to in this act, shall be held to mean where the main tracks of parallel lines of railroad or railway are not more than two thousand (2,000) feet apart when measured from center to center.

Joint Rates—Division Among Carriers.

Section 2. Whenever the Board of Railroad Commissioners of the state of Montana shall have established a joint rate for the transportation of freight carried over two or more connecting lines of railroad, railway or common carrier; the railroads, railways or common carriers affected by such joint rate may by agreement provide for the distribution thereof between themselves, and in the event that the railroads, railways or common carriers affected by such rates shall fail to agree upon the distribution of such rate for a period of sixty days after the order fixing and determining such joint rate shall have been made by the Board of Railroad Commissioners, then the said Board of Railroad Commissioners shall have power and it is hereby made its duty to call a hearing of which hearing, the railroads, railways, or common carriers affected by such joint rate shall have at least twenty days notice, and upon such hearing the Board of Railroad Commissioners shall proceed to fix and determine the pro rata distribution of such joint rate between the railroads, railways, or common carriers affected thereby.

Section 4. The district court shall have jurisdiction to enforce by proper decree, injunction or order, the rulings, orders and regulations made or established by the commission under the provisions of this act. The proceedings therefor shall be by equitable action in the name of the state, and shall be instituted by the Attorney General or county attorney whenever advised by the board that any railroad, railway, or common carrier is violating or refusing to comply with any rule, order or regulation made by the commission and applicable to such railroad, railway or common carrier. Such proceedings shall have precedence over all other business in such courts, except criminal business. In any action the burden of proof shall rest upon the defendant, who must show by clear and satisfactory evidence that the rule, order or regulation involved is unreasonable and unjust as to him. If in such action, it be the decision of the court that the rule, regulation or order is not unreasonable or unjust and that in refusing compliance therewith, the railway, railroad, or common carrier is thereby failing or omitting the performance of any duty or obligation the court shall decree a mandatory and perpetual injunction compelling obedience to, and compliance with the rule, regulation or order by the defendant, and its officers, agents, servants, and employees, and may grant such other relief as may be deemed just and proper. Any violation of such decree shall render the defendant, officer, agent, servant or servants, or employees of the defendant, who is in any manner instrumental in such violation, guilty of contempt, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars for each offense, or by imprisonment of the person guilty of contempt, until he shall sufficiently purge himself therefrom, and such decree shall continue and remain in effect and be in force until the rule, regulation or order shall be modified or vacated by the Board of Railroad Commissioners, provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to deprive either party to such proceedings of the right to trial by jury, as provided by the seventh amendment to the Constitution of the United States, or as provided by the Constitution of this state. Any appeal shall lie to the supreme court from the decree in such action, and the cause shall have precedence over all other civil actions of a different nature pending in the supreme court.

(d) The commission may in its discretion, purchase such materials, apparatus and standard measuring instruments for such examinations and tests as it may deem necessary.

(e) The commission, its agents, experts or examiners shall have the power to enter upon any premises occupied by any public utility for the purpose of making the examinations and tests provided in this act, and to set up and use on such premises any apparatus and appliances and occupy reasonable space therefor. The rates, tolls and charges shown on such schedules shall not exceed the rates, tolls and charges in force at time of passage of this act. The commission may prescribe such changes in the form in which the schedules are issued by any public utility as may be found to be expedient.

Greater or Lesser Charges Than Those Prescribed—Rebates and Privileges.

Section 12. It shall be unlawful for any public utility to charge, demand, collect or receive a greater or less compensation for any service per-

The rates, tolls, and charges named therein shall be the lawful rates, tolls and charges until the same are changed, as provided in this act. It shall likewise be unlawful for any public utility to grant any rebate, concession or special privilege to any consumer or user, which, directly or indirectly, shall or may have the effect of changing the rates, tolls, charges or payments, and any violation of the provisions of this section shall subject the violator to the penalty prescribed in section 8 of this act. This, however, does not have the effect of suspending, rescinding, invalidating or in any way affecting existing contracts.

Classifications of Service.

The commission may prescribe classifications of the service of all public utilities, and such classifications may take into account the quantity used, the time when used and any other reasonable consideration. Each public utility is required to conform its schedule of rates, tolls and charges to such classifications.

Section 14. The commission shall have the power to adopt reasonable and proper rules and regulations relative to all inspections, tests, audits, and investigations, and to adopt and publish reasonable and proper rules to govern its proceedings and to regulate the mode and manner of all investigations and hearings of public utilities, and other parties before it. (c) Any person, other than one of said commissioners who shall make such demand, shall produce his authority to make such inspection.

(d) The commission may require by order or subpoena, to be served on any public utility, in the same manner that a summons is served in a civil action in the district court, the production, within this state, at such time and place as it may designate, of any books, accounts, papers or records kept by such public utility in any office or place without the state of Montana, or verified copies in lieu thereof, if the commission shall so order, in order that an examination thereof may be made by the commission or under its direction.

(e) Any public utility failing or refusing to comply with any such order or subpoena, shall be subject to the liability named in section 8 of this act.

Employment of Engineer and Other Help.

Section 16. The commission is authorized to employ an engineer at a salary of not to exceed twenty-four hundred ($2400) dollars per annum, also examiners, experts, clerks, accountants or other assistants as it may deem necessary, at such rates of compensation as it may determine upon.

Either party shall be entitled to an order by the commission for the appearance of witnesses or the production of books, papers and documents containing material testimony. Witnesses appearing upon the order of the commission shall be entitled to the same fees and mileage as witnesses in civil cases in the courts of the state, and the same shall be paid out of the state treasury in the same manner as other claims against the state are paid; but no fees or mileage shall be allowed, unless the chairman of the commission shall certify to the correctness of the claim.

If it shall in like manner be found that any regulation, measurement, practice, act or service complained of, is unjust, unreasonable, insufficient, preferential, unjustly discriminatory or otherwise in violation of the provisions of this act, or if it be found that the service is inadequate, or that any reasonable service cannot be obtained, the commission shall have power to substitute therefor such other regulations, measurements, practices, service or acts, and make such order relating thereto as may be just and reasonable.

(b) When complaint is made of more than one rate, charge or practice, the commission may in its discretion, order separate hearing upon the several matters complained of, and at such times and places as it may prescribe. The commission may at any time, upon its own motion, investigate any of the rates, tolls, charges, rules, regulations, practices and service, after a full hearing, as above provided, by order, make such changes as may be just and reasonable the same as if a formal complaint had been made.

Board may Sell Lands.

Section 34. The State Board of Land Commissioners may direct the sale of any state lands, except as provided in this act, in such parcels, to actual settlers only, or to persons who shall improve the same, as they shall deem for the best interests of the state and the promotion of the settlement thereof; but no such sale shall be made, except at public sale, and as herein provided; provided, that no lands belonging to the state, within the areas to be irrigated from works constructed or controlled by the United States, shall hereafter be sold, except in conformity with the classification of farm units by the United States, and the title to such lands shall not pass from the state until the applicant therefor shall have fully complied with the provisions of the laws of the United States, and the regulations thereunder, concerning the acquisition of the right to use water from such works, and shall produce the evidence thereof duly issued. After the withdrawal of lands by the United States for any irrigation project, no application for the purchase of state lands, within the limits of such withdrawal, shall be accepted, except upon the conditions prescribed in this section; and, provided, that sales of state lands shall be made only to citizens of the United States, or to those who have declared their intention to become such, or to corporations organized under the laws of this state, provided that the State Board of Land Commissioners may sell to the United States, at the minimum price of ten dollars per acre, any state lands within the limits of a withdrawal of lands by the United States for reclamation purposes; or may exchange the same for other lands of the United States, upon such terms as it may deem for the best interests of the state; and, provided, that whenever the soil on any timber land is of such character that when cleared it would make good agricultural land, the land may be sold with the timber thereon as timber lands; and, provided, further, that all leases and conveyances of state lands by the State Board of Land Commissioners shall contain a reservation to the state of all coal, oil, and gas contained therein.

Sales for Irrigation.

Section 35. For the purpose of furnishing irrigation for state lands, the State Board of Land Commissioners, is hereby authorized when, in their judgment, the interests of the state would be subserved thereby, to sell, at public sale, at not less than the appraised value thereof, (which in no case, shall be less than the minimum price of ten dollars per acre,) any tract of arid land belonging to the state; provided, that no less than one-half of any section shall be sold, and only in alternate half sections, to any responsible person or persons, on condition that such person or persons construct an irrigation ditch in such locality, and to and upon said land, and of sufficient capacity to furnish water for the entire tract, and so located the said tract may be irrigated therefrom; provided, that, before any state lands shall be offered for sale under this section, the person desiring to purchase said land and construct said ditch, shall enter into a contract with the board guaranteeing to bid at least the minimum price per acre for said land, and to complete such ditch within the agreed time, which time shall be fixed by the board in contract. The contract shall further provide that such ditch shall furnish sufficient water for the remaining one-half of the state lands, at such reasonable rate as the board and the party constructing such ditch or canal may agree upon. Such contract shall be drawn by the Attorney General and signed by the Governor and register of state lands, and by the party desiring to construct said ditch; and, provided, further, that if any person, other than the person making application for the purchase of said lands, shall be the highest bidder at the public sale thereof, such bidder shall immediately enter into a bond or give the state other sufficient surety conditioned that he will within such reasonable time as the board may fix, enter into a contract and bond as required by the provisions of this act, for the construction of said ditch and for the furnishing of water therefrom; and in the event of his failure to furnish a satisfactory bond and enter into the said contract within the time fixed, then such bid shall be disregarded and said public sale shall be void and of no effect. The sale shall be made upon like conditions as other state lands are sold, and the board shall require a good and sufficient bond from the party desiring to construct such ditch, conditioned for the faithful performance of the contract and the conditions of the sale; and in no case shall the title of any of said lands pass from the state until the ditch shall have been completed and accepted by the board.

Location of Water Rights, etc., for State.

Section 36. It shall be the duty of the state land agent, under the direction of the State Board of Land Commissioners, wherever it may be deemed desirable, to locate water rights for the irrigation of any state lands in the vicinity, and also, to locate reservoir sites, wherever the same may be desirable, for irrigation purposes, in connection with state lands.

Sale or Lease of Lands.

Section 37. All sales and leasings of state lands shall be conducted by the register of state lands. Each quarter section, or such portion thereof as belongs to the state, shall be offered for sale separately; smaller lots only may be sold when it is impossible to sell as above described, or when thereby a larger price may be obtained, but not more than one hundred and sixty acres of agricultural land susceptible of irrigation, and not more than three hundred and twenty acres of agricultural land not susceptible of irrigation, and not more than six hundred and forty acres of grazing land or lands which, by reason of altitude are valuable only as hay land, shall be sold to one person, or company or corporation; and no land shall be sold for less than the minimum price of ten dollars per acre, nor for less than its appraised value, and the amount of the purchase money to be paid at the time of the sale shall not be less than fifteen per cent of the whole purchase price.

Public Auction.

Section 38. All sales of state lands shall be at public auction only. The State Board of Land Commissioners shall hold a public sale of state lands at the county seat in each county in the state at least once every two years, and may hold other public sales of such lands in any county of the state at any time they may deem it necessary, at which sales any and all of the state lands subject to sale situated in said county, may be offered for sale and sold. All sales shall be held at the courthouse in the county in which the same is held.

Section 39. All sales under this act, shall be advertised once in each week for four consecutive weeks, in some paper printed and published in the county in which such land is situated, if there be such paper, if not, then in some paper published in an adjoining county. The advertisement shall state the time, place and terms of sale, and a description of the state lands in the county to be offered.

Confirmation of Sales.

Section 40. All sales of state lands and all sales of timber on state lands, shall be subject to the approval and confirmation by the State Board of Land Commissioners, and no sale shall be deemed completed until after such approval and confirmation.

Section 41. Whenever any purchaser of state lands, or his assigns, shall default, for a period of thirty days, in any of the payments of either principal or interest due upon the certificate of purchase issued to him, or his assignor, said certificate may be forfeited and the lands reverted to the state of Montana, upon a notice to that effect mailed to the last known address of said purchaser, or his assigns, which notice shall allow him thirty days additional within which to make such payment. Provided, that like notice shall be mailed to the bondsmen, if any, of such person or assigns, who, in case of the final default of said purchaser, shall be entitled to redeem said land at any time within thirty days after such final default. If payment be not made as is in this section provided the State Board of Land Commissioners may sell the said lands, or any part thereof, and all payments made by the previous purchaser shall be forfeited to the state.

Section 43. Whenever any purchaser of the state lands has paid fifteen per cent of the purchase price of the land bought, and delivered to the register of state lands the bond herein required to be given, the register shall make out a certificate of purchase and deliver the same to the purchaser, which certificate shall contain a description of the land purchased, the sum paid, the amount remaining due, the date at which each of the deferred payments falls due, and the amount of each, and shall be signed by the Governor, as the president of the State Board of Land Commissioners, and by the register, and a record of the same shall be kept in a suitable book.

The registrar of lands, notwithstanding a sale by him, may refuse to issue the certificate, on the ground of inadvertence and mistake; if the lands were, in fact, not subject to sale, since other persons had acquired a prior interest in them.—State ex rel. Danaher v. Ray, 47 Mont. 571, 133 Pac. 961.

State Land Agent to Examine.

Section 44. When an application to purchase any state lands shall be filed in the office of the register, the State Board of Land Commissioners may refer the same to the state land agent, who shall visit the land proposed to be purchased and shall report in writing to the State Board of Land Commissioners, giving the value of said land and the value of all improvements which may have been placed thereon, together with any other facts which may have a bearing in determining the value thereof. If any of the improvements consist of cultivation done thereon by a prior lessee, and the land shall be purchased by any other person than such lessee, seventy-five per cent of the value of such cultivation shall be paid to the person making the same, and the other improvements shall be disposed of as herein otherwise provided.

When Purchaser Entitled to Patent.

Section 45. Whenever a purchaser of state lands, or his assigns, shall have paid one-half of the amount of money payable to the state of Montana upon his certificate of purchase, he shall be entitled to have his bond, given to secure such payment, canceled; unless the State Board of Land Commissioners shall order that the same continue in force for a longer period; and when he shall have paid the whole of the said purchase money, he shall be entitled to letters patent for the land sold to him as his assignor.

A certified copy of the record of any such deed or patent shall be receivable in evidence in all courts of record of this state, the same as the original.

Limitation for Cancellation of Patent.

Section 47. No action shall be brought to vacate or cancel any patent issued by the state, after the expiration of two years from the date of such patent, except upon the ground of fraud.

Certificates may be Assigned.

Section 48. Certificates of purchase shall be assigned, but all such assignments shall be in writing, and be acknowledged as other conveyances of real estate, and shall be filed for record in the office of the registrar of state lands; provided, however, that the State Board of Land Commissioners may cancel any certificate of purchase, upon the ground of fraud within three years from the date of its issue, upon giving to the person named in the certificate of purchase, at his last known place of address, thirty days' notice that the same is held for cancellation; and, if the same is registered, hearing shall be had before the board of contest, as in other contested cases provided, provided that such hearing may be had upon testimony taken before some officer authorized to administer oaths in the county in which the land involved is situated.

Lost Certificate of Purchase.

Section 49. Whenever any certificate of purchase shall be lost, or wrongfully withheld by any person from the owner thereof, the contest board may receive evidence of such loss, or wrongful withholding, and report their findings, as in other contested cases; and the State Board of Land Commissioners, may, in proper cases, cause a new certificate of purchase, or a patent, as the case may be, to issue to such person as shall appear to them to be entitled thereto.

Lands Subject to Taxation.

Section 50. All lands sold under the provisions of this act, or any interest therein, shall be subject to taxation; and the register of state lands shall furnish to the county assessors of each county, on or before the fifteenth day of March of each year, a list of all lands sold during the year ending of the first Monday of March, to whom sold, the purchase price, and the amount actually paid. Provided, that no purchaser of state lands shall be taxed for a greater percentage of the value of the land than the ratio which the amount actually paid on the purchase price bears to the total purchase price. And provided further, that in case of a sale for taxes, the interest only of said purchaser shall be sold.

Interest of Purchaser Subject to Lien.

Section 51. That the interest of any purchaser of state lands in the land so purchased, shall be subject to the same liens as other real estate; provided, that in case of sale, only the interest of the purchaser shall be sold. In case of any sale under the provisions of this section, or of a sale for taxes, the person purchasing under such provisions, shall be substituted for the judgment debtor and a new certificate of purchase shall be issued to him upon satisfactory proof to the State Board of Land Commissioners that he is entitled thereto.

If Lands Revert.

Section 52. In case any lands sold under the provisions of this act shall revert to the state, for any cause whatsoever, the register of state lands shall at once notify the assessor and the county treasurer of the county in which the land is situated, and upon the receipt of such notice it shall be the duty of the assessor to cancel any assessment of said land for that year, and of the county treasurer to rebate all taxes that have been charged against said land for that year; provided that the state shall pay to the county in which said land is situated, its proportion of any taxes that may have been levied upon said land for a year in which the state has collected an installment of purchase money upon said land, said payment to be made out of such installment.

Sale of Timber.

Section 53. The State Board of Land Commissioners shall have power to sell timber on state lands at such price per thousand feet as in its judgment shall be for the best interest of the state, but not otherwise; but no such sale of live timber shall be made at a less price than three dollars per thousand feet. But no live timber less eight inches in diameter, twenty feet from the ground, shall be sold or permitted to be cut. All timber sold or cut from state lands shall be cut and removed, under such rules and regulations for the preservation of standing timber, and the prevention of fires, as the State Board of Land Commissioners shall prescribe; in all cases the board must require the person cutting the timber to pile the brush and slashings and dispose of the same in such manner as to prevent forest fires. Before any permit shall be granted, the timber shall be estimated and appraised under the direction of the state forester, upon the request, and subject to the approval of the State Board of Land Commissioners, which estimates and appraisal shall show as nearly as may be the amount and value per thousand feet of all timber measuring not less than eight inches in diameter, twenty feet from the ground, and also all other timber measuring below this standard on each tract or lot, together with a statement of the situation of the timber relative to risk from fires or damage of any kind, its distance from the nearest lake, stream, or railroad, and its value and position as a protection to a watershed. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 118, p. 254.]

Permits for Cutting Timber.

Section 54. No permit for cutting live timber shall be granted except to the highest bidder at a public sale held at the state capitol, notice of which sale shall be published as provided by law, for the sale of state lands, but no sale shall be made at a less price than the appraised value of the timber as fixed by the State Board of Land Commissioners; and no timber shall be sold after the passage of this act until the same has been reappraised and estimated since March 19, 1909. Every person purchasing timber at such sale before the execution of the permit to cut the same shall execute a bond to the state of Montana, in double the amount of the estimated value of the timber permitted to be cut, with sufficient sureties, to be approved by the board, conditioned upon the payment to the State Treasurer of the amount that may be found due under the terms of such permit, and according to the provisions of law, and further conditioned upon the cutting of such timber in compliance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the State Board of Land Commissioners. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 118, p. 254.]

Permits.

Section 55. All permits to cut live timber under the provisions of this act, shall be made according to a form prescribed by the Attorney General, and shall be signed by the party applying for the same and by the president and secretary of the State Board of Land Commissioners.

Said permits shall contain a description of the land to be cut upon, the estimated amount of timber upon the same, the amount of large timber required to be left standing, the time which said timber shall be removed, the price per thousand feet, or the entire value of the timber, if the right to clear the land has been sold, for which the same was bid in, the stipulated log-mark, and such other terms and conditions as may be necessary to make all logs cut under its provisions the absolute property of the state, until the same are paid for. Such permits, when properly executed, shall be recorded in the office of the register of the State Board of Land Commissioners, and the log-mark described therein shall vest the ownership of all logs bearing the same in the state. Provided, however, that the State Board of Land Commissioners may authorize the state forester to issue permits without notice to citizens of Montana to cut and take away dead standing timber under such rules and regulations as to price and quality as may be prescribed by the board, and provided further that the state forester shall issue permits without notice to citizens of Montana to cut and take away down timber, without price, under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the board. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 118, p. 254.]

Log-mark.

Section 56. The state forester shall select and designate a log-mark for each person granted a permit to cut logs upon state lands, which log-mark, when so selected and designated, shall be filed in the office of the register of state lands, and shall be distinctly different from any other log-mark selected and designated by him. The state forester shall cause all logs so cut to be scaled, and make a detailed report of the same, to the State Board of Land Commissioners on or before the first day of every month, showing the name of the party cutting, the description of the land cut upon, the number of logs cut and marked, the mark placed thereon, the total number of feet, and the value thereof per thousand, as shown by the records of this office, stating whether such cutting has been according to the terms of the permit, and, if not properly cut, the consequent damage to the state; and such timber, or logs, shall not be sold transferred or manufactured into lumber until the amount due the state, according to the report of said forester, shall have been paid in full; and it shall be the duty of the state forester to report to the State Board of Land Commissioners all trespass which has been, or which hereafter be made upon the state timber lands, and all logs cut by trespassers shall be disposed of as hereinafter provided. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 118, p. 254.]

Payment for Timber.

Section 57. Upon receipt of such report from the state forester, the register of state lands shall draw a draft for the amount upon the party from whom the stumpage is due. If said party shall immediately make payment of the required amount, the register shall execute a release of the logs, and transfer of the mark thereon; but in no case shall such release or transfer be made until the lien of the state has been fully satisfied. If such purchaser shall not pay the amount of such draft within ten days after receipt of same, it shall be the duty of the State Board of Land Commissioners to take possession of the logs in question, and sell the same at public auction to satisfy the claim of the state, paying the overplus, if any, after defraying the cost and expenses of such sale to the party entitled thereto, provided, that if the proceeds of such sale are insufficient to pay the amount due upon the purchase price, together with the costs and expenses of the sale the amount of such deficiency shall be certified to the Attorney General by the State Board of Land Commissioners and he shall immediately proceed to collect such deficiency from the purchaser or his bondsman; and, provided, that in lieu of taking possession of the logs upon which stumpage is due, the State Board of Land Commissioners may turn the account over to the Attorney General, who shall immediately proceed to collect the same upon the bond hereinbefore provided for; but in no case shall the logs be released until the account is paid. The proceedings upon the bond shall not prevent the State Board of Land Commissioners from seizing the logs at any time before the claim of the state is satisfied. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 118, p. 254.]

Penalty for False Marks on Timber.

Section 58. If any person, or any officer or employee of a corporation, having a contract to cut timber under the provisions of this act, with intent to defraud the state, place any other log-mark upon logs cut by him or if, under such contract than the one mentioned therein he shall be deemed guilty of felony, and when upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not less than five hundred dollars nor more than five thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the state prison for not less than one year, nor more than three years, or both; and all logs upon which such false mark has been placed shall be forfeited to the state.

Additional Penalty.

Section 59. That in addition to the penalties provided for in this title against those committing trespass upon any of the lands owned or held in trust or otherwise by the state, the State Board of Land Commissioners is hereby authorized and empowered, without legal process, to seize and take, or cause to be seized and taken, any and all lumber, wood, grass or other property, unlawfully severed from the said lands, whether the same has been removed from said lands or not, and may dispose of the same at either public or private sale, in such manner as will be most conducive to the interests of the state, and all moneys arising therefrom, after deducting the reasonable and necessary expenses of such seizure and sale, shall be a part of the permanent fund to which such lands may belong.

Board to Defend Suits.

Section 60. That for the purpose of determining the title to any property seized and taken under the provisions of this act, the State Board of Land Commissioners is hereby authorized and empowered to defend, in the name of the state, any and all actions that may be brought for that purpose, and to do and perform all things necessary to protect the interests of the state.

State Log-mark.

Section 61. The state forester, under the direction of the State Board of Land Commissioners, shall select and designate a brand, which shall place, or cause to be placed, upon all timber, logs, boards or planks, that may be seized, as provided for in this act. Any person, or persons, or any officer or employee of any company, association, or corporation, who shall remove, sell or dispose of any property mentioned in this act, after the same has been seized or marked with the state brand, or who shall erase, deface, cut, or destroy and mark upon any such property, shall, upon conviction, be imprisoned in the state prison for a term of not less than one year, nor more than three years, and be subject to a fine of not less than five hundred ($500) dollars nor more than five thousand ($5,000) dollars. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 118, p. 254.]

Board may Lease.

Section 62. The State Board of Land Commissioners may lease any portion of the land of the state at a rental to be determined after the examination of the land by an appraiser, except as herein provided. The lessee shall pay the annual rental in advance to the register of state lands, who shall receipt for the same. If stone, coal, coal-oil, gas or other mineral not mentioned herein, be found upon the state land, such land must be leased only for the purpose of obtaining therefrom the stone, coal, coal oil, gas or other mineral, for such length of time, and conditioned upon the payment to the register of such royalty upon the product, as the State Board of Land Commissioners may determine.

Lands, How Leased.

Section 63. At every public sale of state lands, each tract of land, except timber lands, for which no bid for its purchase has been received, shall be immediately offered for lease to the highest bidder, as follows: By quarter sections, or so much thereof as belongs to the state, in the case of lands classified as agricultural (a); by half sections, in the case of lands classified as agriculture (b); and by sections in the case of lands classified as grazing; and smaller tracts shall not be leased, unless it is deemed impossible to lease as above described, or unless a larger price may be obtained thereby; and no land shall be leased for a longer period than five years, nor for a less rental than the minimum rental fixed by the board, which shall not be less than five per centum per annum of the appraised value of such lands.

Bond and First Payment of Rental.

Section 64. Each lessee within twenty-four hours after leasing any land, pay to the register the first year's rental, and shall deliver to him a good and sufficient bond, executed by the said lessee and two sureties, and approved by the treasurer of the county in which the land is situated; the condition of such bond being that such lessee will keep and perform all the covenants and agreements contained in the lease; and the register shall, upon such payment, and the delivery of such bond, execute and deliver to such lessee, a lease of such lands, and shall enter the same in a suitable book to be kept for that purpose.

Penalty for Failure to Make First Payment.

Section 65. If any successful bidder at a public leasing or public sale refuses or neglects to make payment, or deliver his bond as herein provided, he shall forfeit to the state the sum of one hundred dollars, with costs; and the Attorney General shall institute a suit for the recovery thereof in the name of the state of Montana.

Leases Conditioned on Payment of Rental in Advance.

Section 66. All leases of state or school land shall be conditioned upon the payment of rent annually in advance, and the violation of this condition shall work a forfeiture of the lease at the option of the State Board of Land Commissioners, after thirty days' notice to the lessee, such notice being sent to his last known postoffice address, as given by himself to the register of the state board, and to the sureties upon his bond; provided, that after the expiration of the said thirty days' notice, the sureties upon the bond of the lessee, or any creditor of the lessee, may pay the said rental and take an assignment of said lease, or have such rights transferred to them or him as the case may be provided that such sureties shall have the preference.

Term of Lease.

Section 67. No state land shall be leased to any person for a longer period than five years. Lots within an incorporated town or city, may be leased for a period of five years, with covenants for the renewal of said lease to the lessee, or his assigns, for nine more rental periods of five years each, making a total of not to exceed fifty years, at such rental as may be fixed at the beginning of each five year term.

Renewal of Lease, How Made.

Section 68. When any lease expires by limitation, the holder thereof may renew the same as follows: at any time within thirty days before the date of such expiration, the lessee or his assigns, shall notify the register of his desire to renew said lease; if the lessee and the register agree as to the valuation of the land, a new lease may be issued, bearing even date with the expiration of the old lease, and upon like conditions; provided, however, that the former valuation shall not be decreased without the consent of the State Board of Land Commissioners; and, provided, further, that the state board may, in its discretion, offer said land for sale at any of the regular public sales of state lands held in the county where the land is situated, upon the same terms, and in the same manner as though said lease had not been executed.

Improvement on Leased Land.

Section 69. Should any person apply to lease any of the lands belonging to the state, upon which there are improvements placed there by a former lessee, before a lease shall issue, said applicant shall file in the office of the register, a receipt showing that the price of said improvements, as agreed upon by the parties, or fixed by the state land agent, or one of his assistants, has been paid to the owner thereof in full, or shall make satisfactory proof that he has tendered to such owner the price of such improvements so agreed upon or fixed; or proof that the owner of said improvements elects to remove them.

Rental of Coal Lands.

Section 70. Any person, association, copartnership or corporation, leasing and operating coal lands under the provisions of this act, shall pay to the state the minimum price of not less than ten (10) cents per ton, for each and every ton of merchantable coal so mined from said land, to be paid monthly on or before the twenty-fifth day of each month, for the coal mined during the preceding calendar month. Should the lessee of such coal lands fail to mine during any one year the minimum amount that may be provided for in the term of the lease, he shall, notwithstanding such failure, pay to the state the minimum rental provided for in said lease. Should any person apply to lease any of the coal lands belonging to the state, upon which there are surface or underground improvements placed or made by a former lessee, before a lease shall issue, said applicant shall file in the office of the register a receipt showing that the price of said improvements, as agreed upon by the parties, or fixed by the state land agent, or one of his assistants, has been paid to the owner thereof in full, or shall make satisfactory proof that he has tendered to such owner the price of such surface or underground improvements so agreed upon or fixed; or proof that the owner of such improvements elects to remove them.

Location of Mining Claims on State Lands.

Section 71. Locations of mining claims not exceeding six hundred (600) feet in width and fifteen hundred (1500) feet in length, each, may be made upon lands belonging to the state as follows: The discoverer of a body of mineral in either a vein, lode, or ledge, or mineral in a placer deposit shall immediately post conspicuously a notice that he has made such a discovery, on the date stated in such notice, and shall complete such location in all respects as prescribed by the laws of this state for the location of mining claims upon the public lands of the United States, except that no notice of such location need be recorded in the office of the county clerk, but such notice shall be filed with the register of state lands. Such procedure shall empower the locator to retain possession of and operate said claim for the period of one year, at the end of which time, he shall be required to purchase said claim at ten dollars per acre or take a lease thereof at such price, or upon such terms as may be agreed upon between him and the State Board of Land Commissioners.

Proof of Mineral Character of Land.

Section 72. Before the locator will be allowed to purchase the claim located by him, satisfactory proof at a hearing, if deemed necessary, must be submitted to the State Board of Land Commissioners, that such claim is more valuable for mineral purposes than for any other purpose, and that the same contains a body of mineral in place, or a placer deposit, of sufficient value to justify the operation of the same as a present fact; provided, that no mining claim shall be located upon any coal or oil lands; and, provided, further, that all hearings under the provisions of this section shall be had before the contest board with like procedure as other contested cases; and provided, further, that no lands classified under subdivision 4 of the classification in the Constitution shall be sold as mineral lands, but the mineral therein may be sold separately from the surface.

Lands Valuable for Stone.

Section 73. Whenever it shall appear to the State Board of Land Commissioners that there is a deposit of stone valuable for building, mining, or other commercial purposes upon any section or subdivision of state land, the board shall not lease the same for any purpose except the extraction and working of the stone and then upon a royalty basis only, upon such terms as the board shall prescribe. The board may lease the remainder of the section or subdivision for agriculture, grazing, or other purposes, as may appear for the best interests of the state, as other state lands are leased; but shall provide in all such cases for a right of way across said state land or any adjoining state land for all purposes connected with the working and disposition of the stone.

Leases and Receipts.

Section 74. All leases shall be in duplicate, both to be signed by the lessee and by the register of state lands, with the seal of the board affixed thereto, one copy to be delivered to the lessee and the other to be retained in the state land office.

Register Receipts.

Section 75. The register shall issue receipts in triplicate for all moneys received by him from any source, of which one copy shall be delivered to the person making the payment, one copy to be delivered to the State Auditor, and the other copy to be retained in the state land office. All receipts issued shall be numbered consecutively.

Leasehold Subject to Execution.

Section 76. The leasehold interest of any lessee shall be subject to levy and sale under attachment and execution as other property.

Record of Leases and Certificates.

Section 77. The register shall keep a full and complete record of all lessees and certificates of purchase issued by him, and of all payments made thereon, and shall on or before the twentieth day of every month notify all persons having amounts becoming due during the following month, of such amounts. He shall also notify, at such time, all persons who may be delinquent for thirty days or more, of such delinquencies. In case any lessee becomes delinquent for more than sixty days after notice, the register shall forthwith, unless an extension has been granted, declare a forfeiture of the lease, and may eject the lessee from the land; but such forfeiture and ejectment shall in no way release the bond heretofore provided for, but the sureties thereon, upon the forfeiture of such lease, and upon the payment by them of the amount due, if paid without suit, may have the lease transferred to them, or either of them by consent of the other, for their own use and benefit, and be substituted [subjected] to all the rights of the lessee. In case of a disagreement between the sureties the land shall be divided between them by the state land agent.

Lands not Sold may be Leased.

Section 78. All grain inspectors shall be weighers also. When deemed advisable for the best interest of any party concerned, inspection may be made without weighing or weighing without inspection. The fees provided for inspection shall apply to either inspection or weighing when done separately, or to both when there is inspection and weighing of the same lot of grain.

Places Where Inspection Shall be Established—Fees for Inspection.

Section 13. Inspection of grain shall be established at such points as may be deemed necessary by the Chief Grain Inspector, subject to the approval of the Governor, and for such inspection that may be performed by the department, a fee, not exceeding twenty-five cents for each wagon-load or one dollar for each carload, shall be paid by the owner of such grain. The Chief Grain Inspector is hereby authorized to establish, with the approval of the Governor, the inspection of any grain grown in this state that may be in transit destined to points either in this state or elsewhere, when such inspection is deemed necessary for the protection of the interests of the state, or of the grain trade or grain-growers of the state. The fees for such inspection shall not exceed one dollar per carload and shall be collected from the common carriers in whose possession the grain may be at the time of inspection, and shall by such common carriers be paid to the department. Such inspection fees shall be treated by the common carriers as advanced charges and may be collected by them with the freight. The Chief Grain Inspector may make such arrangements with the common carriers for settlement with the department as may be approved by the Governor, but shall have the right and authority to demand of the common carriers, and to receive from them all such inspection fees, at the time such inspection is done. The places at which such inspection shall be done shall be designated by the Chief Grain Inspector, with the approval of the Governor, and, when deemed necessary for the purpose of facilitating the movement of cars, it may be done at points outside the state of Montana. When inspection points are established outside the state of Montana, it may be done only when the common carriers agree that it shall have the same effect under this act as if done in the state of Montana, and that the penalties for the violation of this act shall not be altered in any manner thereby.

Whenever and wherever inspection of grain is established in the state, as provided in this act, it shall be the duty of the owner or owners of any grain sold or delivered at, or taken or shipped to any place where inspection has been established, to cause all of such grain to be inspected and weighed by the official grain inspector at such place, and fully paid to such inspector the fees established as herein provided, and to deliver to the purchaser or consignee of such grain the certificate of inspection and weights.

Inspection Fees a Lien on Grain.

Section 17. The fees for inspection, fixed under this act, shall be a lien on the grain inspected.

Change of Inspection Fees.

Section 18. Inspection fees provided for in this act may be changed from time to time (within the limit named in the act) by the Chief Grain Inspector, with the approval of the Governor. Such changes may not be made oftener than once in six months and notice of such changes must be published in the manner provided for the publication of the rules and regulations of the department. Said changes may not become effective within thirty days of the date of first publication. Common carriers, on whose lines inspection of grain in transit has been established, shall be given thirty days' notice, through their legal representatives, of any changes in inspection fees.

Reinspection of Grain.

Section 19. Any interested party, who may be aggrieved by the grade placed on any lot of grain, may call for the reinspection of the same by depositing one dollar with the Chief Grain Inspector. When reinspection is called it shall be the duty of the Chief Grain Inspector or the Chief Deputy Inspector to place a grade on such grain. If the grade is changed in favor of the party calling the reinspection, the deposit of one dollar shall be refunded to him; and if not changed in his favor the deposit shall be placed with other funds of the department. No claim for reinspection may be allowed after ten days from the date of original inspection. Grades fixed by reinspection shall be final.

Refusing or Hindering Inspection—Penalties.

Section 20. The refusal to permit inspection of grain under this act, or the attempt to hinder any officer or employee of the department in the discharge of his duties, shall constitute a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, shall be punishable by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than five hundred dollars.

Inspection by Unauthorized Persons—Penalties.

The official inspection of grain in this state must be performed by such persons as may be duly appointed and qualified according to law, and any person who shall act as official inspector of grain, who has not been first appointed and qualified, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

Establishment of Grain Grading Commission.

Section 22. A Grain Grading Commission is hereby established, which shall consist of the Chief Grain Inspector, the Chief Deputy Inspector, and the instructor in charge of the Department of Agronomy at the State Agricultural College, and which shall each year, on a date to be fixed by the Chief Grain Inspector, establish a grade for all kinds of grain grown or handled in this state, which shall be known as "Montana Grades." Notice of such meeting shall be published in at least three newspapers of general circulation in the state, for three consecutive insertions prior to the date fixed for such meeting; and the grades established shall be published in the manner provided in this act for the publication of the rules and regulations of the department.

Meaning of Word "Warehouse."

Section 23. The word "warehouse," wherever used in this act, shall be held to mean any grain elevator, warehouse, flour-mill, or other building in which grain is stored, or handled with a view of shipping therefrom in carload lots, or used for milling grain.

The term "public warehouse," wherever used in this act, shall be held to mean any warehouse in which grain is stored in such manner that the grain of various owners is mixed together and the identity of the different lots or parcels not preserved.

License and Classification of Grain Dealers.

Section 24. Each person, firm, association, or corporation engaged in the business of buying grain for shipment in carload lots, or for milling, shall be required to be licensed by the department, and all such grain buyers shall be classified as follows; those operating warehouses (not public warehouses) to be known as grain dealers, and to be licensed as such; those operating public warehouses to be known as public warehousemen, and to be licensed as such; those operating neither warehouse nor public warehouse to be known as track buyers, and licensed as such.

Application for License.

Section 25. Before any license may be issued application shall be made to the department in writing, setting forth the name and address of the applicant, the name and address of each person interested in the ownership or management of the business (if a corporation, the name and address of the president and secretary only shall be required), the address of the main office or headquarters of applicant, the form of license desired, the location and capacity of each warehouse or public warehouse operated by applicant, whether owned or leased by applicant, and such other information as may be required by the rules and regulations of the department.

Issuance and Revocation of License.

Section 26. It shall be the duty of the Chief Grain Inspector to issue licenses upon receipt of application in proper form,—one grain dealer's license for each warehouse for which application is made; one public warehouseman's license for each public warehouse for which application is made and bond filed, as hereinafter provided for; one track buyer's license upon each application, when bond is filed as hereinafter provided for. All licenses shall give authority to carry on and conduct the businesses of grain dealer, public warehouseman, or track buyer,—as the case may be,—in accordance with the laws of the state, and shall be revocable by the Chief Grain Inspector, after approval of his decision by the Attorney General, upon complaint being made in writing, setting forth the particular violation of the law, and upon due notice and hearing and sufficient proof. Violations of this act, or of the laws of the state, or of the rules and regulations of the department, will be considered sufficient cause for the revoking of licenses. The Chief Grain Inspector may refuse to issue licenses to any person or concern whose licenses have once been revoked.

Bond of Public Warehouseman to be Filed With Secretary of State.

Section 27. Before receiving a public warehouseman's license each applicant shall file with the Secretary of State a bond to the state of Montana, for the benefit of all parties interested, with sureties to be approved by the Chief Grain Inspector, in the penal sum of not less than ten thousand dollars nor more than one hundred thousand dollars, in the discretion of the Chief Grain Inspector, conditioned upon the faithful performance of all duties as a public warehouseman and full compliance with the laws of Montana, enacted or to be enacted in relation thereto; provided, that when application is made for more than one license for public warehouses operated by the same concern, but one bond shall be required. A fee of one dollar shall be paid to the Secretary of State for filing each bond.

Track Buyer's Bond.

Section 28. Before receiving a track buyer's license each applicant shall file with the Secretary of State a bond to the state of Montana for the benefit of all parties interested, with sureties to be approved by the Chief Grain Inspector, in the penal sum of ten thousand dollars, conditioned upon the faithful performance of all duties as a track buyer and full compliance with all the laws of Montana enacted or to be enacted in relation thereto. A fee of one dollar shall be paid to the Secretary of State for the filing of each bond.

Transaction of Business Without License—Penalty.

Section 29. Any person who shall transact the business of grain dealer, public warehouseman, or track buyer, without first procuring license as hereinbefore provided, or who shall continue to transact any such business after such license has been revoked (save only that public warehousemen shall be permitted to deliver property previously stored) shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, shall be fined in a sum of not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars. Each day that any such business is carried on without a license shall constitute a separate offense.

Duty of Warehousemen to Receive Grain—Payment of Inspection Fees by Warehousemen.

Section 30. It shall be the duty of every public warehouseman to receive for storage any grain, dry and suitable for warehousing, that may be tendered to him in the usual course of such business, not making any discrimination in the persons desiring to avail themselves of storage facilities. No public warehouseman shall be required to receive grain for storage in any warehouse where there is not sufficient room to store it properly, or in cases where such warehouse is necessarily closed. If grain going into or out of public warehouses is inspected by the state, the fees for such inspection shall be paid by the public warehouseman and added to the charges for storage. The Chief Grain Inspector may recover all inspection fees from the public warehouseman, in case the same shall not have been paid to the state, by an appropriate action.

Storage Receipts.

Section 31. It shall be the duty of each public warehouseman to issue to the owner of the grain, or to his order, a storage receipt for each lot of grain received into store by him. Storage receipts shall be consecutively numbered in such manner that no two receipts bearing the same number shall be issued from one warehouse in the same year, except in the case of a lost or destroyed receipt, when a duplicate may be issued bearing the same date and number as the original and plainly marked "Duplicate." Each storage receipt shall bear date corresponding with the date of the receipt of the grain for storage; shall show on its face the kind and grade of grain received and that it has been stored with grain of the same kind and grade; shall bear the name of the concern issuing it and the place of issue (with headquarters or main office, if elsewhere); the name of the person grading and weighing the grain; the weight in pounds, gross, tare, and net; the gross bushels; the dockage (if any); and the net bushels and that a similar quantity and grade of grain shall be deliverable upon the return of the storage receipt properly indorsed by the person to whose order it was issued, and the payment of the proper charges for storage and handling. Storage receipts shall indicate that stored grain is insured for the benefit of the owner and shall show the rates of storage provided for in this act. Storage receipts must be in such form as may be prescribed by the Chief Grain Inspector. No public warehouseman shall insert in any storage receipt any language limiting or modifying his liabilities or responsibilities, as imposed by law.

Delivery of Grain upon Surrender of Receipt.

Section 32. On the return and surrender of any storage receipts and payment of lawful charges, the grain represented therein shall be immediately deliverable to the owner or his order and the storage receipt shall be marked "Canceled" upon its face, and the grain shall not be subject to any further charges for storage after demand for delivery shall have been made and facilities for receiving the same have been provided. If not delivered within twenty-four hours after such demand, the public warehouseman shall be liable to the owner for all damages occasioned thereby; provided, that if he shall deliver to different owners in the order demanded and as rapidly as it can be done by ordinary diligence, he shall not be held in default.

Records and Reports of Public Warehousemen.

Section 33. Public warehousemen shall keep records of each lot of grain received into store, of each receipt issued, and of each receipt canceled by the delivery or purchase of the grain. Such records shall be in such form as may be prescribed by the Chief Grain Inspector. Public warehousemen shall make reports (under oath) to the Chief Grain Inspector whenever requested to do so, of the amount of grain received into store and delivered from store and in what manner delivered, and any other information that may be demanded of them relating to the storage of grain; and shall permit the examination of all books, records, and warehouses by any duly authorized officer or employee of the state at any time during business hours.

Delivery of Stored Grain in Carload Lots.

Section 34. Stored grain may be delivered, in carload lots, at the option of the owner, at any terminal elevator or at any station on the line of the same railroad where it was originally stored, upon the payment of the necessary charges for freight and other charges provided for in this act.

Delivery of Grain Deemed Bailment.

Section 35. The delivery of grain to any public warehouseman for storage, although it may be mixed with that of others, or shipped or removed from the original place of storage, shall be deemed a bailment, and not a sale.

Storage Charges—For Flax.

Section 36. The charges for storage of grain except flax, in public warehouses shall not exceed the following rates: for receiving, elevating, insuring, and delivering, and the first fifteen days' storage, or part thereof, two cents per bushel; for storage thereafter one-half cent for each fifteen days, or part thereof, until it shall have been in store ninety days, and thereafter one-half cent for each twenty days, or part thereof. For flax, the charges for the first fifteen days, or part thereof, shall be three cents per bushel, and thereafter the same as on grain.

Liabilities of Warehousemen—Fire or Heating.

Section 37. Public warehousemen shall be held responsible for any loss or damage to grain by fire while in their custody, and for loss by heating unless it is proven that such loss or damage by heating was not caused by any lack of care on the part of such public warehouseman, his servants or agent. Any public warehouseman guilty of any act or neglect the effect of which is to depreciate any property in his custody, shall be held responsible therefor to the person damaged thereby, and the bond of such public warehouseman shall be held for all damages so occasioned.

False or Prohibited Weights or Measures—Excessive Dockage.

Section 38. Any person, firm, public warehouseman, corporation, or officer or employee thereof, or any public officer who shall use any false weights or measures, or any weights, measures, or measuring device, or scales, not tested and sealed by the State Sealer of Weights and Measures, as required by law, or who shall give or return any fraudulent or false weights or measures of any grain, wagon, car, or other vehicle in which such grain is or has been weighed, or of any container of grain, or who shall take more dockage on any lot of grain than the amount that actually exists in such lot of grain, or who shall take dockage on any other grains than those on which dockage is taken at the terminal markets in the state of Minnesota, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars ($25) or more than three hundred dollars ($300), or by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than sixty (60) days, or more than one (1) year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Records to be Kept by All Grain Dealers, Warehousemen and Track Buyers.

Section 39. All grain dealers, public warehousemen, and track buyers licensed under this act shall keep proper and correct records of all grain bought, shipped, milled, or sold by them, designating the kind and grade of each lot, the true weights, gross and net, and the dockage (if any); all such records to be in such form as shall be prescribed by the Chief Grain Inspector; and they shall be required to make such reports under oath, as may be requested of them, and at such times as may be designated by the Chief Grain Inspector. All such books and records and all warehouses and public warehouses shall at all times during business hours be open to the inspection of the Chief Grain Inspector or any duly authorized officer or employee of the state.

Authority of Department to Make Examinations.

Section 40. Authority is hereby given to the department to examine the records of any grain dealer, track buyer, or public warehouseman; the contents of any warehouse or public warehouse; the records of any common carrier engaged in transporting grain in the state, either to points within or outside the state.

Cleaning of Grain and Charges Therefor.

Section 41. When cleaning facilities are provided in any warehouse or public warehouse, grain shall be cleaned at the request of the owner for not exceeding one cent per bushel. Screening shall be delivered to the owner of the grain upon demand.

Grain Inspection Fund—Payment of Expenses—Changes in Fees.

Section 42. A fund is hereby established, to be known as the grain inspection fund, which fund shall be credited by the State Treasurer with all moneys deposited by the State Grain Inspection Department, as in this act provided, and all salaries and expense of the department, authorized by law, shall be paid out of and charged to the said grain inspection fund. The State Treasurer is hereby authorized to transfer to the grain inspection fund any funds in the state treasury available for the use of the department at the time this act may become effective. If, in the opinion of the Governor, the grain inspection fund is larger than is necessary to properly conduct the work of the department, the fees or charges shall be reduced, at the time and in the manner provided for in this act. In like manner the fees or charges may be increased, within the limit named in this act, if deemed advisable by the Governor for the proper enforcement of this act.

Violations of Act—Penalty.

Section 43. The violations of any of the provisions of this act, not specifically provided for in the various sections thereof, by any railroad company, common carrier, person, firm, association, corporation, or any employee, agent, representative, or officer thereof, shall constitute a misdemeanor and shall, upon conviction, be punishable by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500) for each offense.

Issuance of False or Fraudulent Receipts—Penalty.

Section 44. It shall be deemed a felony for any person, either as an individual or as an officer, agent or employee, or in the name of any corporation, person, firm, or association, to issue a false or fraudulent storage or warehouse receipt, or any receipt which purports to be or is represented to be a receipt for grain stored or for storage, when such grain has not been received, or for a greater quantity than has been received or stored; or to, in any manner, issue or refuse to issue a storage receipt, for the purpose of defrauding any person or persons, company, or corporation; and any person convicted thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than one thousand dollars ($1000) or more than five thousand dollars ($5000), or by confinement in the state penitentiary for not less than one year or for more than five (5) years, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Duty of Attorney General—Prosecutions.

Section 45. The Attorney General shall be ex-officio attorney for the department and shall give all necessary advice to the department. All criminal prosecutions shall be made in the name of the state of Montana by the Attorney General or proper county attorney.

This act shall be a substitute for chapter forty-seven (47) of the Laws, Resolutions and Memorials of the state of Montana, passed by the Thirteenth Regular Session of the Legislative Assembly, in its entirety, and said chapter forty-seven (47) is hereby repealed; but said repeal shall not affect the validity of or the continuing in force of the appointment of any officer thereunder, or his term of office or his official bond, or any bond given or any license issued in pursuance of the provisions of said repealed chapter.

Section 47. All acts and parts of acts in conflict with this act are hereby repealed.

GRAIN ELEVATORS ON RAILROAD RIGHT OF WAY.

Chapter 43, Laws 1913, page 60.

"An act providing a summary method for procuring the right to erect a grain warehouse or grain elevator on railroad rights of way."

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Montana:

Location of Grain Warehouse or Elevator on Right of Way—Preliminary Proceedings.

Section 1. Any person, firm or corporation desirous of erecting and operating at or contiguous to any railway station or siding a warehouse or elevator for the purchase, sale, shipment or storage of grain (including flaxseed) for the public for hire may make application in writing, containing a description of that portion of the right of way of said railroad on which such person, firm or corporation desires to erect a warehouse or elevator, and the size and capacity of the warehouse or elevator proposed to be erected and the time for which it is desired to maintain such warehouse or elevator, to the person, firm or corporation owning, leasing or operating the railroad at such station or siding for the right, privilege and easement of erecting and maintaining for the time stated in such application, and for reasonable compensation for such warehouse or elevator as aforesaid upon the right of way pertaining to such railway at such siding or station and within and between the outside switches of the yard of such railway station or siding and upon paying or securing in the manner hereinafter prescribed reasonable compensation for the right, privilege and easement aforesaid, shall absolutely and unconditionally be entitled to the same. Provided, however, that if the person, firm or corporation owning, leasing or operating the railroad is not willing that the portion of the right of way selected by the applicant should be appropriated for such purpose and the parties cannot agree as to the quantity and location of the land upon which such grain warehouse or grain elevator shall be erected the matter shall be determined by the district court in the same manner and by the same proceeding for determining the amount of compensation to be paid where the parties cannot agree as to the amount.

Jurisdiction of District Court.

Section 2. The application provided in section 1 of this act shall also state the amount the applicant deems reasonable compensation for the right, privilege and easement he desires to acquire, and said applicant shall tender and pay to such person, firm or corporation from whom such easement is sought, the sum stated in such application, and in case the amount so named and tendered is not accepted, and the parties cannot agree on the amount to be paid for such right, privilege and easement, the same shall be ascertained, assessed and determined by proceedings in the district court of the county in which the station or siding at which the right, privilege and easement sought is situated, which court is hereby given full jurisdiction in the premises, and shall at all times be deemed open and in session for the purposes of this article. It shall be the duty of any person, firm or corporation to whom application is made for the right to erect and maintain an elevator or warehouse, under the provisions of this article to within thirty days after the receipt of such application notify said applicant in writing of the acceptance or rejection of the amount stated in said application to be reasonable compensation for the right, privilege and easement sought to be acquired, and in case such person, firm or corporation fails to notify the applicant within said thirty days, such person, firm or corporation shall be deemed to have accepted said amount and upon the payment or tender thereof said applicant shall be deemed to have acquired the right, privilege and easement applied for.

Proceedings in District Court.

Section 3. Proceedings in the district court shall be instituted and carried on as follows: The parties seeking the right, privilege and easement aforesaid shall present to and file with the district court a petition in writing and under oath, specifying and describing the right, privilege and easement sought, and the time for which the same is sought and the fact that the parties to the proceedings are unable to agree upon the amount of compensation therefor. A copy of the application for such privilege shall be attached to said petition, and thereupon it shall be at once the duty of the court by its order in writing to fix a time, not more than thirty days thereafter within which the said person, firm or corporation so owning, managing or controlling such railroad shall appear and join issue in said proceeding; such notice shall be served as a summons is served in civil actions, and shall be ample notice to the parties so served to appear and join in the proceedings, and shall be ample to give the court full jurisdiction over the party against whom the proceedings are instituted and the property involved in the proceeding. The manner of joining issue and the procedure at the trial shall be the same as that in any other civil action at law. The trial of such issue shall be expedited by the court as much as possible. At the trial the court or jury, as the case may be, shall find and assess the compensation both in the form of an annual rental and in the form of a gross sum for the right, privilege and easement sought, and immediately after the finding or verdict has been made, the party against whom the proceedings have been taken shall elect whether to receive the annual rental or the gross sum found, and in case such election is not made by said party, then the other party to the proceedings may make such election, and after election is made as aforesaid, judgment shall be rendered adjudging, among other things, that upon payment of the gross sum found, or the annual rental found, yearly in advance, as the case may be, the party instituting the proceedings shall be entitled to the right, privilege and easement of erecting and maintaining the elevator or warehouse asked for in the application and petition aforesaid, and for the time therein specified; and thereupon the party in whose favor said judgment is rendered shall be entitled to a writ of execution in proper form to immediately invest such party with the right, privilege and easement aforesaid. In case the annual rental is elected, the same shall be paid yearly in advance, and if not so paid after thirty days' default the right, privilege and easement aforesaid shall be absolutely forfeited.

Appeals to Supreme Court.

Section 4. Within thirty days after the entry of said judgment as hereinbefore provided, but not later, an appeal may be taken by either party to the supreme court; but such appeal shall not stay or hinder the use or enjoyment of to the fullest extent of the right, privilege and easement asked for by the petition and conferred by the judgment, if the party instituting the proceedings shall make and file a bond with sureties, to be approved by the court in an amount double the gross sum or annual rental, conditioned to pay such sum or rental and to abide and satisfy any judgment the supreme court may render in the premises. Costs and disbursements, as in civil actions, in each court, shall be paid by the unsuccessful party. If the finding of the court or jury is for a less or the same amount as tendered by the petitioner before instituting the proceedings, then the petitioner shall be deemed the successful party. But if the amount found is larger than the sum tendered, then the petitioner shall be deemed the unsuccessful party. Either party may appeal from that part of the judgment determining the quantity and location of the land upon which such warehouse or elevator is to be erected, and in the event of such appeal the judgment shall be suspended pending the appeal.

Elevators to be Deemed Public.

Section 5. All elevators and warehouses erected and maintained under the provisions of this article, shall be deemed public elevators, and public warehouses, and shall be subject to legislative control.

Time Limit for Construction of Elevator.

Section 6. Any person, firm or corporation availing themselves of the provisions of this act, shall, within sixty days after the amount to be paid for the easement acquired thereunder is finally determined, by agreement or by proceedings in court commence the erection of the warehouse or elevator mentioned in the application, and complete the same within ninety days thereafter, and in case of failure to comply with the provisions of this section, such person or persons shall be deemed to have abandoned the right acquired, and the part or portion of the railroad right of way described in the application shall be subject to selection by other applicants who may desire to avail themselves of the provisions of this act.

Connection of Railroad With Elevator—Sidetracks.

Section 7. Every railroad company or corporation organized under the laws of this state, or doing business therein, shall, upon application in writing provide reasonable sidetrack facilities and running connections between its main track and elevators and warehouses upon or contiguous to its right of way at stations; and every such railroad corporation shall permit connections to be made and maintained in a reasonable manner with its sidetracks to and from any warehouse or elevator without reference to its size, cost or capacity, where grain is or may be stored; provided, that such railroad company shall not be required to construct or furnish any sidetracks except upon its own land or right of way; provided, the reasonable cost of the construction of such sidetracks and connections, except the cost of the rails and fastenings, shall be paid by the person or persons for whose benefit such sidetracks are provided or connections made; provided, further, that such elevators and warehouses shall not be constructed within one hundred feet of any existing structure, and shall be at safe fire distance from the station buildings and so as not essentially to conflict with the safe and convenient operation of the road; and where stations are ten miles or more apart, the railroad company, when required so to do by the Board of Railroad Commissioners of the state of Montana shall construct and maintain a sidetrack for the use of shippers between such stations.

Section 8. All acts and parts of acts in conflict with this act are hereby repealed.

Section 9. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and approval.

PURCHASE OF MITCHELL AND MUSSIGBROD PROPERTY.

Chapter 143, Laws 1911, page 426.

An act providing for an Appraisal Commission to investigate and report with respect to the reasonable value of the property of the copartnership of Mitchell and Mussigbrod, located in Deer Lodge county, the purchase of which has been recommended by joint committee; providing for the acceptance of the terms of this act and for arbitration in order to reach agreement respecting the value of the property, and prescribing the duties of the state board of examiners in the premises.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Montana:

Section 1. That the state of Montana may in accordance with the provisions of this act, make purchase of the property of the copartnership of Mitchell and Mussigbrod located at Warm Springs, in Deer Lodge county, which has been recommended by unanimous report of the joint committee of the Senate and House to be purchased by part payment in cash and the balance with a state bond issue; provided that the state shall not pay therefor an amount in excess of the sum of six hundred fifty thousand ($650,000) dollars, and provided further that no land shall be purchased unless the same shall be free and clear of all liens, easements and encumbrances and unless the grantors are able to and do convey an absolute title in fee simple to the state.

Section 2. There shall be appointed by the Governor a commission of three citizens of this state for the purpose of making full investigation and examination into the reasonable value of said property. Said commission shall on a date to be designated by the Governor, meet in the capitol building at Helena, and organize by appointing a chairman and secretary. The secretary shall be a person selected by the commission, not a member of the commission.

Section 3. The members of said commission shall receive the sum of ten dollars per day for each and every day by them actually spent in making investigation concerning the reasonable value of said property, and their actual and necessary traveling expenses, and the secretary shall receive a salary of one hundred twenty-five ($125) dollars per month.

Section 4. The per diem and expenses of said commission, and salary of the secretary, shall be paid upon approval by the board of examiners from the appropriation made for the care and maintenance of the insane asylum.

Section 5. Immediately upon appointment of said commission and said secretary, they shall qualify by subscribing the constitutional oath of office and file the same, together with certified copy of their appointment in the office of the Secretary of State.

Section 6. To aid them in the examination of the books and records and in determining the valuation of property, they shall be authorized to appoint assistants such as architects, building contractors, livestock men, and others.

Section 7. When said commission shall have finally completed its work and labors to its satisfaction and fixed all valuations, it shall thereupon call before it the representatives of said copartnership in an endeavor to come to an understanding as to the correctness of the valuations by it fixed, so as to treat said copartnership justly and fairly.

Section 8. After such hearing, if it be found that said commission and the copartnership are able to agree as to the reasonable value of said property, it shall report its findings and recommendations to the State Board of Examiners, and said board shall thereupon enter into contract in the name of the state of Montana for the purchase of said property in accordance with the recommendations of the joint committee hereinabove referred to, and the report and recommendations of said commission.

Section 9. After such hearing, should it be found that the commission and the copartnership disagree as to the reasonable amount to be paid for such property said copartnership shall thereupon be permitted to name three disinterested citizens to act in conjunction with said commission, and said commission and the persons so named by the copartnership shall agree upon and select another person, thus making the commission comprise seven in number instead of three, to be known as the Arbitration Commission under the terms and provisions of this act.

Section 10. In the event of the appointment of an Arbitration Commission, as herein provided, the copartnership shall bear and pay the expenses incident to travel and per diem of the four persons named in order to complete the number of the Arbitration Commission.

Section 11. The Arbitration Commission shall thereupon at once organize and proceed to consider and review the work of the Appraisal Commission and the differences existing between said Appraisal Commission and the copartnership, and when they shall finally have completed their work they shall have full and complete report and recommendations to the State Board of Examiners, and their recommendations as to the purchase price to be paid shall be final and conclusive both as to the state and the copartnership.

Section 12. Before the approval of this law by the Governor, the copartnership is hereby required to execute a written acceptance of the terms and provisions of this act in form to be approved by the Attorney General, and deliver same to the Governor, and upon approval of the act such written acceptance shall be placed on file in the office of the Secretary of State.

Section 13. The State Board of Examiners shall not be authorized to expend any money from the general treasury for the purchase of said property, or to issue any bonds therefor in accordance with other acts pertaining to this subject until said commission shall have made full report and recommendations nor until the Attorney General shall be fully satisfied with respect to all titles, nor until the purchase of the property at the price agreed upon shall be ratified by the people at the polls.

Section 14. This act shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.

BONDS FOR PURCHASE OF MITCHELL AND MUSSIGBROD PROPERTY.

Chapter 144, Laws 1911, page 429.

“An act to authorize the state of Montana to become indebted in excess of the constitutional limit and to provide for the issuance of bonds in the name of the state for the purchase of the property of Mitchell & Mussigbrod, located in Deer Lodge county, Montana, such property to be used for the care of the state’s indigent insane, and others in need of hospital attention and treatment, all in accordance with the report of the Joint Committee appointed pursuant to Senate Joint Resolution No. 2.”

Section 1. The State Board of Examiners of the state of Montana is hereby authorized and empowered to issue bonds in the name of the state of Montana to an amount not exceeding six hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($650,000) in excess of the constitutional limitation of indebtedness of one hundred thousand ($100,000) dollars; provided, however, that bonds heretofore issued and now outstanding shall not be computed so as to in any manner interfere with the bond issue under the terms and provisions of this act to the full amount of six hundred and fifty thousand ($650,000) dollars. The bonds, or money derived from said bonds to be used in payment of the purchase price of the property of Mitchell & Mussigbrod, in Deer Lodge county, to be used for the care of the state’s indigent insane and others needing hospital treatment and attention, all in accordance with the report of the Joint Committee appointed pursuant to Senate Joint Resolution No. 2.

Section 2. The state bonds, issuance of which is herein provided for, shall be issued in denominations of one thousand ($1,000) dollars each, and shall bear date December 1, 1912, and become due in twenty (20) years from the date of issuance, and be redeemable and payable, at the option of the state, ten (10) years from their date, or at any interest paying period, and they shall bear interest at the rate of four per cent (4%) per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of December and June of each year at the office of the State Treasurer of the state of Montana.

Section 3. Each bond issued under the provisions of this act shall contain a condition substantially as follows:

“This bond is one of a series of state bonds of the denomination of one thousand dollars, each of like tenor and date, numbered from one (1) to inclusive, and aggregating the sum of dollars. The right is hereby reserved to redeem this bond at any regular interest paying period, as stated herein, by payment of the principal and interest in full to the date of redemption; provided that not less than ten (10) days’ notice shall be given by the State Treasurer, in writing, or by publication of such intention on the part of the state to make redemption.”

The form of notice and method of giving same shall be in accordance with the direction of the State Board of Examiners.

Section 4. There shall be levied annually one-fourth ($\frac{1}{4}$) of a mill on the dollar on all taxable property in this state, which when collected by the county treasurer shall be accounted for and paid over to the State Treasurer to be by the State Treasurer held in a separate fund designated as the “State Insane Asylum Bond Fund,” and same shall be used exclusively for the payment of interest on such bonds and for the redemption thereof.

Section 5. The bonds shall be in such form as shall be prescribed by the Attorney General and approved by the State Board of Examiners, and shall be signed by the members of said board and issued under the great seal of the state of Montana, and shall be registered in the office of the State Treasurer. The bonds shall have interest coupons attached covering the interest due semi-annually, and shall have the lithographed facsimile signature of the members of the State Board of Examiners affixed thereon.

Section 6. The bonds herein authorized and provided for shall be disposed of by the State Board of Examiners in such manner as seems for the best interests of the state in carrying out the terms and provisions of this act, and none of said bonds shall be sold or disposed of for less than its face value.

Section 7. When the purchase price of the property belonging to said Mitchell and Mussigbrod so to be acquired is fixed through arbitration, as provided for, it shall be the duty of the Governor to cause the question of its purchase at the price designated to be submitted to the electors at the next ensuing general election, the ballots expressly designating such price, and upon receiving a majority of all the votes cast for and against its purchase at such election it shall be declared approved. Each county clerk in this state shall have separate ballots printed and furnished to each precinct in his county in the same manner as regular ballots, to be used by the electors to vote upon the question herein submitted to them for approval. Said separate ballots shall be in conformity with the provisions of the general election laws of this state, and shall have printed thereon the following:

“For the law authorizing a state bond issue of dollars for the purchase of property of Mitchell & Mussigbrod, to be used by the state for the care of its indigent insane and others needing hospital attention and treatment.”

“Against the law authorizing a state bond issue of dollars for the purchase of property of Mitchell and Mussigbrod, to be used by the state for the care of its indigent insane and others needing hospital attention and treatment.”

The elector shall vote said ballot by making an “X” in the square in front of the proposition he desires to vote upon.
